Mr. Editor, this is extended to a greater length than was intended. We shall stop by saying a few words concerning our position. Are you in favor of using a Church for debt, whether for pulpit or pew? Are you in favor of the payment of ministers' salaries?

ABOUT THE FAIR SEX.

Mme. de Neuville, the widow of the French artist, who received $60,000 from the sale of her late husband's paintings, married him when he was on his death bed.

One hundred and forty women are employed in the annex of the Agricultural Department building at Washington supplying the Congressional demand for seeds.

Miss Rachel Sherman, the General's daughter, is a great friend of the Blaines, whom she has been visiting in Maine. She is brave and spirited, like her noble father.

Mrs. Fred Grant is a great favorite in Washington, where she now is. She is much admired to old Georgetown, and the Academy of the Visitation, where she attended school.

"The Empress Hare, of Japan, is only five feet high, but when she stamps her little foot Yoshi Saha trembles. She was educated at Vassar, is married to a brave, and is very fond of American cheering.

Mrs. Alexander, a lady of over 60 years of age, employed in the Government Printing Office in Washington, has just married a man over 80, and has resigned her position in order to fulfill her domestic duties.

Miss Elizabeth Peabody, who recently celebrated her 83d birthday in Boston, received, among other presents, a purse of $100, which she forwarded at once to her protégé, Sarah Winnemucca, the Indian Princess, for the benefit of the Piute School, in Nevada.

Mrs. Holt, of Macon, Ga., to whom rumor has had it that Secretary Lamar is to be married, is described as a fine-looking, well-preserved lady of very fair blonde type, about 50 years of age. She was a Miss Bond, and belongs to one of the oldest and wealthiest families in Georgia.

Several female correspondent at Washington has aroused the jealousy of the reporters. She has several devoted slaves among the Congressmen, who spend hours every day gathering news for her. The is case in point respecting, which was suggested, would fail to have any effect.

The apartments occupied by Mrs. Flood in the new Flood mansion, in San Francisco, are furnished in a most artistic style, although quiet and modest in tone. A low toss of color prevails in the mahogany woodwork, the carpet and upholstering are of dull blue, a heavy dark canopy overhangs the antique four poster bed, and on the mantel, but elaborately carved mantel is faced with exquisite hand painted tiles. The style is the highest type of the early French Renaissance.

The deaths in New York during the week ending May 8 numbered 659 (225 under five years old), and there have been only one-half occurred in tenement houses.

Sir Thomas Erskine May, who died a few days ago, was a clerk of the House of Commons from the year 1856 until about a month ago, when he was elevated to the peerage. He was author of a "Constitutional History of England" (from the accession of George III) and of "Democracy in Europe," the latter a book that has been translated into other languages.

The delights of summer travel in the wilds of Dakota are augmented by the addition of cyclones to the list of miseries of that well ventilated region. Hereafter cyclones have been obliged to do their own watchdog for approaching tornadoes, but under the new system they can sleep peacefully, secure in the knowledge that a cyclone, electrical storm, or hail will be dumped into subterranean pens for the cyclones' individual benefit. This adjournment will cause a numerous influx of Secretarial aspirants, who have been deterred from going there by reason of a purely personal nature.—Chicago Evening News.

WOMAN'S FACE.

"What furniture can give such a finish to a room, as the tender woman's face?" asks George Eliot. And what are we happy to answer, provided the glow of health tempers the expression. The pale, anxious, bloodless face of the consumptive, or the sickly sufferings of the dyspeptic, induce feelings of sorrow and grief on our part and compel us to think of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the sovereign remedy for consumption and other diseases of the respiratory system as well as dyspepsia see other digestive troubles, and syphilis.

A Scotch medical professor lately declared that out of every one hundred medical students examined, not ten meant to "set up" in Scotland.

Boils and Carbuncles

Carbuncles result from a debilitated, impoverished, or impure condition of the blood. They are a source of great suffering, and are liable to appear in large numbers, unless overcome by the use of some powerful alterative. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures these painful tumors, and also prevents them, by removing their cause.

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 24, 1886

THE NEW ENGLAND CONFERENCE represents a smaller number of Church members than Bethel Church, Philadelphia, and not half so large as Emanuel Church, Charleston. Its Dollar Money fell short of that of Bethel by over one hundred dollars.

THE NEW YORK CONFERENCE at its last session passed resolutions relative to a police appointment in New York City. Why did they not pitch into the Aldermanic bribery affair of the great city, or the Broadway franchise, or its fabrics squabble?

THE A. M. E. CHURCH at Natchez, Miss., Rev. A. J. Miller, pastor, has been remodeled and repaired. The re-opening took place May 27th. In the night weeks immediately preceding the reopening they raised $600. A good leader of a good people, we should say.

MAY SIEF, Mrs. Jenkie Patterson died at Galveston, Texas. Mrs. Patterson was the daughter of S. S. and Ann H. M. Ashe and sister of Mrs. B. F. Lee. She was a student of Wilberforce University, both under the M. E. regime and the A. M. E. For many years she has been a faithful and successful teacher in the schools of Mobile and Galveston. She was a consistent Christian; so, though we mourn her loss to us deeply, we mourn not as those who are without hope.

IT IS A PLEASURE to see that several of the brethren whose names appear on the North Carolina Forerunner, did not authorize it. In a great emprise like that many of the names remain, even that of Rev. R. H. W. Leake, who always has the courage of his convictions, but, like all men, sometimes errs. We hoped that all would see and do as did the editor of the Church. The letters of Revs. Hunter, of the New York Conference, and Aldridge and Murphy, of the North Carolina Conference, are to the point.

BISHOP DISNEY has held the Bermuda Conference and returned. His visited the New York Conference and received its hearty endorsement of his occupal rights on the Book of Bishops, declaring that the last decision of Her Majesty's court in Ontario relative to the union is only local; hence, does not affect the union in general, but the matter evidently stands about thus: Bishop Disney and the General Conference could he had committed the terms of the union to the several conferences of the B. M. E. Church; the court found that he had not done so. Months ago this fact, in a modified form, was published in two papers. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER did not "refuse to publish it," as the "Our Sunday School Review" says, but did express an unwillingness to do so. Bishop Disney subsequently stated through the RECORDER that the state of affairs was that statement he would vindicate himself from the charge. Months ago one of the papers that had not refused to publish it reproduced it for the Bishop's especial benefit. Where is the vindication? The protest of three Bishops against Bishop Disney's receiving salary from our General Treasury can only show that those three are opposed to be recognition; the New York Conference resolution simply says that they, a few, do not endorse that's op's full recognition. It must be plain that both those acts simply leave the Bishop right on the spot where the General Conference placed him, on his representing and where he has been supported by subsequent acts of the Episcopal Board, in arranging their work, in the interchange of, in presiding over annual conferences, in annual conference recognitions and the payment to Bishop Disney of any part of his salary and all.

But the sonrt has declared that there was fallacy in the Bishop's representations to our General Conference. Upon the findings of that court, and there alone, is the ground upon which he must stand. Here we should consider him as we would consider any other man in like position; if the court's findings are correct, though they sannot prevent so much of the B. M. E. Church as chooses so to do from remaining in union with us, they form a ground for process of action with reference to Bishop Disney. If the findings are incorrect, untrue, then so far as appears we can neither rid ourselves of responsibility by protests nor can the endorsement of one nor all our annual conferences validate his standing in the Church after proper steps are taken by the Church.

THE MARRIAGE OF MISS HALLE E. TANNER.

On Wednesday evening, the 9th inst., a veritable host of the best people in our city gathered at the residence of the Rev. Dr. Tanner to witness the marriage of Miss Halle E., their eldest daughter. The company present on that evening, as might well be expected, fully represented the most sturdy society of our city. Our editors and our wife were there: the physician, the clergymen, the teacher, the merchant and artizan, and the occasion was one brimful of hearty enjoyment and congratulations that were sincere. Our lady readers will excuse our inability to describe the elegance and beauty of the toilette of the bride and many richly dressed ladies in attendance at the wedding. We have the poorest possible gift for such a service, although our appreciation of such is perhaps as keen as that of any. But what we really wish we could do we sorely feel our inability to perform. We would weave a chaplet of poetic flowers as splendid as ever princess wore and place on the worthy brow of this pure, beautiful bride. Oh, that we were a Longfellow or a Whittier. We may say in concluding, that Miss Tanner was for years a member of our clerical force in the Publishing Office and held the position of chief clerk at the time of her resignation. Her future happiness is the first desire of every one of her former associates here. Mr. C. E. Dillon is a member of one of our strong families of Xenia, Ohio. He is a rising young man of the University has been under the care of trustees from all our conferences, so far as charter and legislative privileges go. The Executive Board would be entirely wellnigh if composed of persons living so far from Wilberforce that they could not be called there in twelve hours after notification at a merely nominal expense to the University.

In their sacerdotal address, the Bishops of the M. E. Church, South, utter the following sentences: "We must not be hurried forward by sentimental extravagance in the direction of the colored persons of social equality, through the agency of the school room, the congregation or the conference; for there is so conceivable result that would compensate for the crime against nature, which this theory deliberately contemplates." "Pity about" these Southern Methodist Bishops! Not yet has the day dawned in their hearts. They propose education for a class on which they would immediately impress that they profess inneb interest—interest far beyond that of their race in the so-called Northern States. They advocate the education of this class, in the C. M. E. Church, however; the M. E. South Church will furnish the money; the satisfies their sense of religious obligation to the probable humanity in the colored race; they will also furnish the teachers, that will serve to so educate the colored people as to make them fit for and to always recognize their own inferiority and their instructors' superiority. It will train them to know "their place," which is evidently of greater moment to the M. E. Church, South, than that they should so know the truth as it is in Christ Jesus, that the truth should make them free, and seeing light in His light, they and their white Methodist brethren should have fellowship one with another and the blood of Christ Jesus should cleanse both from all sin. This is the animus of the great Christian heart of the great Christian South towards "our brother in black." This is largely the sentiment of the General Conference concept. Only a few weeks ago a very distinguished man in the M. E. Church deferred the consideration of this question of social equality to the year 1936; this in the Church whose color-line is the most distinctly drawn.

Our worthy Southern M. E. Bishops can see in social equality "no conceivable result that would compensate for the (high) crimes against nature" as the Bishops call the affair contemplates. Surely those reverend Fathers have rather limited moral conceptions. Can they not conceive that it would obviate the liability of the present generation to such crimes in the future? Can they not 1981, some time in the long-Methodist-prayed-for millennium, a race of fools! Is every other classification preferable to those Bishops, to a classification with the negro, enlightened, Christianized as he is? Can they not conceive that a highly moral and legitimate association of races might obviate the consummation of the vile and dastardly, the morally interdestructive and brutal lower grade association? Can they not conceive that the latter regardless of its blight upon the morals of their own race? Can they not conceive that it might end the suspicion, the villainy and the murder-ous acts that are so brut in and fix just such high association, as their desolations gave to the maltreatment of the black race? But do they prefer this state of uneasiness and murder? (Any color; so it is white). They might conceive that God desires social equality: but if they did so conceive, what would they do, charge God with foolishness? Make him wicked because their eye is full of evil? They might conceive that the crime of social equality is not half so great as the crime of musical equality. This is equally as iron of the A. M. E. Church as of the colored people. So, as a matter of fact, we are equally interested with all brethren in the adoption of all the people. We must agree with Brother Kershaw that our church should apply itself to discharge responsibilities that has undertaken by extending such work at such times and places and by such methods as will tend to the earliest, best and broadest success in the education of the people.

All the States have two great interest Wilberforce University to undertake to limit its activity and prestige to a few States. The worth of the school to any section of the Church is not to be measured alone by the number of its graduates laboring in that section. We shall make a mistake if we ever scendo to limit its interest to any one part of the country. The influence of Wilberforce upon the race through its undergraduates is by no means small. The number being so much greater than that of the graduates, it may well be inferred that the undergraduates' influence exceeds that of the graduates. But it is upon no sentimental basis that we make a plea for the support of Wilberforce now and being made as serviceable to people in Southern States as to those in any other States. The cause of education is greater than Wilberforce, and the whole Church should support the cause of education. We sincerely believe that there is no probability of any part of our Church investing more money in Wilberforce than the equivalent of yielded returns. Still if it is best for the connection to have this institution, in which are deposited large investments, of the entire Church, upon a limited territory—we repeat, if it is best for the entire Church, then it must be done. We know no reason why Wilberforce should not be Church interest as much as other local institutions, simply as such. There is nothing more foolish for our Church to do than to recognize the silly lines that are not, as some say, imaginary. They are real; in history separating the determined slaveholder from the determined anti-slaveholder. The RECORDER is opposed to the recognition of those lines; but it is not opposed to the recognition of the fact mentioned by Brother Kershaw, that the great majority of the race are highly moral and legitimate association of race might obviate the consummation of the vile and dastardly, the morally interdestructive and brutal lower grade association; that we reserves that the latter regardless of its blight upon the morals of their own race! Can they not conceive that it might end the suspicion, the villainy and the murder-ous acts that are so brut in and fix just such high association, as their desolations gave to the maltreatment of the black race? But do they prefer this state of uneasiness and murder? (Any color; so it is white). They might conceive that God desires social equality: but if they did so conceive, what would they do, charge God with foolishness? Make him wicked because their eye is full of evil? They might conceive that the crime of social equality is not half so great as the crime of musical equal-

SOCIAL EQUALITY.

Social equality must not exist between white men and black men; that is, between any black man and white man. Men must be forever separated by the color-line, drawn ever and through all grades of morality, civility, culture and religion; the world must be classified by color. Education must be careful lest it be sufficiently liberal towards the black man to exalte in him the notion that his in the equal of some miserable, contemptible scoundrel, who chances to be white. Church government must be very careful lest, in its congregations, it extend to e very faithful Christian, spotless in all save the guilt of being black-skinced, such coorticles as will enable him to audaciously feel himself would be wise if we were limited to the undertaking of but two ministries for the next half century, with several seminaries, academies and a few colleges. There is no economy is supporting too many schools. Our thousand students graduated in a year will be enough for a college till graduation on a much lower expenditure than would be required to erect and support five institutions for them is as many centres. What would be a better educational step for our Church than to ever maintain the sectional character of Wilberforce University and give to Allen University or Brewe College the same character, thus uniting all sections on the high and self-supporting ground of Christian education!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

MR. EDITOR:—Will you please to give, through the columns of your paper, an answer to the following questions of law, which affect the rights and privileges of the ministry and membership of our Church:

1. When the pastor of a station or circuit tries a member before a committee and that committee is so equally balanced that they tie in agreeing on a verdict and the pastor refers the case to the quarterly conference, cannot the presiding elder of the conference, by a vote of the body granting him the privilege, rule that the party is not guilty and reinstate him, the accused, to his former standing in the church?

2. Can a member in quarterly conference, acting in the capacity of attorney for the church, on a decision rendered by the presiding elder on a point of law, appeal from the decision of the presiding officer to the annual conference?

3. Can a presiding officer refuse to record on the journal of the quarterly conference a decision of an individual member of the same appealing from such decision on a question of law?

Yours in Christ,
A. GREEN.

ANSWER.—1. Such case cannot be referred to the quarterly conference. If it could the conference could confer no power upon the presiding elder. 2. An appeal might be made to the quarterly conference, but not to the annual conference. 3. It is not the presiding officer's duty to keep the journal. All appeals properly made should be recorded.

MR. EDITOR:—Please answer the following question: If a quarterly conference refuses a request of the presiding elder for reasons, can the chairman, after the conference adjourns, without the conference, act?

W. F. CRAWFORD.

ANSWER.—No; he certainly cannot with or without the members' consent.

The courtal doctrine of our Christian faith answers to the life of right under which the American ship of state was launched, as face answers to face. —Zion's Herald.

The New York Times declares that the frauds practised upon farmers by leaves of various kinds have become so prevalent and notorious that even the agricultural department at Washington has felt it necessary to order such investigation has been made in the matter, and the results have been printed into such proportions as to become a serious disaster. In some counties in Ohio as much as 80,000 pounds have been sold indecisively, as much as $90,000 in notes obtained by fraudulent representations, has been inroed into banks for collection in only one county, and, notwithstanding the publication of the frauds during three or four years past, the perpetrators seem to find plenty of victims than the previous one. Farmers should be on their guard, however, when they are approached by any one who has a bushel for the seed of this worthless grain on the promise to take the product at a high price. The trick is given to payment for the seed, and a bond is given by the farmer to take the crop after it is ready. The note is passed because the farmer has a farm to make it good, but he has nevertheless become the maker is set to be found when they mature.—Florida Watchman.

THANKS.

A CHANCE TO MAKE A FEW DOLLARS.

We have about 200 copies of Dr. Steward's magnificent work, "Genesis Its Read." We want to sell them in this city for a few days, and offer the following special terms to agents: Any agent can secure 25 copies and a half hours we were at the depot of Bishop Gaines, and was waiting to welcome us. After the greeting of the Bishop, he called to o'clock A.M., presiding elder A. Wesley Dobbins called the conference in order. The presiding Bishop conducted the services, addressed the conference very appropriately and was introduced to the brethren in meeting once more on each an occasion. The conference elected Rev. G. J. Nichols Secretary, and Rev. Sister Assistant Secretary, and the writer appointed Statistical Secretary, whose thank God, for it is he who has brought us from the wilderness of sin, and has called and brought you into the light of his glorious liberties. The conference offering up many audible prayers to the God of Hosts for the preservation of their church, and for the spirit to be kindled into a bless, the agony became so intense that the presiding elder left the stand, and the writer, mingling their hands and arms around, Lord, save our church." The brethren knew not what to say, but there stood one in that tenett who had been a member of the church for and exclaimed, "

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorised to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full SIX months for paying the subscription.

"GENESIS RE-READ."

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible story has been published in a book called Genesis Re-read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. The book is interesting although Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, always allowed for orderly development. The style is temperate in moderate and lucid, the moral consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science, and with a close analysis, which, considering the author's position, is surprisingly free from sectarian bias. The book is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence of much reading, and his familiarity to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with the Scriptures. The style, temper is so moderate and its plea for moral consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

PRESIDING ELDER GEORGE A. MILLS magnifies his office.

OUR PEOPLE at Beverly, N. J., have bought a lot and have nearly completed payment. They intend to erect a new house thereon soon.

IN OUR ISSUE of June 17th we put Watkins for Watson at the head of the report of the Marietta (Ga.) District, written by the Rev. A. W. Watson, LL.B.

THE REV. W. H. BUTLER will hold his first quarterly meeting for the year at Media July 4th, and at Spring Valley July 11th. Visiting brethren will preach and assist in the services.

MANY CORRESPONDENTS look in vain for the appearance of their articles in this issue. Observation will find every column full; let patience have its perfect work. Some very important contributions go over into next week and other weeks beyond. We regret this more than you, dear friends. Write more clearly. Condense.

THE HIGHLY USEFUL Institute for Colored Youth closes this week. No one knows the energies expended on this school, nor the sacrifices borne for it, the extent of its good influence nor the vastness of its opportunities. Its silent forces are greater even than its observable acts. It is one of those elements of attraction which force the hues of prejudice down on the one side and the character of the forgotten up to the public consideration on the other.

THERE IS NOW and then a real nice, commendable act done by itinerant ministers towards successors by predecessors, and vice versa, notwithstanding the prominence of the "I found," etc. Instance: at Hordentown, N. J., a few days ago, the Rev. Rice gave his predecessor in the pastorate, Prof. Sampson, a general reception, calling in Dr. Stevenson, Prof. Thompson and the people of Bordentown and other places to do honor to their former faithful pastor. In turn the Rev. J. P. Sampson speaks of his successor as a gentleman and a Christian, having no prophecies of failure for him.

IN PROVIDENCE, R. I., Bishop Campbell conducted a general praise meeting one hour on the Sunday evening during the conference session. It was a joyous occasion, especially to the few old persons who had been members there forty-five years earlier, when the Rev. J. P. Campbell was their pastor. It was a grand reunion. It might have broken some of our younger ministers down to have preached a lengthy and excellent sermon to the class for ordination in the morning, performing the greater part of the service and regulating all the theologs of the day, but the old hero of more than three score and ten had renewed his youth like the eagle's.

MR. W. A. ANDERSON, A.B., class '86, Wilberforce University, has our thanks for a copy of the Graduate. This annual, like the university it represents, increases in interest each year. This number is attractive in typography and general make up, the old reliable Xenia Gazett's work, while the editorial and publishing agents have displayed much taste and skill. The orations of the graduating class, both on class-day and commencement day, are compliments to the grand old university. The address and sermon by Drs. Jenifer and Snowden and the baccalaureate of the President are chaste and thoughtful. We hope to give to the Graduate further consideration.

THE A. M. E. QUARTERLY REVIEW for July opens with a beautiful electrotype picture of William Watkins, one of the very remarkable men of the last generation, the father of the Rev. G. T. Watkins, D.D. Following this is a well written biographical paper on the same subject by the Rev. W. H. Morris, A.M., who, with at least ten other contributors to the current number of the magazine, is new to its readers in this connection. But the Review loses nothing in strength of character nor attractiveness in securing the very able talent thus represented. No other circumstances has brought to light the residence in the American colored people of so general a reading and so settled a philosophy as has the A. M. E. Review.

ON THIRD PAGE we reprint an article from the Southern Christian Advocate's which we wish all our readers would consider carefully. Just such statements as are made therein by the supposed somebody are made concerning the CHRISTIAN RECORDER every week. Especially is this the case since so many newspapers are published by colored gentlemen, making it possible for so many of them to say, "Cause I claim to know something about newspaper business myself." It is probable that there is not another newspaper published by colored gentlemen that necessarily seats more than the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. Much of the same complaint is made against matter as is made against expense. We have only to remember that a Church organ is not in competition with scenlar papers. It has been said by one of the latter class that ministers "slip up" when they enter politics. We do not enjoy slipping up. We are glad to have all the assistance we can get from secular papers at the same time.

THE SOUTHWESTERN'S WARNING.

After the editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate had left Philadelphia, several weeks ago, the Philadelphia Methodist reproduced some of the points in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER'S notice of Dr. Kynett's address to the Delaware Colored M. E. Conference. We cannot say what the Methodist might have done had the Southwestern editor remained in our city, but here is the advice he sends to the Methodist at the west from New Orleans: "DON'T FIRE ON YOUR FRIENDS." This is the heading of an exhortation to the Methodist of over a solomn's length. The Southwestern intimates that the Recorder's statements are malicious, but, fortunately, there are men who were present, and who are members of the M. E. Church, who could testify that the RECORDER'S statements relative to the Doctor's address to the assembly of waters, are fair and so nearly verbatim that no significance different from his words is conveyed.

In another connection the Advocate advises the RECORDER to be composed. Quiet, brother; the RECORDER is placid, but how is it with the Advocate? The RECORDER is so well satisfied that it has never thought it necessary to present the complimentary editorial of the Methodist to its readers. But the Advocate seems very much discomfitted by the stinging little rap which this spirited little journal gives "gratuitously" to that spirit of carelessness and indifference so common in the dealings of American white men with American colored men, which the Advocate seems to condone and apologize for in this sentence: "The spirit and intent of Dr. Kynett's address was not obnoxious." Of course, this carelessness is easily accounted for, but there are thousands of both white and black men who do not see it as the Advocate that it is right, or that those who practice it should not be called to account. If thousands of both races stand on the side of the Recorder and the Methodist, Dr. Kynett's address contained nothing obnoxious in spirit to the Advocate, but there are other learned ministers of both races in the M. E. Church to whom this method of dealing with colored men is obnoxious. These men are prominent white ministers of the M. E. Church in this city who regard it as being anything else but fair dealing. It is useless for the Advocate to attempt to play open the sensibility of its readers by the intimation that the RECORDER might otherwise have garbled Dr. Kynett's address. The Advocate knows this is not the case. If it lacks the courage to deal fully, let it not lack the virtue to deal fairly with the subject. The spirit and intent of Dr. Kynett's address was not obnoxious, as it was simply the harm less intent to illustrate the unreasonable and obnoxiousness of tobacco using, but the spirit must be corrected, especially on the color-line. The RECORDER proposes to stand on reasonable ground and work in the interest of the race. It has no time for flopping around for the mere purpose of courting favor from any man. It takes cognizance of what it believes it ought to do, in a fair way, and never fails to stand corrected when its wrongs are pointed out. The Southwestern Christian Advocate will find general make up, the old reliable Xenia Gazett's work, while the editorial and publishing agents have displayed much taste and skill. The orations of the graduating class, both on class-day and commencement day, are compliments to the grand old university. The address and sermon by Drs. Jenifer and Snowden and the baccalaureate of the President are chaste and thoughtful. We hope to give to the Graduate further consideration.

Of course, this carelessness is easily accounted for, but there are thousands of both white and black men who do not see it as the Advocate that it is right, or that those who practice it should not be called to account. If thousands of both races stand on the side of the RECORDER and the Methodist, Dr. Kynett's address contained nothing obnoxious in spirit to the Advocate, but there are other learned ministers of both races in the M. E. Church to whom this method of dealing with colored men is obnoxious. These men are prominent white ministers of the M. E. Church in this city who regard it as being anything else but fair dealing. It is useless for the Advocate to attempt to play open the sensibility of its readers by the intimation that the RECORDER might otherwise have garbled Dr. Kynett's address. The Advocate knows this is not the case. If it lacks the courage to deal fully, let it not lack the virtue to deal fairly with the subject. The spirit and intent of Dr. Kynett's address was not obnoxious, as it was simply the harm less intent to illustrate the unreasonable and obnoxiousness of tobacco using, but the spirit must be corrected, especially on the color-line. The RECORDER proposes to stand on reasonable ground and work in the interest of the race. It has no time for flopping around for the mere purpose of courting favor from any man. It takes cognizance of what it believes it ought to do, in a fair way, and never fails to stand corrected when its wrongs are pointed out. The Southwestern Christian Advocate will find the RECORDER on this ground. When our worthy contemporary refers again to the matter which it lifted up a long while ago and tried to your from it cold water upon African Methodism in Boston, it does so at his own expense. Our answer was given then. We were treated to repeated courteous (?) recognitions of said unfair act in one of Dr. Taylor's Philadelphia speeches. If the Southwestern Advocate finds any especial pleasure in its reputation that there is a color-line in our Church, the RECORDER has no disposition to deprive him of this pleasure. The world will believe it quite as soon as it will its mate, "There's no color-line is the M. E. Church."

THE COMPOUND COUNCIL.

Though we have no authority for publishing the fact, it nevertheless seems to be a fact that the council of the Benches of Bishops of the A. M. E. and A. M. E. Z. Churches is to sit to Bethel Church, Sixth street, Philadelphia, July 15th. It is seldom a more important convocation is noted in our country in respect to politics, societies or church affairs. Those fifteen men represent the confidence and pride of more than a half million colored persons in the United States and British American possessions, to say nothing of those in Hayti, Africa and elsewhere. For nearly three quarters of a century the A. M. E. Church and the A. M. E. Z. Church have plodded their way along through a prejudice and against opposition these that born met very few Christian denominations in the present century. They stand alone in modern history as the representation of the colored race to develop great and powerful Christian organizations. They stand alone in the demonstration of colored men's ability to ant every nearly keep pace with the fiery movements of the civilized world in modern times. They are the great demonstrators of the colored man's ability to project, organize and develop a government for present times. Founded on common Methodist principles, they have moved very nearly in the path beaten by the Methodist Episcopal Church, yet departing from it sufficiently to display originality and inventive genius.

The respective ages of the two bodies must be so nearly equal that they would pass for twins; for many members in each declare the other the junior. If the Bishops of the combining would bring together fifteen men, among whom, though there are able men, there is almost no member on this side of old age. There is fear that the meeting now fixed upon for mere Bishops on both sides by putting the work of both into one will prevent the addition of the requisite number of young men to relieve the fathers of rough work, while their council is refreshed. Several of the most aged might qualify for such a forum as active supervision and proper additions be made to the forces from the younger ministry.

A sixth objection has been found in the divergence of genius in the two bodies. That is not to be disregarded, but is not insurmountable; upon it rest a variety of church polity, property tenure and general denominational procedure. A seventh point is that we should probably constitute an unwieldly body whose combined wisdom would be unequal to its combined responsibilities, which must be necessarily much larger for the first several years than they are to the two respective bodies now.

Both sides have found an eighth difficulty in the lack of a sufficiently deep desire in the masses on either side. This, it is said, would in the event of the declared union, break out in several different localities and be especially large number on each side that would adhere to the present titles respectively would hold all property registered under those titles where a requisite number of members in any place desired it. This would open a series of litigations that might entwine all our interiors for good. Still a sixth objection is that it is not consistent with the genius of Methodism to unite. It enlarges until it grows unwieldly or some account and then segmentises, each part soon becoming of sufficient importance to be divided again. What shall we do? We say, if we can unite solidly and completely, let us unite.

TWENTY-THIRD ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

DEAR RECORDER:—On Tuesday June 15, 1886, the Board of Trustees met in session, with a full attendance with forty or fifty members in attendance. This number was increased each day until Thursday. The Rev. Dr. Doctor Board, Bishop Campbell, being absent, Bishop Payne was called to the chair and presided during the sessions, assisted by Rev. J. Newman. There was a number of newly elected Trustees present, who seemed in hearty sympathy with the Board. University is centralized over the grand work she is accomplishing for the race, and there was much enthusiasm by rendering substantial aid both in kind words and hard cash among those might be mentioned Rev. Dardis, of Memphis, Tenn.; Rev Hunton, of Penn Hall, Ark; Rev Brown, of Baltimore, Md; Rev. Carter, of Washington, D. C.; Dr. Gorin, of Louisville, Ky.; Revs Smith and Brodnax, Hon. Walter S Thomas and Mr Zion Thomas, of Columbus, Ohio, and others. These, however, did not surrender their generous hearts, but contributed voterans who, in the darkest and most adverse hour of her history, have stood by her, after the noble example set by their wives and deeds we will ever be proud to record. God bless them all and may they live to see the gold purified as it may, so when our University, our beloved Wilberforce shall have thrown off the embarrassing fancies that blindly shackle her, safely cradle she has been rocked and with large many more she has been fostered by her life, and shine forth in grandeur and might. It is not the time nor the description for me to attempt to give space for even an outline of the exercises during the week, but suffice it to say that the other night the senior, one stumbling block to union would be removed. What is true of their age is largely true of their respective strength. To much is said of one and little on either side. Both are weak enough. We cannot say that either is strong enough. We regard these two questions as being of no moment whatever. A third subject, over which there has been considerable battling, is their respective episcopacies. In this we have taken some share, not so much on any claim of incapacity as upon the demand for consistency.

We feel that if equal, the two are not alike and that their association would not be a union. On the other hand, there has been a masterly blow dealt out from the other side in response to this clamor for consistency. It was given by the Rev. Morris, of the A. M. E. Z. Church, enclosed at Providence, R. I., to the effect that we receive elders with but one ordination from the Presbyterial Churches upon equal standing with our elders of two ordinations. This settled it at once so far as the place from which they are liable to be put in the Episcopal chair. Besides this, we place them in a position in which they may at any time afterwards assist in the ordination of deacons, elders and Bishops. So our stumbling stone here is changed or is charged with both sides as a fourth obstacle that there is a considerable amount of "Bishop timber" in both churches, tending to the prevention of union. This, so far as it may be referred to here ambition, must be regarded as be hopeful or as evil as calculated to work serious ill to both sides. In the General Conference of 1868, when this union seemed about settled, the Rev. Henry M. Turner, being ardently in favor of it, and the Rev. B. H. Oak being as ardently opposed to it, one of those, now Bishops said to the other (who, like a lightning herald, rushed into the General Conference and plied his bewitching eloquence and unresisting logic with such force as to help greatly to cause a revocation of all the bad been done), "You've killed this effort; may God not allow you to prevent a union of these bodies in '72." The quotation is not verbatim. Now, we say, may God not allow any ambition or other evil quality to prevent the union. To be Bishop is not necessarily the best way to build up the work of saving man. Ambition can afford to wait—indeed, of this kind it ought to die.

But there is a fifth ground of hesitancy, which also is of an episcopal character: it is that the two benches of Bishops combining would bring together fifteen men, among whom, though there are able men, there is almost no member on this side of old age. There is fear that the meeting now fixed upon for mere Bishops on both sides by putting the work of both into one will prevent the addition of the requisite number of young men to relieve the fathers of rough work, while their council is refreshed. Several of the most aged might qualify for such a forum as active supervision and proper additions be made to the forces from the younger ministry.

A sixth objection has been found in the divergence of genius in the two bodies. That is not to be disregarded, but is not insurmountable; upon it rest a variety of church polity, property tenure and general denominational procedure.

A seventh point is that we should probably constitute an unwieldly body whose combined wisdom would be unequal to its combined responsibilities, which must be necessarily much larger for the first several years than they are to the two respective bodies now.

Both sides have found an eighth difficulty in the lack of a sufficiently deep desire in the masses on either side. This, it is said, would in the event of the declared union, break out in several different localities and be especially large number on each side that would adhere to the present titles respectively would hold all property registered under those titles where a requisite number of members in any place desired it. FIELD WORK ON EDUCATION.

BY REV. WM D JOHNSON, D.D., SECRETARY OF THE BOARD.

MR EDITOR:—I desire to make a few stat ments in regard to the rapid advance of our educational work. This progress, however, is due to the zeal of our Bishops, District Secretaries, pastors, church and Sabbath school officers, with noble men, women and children who are friends to education. Of for an increase in this number

A MILLION DOLLARS WANTED.

Two years ago we started with the intention of raising $40,000 for education. Our second annual report, April, 1886, will show that we have raised $16,000 and since increased to $50,000, and we are fully confident that we raise One Million Dollars immediately

Bishop James A. Shorter and Bishop J. P. Campbell, D.D., LL.D., each gave $1000 to Wilberforce; Bishop Shorter also gave $25 to each of our other schools, and his wife $100 to Wilberforce Rev. Dr. C. S. Smith gave $50 to Morris Brown College, Atlanta, and Bishop D A. Payne, D.D., LL.D., has provided in his will for leaving a valuable school-ment to our best working school. And now that Endowment Day, third Sunday in September, is approaching, we say to all friends, Prepare.

All who give from $5 to $1000 will be placed upon the Million Dollar list, and the Church and the world will never hear the last of it.

Let each minister lead a MILLION DOLLAR CLUB in his charge and send names to be published in our next report.

We visited nearly all the Southern conferences last fall and winter; and the great work of God in the ministers as also wars was. Education. We hope every church in connection will devote next Endowment Day to education.

A LONG TRIP—WASHINGTON, &C.

May 25th we left the Education office at Athens, Ga., to attend the dedication of the Metropolitan Church at Washington, D. C. Thursday night, June 3d, was set apart for education. Hon. Frederick Douglass, Hon. Mr. Grimes and Prof. Brooks, of Washington, made thrilling speeches on the occasion. This meeting, with the able assistance of Mr. Williams, on the editorial staff of the Republican, has placed our work in the most favorable light at Washington and before the entire country.

June 4th, we started for the commencement of Paul Quinn College, at Waco, Texas, travelling through Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Cincinnati, St. Louis, through Kansas and Missouri to Sherman in Texas, arriving at Waco on the 7th. Ooe feels about the same surprise at this college that everyone does upon coming to the Wilberforce. The large brick building with modern conveniences and the new buildings nearly kept, the beautiful campus in the midst of many acres of land, the art and industrial teaching started by the eighty one students in attendance, the very efficient corps of teachers and high hill overlooking the city, all have a tendency to impress one with the grandeur of the work being accomplished by the school. The commencement was voted a most important occasion, the great advance step being the conferring of D D upon fifteen of the ablest ministers, viz, Rev. R. F. Hyslop and Rev. Reddick and Ph. D's. The students presented President I W Burgess with a gold watch valued at $50 and a purse containing $100 in gold. Prof. Burgess' first and other points on the New England Coast The stories are all of a high order of literary excellence. Manager's Notes.

We have on hand the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorised to present the proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Eczema

Is more commonly known as Salt-Rheum. It is caused by impure blood, is accompanied with intense itching and burning sensations, and, unless properly treated, is likely to afflict its victim for years. If you are suffering from Eczema, or any other eruptive disease, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has proved, in numberless instances, a complete cure for this disorder.

Entirely Cured.

A few weeks ago I was attacked with a severe and distressing form of Eczema. The eruptions spread very generally over my body, causing an intense itching and burning sensation, especially at night. With great faith in the virtues of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I commenced taking it, and after having used less than two bottles of this medicine, am entirely cured.—Henry K. Bermisley, of the Hope "Nine," West Philadelphia, Pa.

I was, for years, troubled with Salt-Rheum, which, during the winter months, caused my hands to become very sore, crack open, and bleed. The application of Ayer's Sarsaparilla has entirely cured me of this troublesome humor.—Ellen Ashworth, Evening, Wyoming, Iowa.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Debility

Languor, and Loss of Appetite, are cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine relieves that sense of Constant Weariness, from which so many suffer, purifies, invigorates, and vitalizes the blood, gives tone and vigor to the stomach, and restores the appetite, health and strength more surely and speedily than any other remedy.

Positive Proof.

Two years ago I suffered from Loss of Appetite and Debility, the result of Liver Disease. After having taken various remedies, and several physicians without receiving any benefit, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle produced a marked change, and the second and third accomplished as much as I felt like in a new case. I have since first time, taken about one bottle every year, and find an occurrence of the trouble.—William H. Wray, East Lempster, N. H.

If any one suffering from General Debility, Want of Appetite, Depression of Spirits, or Impure Blood will use Ayer's Sarsaparilla they will find it will do them good.

Subscribers who fail to get their papers regularly may be the better prepared to perform their functions by very reason of not having. They have received their youth cordially. Old men already in responsible and high positions from their younger days might bear a very weak similarity to old institutions when their failure to perform work for which they have had a life time training is under consideration, but not when their fitness to perform the functions of some new office is questioned. The inaugurator of this latter comparison appeared in the use made by one of our contributors between a contemporarian and an old university.

Yale and Harvard can cover grow inferior by reason of their age. If they are ever forced to a second grade we shall seek some other cause than age.

It is of importance to our race just now that due account be taken of the worth of both age and intrinsic value of men and organizations. We would not ever lose our high appreciation of the great old men among us who have done a work to equal which we, our younger men, must labor assiduously; but at the same time we must not forget that the young men of our day will soon be called upon to act, they must therefore be encouraged. So we must not forget that our newer institutions will have work to do far more extensive than our old, therefore must receive the full recognition of the race.

COMMENCEMENT.

The thirty-first annual commencement of the Institution for Colored Youth was held in Association Hall, Wednesday, June 30th, '86. Owing to the excellent selection of subjects and their treatment, the exercises were made particularly interesting.

"Home Rule," by James B. Clark; "John B. Gough," by Miss Julia Austin; "Self-made Men," by Samuel J. Smith; "Pictures;" "Home," by Charles Hall, and "The Mind," with the Valedictory, by James Steward, son of Dr. T. G. Steward, were especially commendable, not only for their delivery, but for the practical thoughts contained and the good, sound, common sense manner in which they were treated. "Home" was accordingly interesting to the mothers. Being a subject with which they were all familiar, judging its merits was quite easy. Reading the truth of the statements and the practical benefits to be derived from the advanced teachings that are now being conducted by the Institution in the way of home duties, the mother was at once decided in the sensible young lady. The salutatorian, Charles Boyer, deserves mention for the able manner in which he handled what is publicly considered the driest of dry things, a Latin oration. The remaining members of the class delivered essays. "Examples of Faithful Mothers," by Alverda V. Sipple; "Strikes," by Lewis H. Shepard; "Louis Agassiz," by John W. Hunter; "Our Commonwealth, the State," by William H. Polk. The managers, as is their custom, gave the usual prizes for proficiency in English, mathematics, classics and good conduct. After which the Principal, Miss M. J. Coppie, delivered a farewell address to the class and presented their diplomas. The class is composed of members from Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey.

BOOK NOTICES.

"BOND AND FREE" is a well written story on the horrors of slave life and the cruelties of both. Mr. James H. W. Howard, Harrisburg, Pa. The author has adopted a style that reaches the book very quickly, and somewhat standing the subject in all its phases has been often considered. The plot is well laid and the story well told. There are some distractions in the work, though possibly true to life; for instance, where the author takes occasion to say that every black man, as a rule, select wives from the same social scale of a brighter color. This may be true, but the statement adds nothing to the execution of the author's undertaking. Besides this, some blasphemous vulgarisms are stated unnecessarily. The excellencies of the work outnumber its defects largely. We pronounce it equal to the most readable book of its kind written by colored men.

"MEN OF BRAWN," by Daniel Wise, is published by Messrs. Cranston & Stowe, Cincinnati; price $1.25. The book, of nearly 300 pages, illustrated, is entitled both finding, begins with the biography of Abraham Lincoln and closes with that of Geoffrey Chaucer, including sketches of ten among the world's great men. Any of the biographies is worth to a boy or girl much more than the price of the book.

"PLATO AND PAUL" is also published by Messrs. Cranston & Stowe, Cincinnati. It is cloth bound, beveled edge and numbers nearly 800 pages. Price, $3.50. Its author, J. W. Mendenhall, D.D., is one of our ablest writers on travels and comparative religions. Not only ministerial students, but all students will be amply rewarded for investing both the money and application necessary to the reading of this book of comparative philosophies and religions, demonstrating the excellence of that wisdom which comes down from above and the speech that is as near our Christian as it can be. We desire to bear a man like W. H. Heard, so able, so eloquent, so far seeing, so who values as its full worth an African Methodist Episcopal Church that shall embrace within its folds the whole of the best and heart and soul of the race, whether that race be found in the North, or in the South, in the islands of the sea or in Africa—do bear men. It was was seemingly talk of sections is constantly to be regretted. Come, dear Brother Heard, leave such talk to those who fail to appreciate the glory of the unity of the great Church of Christ, and for the reason that they are not able to comprehend the grandeur of its mission. But for those of us who see, yet the words of Daniel Webster be our words: "The union now and inseparable, and forever." Of course you in so wide a field will have to meet with opposition and to talk sections. The idea of sections is to provoke the idea of separation. Did I not know that the spirit of Bishop Heard beat in happy unison with the great heart of God, I would not now, Mr. Editor, that I would have troubled you with my brief note.

"Our fathers' Church, our mothers' Creed,
Is just the Church for me;
Our fathers' Church, our mothers' Church
Mine evermore shall be."

CHARLESTON AND AFRICAN METHODISM.

BY OBSERVER.

Emanuel had her grand rally May 16. Dr. W D Johnson was to have preached in the morning and Bishop Turner in the evening, but Bishop Turner could not reach the city. Dr. C. W. LeVere preached all day. Rev. W. H. Heard at 4 P. M. and Presiding Elder Rev. W. D. Johnson at 8 30 P. M. The day was a grand one for the members of Emanuel. Rev. W. H. Lawrence, former pastor of Centenary, Columbia, was in the city on a visit and preached at Mt. Zion on the evening to a crowded house. His sermon was a masterly effort. Subject, "Laugh and Grow Fat." Rev. W. H. Heard lectured in the evening in the place of Dr. Johnson. He had an audience that were well pleased. Subject, "Fast, Freemen, and Friends of the Negro in America." Rev. Heard has delivered the lecture three times in Charleston and to crowded houses.

Rev. E. G. Wall spent a few days in the city away from the scene of carnage and bloodshed. He is cheerful and never looked better. He did a fine work on Sabbath; preached three times and organized a Church at Mt. Zion and at Mt. Zion at 8 30 Rev Wall is a scholar and a fine preacher. It was the first time the father had ever heard the son. He made his family, who are Episcopalians, feel that Africa Methodism has in their son a power. The Church of which they could be proud. He came at Columbia and to hold up our Church. Rev. Wall has been in Charleston that African Methodism was a second-handed something not good enough for certain class of people, but that feeling is fast giving place to a feeling that it is the Church. That it is representative in that she is not afraid to have these people fill her pews and hear her leading men. May the Lord bless them and when cause in Charleston and the angelic throng. BAD TREATMENT SOUTH.

BY REV. A. L. RIDGE.

MR. EDITOR:—Monster-headed pro-slavery mobs still exists throughout the South. Colored men and women after procuring first-class tickets are driven into the smoking car. Some call them so, but I call them the negro, dog and drunkard car. A colored man dare not dispute a white man's word, it matters not how intelligent he may be in so doing. If he does he is bound to fight, his household home is plundered at midnight, and his children are driven from the town. The white men are more numerous in many school districts now than they were a few years ago. The white man forever will hate the negro to a sufficient extent to steal his labor, shelter his children and make him his inferior There is one thing we have to contend with, and that is the immense setting houses of their own. So long as the white man has the right to lead, he and his children will be the white man's slaves.

Mr. Long from the South Arkansas Annual Conference convened in Pine Bluff. It was reported to be one of the interesting meetings ever held in the State, but the report was not given that conference by the white press reporter. Pine Bluff was infested with a host of long tongued, spasmodic, pro-slavery men, who could not be in the cotton field. If the white man's slaves.

Now, my dear brother, you and I don't compose their own books, get it from those who have gone before us, they can't read their own newspapers and stop acting as a tail to the kite of the man of this country, that God who fed Elijah by the ravens, and Daniel in the lion's den, and Jonah in the whale's belly, and gave the three Hebrew children bondage ten times more than we have, and yet they prayed to God and were delivered from the fiery furnace for our young people. How in the name of God can they study these books that are stated of Mt. Zion and our mothers and fathers?

Now I could say much more, but the soul within me burns and the Holy Ghost says hold your peace. Let my cheeks as I think of the past and present treatment of the colored people of this country. God bless my watching them things and there will be a mighty uprising beginning my some day. Let us pray for it.

OUTRAGE UPON A MINISTER.

BY REV. J. W. BANKINS, P. E.

MR. EDITOR:—On the night of June 16th, I was called upon by a brother to hold my quarterly conference as presiding elder for the Lake City station, African Episcopal Church, Kentucky. Before I had been on a visit to my family, and in company with a lady, the daughter of ex-Senator Wilson, of Kentucky, who resides near Vicksburg, where we had to get a train for Kentucky, we purchased our first class tickets, and just before entering the car on the lady was a prominent school teacher of Lake City, and a member of the Church, she at once became acquainted with me, for it gives interest to the work and leads to the salvation of souls and women in the Church and binds them to the pastor with a three fold cord of love, and the knowledge and wisdom gained from the ministry from which I came. When this literature shall be read as it ought to be, and the African Methodist Church will fill the land as the waters do the deep; her sons and daughters will be found in all the land, should and they will be bound by a three fold cord of love, to the ages and the crash of worlds." Having the above in view the probation they will rejoice in the God of their salvation, and finally they will hear that still, small voice, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of thy Lord."

A. M. E. LITERATURE IN THE A. M. E SUNDAY SCHOOL.

A CHILDREN'S DAY PAPER, BY MISS A. LUCINDA SCRIVEN.

Literature, as defined by Webster means learning; "the collective body of literary productions embracing the entire thought and feeling characteristic of any particular race or people." The word literature is derived from the Latin word "litera," meaning a letter or character. Hence the term literature is applied to the written languages means pertaining to letters or learning; entering into the technicalities of African Methodist Literature, I have thought it best to give some of the best books that are now in circulation, and are of use to the Church.

If you consider it from a historical point, I will say that from the early days when God brought order out of confusion, when his spirit brooded upon the face of the waters, and light made its appearance and when the sea was covered with darkness. Then from this sacred literature of the days of old, from which we get the history of the heavens and the earth, there is an historical record reaching down through successive generations to the present time, when we came to seek and save the lost up to this, the progressive age of the nineteenth century. Aside from our sacred literature contained in the Bible, we have therein contained a record of the origin and fall of civilization, the palmy days of Egypt, the rise and fall of Greece and the gala days of the great Roman Republic, and the days of Julius Cæsar, the glory and Rome the proud mistress of the whole world; when every African, the land and home of the negro, boasted of her arts and sciences, her literature, her great pyramids, kings and queens, her golden hills and festal plains. But alas! she has lost her place among the nations and the lost of the oppressor long been upon the necks of her sons and daughters and was lost in infancy of the size of a former generation. Thus through the pages of literature we trace our history. And this is the only way to become thoroughly acquainted with the race with which we are identified as well as endeavoring to make known to the other nations of the world.

Here is a grand field for the right man. We want historians, that the record of our race may be handed down to posterity in literature we have the progress of the arts and sciences preserved for us and for the use of them coming after us. Without the aid of literature it would be impossible for us to keep up the link as it ought to be with the past in which we live. There was once a time when it seemed that everything was against us. At last things awoke and stood still apparently a fate concrete, then they began to stir, then to creep, next to walk and then to run but now we are dying. In our literature we find the lives and characters of our greatest and best men delineated. They serve to inspire the youth; they show how by successive steps one may climb the hill of difficulty and reach the summit has been gained, from which he can stand aloft and review the fields of the future. They are the finger boards ever pointing onward. If a young man has energy and wishes to become a man of note in his day and generation and leave a lasting name for the world to read of, he is encouraged to read it. Its influence cannot be felt in the whole community. When it is used in the school its effect will be felt in the home, giving life and invigorating that body from the very fountain of the heart; for year by year the little ones are taught to read and the knowledge and wisdom gained from the past is handed down to them. When this literature shall be read as it ought to be, and the African Methodist Church will fill the land as the waters do the deep; her sons and daughters will be found in all the land, should and they will be bound by a three fold cord of love, to the ages and the crash of worlds." Having the above in view the probation they will rejoice in the God of their salvation, and finally they will hear that still, small voice, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of thy Lord."

Z. M. ANDERSON.

THIRD EPISCOPAL DISTRICT.

BY REV. J. C. SCRIVEN, P. E.

All lives are interesting and instructive. The life of the poor struggling, struggling up through great odds, is peculiarly so. This long cogitation of Rev. J. M. Anderson with the Evansville public schools, his wide and varied acquaintance as editor, author, preacher and lecturer, and his genial disposition, has developed a character worthy of careful study.

He was born September 25, 1845, in Lost Creek, near Terre Haute, Indiana. His parents had moved to this State from Greene County, Ohio, in December, 1832. Those acquainted with the early settlement of Indiana, the hardships of a half century ago was a wilderness and its early surroundings, to describe it. Wild animals infested the forests its roads were most primitive, as the chief mode of travel was on foot. The pioneer family of Andersons knew how to labor, and by industry and economy, guided by native intelligence, they amassed a considerable fortune, and the neighborhood of Lost Creek to-day is a wealthy and prosperous settlement. Many of the sons of the family still live, but is affiliated with other States.

The young Andersons received their early training and schooling in the old fashioned log school-house of fifty years ago. Built of logs, a window afforded a sufficient light, the desks being benches of logs with legs driven in, no backs, without the modern appliances of our school-rooms of to-day, but with the birch. This was the school house, the curriculum of this institution of learning was not elective Reading, writing and ciphering were the main courses pursued, and they were taught rigorously. Here laid the foundation of an elementary education. In 1854 he went to Oberlin College, then opening her doors to youths of every race alike, without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude. Here he improved his English education in the preparatory department of that school

With this meagre equipment he began active life as a teacher, but his eyes were open and his mind alert. "Go West, young man," was the motto of the day, and in 1867 he left Ohio and entered the State of Kansas. He taught school in Leavenworth, Atchison and Topeka, and was for a time a public school teacher in Topeka. From the spirit manifested in the conference much good will result in the future. The Sunday school convention will meet in Camden, Ala., August 20th. The question of a high school was duly considered. A Board of trustees was elected for said school, who will meet at the same time and place with the Sunday school convention. The pastors are agents for the district school.

CHICAGO DISTRICT.

BY REV. B. K. BRIGHT.

The second Chicago District Conference convened in Reserve Church, Evanston, Ill., Tuesday, May 18th, at 10 o'clock A. M. Rev. B. K. Bright, presiding elder. Rev. A. J. Bowman was elected Secretary; Rev G. H. Wade, Assistant Secretary; Rev. C. R. Knight, reporter for the RECORDER. The class was examined and found to have all the subjects in accordance to Discipline. All the conference reports were excellent reports with the exception of the one on the means necessary to make the showing of the Sunday schools good. This report was severely criticised and finally laid on the table. The spiritual and social ability of the people showed quite a fine financial standing; the real and personal property is estimated at amounting to about four millions of dollars. The Sunday school is in a flourishing condition. The most of them will be represented at the next conference. The district conference took under consideration the Sunday school songs and appointed a committee on ways and means to report to the next session.

GAINESVILLE (FLA.) DISTRICT.

The above named conference convened at Cedar Key at 9 o'clock, A. M., Presiding Elder, Rev. P. G. Gowens, in the chair. Rev. Wm. Rogers and Rev. Dukes was elected Secretary, and A. B. Dudley, Assistant. Rev. Wm. Rogers was elected Secretary to the Sunday school convention and A. B. Dudley, Assistant. Rev. Prince Wright was elected Secretary to the Ministerial Examining Board. The following ministers were present: Revs. Wm. Rogers, Prince Wright, A. B. Braxton, Miss Bettie Harvey, of Hannibal, and Miss J. A. Taylor, of Fernandina. The reports of good essays were read by them. Mrs. Bettie Harvey, Hannibal, Mo., was present, and, by order of the conference, took a seat within the bar of the Quarterly Press. The pastor and wife, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Watson, had made ample preparations for the entertainment of the conference. The good people of Cedar Key will not be forgotten. The editor is an able preacher, a good church worker, and a friend to the cause of the Church, preachers and district, and loved by them in return.

A LETTER FROM THE ALAMO DISTRICT.

NOTICE.

To the Members of the Mississippi, North Mississippi, Arkansas, West and South Arkansas Conferences:

The time has passed for the remittances of your collections in aid of prosecuting the suit of our venerable Bishop, Thos. M. D. Ward, and the time is now here for the presentment and filing of papers in the suit, which has been delayed on the account of tardiness upon your part. Will you not stand to the matter immediately, and remit? If you do not, our ventures are lost. Only a few of the brethren have responded to the circular demands, among whom are Revs. M. B. Baily, $2; O. H. Douglass, $5; J. W. Golden, $1; A. M. Yates, $1; J. F. A. Sisson, $3 85; W. H. Smith, $1 50; Jas. Porter, $5.50, and G. G. Thomas, $25. But what is this to the amount of $350 that is necessarily needed for the prosecution of the suit to finality? Canyon not see the necessity and importance of immediate action? Strike then! "Tis the current when it serves, or loss our ventures." Yours for success,

G. G. H. THOMAS,
Jas. Porter.

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 15, 1886

WE CALL the attention of our ministers and patrons to the Manager's new "Book List" in this issue. Read it all, study it well and then make your orders.

THE PROGRAMME for the Asbury Park missionary meeting reached our office too late for insertion last week, or for want of good this week. There is no doubt that the day may be one of pleasure to many and of profit to a few; but to expect to reap anything for our missionary work would hardly be reasonable. Let us assemble with a large determination to enjoy ourselves, but not with a large expectation to do a great work for our mission fields.

WE CAN BUT AGREE with Elder Heard respecting the reappointment of any minister for the fifth or sixth year. What is not lawful ought not to be done. This leads to a disregard for law on the part of the ministry. It is a basis for disloyalty on the part of the laity also. It is an easy matter for a minister and his church to work up the imagination that but one certain man can accomplish the work that they have undertaken; but it is case is much greater than its reasonableness. The minister, but neither the apostolos nor the itinerant system, is to be congratulated on the sixth year's appointment.

ACCORDING TO THE COMMON DRAGS, the Fourth of July was celebrated at the Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Persons Saturday afternoon, by an entertainment consisting of vocal music by Mr. H. Garrigues, Mrs. and Miss Murray, Mr. and Mrs. McGhee and Mrs. Hinds. Miss Imogene Chandler delighted the old people accordingly by her recitals from eminent authors. John Oliblins also gave them some appropriate recitals interspersed with remarks on temperance. Gus Veccoga, cornet, Miss Murray, pianist. Last, though not least, Mr. George Reogner (the baker) furnished a sumptuous supply of ice cream and cake, which with cold lemonade was much appreciated. Several of the managers were present to share with them in the pleasure of the celebration.

THE NEW YORK FREEMAN'S statement concerning the inevitable relation of Bishop Disney to the church is a curious if not a serious piece of literature. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER has only noticed it since 1884. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER has also declaimed against Bishops soliciting their salary from pastors, whose appointments are in their (the Bishops') hands, without an order from the Secretary. The wonder is how the Financial Secretary, with Lot the Church put all the money into the Secretary's hands, let the Secretary pay all the money out pro rata, let him pay stastedly, or at least write to every man in general position as a steward day in each month, even though he have no money, and we shall have no trouble. To all of these points we must come soon, or the Church will turn away in disgust from the very best endeavors in its history for the sustenance of its connectional forces and, for the sake of change, break bands respecting general finances, modifying its ability to act and seriously affecting one of its strong unifying means. All of them may be declerred, but only at the expense indicated above.

OUR DAY—GOD'S DAY.

As a race, bound to be always discoverable and likely to be distinguished only to be shunned and excluded for very many years yet, we hold a very slender grip of security on this land of the free and home of the brave. True, it has drunk our sweat and tears, aye, our blood. It includes our bones, our pride, our toil. But by title deed we hold but a meagre part of it; by actual right of fee we are allied to but little of its great industrial character; we are so loosely connected with its politics that parties can hold us in disgustful indifference two months of every year, and our religious alliance is so very slight that those with whom we profess the same faith in the one redemption of Christ, often show that they have so hesitancy to accept white murderers in preference to black Christians, Barabas rather than Jesus, if the former releases them from silliness with us and the latter will have us all become one in him.

The race that includes the bloodiest and most loathsome holocausts of human history is its record, both connected and disconnected with Christianity, having for its victims both those of its own race and others, may yet be easily goaded by ambition, race repulsions and race apprehension to visit upon the negro in America all the brutality and beinous disregard for both the human and the Divine principle that mark their ruthless path of the past The vileness of some men connected with labor movements is characterized as either the just rebuke of the masses to the crushing heed of wealth or as so unruly and unjustifiable rising of the working men; when the negro, as a Knight, rises and demands better pay, he is as threatened race war. The cause of this different way of naming the same thing is plain; poverty and wealth correspond respectively with black and white sufficiently well to make the hypothesis that all employers are white and, though not all employes are black, all blacks are employes. Thus we are placed at fearful disadvantage on the labor subject, thus wealth will not respect us, knighted or knighthood, it will, as it must non-black laborers. But for the salt of the Caucasian race, the native generosity and the exceptional cases of highly developed Christian ideas that will not compromise to passion, pride and prejudice, one can see the spirit of manhood nor of the image of God, found residing in never so black a person, the negro's opportunity in this country would be exceedingly contracted and his progress unspeakably gloomy. As it is, very much depends upon the discretion, patient endurance, temperate action, rigid economy, solid and rapid moral growth, extensive acquisitiveness of the mind power and laid on the part of the negro. Essentially distinguished as we are from the white race by personal and physical qualities, there ese he little hope for our long residence among them in our present relations, except in most, after a very few years, show either an enormous ascent or a deplorable and irrecoverable descent. Not politics, as popularly need, must be our means of elevation, but politics in the larger, wise use of means, skillful seizure of opportunities and strong appropriating and holding of advantages; as sandying the secrets of decay and destructiveness in those around us, to avoid them and their secrets of glory, goodness and power, to practice them. We must soon change the proportion of race ignorance and race recklessness in this country right. We must right soon, by force of intrinsic and practical excellence, force the unreasonable prejudice back. We must right soon, by holy living, know all the heights and depths of the love of Christ, seizing with a strong arm that most powerful lever for human elevation—be full of the Holy Ghost and power. To-day is the day of our race—salvation. Though others fail to enter into that rest that remains, let us not come short of it. All ourselves fully with God. He commands us to use it. He will use us as his instruments just as fully as if there were no repulsive antipathy against us. He who is no respector of persons will save the Caucasian by the negro as the negro as gracefully and as well as the negro by some of the Caucasian. He can easily sanctify both the gift and the altar.

WILMINGTON (N. C.) LETTER

ITEMS OF INTEREST—ECHOES

BY REV. I. P. ALDRIDGE.

MR. EDITOR:—In this letter I ask you to publish that the Lord is glorifying to the whole Church, and especially to the Methodist Episcopal Church, because they show which way the tide is flowing. I think it is a settled fact that the Methodist Episcopal Church in North Carolina will meet the session this fall with a full house. I am receiving letters to that effect from the members of the Conference. Those are echoes that will tell.

Rev. Robert Liese, P.E., Raleigh District, will be missed by all the ministers are coming to conference, and I am coming if I live. Remember the conference voted to meet in Wilmington."

Rev. J. E. C. Barbam, State Missionary, Fayetteville: "Am coming. Hurrah!"

Rev. J. H. Bryant, Fayetteville District: "Agard I and self are coming. We are will come to conference at Wilmington. Remember me, and I would call on no anywhere else unless ordered by the Bishop."

Rev. John S. Brown, Fayetteville: "The Foreruner' is a shame; I am against it. I will meet the North Carolina Conference the 10th of November, 1886. I will do all I can to make my reports better than last year."

"Rev. G. Sampson, Greensboro: "I am glad to hear from you. I will not be with you at conference. I have never missed meeting the Conference since I has been organized fifteen years ago, and will meet this one if it lies until 9th November, 1886." Rev. J. W. Hood, New Berne: "I am getting along quite nicely in our District. Pastors and people have improved more than last year. And, as to meeting the Conference, I will be there with a majority of our brethren shall decide as not careful where; but I am with the North Carolina Conference for weal or woe. I shall stand."

Rev. J. H. Miller, P. E., New Berne District, arrived in the city Sunday, on the A. M. & P. South bound fast mail and passenger train, which was the guest of Mr and Mrs J. P. Thomas, on Fifth street. He will go to other place to meet the conference but not in Wilmington. He thinks it best for all the ministers to meet where the Bishops meet, as the appointments are for one year only and changes are frequence here in November next and before, all the ministers in his district will do likewise.

Rev William H. Bishop, Rich Square: "I have written to you about my conference. I have been too long on the Roanoke Circuit to know me off now and if the Lord spares me I will be on hand the 10th of November next." Rev. Bishop will be here and I am here—our crops cams of late I hope the Bishop will be here next time next year. Now, in regard to the 'Forerunner,' I never signed or authorized my name edited it."

Our next will contain echoes from other parts. The members of conference will stand by the resolutions adopted by the conference, but not the "Forerunner." I think they are wise for the Our Bishops must use more godly judgment in transferring men to this conference; I will speak more fully of this at a settled date. I am glad to hear from the members of the North Carolina Conference write me their views on the situation. They will endeavor to keep up my correspondence with the RECORDER.

Fraternally yours, I. P. ALDRIDGE.

The fourth session of this conference convened in Shallotte, July 1, May 30 to 7th The opening sermon was preached by Rev. Bedford Green, F. E. Harper. Subject, "Peni's outlines of the Gospel to Timothy;" after which the conference proceeded to organize by election, by electing Revs. J. H. Welch, Secretary, and C. Secret, B. S. Baker pro tem.

The usual committees were appointed by the presiding Elder read his annual address calling the attention of the conference to the prosperous condition of the District, and suggested that the brethren make a still effort to raise means, that we may place men at these stations. The address was received as a special hour. At 3 o'clock, Rev. J. H. Welch, D.D., read a paper on "The Possible Dignity of Christian Ministry," which was delivered in Brother Welch's happiest style and listened to perpetually by all on the disciminabled writer and orator. Such a paper published in pamphlet form as it has been requested would be a blessing to the people as well as by the ministers and members of the Church, would unquestionably do much to extend and raise the dignity of our church service. The subject was discussed by the brethren.

SECOND DAY.

After devotional services and business hours, at 3 P. M. Rev B. F. Foster, M.D., read a paper, "How and How to Preach," which was followed by quite a lively discussion.

THIRD DAY.

After reports of committees a paper on "How to Study the Bible" was read by Rev. G. W. Taylor, and discussed at some length. These papers, if printed, would make good reading matter for the Church. The financial panic is felt throughout our entire District, yet brother ren report increase of members and the spiritual condition of the Church was never better; raising money to build churches is slow and hard to what it used to be. This conference organized a church building association for the Louisville District to try to raise means to establish missions and, to aid new work in this district. The district conference made some provision to try to get out the names of our annual conference. Those brethren who never attend district conference only just as they please and those who never before adjournment will better look out. Can nothing can be done with brethren acting in this way? If we go to the district conference when we want to, or when we do go, stay if we want to or leave when we please, can we have any district conference? We think our district conference could be made more interesting and profitable if each one came to attend to business and not for pleasure altogether. Brethren are sometimes in their places and sometimes sot, and sometimes in and out. I only give this as a hint this time, Mr. Editor.

SPRINGFIELD (ILL.) DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

BY REV. J. P. DIXON, S. D.

The second session of the Springfield Presding Elder District met in Mattoon, Ill., May 11th, Rev. F. C. Cooper, presiding Elder, in the chair. After some interesting remarks by the presiding elder as to the purpose of the conference and the law under which it exists, Rev. J. P. Dyson, D.D., was elected Secretary; After which Rev. and Wm Carter were elected marshalls and S. McDaniel, usher. The committee on Episcopacy was called and the following members answered to their names: J. B. Dawson, E. C. Joiner, Rob't Gerwin, Louis Jenkins, J. P. Dyson, B.D., Charles Smith, Alphia Jones, Jas. Thompson, Jas. Woods, H. DeTugh Wm. Williams, F. M. Green, C. A. Black, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Hickman, W. J. Davis, Chas. Ellis, Aaron Parks, Mrs. Pascal, Wilkerson, Wm. Carter, T. McDowell, A. Bridgewater, Wm. McCann, Geo. Henson and Jeremiah Williams. The committee on resolutions, regular committees, which presented resolutions which were upon the subjects assigned them. The labor and liquor questions were considered by the committee and the people of the country and committee to consider the cause of the depression in business. They evoked considerable debate, after which the conference, by standing vote on each subject, declared itself rebelion to the labor question and active prohibition. Also declared itself in favor of connectional business as came before it. Rev. J. P. Dyson, D.D., Secretary, while and colored, vied with each other in making the stay of ministers and delegates a pleasant one. Several resolutions thanks to the good citizens of Mattoon were passed by the conference.

WEARING THE CROSS.

Wearing the cross seems much more popular than bearing it. That which can be made into an ornament is quite another thing when it becomes a source of shame and persecution. Nothing is more common than to see the cross worn by fashion into most exquisite shapes upon canvas, in satin, in gold, and set up for the admiration of beholders. Poets and orators have exhausted themselves in its praise, and made the multitude to weep and clap their hands at will. But when it comes to bearing the cross the shame and slight and scoffing which follow in its train, many of the cross—it is too often shunned and despised. Even those who have loved it sometimes sit and done during each holiday; as active-minded man must have occupation of some kind even in his hours of recreation. A chance of work is, indeed, a form of rest, and happily there is no lack of subjects for every variety of mind. By such means as these mind and body are alike renewed and invigorated.

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from the Pacific and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to the call, but how to do this their funds must be increased, and nothing but active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Last summer (that has not done so heretofore) organized a missionary society, and commenced work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, January, February and May. Each auxiliary is requested to send its representative to the Board of Managers of M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

NOTICE.

To the Members of the Mississippi, North Mississippi, Arkansas, West and South Arkansas Conferences:

The time has passed for the remittances of your collections in aid of processing the suit of our venerable Bishop, Thos. M. D. Ward, and the time is now here for the presentment and filing of papers in the suit, which has been delayed on the account of tardiness upon your part. Will you not attend to the matter immediately, and remit? If you do not, our ventures are lost. Only a few of the brethren have responded to the circular demand, among whom are Revs. M. B. Saily; $2; O. H. Douglass, $5; T. W. Golden, $1; A. M. Yates, $1; J. F. A. Simon, $3.85; W. H. Smith, $1.50; Jas. Porter, $5.50, and O. O. M. Thomas, $25. But that is this to the amount of $300 that is necessarily needed for the prosecution of the suit to finality? Can you not see the necessity and importance of immediate action? Strike them! "Take the cornet when it serves, or lose our ventures." Let us hear from you.

Yours for success,

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES SYSTEM.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the same money to us monthly and to make a full settlement for all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsolde be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to the order. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or a hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 yearly. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—Our new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

Stomach Troubles

Troubles are caused by improper diet, hasty eating and drinking, lax suppers, the excessive use of stimulants, and a scrofulous condition of the blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the most efficacious remedy for all such disorders. "I am convinced that the worst cases of Dyspepsia can be cured by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I suffered greatly from this complaint for years, and never found relief until I began to use this only good medicine. I recommend using it to all who suffer from the terrible effects of this prevalent disease."—Mrs. Sarah Hall, Lowell, Mass.

My wife was long subject to severe disorders, the result of stomach and liver disorders. After trying various remedies, without relief, she used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was speedily cured.—D. Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass.

As a remedy for Debility, Faintness, Loss of appetite and Indigestion, I look for bottle of

and was cured.—H. Mansfield, Chelmsford, Mass.

Troubles

Never come alone. If the Liver, Kidneys, or Bowels are disordered, other parts of the body become affected. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restores the vigor required for the healthy action of these organs more speedily than any other medicine. "A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Kidney Disease, when all other medicines failed. It is the most reliable blood purifier I ever found."—Mrs. Ellen Ashley, N. J.

"I was afflicted with a severe bowel difficulty; my vitality seemed to be rapidly failing, and my appetite failed, my tongue was badly coated, and my strength was gone. In this enfeebled condition I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I had not taken many doses before I realized a decided change for the better. My appetite and strength returned, and my whole system manifested renewed vigor. —E. B. Simonds, Liberty, Va.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the home: it is so good for the blood.—Mrs. E. Townsley Aubrey, N. J.

"GENESIS RE-READ."

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the peculiar press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the relation of the world and of the life in accord of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., which claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also the operation of natural law. The writer is no sectarian and his plea for mutual consideration on the part of Methodism and the scientist is so honestly support-ed that it will commend itself to all. It is a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events which followed it, and which are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. Many readers will be glad to see a necessary conflict between the Bible and science denied, and the belief that the two may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the correctness of the other. It is a book that is to be read and studied, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between the two, and Bishop Campbell's appendix is an admirable feature. Readers have accepted to express the divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also the operation of natural law. His temper is so moderate and his plea for mutual consideration on the part of Methodism and the scientist is so honestly support-ed that it will commend itself to all. It is a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Press says of the author:

He is a clear and forcible writer, and not without a certain taking eloquence.

BIRD NOTES.

Six poplar trees, in golden green,
Stand by the street How near believe—
The snow of pine and peaches bloom—
And I, looking down from my little room,
Call to the birds the best they know:
And he pipes for an answer: "The spring is here."

A month goes by with the sun and rain,
And a rosebud tags at my window-pane;
I see in the green leaves, dimly,
The tall white lilies in stately row;
The birds are posting the cherries red:
"Summer is coming, coming!" they sing.

Again I looked from my casement down;
The leaves are changing to red and brown;
And overhead, through a sky of gray
The swallows are flying far away.
"Winter is coming," one bird says to me;
"Autumn is come," they make reply.

Keenly, coldly, the north winds blow;
Silently falls the pure white snow;
Of birds and blossom I am bereft,
Brave knight robin alone is left,
And he lays and chirps at my window-pane:
"Wake home, wake home, wake home, m.

EDUCATION ON WHEELS.

BY REV. WM. D. JOHNSON, D.D., SHORE PART OF EDUCATION

To our age, at least, the wheel is an emblem of progress. The whirl of locomotive, the cog-wheel of machinery, the spinning jenny, the dark tunnel and upon the edges of precipitous rocks, the wheel of wheelmen upon the thoroughfares of cities, and the wheel suggestive of the State fire, imfolding motion of the spirit of the living creature in the wheels.

How can we, at the season of college commencements, with renewed devotions going like a flash East, West, North, South, to sequestrated another revolution of the established curriculum to say nothing of the hosts of commencement orators, whose surprising delegates to conventions, conferences and associations, are everywhere seen and seen having something to teach and something to learn—say, how can we better employ the time we have to spend them with the prophetic sex of Daniel when the wheels run so and fro and knowledge shall be increased?"

Mr. Editor, I have the commendation we write at Dallas, Texas, one of the most enterprising cities of the State, and where I have been pastor for the Rev. J. H. Armstrong, the educational work of the Church is ably and well sustained by two of our ablest young men, Prof. Ed. Gaines, formerly of Georgia, and Prof. N. W. Taylor, formerly of Kentucky, the latter a graduate of Wilberforce to the city schools.

Our day school, June 15th, was Fort Worth, Texas. Here we found the pastor, Rev. W. B. Reid, confined to bed from a sudden illness brought on by incessant cares in building a new church edifice. He is a man of faith and of laboring abundantly. It is a large brick structure, well and handsomely finished. The work has all been done within a few months.

Our next stop was at Brenham, Texas, with Rev. J. R. Bryan, pastor. The church is a large, commodious frame, where we have a large cathedral-like church edifice in course of erection. Rev. W. H. Bradley. We addressed his people on education. The next day brought us to the junction, where we met Rev. J. E. Edwards, the pastor, who has been a faithful worker in the Sunday-school Department, and it was a real pleasure to meet the veteran of God's vineyard and then place for a session of the United General Conference, to be held in connection with the approaching session of the Texas Conference, as well as meetings for business work.

The Texas Conference will convene at Corsicana, Texas, on the 4th of August, and the Bishop has appointed Rev. Wm. H. Butler, D.D., as his district presiding elder.

Rev. P. W. Watson, Rocky Point: "I will meet the conference at Wilmington (D. C.) with better reports than last year."

Rev. Sarah Graham White, Hall, is sick and in a bad condition. She charges is not able to take care of him.

Rev. J. H. Morganton Dix District: "If you desire to hold your meeting in this conference you must strictly attend to this matter. God bless our work. We are in a stretch for Wilmington."

Rev. John S. Brown, Fayetteville: "Will hold on to the last for it."

Rev. Scipio Seals, Wilmington, says he will make a better report this year than last.

Rev. N. H. Torpin, Mt. Olive, is hard at work and will have a good conference here in November next.

Mt. Olive, Rev. Mr. Wood has forwarded to Rev. G. S. Smith $10 for the NOTICE that hereafter the RECORDER will not be sent for less than one year. Let's subscription on trial, or by instalment, to cease when the amount required. SEVERAL MONTHS ago Mr. John R. Gibson, B.S., teaching in Galveston, Texas, was elected Professor of Latin and Greek, of San Antonio. The 7th inst. Mr. F. H. Mahon, B.S., also teaching in Galveston, and a classmate of Mr. Gibson, was married to Miss Bella E. Love, B.S., of Galveston. The quartette are Wilberforce students. All are highly worthy. Messrs. Mahoon and Gibson have made very good impressions on those among whom they have labored, as have the most of Wilberforce students. Only a few days ago we received a letter asking for a Wilberforce student as teacher in New Jersey.

"NOT BY POWAR nor by might, but by my spirit, saith the Lord."

How forceful the Church seems of this most interesting truth. The inner working of the Holy Spirit is often forgotten, while we attend to the merely external, the bodily exercises, which at its best profits little. Our talk is very different from our conduct on this subject. We talk Christ, but act man. That which we say, we also reap. We sow to the flesh, of the flesh we reap corruption een we expect to reap! We sow to buildings, to numbers, to learning, preferment, to power, as if all these things were not to pass away. The Holy Ghost will last forever.

The tendency of the Church to depart from the spirit is not designed, but is ineideatal to human ignorance and blindness, the consequence of mistaking means for end. To stand in a modern congregation, listening to the language of money collectors, is to be impressed with the notice that the accumulation of moneys is the end, rather than a means, of church existence. The result is our walls are built; our churches open, our mission fields are supplied, our times are furnished with books and papers and our pulpits supplied with learned preachers. Now what wait we for but thy Spirit, Lord!

FRATERNAL UNION.

Fraternal union between two given branches of the Christian Church presupposes arrangements by which neither shall be a cesspool for the other, nor shall either be the opponent of the other; but they shall be co-operators. One will not receive expelled or suspended members from the other, nor will one crowd an organization into a town by the side of the other, when it is evident that there will not be there then enough persons in that place to support the existing churches. Then, notwithstanding there may be a few malcontents in the existing church.

But we have no reason to expect a fraternal union from the Christian life that is too weak for organic union. Such a Christian conception must argue that since, on our selfish interest, we fail to organize a union, on our selfish interest we must continue to hold. So we cannot expect our churches to unite on fraternal basis, if they have no organic basis. The real fact is, if it is not impossible to maintain a real and true fraternal union without leading rapidly to organic union, it is highly improbable. We shall be most thankful to God for his glorious grace, if the Conference are allowed such free course in the compound connell that we may be enabled to add a foot note before closing this matter up for the press, "but they did agree to fraternal union." And so they did.

FACTS WORTH CONSIDERATION.

There is not another great national church organization in the country that has its chief machinery departments located in the late slave States to the extent that the African Methodist Church has; excepting those organizations whose bases and operations are almost entirely limited to those States, and the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church. Probably four-fifths of its general feeds pass into those States, viz.: the Educational, Sunday School and General Financial funds. It goes for nothing that the financial department is temporarily acting in Ohio. The Church has not ordered that. There is no other religious organization that has so large a proportion of its scholastic work in the late slave States as has the African Methodist Church. There is no other church that returns to our people in those States so large a share of the results of their educational institutions located outside of said States. There is no other Episcopal Church that has a greater proportion of its Bishops residing in those States. There is, without exception, no other organization that has done more to aid our entire people, all over the broad land, in organizing for mutual growth in mind and morals, might and manners, promotion and progress, race worth and religious life. There is on other Church that has schooled a more able class of co-operators with, and fearless advocates for, our people.

The fact is, there is little to say concerning our Church's work among colored Americans, and especially in the late slave States, that severs more of an aggueerous spirit and an (at least) ill concealed misapprehension, than this talk about "everything going North," "everything for North," etc. It is as inconsistent with plain existing and recurrent facts as it is with past record Why do we use the worn-out declaration longer?

The very best life-blood, brain power and moral worth in the African Methodist Church have been expended in the South. The greatest, best and most widely known men in our line have done noble and heroic work in the South, and such a few of these are now doing now. Just as true is the fact that from the South here come many more than half of our great leaders; yes, from the perilous South; the South the defended its bleak people against the swellings of freedom and unctuous. Our Payne, our Morris Brown, our Waters, our Campbell, our J. M. Brown, our Turner, our Cain and Disney, our Shorter and our Nazery were all given to the Church by the vigorous bands of slave States.

As the RECORDER has said before, there is the very least excuse for us to say anything about the localities in which our Church operates. It is all over this country. It may be yet constituted a marvellously great means of diversing the entire country. Do not stick too closely to the mistake that our mission is going to be, or that it is now, exclusively to the black people of America. Our Church is doing a work throughout the country that readers it questionable whether the country could dispense with our influence anywhere and still be as well off as with it. The main body of our membership is in the so-called Southern States; but let us not forget that nothing is plainer than that our people are emigrating from the South and defining themselves all over the States. The A. M. E. Church must maintain her hard escored character as being their religious asylum everywhere. Yet, as intimated above, we must not forget our own worth to those who are not of the colored race. The extreme Southern and Western sections of our country, as has been previously stated in these columns, must be used question have a larger share of Bishops' residences for the future conveniences of the connection; not as much for the sake of competitive as for intrinsic and practical worth. Whether our Bishops will rotate or district, this fact remains as unconvincing evidence from Meanwhile, temperate consideration of the work in our individual bands and hearty co-operation on the part of all, from whatever section, will subserve the worth of the African Methodist Church to the race and the world much more fully and rapidly than will our rash and explosive tirades against those who do make mistakes that have been made by us as a connection. Let no article be sent before coming under our sumpare carefully before publishing. Let us mind more generously the performances of our Church for our common good than we do the malicegings of a few. What if other denominational representatives do cast into the teeth of our fellow laborers in Southern States, the direct opposite to all the claims made in this article? Which side is true is the question for us to consider. Denunciation can be easily made; proof can not always be so easy. It may be demonstrated that the colored race of America has in no church organization a greater helper than the African Methodist Church. This is no sectional preferences, nor any race proscriptions. It places no limits to mental development nor checks upon laudable aspirations.

THE BISHOPS' MEETING.

According to previous arrangement, the Bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church and the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church assembled in joint connell Thursday, July 15th, in Bethel A. M. E. Church, Sixth street, Philadelphia, Bishop Cain, of the A. M. E. Church, and Moore of the A. M. E. Zion Church, being absent. The senior Bishops, Payne of the A. M. E. Church and Jones of the A. M. E. Z. Church, were elected joint chairmen, and Rev. J. H. White, of the A. M. E. Z. Church, and J. W. Hoskins, D. D., of the A. M. E. Church, were joint secretaries.

Nothing of interest beyond formally organising was done excepting to resolve to hold their sessions alternately in the Bethel Church, described above, and in Zion Wesley Church, Fifteenth and Lombard Streets. Accordingly the second day's session was opened in the latter church. Business proceeded very study. The consideration of the plan for a union of the joint commission in July, 1885, was made a special order for day at 11 o'clock. Previous to its consideration Bishops Payne and Jones stated the meaning and spirit of the document and its proper source of procedure through the connell in session there and on to the conferences and the people.

The articles of the platform were considered seriatim. No serious friction was noticeable till they reached number six, which proposes the name "First United Methodist Episcopal Church." This brought to their feet not only Bishops Turner, Hood, Campbell and Jones, but this was evident from the first would be heard, but it also brought out the deepest interest, and very fearless, one would infer, is to guard perfunmentary and historical points; Bishop Thompson, whose every act indicated more thought than speech; Bishop Shorter, who is said to bear physical resemblance to Bishop Thompson and who is evidently one of our great safeguards of prebity and staneheess; Bishop Brown, the noted diplomat; even Bishop Ward, whose words are eloquent (though not to the point), and Bishop Lomax, whose choice words showed that his mind was thoroughly settled on what stand he should take in this matter. This was probably the first instance during the session of his attempting a speech. Bishop Bishop was present throughout. It was evident that "F. U. M. E." was not the title that would secure the majority in that connell of twelve, the number of the epistles, the number of the tribes, the number of the joint commission in July and the number of the Episcopal Council in this July—the sacred twelve. "Not the fatal thicue," said Bishop Payne, when they were about to vote to change the name suggested by the joint commission to revise the two disciplines from twelve to twenty-four. Strange it may be, yet true it is that an expression of that same revered man was heard from Bishop Payne years ago flashed over six hundred miles and stood by the side of this later expression, and from away back of the expression of Bishop Payne twenty-two years ago, came that expression of Him who is greater than Bishop Payne. The expression of Bishop Payne was, "In every twelve Christians there may be a Judas." The expression of Jesus, 'Yet one of you hath a devil." We do not mention this for any more than its face value as taken alone as affecting even the sacred number as such, and in no sense touching or bearing upon the men who met in Bethel and Wesley Churches, nor either of the former historic twelves.

But to the name. At first thought it seems strange that the more name of a proposed united church should be the most serious discussion than the preceding five questions together, but deeper consideration shows abundance of ground, if not in reason, in feeling and the logic of events. The name of an organization of men is its rallying cry, its shibboleth, its key-note. Up to this writing, Saturday morning, there have been two names proposed in the connell, one by Bishop Wayman and one by Bishop Turner. Hood, Campbell and Jones, each of these two members who were also members of the commission. Bishop Waymen suggested the title, The United African Methodist Episcopal" Church, and Bishop Jones, "The United Zion Bethel" or "United Bethel Zion" Church. Bishop Hood doubted very much whether any name that failed to include the term Zion would be acceptable by their constituency. Bishop Lomax said they had much property connected with the name Zion, and evidently one of our great safeguards of prebity and staneheess; Bishop Brown, the noted diplomat; even Bishop Ward, whose words are eloquent (though not to the point), and Bishop Lomax, whose choice words showed that his mind was thoroughly settled on what stand he should take in this matter. Queen Victoria is absolutely a fine musician, who never engaged a lady of honor that would not play a duet on the harp on the piano; she possessed a very fine voice, admirably trained by the late Signor Lablache. Music was daily practiced by the queen's household during Prince Albert's lifetime, and it was a pleasure to hear Mendelssohn say, with his eyes all on her, how delighted he was to hear the Queen play one of his "Lieder ohne Worte" better than he could do it himself! Increase the Appetite

By taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. This remedy is thorough in its action, imparts tone and strength to the stomach, Liver, and Bowels, and enables them to perform all their functions properly. "I have used Ayer's Pills for a number of years, and have never found anything equal to them for eliminating the opposite and impurities from the system. I always keep them in the house. — R. D. Jackson, Wilmington, Del. "For over two years I was afflicted with torpidity of the Liver. I had no appetite, suffered from Constipation, Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Side and Back, and General Debility. Ayer's Pills were the first medicine to give me relief. I took three boxes of them, and was cured. This remedy never fails to and quicken the appetite. Ayer's Pills promptly relieve Headache, and are the best cathartic I know of. — George O. Williams, West Meriden, Conn.

For a number of years I was troubled with Dyspepsia, and Kidney Disease, and my health suffered much. This ailment sometimes caused Constipation, Indigestion, Headache, and Dizziness soon followed. I became weak, emaciated, and totally unfitted for work or any kind. I tried various remedies, but found nothing effectual for my relief until I began using Ayer's Pills. They cured me entirely, and I now believe them to be the most reliable cathartic in use. — G. S. Whittemore, Biddeford, Me.

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 29, 1886

"WILMINGTON LETTERS" are a little ahead of us. Patience, brethren.

THE CHURCH will await with curiosity the result of the North Carolina extra session, this being probably the first instance of such a case in our Church history.

DR. W. D. JOHNSON is appointed to the Church reporting one of the greatest interests—education. Let us hear him fully, follow him closely, help him willingly.

THERE ARE GREAT fears of terrific suffering in parts of TEXAS on account of the drought. Already many families are leaving the country roned about Fort Worth.

IN CAGONSTOWN COUNTY, South Carolina, a famine is anticipated by some citizens; indeed seems already begun. The selling of an extra session of the legislature to provide for sufferers has been urged.

THE CLADSTONE ministry, after a brief, but very vigorous and emphatic tenure, has resigned to be succeeded by Lord Salisbury. The rapid succession of changes in her majesty's government that have characterized the last few years must contribute largely to keep the empire in an unsettled state. Their changes are more frequent than those of our republics and tend to undermine the stability of monarchial principles.

THE FORENCES, in Philadelphia, of eight of our Bishops last week was a source of great pleasure. Bishop Payne has gained in health greatly since the first of June. Bishop Shorter is also in better health than some months ago. Bishop Brown is still suffering with rheumatism. Bishops Campbell, Wayman, Turner and Dicey are all looking very well. Bishop Ward is cheerful, but not in excellent health. He was summoned home on account of the sickness of Mrs. Ward.

WE FELT AFRAID Brother Heard was stepping out into deep waters when we published his first "Plain Talk." Close criticisms of persons and things on slight acquaintance is liable to many mistakes. Doubtless our friends speaking to Brother Heard to this number are dealing with him hoping he will thus sin no more. Of course all were not on the occasion of the Metropolitan dedication recognized that the preaching of the day was arranged for Bishops, and not candidates. All who know Mrs. Bishop Brown will stand on the side of her defender rather than that of the critic. But let us just believe that Dr. Gaines and others have set our worthy correspondent right. "Plain Talk" in this issue is very practical and interesting. So will be "Plain Talk" in a future issue.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that reforms never move backwards, but this reformistatement itself seems about to be reversed in Springfield, Ohio, where, having had "mixed" schools in a degree, they now revert to the separate schools. It may turn out after all that the old anti-slavery song concerning Ohio was prophetic:

"Ohio's not the place for me;
For I was raised up right
So many of her sons to see
In garments of discipline."

In the county represented in the legislature by our distinguished friend, H. W. Arnett, probably not a paper defended his manly strokes at the silly "black laws," while the paper whose managers have done several thousands of dollars worth of work for our people and made a good business profit, opened its seige guns on the black representative. Does Ohio enjoy the skeleton of slavery? Does she not dread the ghost of slavery? Then may she live long to enjoy their companionship. But ere long she will learn that she is seeking the living among the dead. There is nothing comparatively vital in the supposed wisdom exercised by Caucasian Ohio in this question.

THE NEW YORK FREEMAN, "as a member of the A. M. E. Church," has never had any reasonable ground in expressions of the RECORDER to doubt, relative to Bishop Dimery's position in our Church. If referring to a previous direct declarative statement on a subject concerning which the Freeman raises a question, is from the Freeman's standpoint "dodging the question," we can suggest no relief. All right, "to the point." In the former article which agitated the Freeman, the RECORDER showed nothing like a "torn up" state. The RECORDER said, to effect, Bishop Dimery being settled in the A. M. E. Church, he could not become more settled by conference resolutions, nor could he be displaced by Bishops' protests. His relationship must depend upon the same principles as that of other Bishops. Other members of the Church seem to understand the RECORD-ER relative to this subject clearly, Brother Freeman. There is no controversy in the members of an Episcopal Church saying to their Bishop, "Bishop, we recognize you." As well might the Sunday morning class in Sullivan Street Church (supposing the editor of the Freeman a member of Bridge Street class) say ex the editor's attending night Sunday morning class: "Mr. Leader, I move that it is the sense of this class that this brother is a bona-fide and acceptable member of Sullivan Street Church," etc., etc., etc. Of course the Freeman would accept this lesteestion that his membership in the Sullivan Street Church had been questioned as an act of courtesy. The RECORDER would consider all reference to the subject as rather discourteous.

"WILMINGTON LETTERS" are a little ahead of us. Patience, brethren.

THE RETIREMENT of Prof. Peter H. Clark, A. M., from the principalship of the Gaines High School, Cincinnati, is regretted by the colored people of that city. Mr. Clark has filled the post many years under circumstances to which few men could have done so. He has changed his political relations two or three times, allying himself with parties in which colored men were used as tools—the Workingmen's and the Democratic; also holding preconceed religious views different from those of a large majority of his colored constituency; and yet he has so grined and so held the confidences and real affection of that people as to retire from the position of their teacher bearing their sincere regrets and undying love. His aptness to teach, his tender sympathy for the suffering and generous aid to the needy have endeared him to them. Few of them agreeing with him in religious and political views, many of them agree with him in his efforts to lead the race to places of independent manhood. We put some grand teachers out of the early fruits of freedom, indeed out of the very times of slavery. Reason, B. K. Sampson, Miss S. J. Woodsee, Absalom Wilson, Miss Prudence Gould, W. H. Gibson, Sr., J. G. Mitchell, Vashon Bruce, Mrs. Lucy Day, Weeks, Clark and scores of others. The younger mee, as Hlackburn, Shorter, Mrs. Coppie, White, Mrs. Briggs, Bailey, Delaney, Hubbard, Washington, Cromwell, Page and the hundreds of their age will do well to equal the pioneers in holding the worthy, grateful and undying remembrance of the great future. His successor, Mr. W. H. Parham, is a gentleman quite extensively known as a lecturer, having been principal of one of Cincinnati's high schools for several years. There is no doubt of his success. From our view, the risieg and coming generations will look back upon the change and call it blessed as far as the cause of religion is concerned.

THE PHILADELPHIA PREACHERS' MEETING.

The Philadelphia Preachers' Meeting has manifested eneraal courage in betting with high thermometers this summer. As a rule they held no sessions in July and August, but their mid-summer sessions this year are among their most interesting. Seven of the present sessions have been devoted chiefly to disensiieg the subject, "Christian Confirmation." It is well known that the Roman Catholics and Episcopalians have considerable to say upon this article of the former even giving it the rank of a sacrament. It is also plain that as to order and impreeivenesss the service has a good effect upon members and non-members. To be quite as clear that our common practices in respect to foal reception into the Chorch are varied and often cosmonplace, even careless; but it is found that it is not so clear that we have not a sufficient ground in the stipulated services of Discipline to make a very orderly sed impressive affair of reception of members. Yet we have no stated ago at which a child may expect to be called upon to assume the reoposibility of church membership.

The Rev. L. J. Coppin read a valuable paper touching the subject of confirmation at the late annual session of the Connecticnal Sunday School Board. Our readers shall have the pleasure of reading it.

The presence of Bishops Payne, Wayman and Turner gave increased interest to the meeting on the 19th inst. Bishop Payne stated some points of interest concerning his work. Bishop Wayman referred to the lamentable looseeon still liegering among us respecting the sacetity of the marriage relation. Bishop Turner regarded the state of the race as hopeful, taking into consideration the adverse elements against which we have to battle; especially the false notions upon which American morals are built. Very interesting were the remarks of Bishops Payne and Turner on the Episcopal subject, esereming which Bishop Turner intends to write a book. Few men than he. His book will be awaited with interest. It may be well to remember that the subject of apostolic succession, in the technical sense, is not accepied by as large a proportion of even Episcopalians as it was one hendred years ago. Notwithstanding this fact, still human nature is elevated far above the plane occupied to-day, it will be a mighty force in unifying ecclesiastic faith and giving stability to conlosiastic doctrines.

THE UNION.

The twelve Bishops assembled on the 15th inst., and meatioeed in our last issee, presented an interesting picture for study. Their dignity, thei ghtfulness and courtesy gave them the appearence of men thoroughly alive to the importance of their office, while their words shewed them intesesly interested in the cause of the race. Bishop Daniel Alexander Payne, D.D., known to nearly all ear readers, is probably the senior of all who were present; we are not certain whether he is elder than Bishop Moore, who was absent. Bishop H. M. Turner, D.D., is probably the youngest, though Bishops L. H. Lomax and J. W. Hood might contest the subject.

Bishop B. T. Jones, D.D., is a man of wisdom, a good presiding officer, a quick perceiver of the thought and best of his associates, dignified and thoroughly anxious to do that which will lead to the greatest good of the race in the future. Bishops J. A. Shorter and J. M. Brown, D.D., the one noted for sleeeheess of character and correctness of judgment, and the other for segacity and diplomacy, were evidently anxious that some points in our own Church with references to some like points in their Church. It was not always clear that the course that these points were, yet was the fact always plain that they were on the alert. Bishops J. P. Campbell, D.D., sed H. M. Turner, D.D., were evidently well posted in history. Certainly Bishop Hood was master of his situation. He showed the mind of a man of business. Bishop A. W. Waymae, D.D., was a sort of regulator. Bishop T. M. D. Ward, D.D., peid close attention to all movements, but made no speech. In this, he was like Bishop R. R. Disney.

Following the procedure from end to eed, we feel isollned to the opinion that a little better acqeaintance with and a little more confidence in one another might secure the notice yet, so far as Bishops are cosecrned; but this is not the half. The membership need several years' consideration of the subject before they will be either competent or willing to accept the union. If the respective sides desire to come together, they will be most likely to see that desire gratified by studying how much they can afford to give for union's sake. It may be fairly inferred that there are cocessions that Bishops and other ministers might make were it not that they are sure the laity would object. There may also be points that possess great interest to Bishops and other ministers, about which the laity are supremely indifferent. If we want neice we must work for it very bard, for the masses are thinking comparatively little about it.

AFRICAN METHODIST DAY AT OCEAN GROVE.

Thursday, July 22nd, was the day graciously granted by the Ocean Grove Camp-meeting Committee to African Methodism. This is the second year these hospitalities have been extended to us. Ocean Grove is a popular watering place on the Atlantic coast, one Long Branch, New Jersey. Thousands spend happy days there in the summer months. All along the Atlantic shore New Jersey there are summer resorts, such as Cape May, Atlantic Creve. Both are under the supervision of Methodists, being separated by Wesley Lake.

Though the meeting of Thursday was held on the first day of our General Missionary Society, it was more a day of pleasure than of any financial profit. This is as it should be, only it should be more so. Should we meet at any similar gathering under similar conditions next year, we should go to the camp-ground on that the day may be fully given to us. Three of our Bishops—Campbell, Shorter and Turner—were present. Bishop Shorter presided over the morning session and Bishop Campbell the afternoon session.

Eloquent addresses were delivered by Drs. J. A. Handy and B. W. Arnett to the morning and Dr. Jeoifer in the afternoon. The editor of this paper spoke in the afternoon also. Prof. J. T. Layton and his setistle chorus, who so greatly ecertained us at the dedication of the Metropolitan Church, did the singing on this occasion. The job to Prof. Layton were Misses H. D. Heady, S. A. Jorix, Amelia Wallace and Cheney Patterson; also Mr. Upshaw. Not only the music, but the general hearing of this quietetic pleased the great audience. There were among the ministers present Dr. J. M. Townsend, Rev. A. J. Miller, of Natobes, Miss.; Dr. J. T. Jeoifer, Dr. W. B. Derrick, Reve. C. E. Herbert, L. Stargio, L. J. Coppin, I. Yeoman, W. H. Yocum, C. A. Mitchell, W. H. Thomas, W. H. Bryant; Dr. C. C. Felts, Dr. Miller, J. A. Frederick, C. H. Sheen, Rice, J. P. Sampson, A. M., A. H. Newton, Dr. J. C. D. Embry, T. Gould, L. C. Chambers, F. H. Smith, H. P. Thomas and Dr. J. W. Stevenee. Bishop Shorter's remarks in the morning were well mentioned by newspaper reporiers. We were not present at the morning session. Bishop Campbell's brief historic address in the afternoon was received with enthusiasm. Bishop Campbell was appointed to preach at night. Our irnic left too early to allow us to hear his discourse.

The thousand colored persons assembled at the grave from different parts of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and District of Columbia associated pleasantly and separated happily.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY ELLA MOSSELL.

BY J. H. A. JOHNSON, D.D.

It is sad information to give friende in Hayti and in the United States that the influence of Mrs. Mary Ella Mossell, the daughter, organist, pianist and composer, this good, faithful, gentle and loving wife of Hayti's most distinguished merchant missionary of the A. M. E. Church, Rev. Charles A. Mossell, has gone to that "bourne whence no one has returned." She died at 1.45 on Tuesday morning, June 29th ult. Her funeral services were held in Ebenezer A. M. E. Church, Philadelphia, on the 1st of July. There were present of the Clergy Bishop Wayman; the pastor, Rev. W. H. Scott; Presiding Elder, Rev. W. H. Brown; Rev. Jas. T. Jeoifer, Rev. Daniel Payne, Rev. J. H. Traverse, R. F. Wayman, of the A. M. E. Church; Rev. Jas. Procter, Rev. Charles Hodges, Messrs. Adams and W. H. Hargrave, of the Presbyterian Church; Rev. Wm. H. Gaines, Baptist; Rev. Stat Church, and Rev. P. G. Walker, of the M. E. Church.

Bishop Wayman began the services by giving out the hymn,

"The saints who die of Christ possessed."

Rev. Wm. H. Waver offered prayer and Rev. Wm. H. Brown read 1 Cor., chapter xv. Owing to the length of the hymns was given out by Rev. Wm. M. Alexander and was sung by the choir. Rev Jas. H. A. Johnson after this procedure delivered the following address: there was ar Joppa a certain disciple named Tabitha which by interpretation was called Dorcas: this woman was full of good works and alms deeds which she did. And it came to pass in those days she fell sick and died: whom when they had washed they laid her in an upper chamber." Acts ix. 36-37. The Church at all times has had its Tabithas, and the Church of the New York Avenue Church, of our recent missionary to Hevti. She was a woman who seemed to have almost inConference and not the gift of tongues. Three of our Bishops—Campbell, Shorter and Turner—were present. Bishop Shorter presided over the morning session and Bishop Campbell the afternoon session.

HEAR THIS.

We have lots of new Hymn Books and Disciplines and Class Books and Church Services on order elsewhere. They cost us a good round sum of money. We need this money now, and need it badly. Many are in need and will not, or cannot, pay. A man who will take goods leaving he cannot pay is dishonest. A man who can and will not pay for goods you know what he is. Now all that won't help us now. We want the money for these books here on hand and we will see hereafter who can them without the cash. Now, brother, many a copy of it some things ago, which I found comprehensive and very practical. But this school, like many others, although is the light and full blaze of the nineteenth century, is behind the age; they will not allow colored persons to study there simply because they are colored. Any institution that claims to give education alone to the whites, does not educate in the full sense of the term.

Miss L. L. Lawson, a most excellent young woman, reared in Lebanon and an undergraduate of Wilberforce University, has proved herself a noble benefactress for several years. Although at home she has the highest respect of the best and confidence of her fellow-citizens, she heartily commsed Miss Lawson to the good people of the several conference young woman; as she is now looking for something better.

Recently a fine young man delivered in Lebanon, for many of them are getting nice farms. Mr. Burgun, a native of Kentucky, is a model farmer and churchman. Mr. Burgun, the above mentioned man, gets all the work he can do and has bought two houses and lots which are very desirable. Rev. Jas. Lee, Rev. J. J. Stockton, a leading shoemaker, is doing nice business and buying nice property. Mr. Goodall is a most remarkable woman; she is noted for trading in valuable property and always comes out first best. Among these might be mentioned Silas Wersal, Hezekiah Bridges, Joe Brown and Christopher Thomas. Many more might be named. These persons are from Kentucky and other Southern States. Would to heaven our people generally were like these! Lebanon would soon be a model town. Will be on our trip to Danville, Ky.

OATARBH IN CHILDREN.

"The children have found the Compound Oxygen and are very much better; the cough has left them entirely. The little girl is much better with catarrh, but had enough yet. At one time it was thought that the little boy was such an offensive odor; but she is so much better that she will be able to attend school to-morrow morning. She has been troubled for about three years with nasal catarrh."

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES DEPARTMENT.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly, and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsolde to be carefully preserved and reported each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Sesh agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Twenty-five, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell Bible, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and place their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. O. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

A Word to the Wise.

Every winter and spring inflammation of the Lungs, followed by organized Colds and Coughs, causes the death of thousands who might have been saved by the timely use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I was afflicted with a severe Cough, which baffled the skill of my regular doctor. After trying various remedies, without benefit, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and used it according to directions. I am happy to say that this medicine cured me.—Robert Hollis'er, Linn, Mo.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for several years, in cases of severe Colds and Throat affections, and have always found it to promptly and effectually relieve. I also gave it to my children, with the same results.—Samuel Penland, Principal Bartlett School, Lowell, Mass.

"I cannot say too much in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have used it in my family many years, and always with perfect satisfaction. It never fails.—Mrs. H. F. Mckean, New Gretna, N. J.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice since 1850, and have always found it reliable for the relief of Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung Diseases.—S. Hayden, M. D., Barnum, N. Y.

"I am never without Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It cures severe cases of Colds and Coughs quicker than any other medicine I ever knew.—E. Allen, Kingston, O.

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in book form by Rev. Theodore G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to be a reconciliation of the Bible science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Bible account of creation. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that science, while surely teaching a direct creation, allows time enough for the development of species. His literature is moderate and his plea for modern revelation on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that the reader is compelled to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events connected with it, as described are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done ability, but evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science, with conclusions that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without inflicting the

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without considerable power.

"Ordinary management," as the editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER explains in our article, —Our Sunday School Review for August.

The editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER published neither the sentences, anything that implied it, nor anything from which it could be honestly or fairly evidenced.

WE CALL SPECIAL ATTENTION to President Mitchell's proposition that publish in this issue. He is a hard-working and a hard worked man. Let us come to his aid, fellow alomai. From rumors we learn that the class of '72 is already deep mush to excel. We trust it may do so if '72 will allow it. Wilberforce needs our aid now. The great importance, the auspiciousness of the hour, is obvious to all observers. If we delay much longer it will be to fall utterly. If we succeed early, we secure to the University a great future.

IT IS NOW IN ORDER for the Southwestern Christian Advocate to touch up the Baltimore Methodist as it did the Philadelphia Methodist with reference to "firing on its friends," judging from the strictures of our excellent Baltimore contemporary on the Southwestern's color-line policy. We hope the latter may be accepted by the world for philosophy. The defenders and leaders of the colored race should of all men in our times be strong in respect to the proper ground for the new basis of action. It is nonsense to attempt to make the world yield a piece of boor to a race who persistently present themselves grouchingly. Our friends most respect us for loving our fellow man as well as for respecting ourselves. The day must come when Christiane will ignore the color line. It is unwise to retard the coming of that day. Morals and religion are transparent. From the Independent's "crazy column," as a political contemporary has called it, and from a thousand other sources, the light is beginning to dawn. It must come or Christianity is a miserable failure. Christianity is of vastly more importance than race, and the excellence of race more important than the color of race.

THE RECENT MEETING of educators is Topeka may be supposed to have constituted a great school for school-masters, if not for school superintendents and school boards. There is no other class of men more blest and more fully capacitated to bless the world by contact than school teachers. One of the most detracting elements is the character of such as teachers, is undue egotism, resulting from unnatural conceptions of the world and its movements. Much of the senseless and superficial comparison of black persons and white persons, to the disparagement of the former, can be credited from the habits of both races by contact only.

When such teachers as B. K. Sampson, 11. T. Koaling, S. B. Bailey, M. O. Vanes, Mrs. Lucinda Williams, Jesse Thomas and others like them meet on a sommoo plain with the best teachers of the country, holding well their places, ocither side can continue to teach the inferiority of the other race variety, per se. After a while there will be a transition in art, in history, in all school literature, based upon the peculiar training by race-contact on other sides than that of servitude and domination.

WHILE our legal and executive inefficiency allow slavery to raise its bruised head here and there, Cuba has found the wisdom and moral courage to put an end to the unsightly despoiler of national beauty, so far as its authority extends. The colored people of Chester County, Pa., who intend to celebrate Freedom's jubilee, the 9th of next month, may now add one more star to their galaxy, leaving but one dark spot among the civilized nations, Brazil. The following is from the Philadelphia Record:

"The complete abolition of slavery in Cuba by the Spanish Government, although come ing at a late day, removes one of the chief obstacles to the unity of the Spanish Island. Old traditions and barbarous customs die hard with the Latin races, and the spite of the most serious treaty obligations have been never more flagrantly violated in years bout my cessation of the slave trade. Between 1867 and 1882 it is said that 350,000 slaves were imported into Cuba, and no less than 40,0 0 between 1862 and 1865. In 1853 the English Government succeeded in bolstering the Spanish Government to adopt measures for the suppression of the traffic, and after that time the importation of African slaves ceased; but in likely place Asiatic coolies were introduced, ostensibly under contract with the Chinese. In 1870 a law was made which declared all slaves free who have been under the planting and all who shall be attained at that time the age of 30, but the opposition of the planters made it difficult of enforcement. Lately, however, and chiefly through the efforts of Senator Castelar and other liberal-minded members of the Spanish Chamber of Deputies, a law looking to gradual emancipation was enacted, and the last vestige of this relic has been swept away. It is difficult in Europe to see that it is the natural proclivitreeness of the island it will be largely inhabited now that the old order has given place to the new.

THE ALABAMA CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE of July 21st calls the New York Independent "a very offensive social equality paper," and says the Independent thinks it knows more about the Gospel than the best way to develop a race. Dr. Mt. Vernon St. Schuyler, Montclair, N. J. has gone to Washington, D. C. From thence he will go to Detroit, Mich.

—Rev. J. B. Hill and his church have purchased a lot on which to erect a church building at 8ge Mast, Pa. They number but six members, yet paid the $800 lot.

—Our office was blessed, among others, with a visit from Prof. J. P Sampson, Tenn., Lt Hesse, J. W. E. Bowen, S. T. B., Dr. McMurdy, Prof. W. Attwell and E. E. Jackson last week.

—One of the members of the Railway, N. J., church says that Rev. Mr. Bowser, H. F. Thomas, is highly appreciated. They have recently purchased a church property for $3,000, which they think worth $4,000.

—Rev. B. H. Miles, recently pastor of Zion Mission A. M. E. Church, Philadelphia, was last week adopted by a committee of elders guilty of a charge of vileness and suspended till the next session of the Philadelphia Conference.

—The Rev. L. J. Coppin is leading his people at Allen Chapel, Philadelphia, in the great work of remodeling their church. It is said that when the building is completed it will be one of the most cheerful and beautiful eanctuaries worshipped in by our people in this city.

—Bishop Turner has sotered upon a proposed three weeks' rest. See how many he'll be gone. His constituents will not let up on him on account of the hot weather Yet it would be a good thing for Bishop Turner to have a little rest, holding his Conferences, complaints, invitations, &c., over till colder weather.

—Mr. W. P. Florson, cashier of the Ame ican Baptist Publication Society, located in Philadelphia, has been guilty of appropriating the society's funds to the amount of $20,000. He had no cause in indigence, as his salary was $1,200 a year. He will be plagued with one of the worst sins of our age—cupidity.

NOTICE that hereafter the RECORDER will not be sent for less than one quarter's subscription on trial, or by installment. No cents being the amount require. All our friends and agents will please note the fact and be governed accordingly. A reason: too much time and expense involved by the small amount.

PANDORA.

BY REV. WM. D. JOHNSON, D.D., SECRETARY OF EDUCATION.

Pandora means the all-gifted, or all-endowed. It is the name of a beautiful woman, according to mythology, upon whom all the gods bestowed a gift. The gods of mythology refer principally to the different elements and powers of nature under the idea of persons. In this case Pandora, with her gifts, comes to be a real teacher of the philosophy of life. When we cease to give, we cease to live. When we stop to give out its light and heat, the fountain must send forth its sparkling waters, the flower must give out its perfume and the animal body must put forth its energies in order to live. This is the law for all active organizations, whether natural or artificial. He who gives most lives most, for it will be found that what we receive is in proportion to what we have given out. The most seventh sparingly shall also reap sparingly! It is a law extending to every operation of philosophy and religion. The Bible says: "It is more blessed to give than to receive;" again, "Freely ye have received, freely give."

"We must always if we would keep
The blessing from above;
Casting in gifts, we ever have—

A GOOD WOMAN AND A GOOD IDEA.

"Do good as ye have opportunity" is the real action of sanctified love. The splendid idea put forth by Mrs E. B. Tenney, in the RECORDER as of July 29th, is one of the most certain signs of the progress of the race. After paying a tribute to the blessed memory of Mrs. Ella Mossell, the first sacrifice upon the altar of consecrated service, she proposes that the women of the Church of Christ in every section of the land in each one may desire to give for the purpose of establishing an Ella Mossell scholarship at Wilberforce University, or some other institution of learning. Mrs. Ella Mossell, that pure and gifted little woman, "fell on sleep" early to Haply, gave everything and labored everything for the Master's gospel, has entered into rest. The good seed sown which she taught will flourish in those who received instruction from her inspired lips and warm-beating heart; but there are hundreds of young women, yea, and the man, too, so anxious to do good as she did in her brief and beautiful life on earth, that through these scholarships in all our principal schools, it can be said of her, being dead yet speaketh."

I have known many such women as she, and when she was not more than seven years of age; knew her mother and father, and attended college with Mrs. Mossell, her husband, when he was but a youth. Such a life as that of Ella Mossell is a precious treasure of the race, and its memory ought to be held up as an example of the young people of the future.

SECRETARIES OF ANNUAL CONFERENCES.

No set of men have contributed more to the power and prestige of the A. M. E. Church than the secretaries of our annual conferences. Since the early lifts of Bishop Weyman it has been conceived that, when a man sustained this dignity he was on his way to a high rank in the Church. From year to year the conference duties have been an improvement upon themselves until now the average minute is a little treasury of knowledge, at least so far as the conference is concerned.

There is but one little point to which I desire to call the attention of the secretaries, and that is to put into the minutes the post office address of each minister. Nearly all have done this; but a few give only the names of the appointments; and in some cases even a Bishop would not know how to write to the minister in charge. For such reason I wish the secretaries to report on edication this year. Send for it.

THE OUTLOOK FOR ENDOWMENT DAY.

Our colleges have closed grandly. Everybody is pleased. Now is the time to work, "now or never." Let the Bishops and editors, the district secretaries, the members of the Board and local boards of education, the presidents of colleges, the trustees of the same, the graduates and friends of the schools put in a mighty hammer on the Endowment Day. Let them feel deep in their pockets and come to the rescue with money. Let the pastors in every bath school superintendents and teachers and officers of churches throw themselves to the front.

"I'll separate troop 1st every leader call,
Each strengthen each, and all encourage all."

Above all, we ask the ladies to help us; you, and the children, too. God bless you all and bless the day. Amen.

TO THE ALUMNI OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

FELLOW LABORERS:—Through the kindness of the Editor I am called upon to—I write you in Upper. On pentiod of the RECORDER you have read in two issues a letter addressed to the Trustees of our Alma Mater. I wish in this communication to call your attention to two objects to you, namely, (a) that Wilberforce University, without exception and without failure, fully preserve for the young man or some young woman of promise in morals and in intellect. I am elated Wilberforce University next year, session of 1886-87, will be unbounds in ask this? To say you cannot argues to influence on one hand or no material help on the other. Such words are most improbable. To say you wont either by words or by as indifference to the welfare of Alma Mater, an utter silence with respect to this appeal argues that you have become so hardened a prodigal and need to be brought the path of misfortune and suffering so that you may appreciate the depth of your fall. Brother, sister, you have a mate offspring of Wilberforce, on whose knee you were nourished, from whom you drew our inspiration and our knowledge, whose sympathy sad love have followed us in our meanderings, if we prove loud and pernicious and hostile, to whom can we look? On condition Alma Mater can justify such an estrangement. Yet there are alomni who never give a dollar, though making hundreds, who never send us a student, who never write a word to a paper, and would never breathe a prayer for Wilberforce. Unanimous consecration! Who canceled your obligation, alumna? How? When? I am glad, however, that you constitute an unconditional, Nineteen twentieths of her children are normal; have hearts and brains and sympathy.

b) In my letter to Trustees, I pointed out our ability to combine with theology this year by raising or giving $60 each I pledged an unconditional $60 by June 30th, '87 (not '86). I will give another $60 contributed on any ten alumni doing the same. Let every alumni doing the same. Let every alumni doing the same. Let every

CAME DOWN GRACEFULLY.—A dramatic scene that occurred at a military panorama in that city the other day is described in the columns of the American, of Baltimore: "Calvin Chase, a colored newspaper editor, was explaining to several friends the leading features of the battle when he was interrupted by a big, burly fellow, who announced himself as a Virginian who had owned a hundred negroes before the war, and who noisily demanded to know what right Chase had to discuss questions relating to the Rebellion. There were a number of people present at the time, and Chase, unwilling to be drawn into a quarrel with the man, who evidently was under the influence of liquor, modestly withdrew. The Virginian then, in a loud voice, declared that he could lick any Yankee that ever lived, and directed his remarks principally to a stout, stocky little man standing near. The latter made a short rejoinder, which finally led to the Virginian inquiring the little man's name. 'My name is Philip H. Sheridan; present address, War Department, Washington,' was the unexpected reply. The Virginian raised his hat politely, and, extending his hand, said: 'Beg your pardon, General. We tried for four years to lick you and never fairly succeeded. I take it all back. You're a better man than I am. Shake.' The General 'shook' and there the matter ended."

NOTICE.

To the Members of the Mississippi, North Mississippi, Arkansas, West and South Arkansas Conferences:

The time has passed for the remittances of your collections in aid of prosecuting the suit of our venerable Bishop, Thos. M. D. Ward, and the time is now here for the presentment and filing of papers in the suit, which has been delayed on the account of tardiness upon your part Will you not attend to the matter immediately, and remit? If you do not, our ventures are lost. Only a few of the brethren have responded to the circular demand, among whom are Revs. M. B. Baily, $2; O. H. Douglass, $5; J. W. Golden, $1; A. M. Yates, $1; J. F. A. Simon, $3 85; W. H. Smith, $1 50; Jas. Porter, $3.50, and C O M. Thomas, $25. But what is this to the amount of $350 that is necessarily needed for the prosecution of the suit to finality? Can you not see the necessity and importance of immediate action? Strike then! "Take the current when it serves, or lose our ventures." Let us hear from you.

Yours for success,

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers uncalled to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

A Luxuriant Growth Of Hair

May be obtained by the continued use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A few years ago my hair began to turn gray, and, a short time after, fell out so freely that I became nearly bald. Ayer's Hair Vigor stimulated a new growth of hair, and of the original color. I have applied the Vigor, occasionally, since that time, and my hair is now strong and abundant.—Ira D. Hannah, Utica, N. Y.

I had been troubled, for years, with scalp disease, and my hair was weak and thin. The use of five bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor cured my scalp, and gave me a luxuriant head of soft, black hair.—Mrs. E. H. Foster, Lynn, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past two years, and found it all it is represented to be. It restores a natural color to gray hair, promotes a vigorous growth, and keeps the hair soft and pliant.—Mrs. M. V. Dey, Cohoes, N. Y.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

Scrofulous

Humors originate in the blood, which, when vitiated, carries disease to every tissue and fibre of the body. Ayer's Sarsaparilla eradicates all traces of the scrofulous taint from the system.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, and know that it is a reliable specific for Scrofula. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, and honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine compounded.—W. F. Flower, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Affections

Of the Eyes, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys, indicate the presence of Scrofula in the system, and suggest alterative treatment. For this purpose, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is unequaled.

I was always troubled with a Scrofulous Humor. Lately my lungs have been affected, causing much pain and difficulty in breathing. Three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have relieved my lungs, and improved my health generally.—Lucie Cass, Chelsea, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also for orderly development, but its temper is so moderate and its plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the correctness of the other. It is a book that may be read with profit, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between religion and science, while Bishop Campbell's appendix is an admirable answer to those who have sought to asperse the Divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relations to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence both of diligence in the studies preliminary to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with leading writers. His own faith is of the old fashioned and simple character. Yet he has not hesitated to search the whole range of the literature of the subject. His references and citations may be said to furnish an index to the most prominent writers, while he mildly protests: We have clothed the teachers of science with an imaginary ability amounting almost to infallibility, and hence are often captivated because we do not weigh the evidence. We pay much greater respect to the witness than to the testimony.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

PRICE, ONLY $1.25.

It is the book for the times. Every thinking man and woman in the country ought to have it. Published and for sale at the

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Reasons why all preachers should read Dr. James Porter's Hints. 1st. Because it furnishes the most natural method of preparing to preach effectively. 2nd. Because "it shows how to preach with ease and grace, and yet with power and success." 3rd. Because "it exposes numerous errors in all branches of ministerial service, and how to correct them." Its reviewers advise ministers to read the work carefully, because "they will find in it much that they never thought of"—because "the very hints they most need to receive are not furnished by other homiletical works"—because "it is replete with shrewd, hard, good sense;"—because "it is a book for all ministers, however educated,"—because it is assured by many to be the most helpful book they ever read. —"Worth its weight in gold."

IS THE BIBLE TRUE, AND FROM GOD?

Read Dr. Porter's late book called "Christianity Demonstrated By Experience." It will settle the question forever and end your souls on fire. Buy a copy and keep it to lend to the poor society, and especially to unbelievers. On sale by Rev. J. C. Embry. Price, $1.50. A new supply just received.

Secret war history—The avidence in divorce cases.

It is no sign that a man is sharp just because he can make cutting remarks.

The red-headed strawberry is now on its farewell tour, but the tramista blackberry will soon make us forget its loss.

Under the Pennsylvania blue laws that prohibit work on the Sabbath day, Sunday laws that work ought to be arrested.

It seems wrong for a doctor to charge $2 for a visit when instant death can be purchased at a drug store for five cents an ounce.

It is said that 10 000 families in Chicago are without Bibles. In these unhappy families the girls have to hide their love letters in their bustles.

A man in California is said to have actually forgotten the day fixed for his wedding. Happy, happy man! Matrimony evidently had no terrors for him.

Krug Ludlow never married, and yet went mad. There is a moral in this that marriageable women should not be slow in presenting to all the old bachelors.

"I smash my teeth with rage!" yelled an Anarchist orator at a Chicago meeting. This is the way some men usually act when the saloon keepers refuse to trust them.

The swimming season of 1886 has opened, and those observers say that the fashionable bathing costume for the small boys along the wharves is a stone brass upon the heel.

A Philadelphia youth, who is studying law, thinks of giving it up. He believes that it cannot be a paying profession as so many young lawyers have already struck him for a loan.

Young man, if you are in trouble as to whether a girl loves you, don't feel sad worry. It might be well for you to let that you had placed your best clothing in pawn and see sunshine to redeem it.

Now that the war talk over the 56th-cent question has subsided, and the smell boiling codfish without wondering how much he would have to pay for a substitute in case he was drafted into the army.

An observing writer complains that the American girls are gradually losing their air of timidity that rendered them so charming. Yes, true, true; and why should they? The girls now have a right thing to back them, and are co longer afraid. It is the bustle.

"One of the delights of summer," said the druggist, "is the crop, fresh vegetables and fruit with which we are able to adorn our tables." "I see you applied his unfeeling guest. "I suppose cucumbers and unripe fruit do make business brisk for you."

Three of the most desperate prisoners in the Illinois Penitentiary broke down and cried when one of the guards whistled "Home, sweet Home." Too memory of the good old times that they had at home, where a well filled bolt was always kept in the closet, was more than they could stand.

"Well, my boy," said a food father to his youthful scion, who had just finished his first day's attendance at a Sunday school, "how do you like your new teacher?" "O, pop!" was the reply, "she ain't fly at all. Whole I hole her bow sawing into bits. Bobs and told her the cat must have taken it as he believed me."

"Now, Charley," she said, the morning after the marriage, "you must settle in little patience with me. If I don't do things to please you, you must tell me. Just tell me of any little fault or omission and I'll try to correct it." "Well, then, Mary, never again attempt to kiss me when you have your hair put up in those outlandish hair crimpers. I found this morning you nearly cooged out an eye for me with them!"

"I wouldn't go to Saratoga so soon after your husband's death," said a Philadelphia lady to her daughter who had been a widow for three long days. "People might say that because you got acquainted with John down there you were trying to make another catch." "O, that will be all right, ma. Mr. Grimsby, who has just buried his wife, is going there. And besides being real rich, he is very nice. I'll tell people that I detest Saratoga myself, but that I wanted it out of respect for dear John's memory, because he loved it so."

CARL BROWN (SPACEFULLY.—A dramatic scene that occurred at a military panorama in that city the other day is thus told in the columns of the Sun, of Baltimore: "Calvin Chase, a colored newspaper editor, was explaining to several friends the leading features of the battle when he was interrupted by a big, burly fellow, who announced himself as a Virginian who had served in the rebel army. He was mad, and was only mollified to some extent when Chase had to discuss questions relating to the Southern war. There were a number of people present at the time, and I have no doubt that if a fight is quarrel with the man, who evidently was under the influence of liquor, modestly withdrew. The Virginian then, to a loud voice, declared that he could lick any Yankee that ever lived, and directed his remarks principally to Chase, who cooly listened to the tirade. The latter made a sharp rejoinder, which finally led to the Virginian inquiring the little man's name. 'My name is Philip H. Sheridan,' present answered. 'Are you a Republican?' was the next spiteful reply. The Virginian said he has relatives who belong to the big band, said: 'Hog your pardon, General.' We tried for four years to lick you and never fairly succeeded, so I take it all back. You're a better man than I am. Shake.' The General shook and there the matter ended."

NOTICE.

To the Members of the Mississippi, North Mississippi, Arkansas, West and South Arkansas Conference:

The time has passed for the remittances of your collections in aid of processing the salt of our venerable Bishop, Thos. A. Morris, and the time is before us for the presentment and filling of the vacancy, which has been delayed on the account of terdiness upon your part. E. Douglass, $5; J. W. Golden, $1; A. M. Yates, $1; J. F. Jones, $3.85; W. H. Smith, $1.50; Rev. Thomas, $3.25; C. O. H. Thomas, $25. THE INDIANA CONFERENCE.

The brethren of this conference will observe that their session begins Wednesday, August 25, instead of Thursday, August 26th.

REV. F. SMITH, of East Camden, N. J., expects to manage a woods meeting in the early weeks of September.

A TELEGRAM from Raleigh states that the difficulty in the North Carolina Conference is settled. How settled is not stated.

THE FIRST Educational District Sunday School superintendents should attend to the Secretary's notice, carefully and immediate. Attend to these now and you provide for your children's children.

ELSEWHERE will be seen advertisement of the West Tennessee Institute at Memphis and Clarksville. Rev. H. T. Johnson is well prepared to make such an institution successful. There are not a few people who ought to appreciate the school and hundreds who should attend it.

THE OAPSIZING of the "Emma Craig" on the New Jersey coast, resulting in the drowning of seven persons, and as it was, makes no perceptible diminishing of the number rushing out of the large cities in pleasure boats. It may, however, render managers of boats more careful.

DR. STEWARD's papers on the Metropolitan Church are by no means encouraging. The real communistic responsibility in behalf of this enterprise is small. Let us get hold of the handle fairly and relieve the concoction of this small responsibility, on the Doctor's suggested plan, or some other.

SUGHTAN your articles, brethren; long articles are not enjoyed in warm weather. The shorter your articles the shorter the time you must wait for the publication, as a rule. The shorter your articles the greater the number of you get into each issue. The shorter your articles the less liable not to be printed at all. The shorter your articles, the more frequent you can make them.

OUR VISIT to the charge of the Rev. W. H. Bynum, referred to in his note in this issue, was very pleasant. We have an appreciative people, a lively Sunday school and a number of progressive men and women among his thirty members. Some own good homes. There are some good singers among them, and the pastor does access some of them of hand and foot religion. They take as many CHRISTIAN RECORDERS as many churches of twice their number.

WE PAUL very grateful to Colonel Isaac Myers for his suggestions relative to our Department. It is placed in our hands by the Church to make successful. We are always cheered by any suggestion looking to the enhancing of our patronage and diminishing our weakness.. Colonel Myers has the reputation of being a successful lecturer, and an excellent Sunday school worker. We trust hundreds will join in carrying out the Colonel's proposition.

WHAT do you think of this? A friend in one of the Western States says he has not seen an article in the RECORDER from a Northern or Western man for a year, though he knows several who have sent articles. "Seemingly is from the South." Ah, brother; there are scores who think to the contrary and declare the directly opposite to your declaration. May we all learn that the locality of a contributor goes for nothing in the RECORDER office.

THE REV. F. J. GRIMKE has written an able letter to the New York Independent on Mr. Moody's conduct in countenancing the color line policy of dealing out the gospel in the South last winter. We understand that the article was at first much fuller than it appears in the Independent, but was necessarily abridged. Mr. Grimke also criticised Mr. Moody's conduct in the papers of his stay, Jacksonville, Fla. His Independent article is pure, noble and logical. God will bless such work.

MESSRS. J. W. CROMWELL & CO., Washington, D. C., are continuing to issue their steel-line engraved series of representative men.

We received from them recently a splendid picture of the Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., our esteemed Secretary of Finance and member of the Ohio Legislature. The company have issued engravings of Messrs. Douglass, Lynch and Bruce. Single copy of each, 20 by 26 inches, 25 cents. Address J. W. Cromwell & Co., Box 203, Washington, D. C.

PHILADELPHIANS will do well to attend the Chester County folks' celebration at West Chester, September 9th. It will be a fine recreation as well as a literary treat. The Rev. L. G. Chambers never does his work by halves. Elder Patterson is assisting in the arrangements. Dr. J. S. Thompson, pastor of Wesley A. M. E. Church, Clifton street, below Eleventh, has full charge of the city excursion. The committee propose to make every necessary arrangement to give pleasure to the celebrators as well as success to the celebration. See notice in another column.

PRESIDENT BUDGAN'S presentation of the cause of his district appears in this number of the RECORDER. It requires to duty, gifts and needs. Read it, all whom it concerns. The district should yield five thousand dollars easily, besides the twenty-five per cent going to Wilberforce. Arkansas has established a school which must be provided for as well as St. James and Quinn. Dr. Johnson intends to see that the general interests of all the schools in each district are considered when the finances are distributed. With this the less all of his assistants will coincide. The President might put "The Life of Allen" on his premium list.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN RECORDER:

Reread your article, "Certainly a Mistake." issue March 25, 1886, and then tell us what the sentence means: "We have no right to expect the success of God or bring anything more than should have attended it under very ordinary management." If under consecration of this sentence is not correct, we offer as an amend: "Very ordinary management" is very plain language, and hardly capable of more than one interpretation. Injustice.

Yours, &c.,

C. S. SMITH.

The sentence quoted from RECORDER, March 25, is well remembered here and well understood. We have in no instance felt captious on the subject, but we did not regard it as just the right thing to allow our Department to go before the world misrepresented, whether intentionally or otherwise. The Review had evidence of success of one and as it was, makes no perceptible diminishing of the number rushing out of the large cities in pleasure boats. It may, however, render managers of boats more careful.

PRESIDENT BUDGAN'S presentation of the cause of his district appears in this number of the RECORDER. It requires to duty, gifts and needs. Read it, all whom it concerns. The district should yield five thousand dollars easily, besides the twenty-five per cent going to Wilberforce. Arkansas has established a school which must be provided for as well as St. James and Quinn. Dr. Johnson intends to see that the general interests of all the schools in each district are considered when the finances are distributed. With this the less all of his assistants will coincide. The President might put "The Life of Allen" on his premium list.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN RECORDER:

Reread your article, "Certainly a Mistake." issue March 25, 1886, and then tell us what the sentence means: "We have no right to expect the success of God or bring anything more than should have attended it under very ordinary management." If under consecration of this sentence is not correct, we offer as an amend: "Very ordinary management" is very plain language, and hardly capable of more than one interpretation. Injustice.

The sentence quoted from RECORDER, March 25, is well remembered here and well understood. We have in no instance felt captious on the subject, but we did not regard it as just the right thing to allow our Department to go before the world misrepresented, whether intentionally or otherwise. The Review had evidence of success of one and as it was, makes no perceptible diminishing of the number rushing out of the large cities in pleasure boats. It may, however, render managers of boats more careful.

DR. STEWARD's papers on the Metropolitan Church are by no means encouraging. The real communistic responsibility in behalf of this enterprise is small. Let us get hold of the handle fairly and relieve the concoction of this small responsibility, on the Doctor's suggested plan, or some other.

SUGHTAN your articles, brethren; long articles are not enjoyed in warm weather. The shorter your articles the shorter the time you must wait for the publication, as a rule. The shorter your articles the greater the number of you get into each issue. The shorter your articles the less liable not to be printed at all. The shorter your articles, the more frequent you can make them.

OUR VISIT to the charge of the Rev. W. H. Bynum, referred to in his note in this issue, was very pleasant. We have an appreciative people, a lively Sunday school and a number of progressive men and women among his thirty members. Some own good homes. There are some good singers among them, and the pastor does access some of them of hand and foot religion. They take as many CHRISTIAN RECORDERS as many churches of twice their number.

WE PAUL very grateful to Colonel Isaac Myers for his suggestions relative to our Department. It is placed in our hands by the Church to make successful. We are always cheered by any suggestion looking to the enhancing of our patronage and diminishing our weakness.. Colonel Myers has the reputation of being a successful lecturer, and an excellent Sunday school worker. We trust hundreds will join in carrying out the Colonel's proposition.

WHAT do you think of this? A friend in one of the Western States says he has not seen an article in the RECORDER from a Northern or Western man for a year, though he knows several who have sent articles. May we all learn that the locality of a contributor goes for nothing in the RECORDER office.

THE REV. F. J. GRIMKE has written an able letter to the New York Independent on Mr. Moody's conduct in countenancing the color line policy of dealing out the gospel in the South last winter. We understand that the article was at first much fuller than it appears in the Independent, but was necessarily abridged. Mr. Grimke also criticised Mr. Moody's conduct in the papers of his stay, Jacksonville, Fla. His Independent article is pure, noble and logical. God will bless such work.

The "Ingenious American" plays the part in Paris newspapers sustained by "a man out West" in our own journals. The damage was about $12.50, but the crowd that observed the encounter had that much fun, whatever the casino victim of misplaced confidence and the owners of the shattered ware may have thought of it.

A QUESTION ABOUT

Brown's Iron Bitters

ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it does! But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician could prescribe iron? Physicians recognize iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. The above conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfectly palatable way of iron combination had ever been found.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuralgia—for all these ailments iron is prescribed daily.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however does more. Like all other thorough medicines, it acts slowly. When taken for even the first symptom of benefit is realized. The muscles then become firmer, the digestion improves, the bowels are active in course the effect is usually more rapid and marked. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a craving for other abundant sustenance is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and druggists recommend it.

NOTICE.

To the Ministers, Officers, Members and Friends of Tyler District A. M. E. Church:

The time is rapidly approaching when we shall be called upon by our great Church to make another effort in Endowment collection. This year seems to be a year of struggle and advancement in all departments of human activity, and the Church of the living God must arise and take the place she has occupied in all ages and lead the armies of the earth to the throne of heaven. Let us, his servants, come forth in his might and make the greatest rally for the cause of Christian education ever known in the district. Let us pray, preach and talk in the church and upon the highway for the success of Endowment Day. Leave no stone unturned. Set your charges on fire and get to yourselves, through God, a great name. May God help us to be faithful is my prayer.

J. COINS, P. E.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

A Luxuriant Growth Of Hair

May be obtained by the continued use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A few years ago my hair began to turn gray, and, a short time after, fell out so freely that I became nearly bald. Ayer's Hair Vigor stimulated a new growth of hair, and of the original color. I have applied the Vigor, occasionally, since that time, and my hair is now strong and abundant.—Ira D. Kneeland, Utica, N. Y.

I had been troubled, for years, with scalp disease, and my hair was weak and thin. The use of five bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor cured my scalp, and gave me a luxuriant head of soft, black hair. —Mrs. E. H. Foster, Lynn, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past two years, and found it all it is represented to be. It restored a natural color to gray hair, promotes a vigorous growth, and keeps the hair soft and pliant. —Mrs. M. V. Day, Colora, N. Y.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

Scrofulous

Humors originate in the blood, which, when vitiated, carries disease to every tissue and fibre of the body. Ayer's Sarsaparilla eradicates all traces of the scrofulous taint from the system.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, and know that it is a reliable appetite for Scrofula. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, and honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine compounded.—W. F. Flower, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Affections

Of the Eyes, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys, indicate the presence of Scrofula in the system, and suggest alterative treatment. For this purpose, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is unequaled.

I was always troubled with a Scrofulous Humor. Lately my lungs have been affected, causing much pain and difficulty in breathing. Three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have relieved my lungs, and improved my health generally.—Lucia Cass, Chelsea, Mass.

By Rev. T. C. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also for orderly development, but its temper is so moderate and its plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the correctness of the other. It is a book that may be read with profit, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between religion and science, while Bishop Campbell's appendix is an admirable answer to those who have sought to asperse the Divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relations to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence both of diligence to the studies preliminary to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with leading writers. His own faith is of the old fashioned and simple character. Yet he has not hesitated to search the whole range of the literature of the subject. His references and citations may be said to furnish an index to the most prominent writers, while he mildly protests: We have clothed the teachers of science with an imaginary ability amounting almost to infallibility, and hence are often captivated because we do not weigh the evidence. We pay much greater respect to the witness than to the testimony.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

PRICE, ONLY $1.25.

It is the book for the times. Every thinking man and woman in the country ought to have it. Published and for sale at the

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Reasons why all preachers should read Dr James Porter's Hints. 1st. Because it furnishes the most natural method of preparing to preach effectively. 2nd. Because "it shows how to preach with ease and grace, and yet with power and success." 3rd. Because "it exposes numerous errors in all branches of ministerial service, and how to correct them." Its reviewers advise ministers to read the work carefully, because "they will find in it much that they never thought of"—because "the very hints they most need to receive are not furnished by other homiletical works—because "it is replete with shrewd, hard, good sense;"—because "it is a book for all ministers, however educated,—because it is assured by many to be the most helpful book they ever read.—"Worth its weight in gold."

After surveying them for a few moments, he made a rush at the attack on the images, and in about two minutes he had entirely wrecked the pug, and showed the ear and tail of the pug dog. The damage was about $12.50. PHILADELPHIA, AUG. 26, 1886.

IN CRITICS should be able to establish the identity of the authorship of the Epistles to the Hebrews with that of the Gospel by Luke and the Acts, it would cause a great recasting of harmonies, paraphrases and apocalative comments on the Pauline epistles. Indeed, it would affect the biography of the great writer as popularly accepted.

A VERY FEW of our exchanges are talking about the colored men's sympathies being with Mexico in event of war. We would suggest that the colored people's sympathies are, like those of other men, where their obligations and interests are. There is nothing gained by attempting to increase the disadvantages of the race by adding to them the odium of disloyalty. The sympathies of the colored people would be with their own government. There is no people more loyal. Shame on the attempt at exciting them to disloyalty! But the war is not likely to come. Mr. Bayard is now doing what he should have done earlier, learning whether there is any ground for complaint against Mexico.

THE REV. J. B. FIELDS, a Baptist minister of Denver, Colorado, has recently delivered interesting lectures and sermons in our city. Many persons who not heard him, others pronounce him a very thoughtful speaker, being ready in words. Possessed of great power of memory and knowledge of the Scriptures, he impresses his audience with the belief that he is answering Mr. Ingersoll conclusively. What the great Illinois orator would think of his reply remains to be known. Mr. Fields was a brother-in-law of the Rev. Father Tolles, the colored Catholic priest, recently returned from Rome, now teaching Romanistic religion in Quincy, Illinois. He says Mr. Tolton was a very brilliant schoolboy, is a genial companion and a man thoroughly sympathetic with his race.

RECENTLY the question of jurisdiction of committees over cases of misconduct on the part of ministers, has been discussed. It is alleged, on the one hand, that a minister transferred by the bishop during the arrangement of preliminaries for a brief pastorship to committee, the bishop not being aware of any complaint against the minister, is by virtue of the transfer thrown beyond the jurisdiction of the committee regularly instituted when the question of charge is made. On the other hand it is thought that the fact of the bishop's being uninformed on the matter and, for prompt reasons, transferring the minister to another conference should not constitute a cloak to protect guilt. Without declaring for either side, we may say that no minister with a father's responsibilities, and a Christian's responsibilities, should be willing to be rushed off from his post by unjust and unrighteous charges, nor should a dishonest minister, who disregards everything of this kind, receive anything like the protection of a Bishop's unofficiousness. He should be left where he is till an investigation is had. A good man can better have his brains blown out by an exasperated enemy, than be an afford to have his character blown out of the sweet chambers of the memory of his children and wife, his parents and brethren. We have recently heard the lie of satan quoted, "that a man will give all he hath for his life." But it is well-known that there are several things more precious than more living in this state. Ministers of all men can least afford to demand the prosecution of the sanctimony in their rascality; they, best of all, can afford to stand the storm of false accusations. Conference years are short enough for good ministers. Conferences may well protest against the inevitable reception of ministers fleeting charges.

THE CHURCH at Darby, Pa., has recently completed improvements and remodeling at a cost of over $2000. The Rev. H. Brice, now in his fourth year of that pastorate, the first of his itinerant work, has met with success, not simply because he has a class of good business, pious men and women as members, but very little contrasting of the machinery also because he is an exceedingly faithful minister. When this remodeling was completed nearly all the money for payment was in hand. The colored people of Darby own between $40,000 and $50,000 worth of real estate, not a mean looking house in the lot. Besides repairs, they have erected six pretty cottages in the past twelve months, all but one being the work of our friend, P. H. Melo, of Philadelphia, who, besides building the church, has built a dozen or more neat houses in the borough of Darby. With all this property and with such men as John Massey, Allen Rickets, A. Rollins, C. Price, E. Byrd, Rev. W. H. Bryant, Rev. J. S. Thompson, among our people of Darby, the borough is, though dealing in easy and fair, and the school mixed, not as progressive as it should be. There is too little attention paid to literature and learning. There is but one newspaper in Darby. Like newspapers in most American towns, it pays little attention to colored persons' movements or general status, though this class render it some patronage. The most extended notice of the race we have seen in the paper was a silly reference to a silly colored man's silly conduct, stating that from the case, an insight was had of this harmless, happy race. The old settlers of Darby are chiefly Quakers, matter. Dollar Money System. There are three churches where white people worship almost exclusively, ours being the only one where colored persons worship almost exclusively. There are good business men in essence and good mechanics in the trades. Both street cars and two steam car lines connect the borough with Philadelphia.

THE OBITUARY OF THE DEAD, THE EULOGY OF THE LIVING.

The extravagance that attends our funerals as to flowers, carriages, decorations and dress is not allowed to enter the extravagance of display in delivery and patronage to the living. Not a few funeral addresses are compliments to the living rather than eulogies of the dead. Many who write of the death of friends are careful lest they should omit the name of some prominent person who spoke at the funeral, or the name of the minister and a few other prominent persons who attended the funeral. All this is, as a rule, absolutely useless and tends to increase an extravagance in morals, as useless decorations do in money. We have often received letters from brethren who had forwarded statements of the proceedings of funerals to the effect that they had forgotten to include the names of Rev. Mr. X, and Mrs. Z, among others present. What if they had! Were they writing up the living? Can't a man afford to attend a funeral without notice, even as a boy of 577 years old. Their mother died recently at the age of 101 years.

In this connection it appears to have been before the full-point, for, while it is often referred to adventurously, as the full point in the middle or at the end of a sentence, it is also used at the end of a chapter, or of a book, as heading to a chapter, and these turned as we see it now. DR. STEWARD calls upon the Church again. This silence should be heeded so far as it refers to our connectional responsibility and we would recollect well his propositions relative to general supervision.

REPLY TO twenty letters of inquiry: We cannot say certainly that your article will ever appear. If you wish articles sent us to appear in some other Journal, keep duplicates. We cannot return them.

BROTHER RIDGET is quite right. If all ministers would regard themselves as agents for the RECORDER we should be able soon to dispense with much of our advertising and give the space to general contributions. We hope brethren will read carefully.

ALLEN UNIVERSITY is pleading for aid that most not be withheld. If Dr. Johnson, Bishop Shorter, Revs. S. H. Jefferson and J. E. Hayce, together articles on hand. We shall work some of them in, in place of standing notices. It is unreasonable to ask us to do otherwise.

THE Rev. J. W. STEVENSON'S book having been referred to in commendations in this paper, with question as to its originality, and the Publishing House itself having removed it from its catalogue upon learning that it possesses very little originality, we are glad to say that letters are in our hands in which the author speaks through out and unsolicited properly in the work, with one omission, gives Dr. Stevenson full privilege to use his entire work, only taking a different name. This he does on the ground that it may do much good among a class of people who would probably buy few copies of his book. While this may add nothing to public notion of Dr. Stevenson's mental ability, it relieves him of the liability in all impeachment of honesty or methods. We replace the book on our list.

"ONE WEALTHY MAN," "wealthy colored men of this place," or that "form head lines for many newspaper articles. But most of the figures are extravagant exaggerations. The colored men reputed worth $50,000 or $75,000 rarely pay taxes on more than $15,000 or $20,000. One hundred thousand dollar colored men are very scarce. Colored men's wealth is chiefly in their joyousness, their physical forces and mechanical skill; their native intellectual powers and good morals; their thrift and economy. We cannot be said to have attained to wealth, but to be pressing on. The colored men's poverty is to his inappreciation of opportunities, his inability to grapple with the awful present, his disinclination to profit by the lessons representing the moral failures of mankind. The sum of our material wealth would yield so small a dividend to each person included in the mess, that we would cease to boast of the opportunities are open to us. There are many more avenues open to the tradee and mercantile affaire then we enter.

BISHOPS BROWN AND CAIN.

The past few days have brought us several dispatches concerning Bishops Brown and Cain, both of whom have been under the observation of anxious watchers. Bishop Brown, on the ocean steamer, left his last visit to the city, remarked that he had been troubled with rheumatism ever since his consecration to the episcopacy. It is known that Bishop Cain has suffered almost constantly for more than two years. Bishop Brown's ministerial life dated to seventy-long upon the duties of his present office was that of pioneer of African Methodism largely. His writings of thirty years ago are vigorous and manly. His services in Louisville and New Orleans were attended with great success and suffering. One of his colleagues says, "John M. Brown never considered any appointment too difficult and never failed to make a poor appointment good." On being assigned to the special office of Bishop, his duties were at first in South Carolina, from there to Texas. Thus his episcoonacy has been largely of the pioneer character. He organized the Alabama, West Texas and Columbia Conferences. Bishop Cain has been a very busy man in Church and State for nearly thirty years, having organized our work largely in South Carolina and is to the same State done much in organizing our people in politics and societies. Since Reconstruction days he has organized the North Louisiana and the Central Texas Conferences, the latter probably only having comical existence. His work in Texas was very heavy for the first seven years in the episcopacy. He was President of Paul Quinn College and gave considerable time to its interests. Those two episcopates have thus lived busy lives. They may give the Church several more years' service.

PASTORS, PROHIBITIONISTS AND POLITICS.

On last Thursday the Prohibition Party of Pennsylvania nominated the Rev. J. M. Palmer for Congressman-at-large. Though decidedly and almost unqualifiedly opposed to ministers going into politics as a business, we regard the nomination as being a good one for the party, and by no means a bad one for either the colored race or the State of Pennsylvania. We shall be strongly tempted to give Brother Palmer a vote, provided he will resign his itinerant relations, or get from his conference a respite till his political work is done. We will not make him a scape-goat, however, to bear the sins of others. We believe that any minister in the connection holding a civil office that requires a large attention, as those held by our friends Drs. Townsend and Arnett, within the past two years, should simply serve "the one," that is, if the inclination principles is good, but it is a political party; the man who accepts office at its bande is for the time a professional politician, or statesman, as good a churchman as ever, but too full of a different kind of business to serve a church or general office in our connection well at the same time. We are well convinced that each brethren should either give up their ecclesiastical office to a ministerial minister or their political office in a political layman.

REPUBLICANISM, MR. BLAINE AND COLORED MEN.

Mr. Blaine opened the gubernatorial campaign of Maine Tuesday, 24th ult. He arraigned the present federal administration on its weakness concerning tariff and diplomacy. In illustrating the solidarity of the principle of protection he referred to the disagreement between the quality and the wages of labor in the South and the North, attempting to show that this inequality maintained long would affect the rate of wages throughout the country. He took up the beekneyed argument of the two great parties when he attempted to deal with the subject of prohibition; that "the party has been the promoter of temperance." Will the time ever come when we shall have bread, politics and decisive declaration and action by the great parties on this great subject! A few more years of their cowardly dallying will sink the country to a depth of moral wickedness from which it will be difficult in relate it. We do not say that the members of these parties should accept all the tenets of the prohibition party, but we do say they will learn before the next twenty-five years that the winning party will be the party that confronts the rum power boldly and determinedly. With New York's 8,000 saloons, Boston's 5000 and Philadelphia's 6,000 in full blast, other cities holding equal proportions, there is no time to compromise with the mere temporary excesses of parties. The success of right is paramount to that of party. Right is never with the rum power. No prohibition means license, license in vice means prostituting of goodness to gain, and this means the destruction of good government, the undermining of virtue and a high banded partnership with crime. If rum gave to governments no revenue, governments would not endure the horrible logic of its maintenance. The interests of all men are on the side of, not temperance simply, but of positive abstinence. Liquor manufacturing, sale and drink constitute an enormous crime. Men must desist from its practice. The one of the G. O. P's that comes out soonest completely in favor of this moral reformation is the one that will have long life, provided it does so before the third party folly occupies the field. The third party is the growing party. The efforts in the South at prohibition, which Mr. Colquit has been pleased to say were necessary to save the poor colored people from slavery to overshadow democracy, though they are declared not designed to be political. Whether we will or act, all the organized movements of a great section of our country are under our politics and give shade in its character. The North, the organized prohibition movements and the organized laborers' movements inevitably attach themselves to politics, just as the anti-slavery agitation moulded political sentiment and politics. The colored voters can better endure the inconvenience of being out of the Republican party licensing and dallying with the monster curse; than being without the power of rum over the nation's moral life.

A QUESTION ASKED.

BY REV. W. J. SAYLUM.

MR EDITOR:—Please allow me space to ask a question concerning the circulation of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. Would it not be easy for every pastor to sell from five to twenty copies of the RECORDER? It is a part of our work. It is a good paper. I have been trying to sell a few copies. The reason the people do not take it is because they do not know much about it. After they see it, they will buy it. At the ministerial interchange I desire to see the little boys and girls have the papers in their hands in the place of candy, and let the pastor think well enough of his work to circulate it. This will help to circulate the organ of our Church. We here reading men in our Church who do not take the paper at present. Now, I ask, whose fault is that? I answer, it is the agent's fault and no one's else.

SOME THOUGHTS FOR LAYMEN IN THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

BY REV. W. H. HEARD.

MR. EDITOR:—I am like Bishop Taylor in believing every institution and enterprise should be made to support itself. I do not like to see a people who do not tired out its usefulness, but it needs to be supported. Every per cent be retained at home, forty per cent be sent to the Financial Secretary and twenty per cent to the General Secretary. Then the Bishop will have his salary and Dr. Lee, per. The pay of the effective and non-effective Bishops, with their widows and orphans, should be made as now by the Financial Secretary. Nine effective Bishops are sufficient for our work. There may be three or four non-effective Bishops, who will receive the effective pay, with the Secretary, would be inside of twenty-five thousand dollars per annum. Let General Conference authorize the Board of the Publication Department to purchase presses and fixtures and a building to the amount of ten thousand dollars, to be raised by from the twenty per cent of the Dot. Money. Let the salaries of all preachers connected with the publishing house be paid from sale of books, general membership dues and job work. Let the balance at the end of the first quadrennium be divided into one thousand dollars and the property all paid for. Look at the Publication Department of the A. M. E. Church. So much is there in it that it is not what it should be, for the reason that the publishers have been left to struggle as man in Georgia if Georgia has a school, or go where that conference may vote to. To allow each conference to dispose of its educational money as best suits it would do away with the Educational money raised on Redowment Day. The money raised on Redowment Day should pay their expenses, from the head down. We learn as we grow.

THE NORTH AND THE SOUTH.

A REPLY TO REV. W. H. HAMMOT.

BY REV. W. L. HUNTER.

MR. EDITOR:—Brother Mammot, in the last part of his letter in the RECORDER two weeks ago, seems to say that the South is a better field of labor than the North by saying "the South is the place for the preacher to go where religion is to be fought." If that is what he means, then I say, no place in the world for there is more liquor made and sold in one Northern State than there is in the Southern States put together. I give here a comparative showing of the two States in regard to liquor traffic, some of the States in 1880. Beer, I mean.

States.	Barrels.	Breweries.
New York	4,445,149	333
Pennsylvania	2,000,000	200
New Jersey	612,800	51
Maryland	1,000,000	60
Ohio	1,934,987	200
Kentucky	11,730	1

This is enough to show which part of the country needs reforming. Therefore, when you get on the other side of the world to help reform the other, we would have that she is morally prepared to do so. I do not like to see Brother Hammot's name left in the North. He has left many in the North to whom he is responsible and Dr. Crummell and Dr. Archer Newman occupy pulpits in this city that the church deserve well of the connection at large and should not be left to peddle its cause, but should have the sympathy and help of the entire church in the body doing its share. I recently filled a collection of over $700.—Washington Correspondence New York Freeman.

TO THE CLASS OF '80.

BY M. R. WILSON.

DEAR CLASSMATES:—I see in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER some weeks ago the plan given by class '73 for the endowing of a theological professorship in Wilberforce. The fact that this class has tuned it likely to be the example other classes of our sons may follow. It is said that two harps were tuned alike and when one was being played the chords of the other would follow in tune with a faint, sympathetic music. So with the class of '73 and '80. Let us be in sympathy with the noble class of '73 and do our part. Let us be in sympathy with the noble class of '73 and do our part. Let us be in sympathy with the noble class of '73 and do our part Seven-eighths of the whole crop of peppermint raised for oil manufacturing is said to be grown in a few counties in N. Y., where Mr. Hotchkiss, the "peppermint king," has his establishments. "Dicky," a faithful mate, died a natural death on Blackwell's Island, a few days ago, at the age of 46 years. The animal had resided on the island since 1881, when it swam across in the wake of a boat that was taking in a number for incarceration in the lunatic asylum there. The faithful beast's devotion was rewarded with a home near its master on the island, and it has never since been in the mainland. Of late it has been so weak that a violent death was suggested, but the commissioners refused to allow it to be killed. The remains will be interred in the island graveyard.

Bones, tusks and teeth, some of the latter weighing as much as seven pounds each, and ranging in value to the tune of a dollar, have been found on the banks of a stream in Fresno county, Cal. The San Francisco Chronicle says that "the owner of the largest bones fell into pieces upon being exposed to the air, and the two enormous tusks, evidently ivory belonged to a drove of three such animals. The larger one is over four feet in length and eight inches in diameter at the base. The tusks which were considerably smaller and shorter, lay in such a position as to suggest that the animals to which these belonged may have come to their death in mortal combat. The locality has not been thoroughly examined."

The term "bank" is derived from the Italian bench, a seat or bench, because the early moneylenders and dealers in money in Italy were accustomed to sit on benches in the market place in the principal towns. The earliest bank established in modern Europe was that of Venice, which was established in 1157. About the year 1350 the cloth merchants of Barcelona, Spain, formed a body, added the business of banking to the other commercial matters which belonged on to do by an ordinance of the King of Aragon, which contained the earliest legislation on the subject. It should be restricted from selling as banks, sell they should have given sufficient security for the foundation of their negotiations. In 1401 a bank was opened by the functionaries of the city at the foot of the Rialto ever established in Europe.—Exchange.

A soapstone mine that was once worked by the Indians was discovered within the borough limits of Willimantic, Conn., last week. It is an high ground that is clear of timber, and for about it there is evidence that considerable quantities of the stone were removed at a distant time in the past. Fragments of soapstone pots and dishes, fleshy shells and pieces of rock that apparently have been found by the villagers, and the marks of splitting are there, now grass-grown, indicate the places where the Indians worked in the old quarry. The stone is said to be worked by the Esquimaux (Mass) men, who by means of the magnetic needle, which is strongly affected by the magnetic ore in the vicinity, have traced the deposit for a long way down the hillside. The old opening in the quarry at which the Indians worked has been enlarged, and the rock as it lies on the workmen have penetrated is pure soapstone.

PHILADELPHIA, SEPT. 9, 1886

THE ATLANTA DEFIANCE, from whose face Bishop Turner's name as correspondent editor has disappeared, now tells us that the Bishop will start a religious and prohibition paper soon.

HAVING received a note from Rev. C. O. H. Thomas suggesting changes in the date of the several conference sessions, we have learned from Bishop Ward that the dates of the several conferences were as seen in our corrected schedule, this issue.

THE DIFFICULTY experienced by colored people in securing homes by reason of exceedingly embarrassing rents, seems to be a tacit arrangement that prevents their securing property in given localities. These spots are not distinguished by wealth nor affluence. It seems to be merely arbitrary.

THE SPEECH of Rev. A. J. Chambers, delivered a month ago, has been kept back on account of a hesitancy whether or not to publish it at all, and that it is not eloquent enough. Those wanting in good polete, buy it :: :: :: some other points that we feared would excite controversy more extensive than our limited space would warrant.

THE TERRIBLE earthquake of the night of August 31st was the most destructive that has been known in the history of the United States. In Charleston, S. C., where the shock was the severest, a number of lives were lost and the damage to property is said to have reached six million dollars. The terrified community fearing to enter their houses, on Tuesday night, took to the squares and open places of the city, where they remained all night.

THE Rev. J. B. FIELDS, whom we mentioned as being in Philadelphia on a leisure tour a few weeks ago, is worthy the patronage of the masses. It is rarely that the subjects which he treats are handled better. We heard his public celebrated lecture, a reply to Mr. Ingersoll, and must pronounce him a powerful man. His aptitude in selecting and applying Scriptures is great, but do not excel the readiness with which he :: :: is alone the entire Bible, but contain historical hooks and tracts, gives chapter, verse, page and section. Brother Fields will remain several weeks in the East. Success.

WE INDORSE the greater war on Brother H. T. Johnson's argument. The title business has long age gone too far in the country, not among colored people especially, or more particularly, but among white people. Every one knows how shamelessly institutions of learning have prostituted the power vested in them by honoring with high sounding titles men who could not read their titles clear, rendering title odious to men of good judgment. Institutions controlled by Caucasians have done much more of it than those controlled by Negroes, and under far more ridiculous circumstances—circumstances that should lead every man wearing such titles to spurn both the schools and their titles. The proper view will enable men to see that titles are no certain sign of erudition nor a passport to greatness. Good men are justly disgusted with the long columns of titles read opposite so short columns of learning.

THE SYMPATHIES of the nation are attracted to the suffering people who were shook by the earthquake. It is said that seven-eighths of the buildings in Charleston were damaged. Up to this date, Saturday, 4th, fifty-two lives are known to have been lost. The colored people must be very serious sufferers. Many are poor. The band of charity to must have an color, however, as the to learn the popular school lessons are heard of leaving has gone. CHURCH SPIRITUALITIES AND TEMPORALITIES.

Like many other words adopted in the formation of church polity, these are used in relations very different from that warranted by either their etymology or their use outside of ecclesiastical affairs. Etymologically the word spiritualities would refer to the spiritual alone, and so it would in its general application; yet in church consideration it includes facts which are not in themselves spiritual, but which relate to worship, the worshiper and the Worshiped especially. Those connections which engage in arranging for worship especially and directly spiritual. The officers whose functions are to attend the minister of Christ in acts and things pertaining to the sacrament and the sermon are spiritual officers. Those who advise, instruct, discipline, encourage, rebuke or direct others, themselves once divine directions and authority, are emphatically spiritual. Those whose chief secular and clerical duties are to attend to the conduct and teaching of Sunday schools, as well as those who collect money from the people with which to pay the spiritual minister, are distinguished as spiritual and their offices as spiritual. Hence, class-leaders, stewards and (properly) sheriffs should be included. Properly, all these should be thoroughly Christian.

Temporalities, on the other hand, would etymologically refer exclusively to things of time, but as it is used it takes all the facts constituting the universe are related in the great eternity. It is understood that the word temporalities in the Church includes those moneys that relate to Church property, the Church property itself and all the business pertaining thereto. The act of securing and furnishing parsonages, securing, building, rebuilding, remodeling and arranging churches are all recognized as pertaining to the temporalities of the Church. There seems to be a line sufficiently clear between the two, yet there is frequently dispute where moneys are concerned. Money is, of course, temporal. The fact that money goes directly to the maintenance of the spiritual minister and the Sunday school, called spiritual, doubtless, because the especial duty of these and that institution is to prepare mankind for eternal life and direct them in that life, while the moneys that are collected for what we call temporal purposes are used directly for things that must terminate in this life.

BE YE READY.

Much of our complaint concerning being debarred from the trades is groundless. Two years ago Rev. Garfield said a pound of pluck is worth a ton of luck. Many of our boys could be in positions that are much more solid and enduring if they were put prepared for them. The trades and commerce of our country could be filled with men who are not Caucasian simply on account of that fact alone. They are not done so in the largest number of our servitude we were placed in the world and retained there upon the same principles. In early every large city there are now openings for colored boys to trades and other classes of business that would ultimately place those who engaged in them in higher places and surer foundation than can be had by being simply a roost-about or figure-head for the world. Recently we have had two opportunities to place a boy in a responsible position, he would be in the line of promotion, but we could not secure one. We have a friend, formerly of this city, who had two boys at first-class trades with white men. At our call he came and left a lucrative position of a homestead and an annual payment of from fifty dollars to one hundred dollars will hold it. From our toil-sore money and other useless income we can get this in twenty-three months or less if we are doing equally, thus increasing the rate of acquired home by this number.

The acquisition of homes is paramount to the maintenance of societies, looking to civic gain and social expenses. They will mitigate the amount of sickness, divest it of much severity and render us able to provide for the responsible burial of the body. Sickness and death come too often by the door of unpreparedness and consequent poverty. The A. M. E. Church has always encouraged its people to material and intellectual growth. It must continue to do so. In our general arrangements this year in the connectional council weeks ago you read a tirade against the Educational Department and the Wilberforce University by the Goliath of Illinois. To be concise, a more inconsistent, illogical, unfounded article we have not seen read. To say ordinary thinker it would be a waste of time to notice it. Its errors in fact were convincingly pointed out by Editor Lee in the subsequent issue. Yet how sadly may some be led aside, and by men of very little practical force for when we examine the records to find what oppressive burden Brother Kershaw has been carrying, the report shows that he and his church have added the education fund to the amount of $10 cents for less than one quarter's subscription on trial, or by installment, 50 cents being the amount required. All our friends and agents will please note the fact and be governed accordingly. Reason: too much time and expense involved by the small amount.

NOTICE that hereafter the RECORDER will not be sent for less than one quarter's subscription on trial, or by installment, 50 cents being the amount required. All our friends and agents will please note the fact and be governed accordingly. Reason: too much time and expense involved by the small amount.

HOME MISSIONS.

BY REV. L. J. COPPIN.

While we have no well regulated church organization fund in the Philadelphia Conference, we manage to do a good deal of church extension work. In Philadelphia city we have no less than ten stations and a mission school that is highly spoken of by every pastor and man, Mrs Rissebeth Hallo. But there is one thing for which we may justly feel fault with ourselves, and that is for leaving the newly organized points to stand alone before they are able. We make stations out of missions too soon. Then in this case the people are overworked and their minister discouraged. Some of the places above mentioned, though in very good condition now, have existed only by enduring hardships and making sacrifices that truly seals them martyrs. An example of this is Morris Brown Mission. The work was organized by Rev. Henry Henson, a local deacon of Bethel Church, and Rev. Jacob Outten, of Vineyard street near 18th and Poplar. After two years' existence under local superintendent, it was connected with two other missions, each numbering thirty members and called the Twenty-fifth City Mission and a pastor sent from the Conference. Here was a field for any pastor's itinerate service, it was set off as a station at the end of the following year it numbered sixty-four members, about one hundred and fifty Sunday school scholars and had a bank account of $450.00, the nucleus of a building fund. This was regularly reported, the pastor was removed and stationed at Bethel Church, and a minister sent to take charge of the work. After one year's absence he returned, the work was dead. Of course, under such a load, the pastor had to leave at the end of the year a change was made This was followed by another change in his mission and the work is now in comfortable circumstances and changes continued till, at present, we have a regularly appointed pastors served Murra Brown Mission. By this time the membership was reduced from sixty-four to about twenty, and the Sunday school from one hundred and fifty to about seventy-five in number, with a part of the bank account gone. Now, at present, for the last three years this worthy mission received less than two hundred dollars from the Conference. Now, I would not say that Nearly all the children of Dr. Tanner, Rev. Dr. Ridley, were connected with it, also children from the families of Mr. L. Nichols, Rev. Dr. Mitchell and others whom I cannot now recall. Average active members now; some still in the Sunday school and in the congregation.

So long as the mission remained at 25th and Poplar it received a good congregation, approximate a million souls and raise $5,000. The Sunday school a town of 2 000 inhabitants that does not raise more than that for primary instruction In other words, for secular, often the thirteenth part as much children there is raised more than 500 times as much as we raise for Christian education. What is the result? Dark, paralyzing debt, deficiency of facilities, half-paid teachers, dying, abandoned schools, and a conclusion from all that that holds back the hand of the benevolent every time he is prompted to put his hand in his pocket.

Brethren, the hour of our opportunity has again returned Own more time let us pay our vows, and every one seemed to be interested. We held divine services on Saturday. It being a new thing, it was a little hard to get the people to fall in line. The school was small, but interesting. Divine services were well attended Or Tuesday night we went to Newport News, a mission connected with Norfolk Circuit.

NORFOLK CIRCUIT.

The quarterly conference at this place, May 22d, was not all that one would desire. There was some trouble, which we settled the best we could. The Sunday school is small, but pleasantly good. The congregation was large all day Sunday and the outlook is good. The Rev. Jennings took charge here at the time of the quarterly conference. On Tuesday night I walked about three and a half miles and preached at a place called Bethel. I went there through faith that objections promoted by some members of the quarterly conference, stating that they were going to have a society meeting and the people would not give me to preach. I inquired of a brother where a number of people were going just in the rear of the church. His reply was "They are on the road to Sweet Canaan." If the place is as the brother described it to me, I desire some other "Sweet Canaan."

OAK GROVE CIRCUIT.

Rev. C. H. Hunter was appointed to this place at the last annual conference. On May 29th I visited the charge for the first way, not by any fault of Elder Hunter. We had appointments at 11 A. M. At the conclusion of the services we held the quarterly conference. The Sunday school was all we could expect. I think new steps will be taken for better organization and cultivation. At night I was at Sanders' Grove. The congregation was small. This can be made a good circuit. Rev. Hunter will free the entire bill.

CHESTER CHARGE CIRCUIT.

The 4th of June found me on a canal propeller bound for this place. Rev. W. H. Hall was in charge. We had a safe arrival. On Saturday we heard preaching by Rev. Mr. Hall, and found that the quarterly conference convened, represented by two-thirds of the circuit. Rev. Hall is a young man, but a faithful worker on this circuit. All Sax. Gray wants is a little more energy to push things. The Sunday school is good; davelopment is what is wanted by the fina brain in this school. We preached to a large morning and night. At 3 P. M. we went to New Castle, where I was found the people vigilant and filled with enthusiasm.

SUFFOLK STATION.

Jenn 11th, on reaching the depot at this place, I met Rev. Levy J. Coleman and J. O. Cuffey. Rev. Cuffey preached to a large congregation a stirring sermon from Daniel 12th verse 3d. A. M. Saturday I tried to preach. The quarterly conference held its session at 2 P.M. Each department of the Church was well represented by its report. Financially the conference is in a prosperous condition. At 8 P. M. we went to New Hope, where I found the people vigilant and filled with enthusiasm.

NEWS FROM PORTSMOUTH (V A) PRESIDING ELDER DISTRICT.

BY REV. J. STRANGE, P. E.

MR. EDITOR:—May 5th, I left Alexandria on 'The Ann' for Baltimore, Accomac for Portsmouth, where I landed about 5 o'clock next morning. Tuesday evening, May 7th, the quarterly conference met in Bank Street Methodist station. Mr. Norcross, Superintendent of the Sunday school, has a splendid corps of teachers. The school was filled to its entire day The genial pastor, Rev. G W. Alexander, is a diligent student. The spirit of the Lord was among us. We had a full and free discussion of the questions. Rev. Alexander delivered a appropriate sermon at 3 o'clock P. M.

May 14th, I was found at the above named place. Rev. I. L. Butts is filling this place nobly. The quarterly conference was well attended at night. ENDOWMENT DAY.

SEPTEMBER 19, 1886.

DEAR BROTHERS:—The Board of the First Educational District has adopted the following plan by which to make Endowment Day the means of saving Wilberforce University. It is certain, absolutely, that unless money is raised to pay off the old indebtedness the doors of the institution, which has so long been the pride of the A. M. E. Church, will be closed. The churches are divided into twelve classes: The first class comprises churches numbering not less than 600 members; the second class, 275; the third 200, and so on as indicated in the accompanying table.

Prizes varying in value, according to the amount or money raised, will be awarded to all the pastors and churches that will work according to the following plan: The pastor and church that raises $235 will get First Class Prizes, and the pastor and church that raises $200 will get Second Class Prizes, as is indicated in the table. The pastor and church in any class below can get the same prizes in value as the pastor and church in any class above by raising the required amount; for example, the pastor and church in class No. 12 can get First Class Prizes by raising $235; the pastor and church in class No. 9 can get Third Class Prizes by raising $175.

The amount of money raised by any pastor and church designate to what class they belong. If the pastor and church in the first class, according to number roles only $10 then that pastor and church would belong to the Twelfth Class, and get a Twelfth Class Prize. No prize will be awarded to any pastor or church that does not raise 15 cts or more per member. The Executive Board of the Wilberforce University will authorize any pastor who will work according to this plan to solicit and receive, during the Endowment Day effort, contributions from the friends of education. To this most contingent expenses each pastor will raise a certain amount of his field or continent money. Pastors of the First Class $1.50—of the Second $1.50, as fee as indicated by the table. The continent money may be raised on or before Endowment Day.

Now, the whole amount of money raised by the pastor and church in each class will include the money raised by pastor with his Subscription Book, by the church, by the Sunday School, by the children with the Endowment Day Fresh Cards, and the Basket or Contingent Money.

PRIZES.

The prize awarded to the church shall be equal in value to the prize awarded to the pastor. It shall be Bible, communion set, hymn book, or anything the church may desire, provided it does not exceed the value designated. The pastor's prize shall be theological books, books used in the course of studies as designated by the discipline, any other books suitable for a minister's library, gold or silver watch, or any desire, provided it does not exceed the value of the prize to be awarded him. The value of the prize for the pastor in the class with the First Class is $22 50, in the Second Class $20 00, in the Third $17 50, and so on as indicated in the table.

Dear brethren, bearing that you will do all in your power to relieve Wilberforce University of its financial troubles, I now send you a small subscription book, praying that you may find many friends whose hearts have been open for the cause of education. Please write soon and let me know into what class you propose to put your church.

Respectfully,

J. G. MITCHELL,
District Secretary.

To the Ministers of the Fourth Educational District, A. M. E. Church:

DEAR BRETHREN:—The time is fast approaching for us to make another grand rally for the cause of Christian Education. Our District comprises all the Conferences in the States of Kentucky, Louisiana, Texas and Indian Territory. With our hosts of earnest and hard-working workers, we expect great results from the Endowment effort.

Let us go to work in earnest. And remember that all moneys collected on the Third Sunday must be sacredly consecrated to Education. Let us work west this year must rise and shine, but I mean down to Louisiana. Our prospects things are spacious of success. Brother, only to God's name let us make one grand Rally for the elevation of our race and the advancement of the Redeemer's Kingdom. I will say to any pastor in your conference, who raises the largest amount of money according to membership, one of our pictures from books. It is a pencil to the church where it is raised, and a copy of Bishop Payne's book to the pastor. To say Sunday school is your conference according the largest amount of Endowment money, according to membership, I will give a banner from our Sunday School Department.

The Prize will be awarded by a committee to meet our annual conference.

Yours, for God and humanity,

I. M. BURDAN,
Secretary 4th Educational District.

Waco, Texas.

To the Bishops and Members of the several Annual Conferences:

REV. AND DEAR BRETHREN:—The time has arrived when the annual conferences have convened to meet. I beg permission to call your attention to the agreement made before the Metropolitan Church, in Washington, D. C., was completed, which was that every annual conference was to have a bond to bear by their name and that every conference connected for the first window not less than one hundred dollars (if possible) Dr. Arnett and the trustees gave their note to the agency when it was finished the window. The first note will be due in December, 1886, and I will please see to it that each annual conference's attention is called to this matter. I know the most of the conferences have already paid for their windows as much as two hundred dollars. It may be possible that all the annual conferences cannot pay a hundred dollars for their windows, when they will please raise what they can for that purpose. I have asked assistance from some of the wealthy gentlemen of the state of Maryland and I hope to get it.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALE DEPARTMENT.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must give a written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly. 2d. Each agent to be held responsible for all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers onsolute be carefully preserved and returned at each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Publishing Department against our own agents.

We have about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their subscription and collect their money for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

PHILADELPHIA, SEP. 16, 1886

THE Philadelphia Mayor is likely to "go under." The direct at this writing is that with him will go some others.

AGAIN we hear rumors of war in Europe. It is not unreasonable to expect great wars among those "great powers" soon. They are too large to all hold their own much longer.

THOUSANDS of ministers have philosophised and moralized on earthquakes recently, but, like other subjects, this fails to carry to the heart of many the great importance of "watching."

FORGIVENESS is a virtue, but like all others may be overdone. Some people cannot be too forgiving, but are easily pass beyond forgiveness to criminal indulgence, which is destructive rather than beneficial.

BETHEL CHURCH is the first to respond to the subscription for the Charleston sufferers, having on last Sunday raised $600 to be sent to Rev. W. H. Heard. What church will be the next to show practical philanthrophy?

SOME ministers will fail to take Endowment Day collections on the proper day just because it is inconvenient, while every minister knowing before any special arrangements are made for, that it belongs to the cause of education.

ACCORDING to the Star of Zion, organ of the A. M. E. Z. connection, the next issue of the paper is to contain an article from Bishop Turner in reply to Bishop Heed's rejoinder on Bishop Turner's article in the paper a few weeks ago relative to the subject of the last meeting of Bishops.

"STOP MY RECORDER BILL" is too often a compound by "and I will pay up the balance as soon as I can." Yes, brethren, but time soon comes and is exceeding indefinite. We are grateful for the business done for our establishment to this way. We hope by January, 1887, to increase our subscription list to 10,000.

NOW LET us see how much we will do for ourselves on Endowment Day. We can raise $50,000 as easily as not. Will we do it? It is only about 12½ cents per member, saying nothing of Sunday school scholars and friends. Can't we give twelve and a half cents to education under the auspices of our Church in twelve months?

IN THE REV. S. H. Bignon and Joseph Nicholson the Church has lost two very useful ministers. Elder Nicholson has beaten the itinerant's path many years. Not widely acquainted with him, we have regarded him from intimate acquaintance with his son, the Rev. G. W. Nicholson, and other facts, as a staunch, faithful Christian.

COLORED MEN'S interest in the tariff question, or come rule for Ireland, would be more consistent if at our own home we had the least respect from the average Irishman; so the colored man's sympathy for the democratic party could be consistent if the democratic party were not almost instinctively and traditionally against the colored people.

THE FRAUFUL consequences of anarchy are seeming to become more and more manifest to the disinterers of all good in our own land and elsewhere, as the certainty increases that Illinois law will certainly hang anarchists. Misguided men and misguiding men in such cases must suffer together. Popular rights must be maintained, liberty must be distinguished from anarchy.

SO NOW the Roman Catholics have a colored organ. The Ohio State Tribune, edited by Mr. Daniel Rudd, a Roman Catholic by birth and training, has changed its name to the American, and hence, and issued from Cincinnati, Ohio, instead of Columbus, Ohio. Well, Brother Rudd, we shall all find enough to do. If you can succeed in saving some through the Roman Catholic Church, let them be saved.

THOSE who read Brother Cargill's letter in this number will wonder just what he is driving at. He seems like a man striking at, he knows whom, but others cannot tell. We cannot see those five large D's in our Church in particular. Some of them are there, but about in the same rello as in other churches. Striking out from the shoulder will tell against those D's more strongly than will hammering.

WE DID not undertake to answer any of Brother Adam Jackson's points. With us the question was, "Where are the schools of Louisiana and Mississippi?" If we have failed to make anything more than paper schools of them shall we succeed in making more of others that might be started? We did not know that they were only paper schools. We were not aiming at a criticism nor a controversy, but information for the Church.

THE REV. J. B. Dyson has written a pamphlet entitled "Adam Red, Ere White." It contains some ingenious etymotheses and reasonable speculations. But in other writings the author shows a vigorous intellect and conceptions that promise the world great service some of these days. It is very comforting to see all around us minis ters of this state representing our people by and by the black kingdom of the world will gain a philosophic standing, and the black men of the world the place of men.

THE CHURCH at Atlantic City is nearing completion. It will be one of the neatest frame churches we have in the connection. It is to be opened on Sunday there recently. Elder Rice seems to have accomplished a very satisfactory work. The church congregation is orderly for any place and accordingly orderly for a watering place. The school is an excellent one. The Presbyterian congregation. The sea coast summer resorts are being abandoned now, yet Atlantic City retains many of her pleasure seekers all winter. At this place and at Cape May the pastors take a large number of RECORDERS weekly all the winter.

DO NOT fear criticism nor be offended on account of it; a large part of your life success depends upon others' criticisms; if you can, and your criticism of others. Do not practice retaliatory criticism; it not only comes from a bad source, but excites counter badness. One is in a dangerous place when his position will not admit criticism. "Am I your enemy because I have told you the truth?" Careful conduct lessens the liability to and instances of adverse criticism, though it will not really alter the case. It is better to be criticised than Brown has given Wilberforce University nearly $300 in the past year for the purpose of establishing an industrial school.

—Dr. J. C. Embry, general business manager of the Publication Department of the A. M. E. Church of N. A., which includes the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, passed through the city this week on his way to the conference at Topeka.—Gala City Press.

—Mrs. Dr. Blyden arrived in America a short time ago from Africa. She declares that she has made a mistake in not in publishing the statement that the Doctor had abandoned her; that, as a public man, he is absent, but not estranged. This is comfort to all admirers of the great man.

—In Harper's for September Thomas Wentworth Higginson contributes an entertaining chapter of American maritime history in his article on "Old Salem Frigates," which is very effectively illustrated. It would be difficult anywhere to find an equally remarkable record of naval adventure and commercial enterprise.

—A testimonial concert is to be tendered to Mr. John Whitsitt, of A. M. E. Chapel, Philadelphia, by the Choristers' Union Association, on next Thursday evening, at Rhenezer Baptist Church. Mr. Whitsitt is now preparing to enter Wilberforce University for the ministry, and this testimonial is for the purpose of giving expression to the high appreciation in which he is held.

Literature.

The September Century contains a paper on Liszt, which, while it has been for some months in type, is nevertheless to appear at a time when it will be read with special interest, on account of a summer with Liszt at Weimar, written by one of his pupils, Mr. A. M. Bagby, and full of personal anecdotes and reminiscences. The accompanying illustrations include a fine full-length portrait of Liszt and a full-page picture of "the Master" seated at the piano, both engraved by Johnson.

Harper's Magazine for September is a strong number, richly and attractively illustrated. The leader of the number is a turn first in Mr. Charles Dudley Warner's delightful series, "Their Friendship." the scenes of which for this monthly part are at Long Branch, Ocean Grove, Asbury and Long Branch. Mr. Reinhart's spirited drawings (one of which—"Saluda in the Surf"—occupies a frontispiece to the number) add much to the attractiveness of the story. The articles on "Workingmen in the British Parliament," by Mr Edward Brown, illustrated by twelve portraits, is a striking revelation of the force wielded in England by the trades unions. Many of the workingmen in Parliament are leaders in the Unions and are maintained there by the funds of these societies. The Editor's Easy Chair, by George William Curtis; the Editor's Study, by W. D. Howells, and the Editor's Drawer, conducted by Charles Dudley Warner, are filled with entertaining matter, completing a number of unusual variety and interest.

If the promise conveyed in the Sep tember number is fulfilled, the readers of The Old Testament Student will have abundant reason to be satisfied with the new volume (VI.), which begins with the current issue. It is to be coming more and more apparent that The Old Testament Student will not be a mere "paper" for the use of ministers, but a magazine for Bible students. During the evening meeting the minds of all were impressed with the fact that the best wine had been given out, but Sunday morning the sun rose from behind the mountains in all its glory and rays, seemingly telling us that this is the day for the best wine, the day for special blessings from above. More than 2,000 people were on the grounds in crowds from every direction and many from many miles distant to Monticello to hear the speaking of God in the day to be expounded during the day. At 9 A. M. Bro. Sage, of Ga., Dist. Supt., E. Discipline, said, "God's holy spirit seemed to have come down to us, however, the entire church was revived. At 10:30 A. M. Rev. J. H. Yaiser, D D., pastor of Allen Temple, Atlanta, Ga., a most sublime spirit was manifested in the minds of both saint and sinner, and the church and the vast audience was vast, but quiet and attentive. In the afternoon Dr. Gaines, Editor of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, in the humility of a perfect ministerial demeanor, preached the best sermon every experimental Christian were required under his voice; so lovingly he uttered the words: "All things work together for good to them that love God." At night Rev. Dr. Haygood, of Georgia, in the most powerful and masterly way held up before us the wonderful depths of God, and how but where are now the wicked men? They have gone down to destruction, and to their own place. Their kingdoms and empires have sectionally passed away, but the kingdom of God is never to be destroyed. Rev. Dr. Haygood is certainly an opportunity which will make bread, however. Cotton is good. It is clicking season; cotton is worth 9½ to 10 cents. We have two faith doctors, a white man and a colored man, in the town, but the latter is ahead. We have had a considerable revival. Many are converted and joining the church. Some of our Texas people were in the meeting. Rev. Mr. Gilbert came. Our pastor is the Rev. W. B. Johnson, and our presiding elder is the Rev. G. W. Gibbs, D. D. He has not held a quarter here this year."

Mrs Mattie McGee, (Chattanooga, Tenn.) writes: "Your medicine has done me good. I have expended toward remedies for my health more than one hundred dollars. The seeming capacity of the church is double what it was formerly. It is not only because of the increase in the fact, the pastor, Rev. Lee Mitchell, and his wife are full of faith. Bro. Mitchell is a preacher who has steadily increased in power. He came on the 11th 1885 was raised. He is a man who understands how to get the best out of the material he has to work with. Whoever a minister is given him he changes it into his pocket. He has a way of getting the money into the hands of the people. He is a man who is not afraid to ask for money. He is a man of God and wields a mighty influence. His remains were interred at the home of his parents. His burial was attended by a large concourse of people. His death has called forth many expressions of sympathy, and we commend the bereaved family to the God of all comfort. Peace to the departed. Rest to the weary. Glory to the Master's joy."

Montgomery, Ala.

Rev. S. H. Bignon said during his stay here that he was a servant of God and Elder Younger to pray for me; that he was a man of God and would continually visit his charge came. Although acquainted with the last minutes of the conference, and physically weak and not able to travel, but I'll wait and sometimes on poor work build on to his integrity. When I met him last he said: "The religion I embraced many years ago yields me comfort." I obey same.

"Pain all there sorrow, I'll rest in heaven."

Rev. T. A. Davis: "It is just here we are called to stem at the threshold of the grave and mourn. He has fought a good fight, and has come."

Rev. E. W. S. Peck, "I have been laboring these sanvices. Brother Nicholson was helo of a crown. I greatly sympathize with the brethren of the Baltimore Conference, death having entered their ranks so often. He has left Africa, Bishop Brown, Bishop Carroll, Barnett and all the blood washed throng. Dear brethren I fail in Christianity dying? No, the work must be done. Let us be ready to stand before the great throne. Pray for me, brethren, that I may be numbered among the blood-bought."

Rev. W. D. W. Schureman said, "I called on him last Wednesday and Thursday, and he was not expected again. I then gave him the Lord's Supper. He said: "Brother Schureman, I shall I shall be gone to-night." And he was gone. I had two farewell. If I had two more I would have said to you, 'I'll meet the homeman.'" I have a home to-day in the Lord. I expect owing to the death of his stepdaughter.

REV. S. H. BIGNON.

BY R. D. BROOKS.

Rev. S. H. Bignon, presiding elder in the Alabama Conference of the A. M. E. Church, quickly closed his eyes to all sublunary scenes and entered the rest on 14th of August, in the vicinity of Pine Apple, Ala., while on his way to take the train for his home in Eufaula. Just before he left the conference room to attempt to go to the depot, but feeling himself upon the brink of death, he reluctantly yielded to the task, and retired, "O, that I could see my dear wife and children!" Then he reclined his head upon the pillow, carefully folding his arms across his eyes in death. The writer met him seven days before his death and lodged him in good health. He was a member of high standing in his conference, and after he had performed several years of hard labor he was promoted to the position of presiding elder. He had served in this position several years when he was called to labor in the vineyard above. Bishop Turner, who was present at the conference, was among the most eloquent and able ministers who have served the Rocky Bluff District. His age was 73 years, 7 months and 14 days. Whom he has dwelt in holy wedlock for forty years, and five children to mourn his loss.

Eufaula, A. C.

Sister Amanda Wilson, the wife of Brother Syrus Wilson, departed this life at Helena, Ala., at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, August 18th. She died and went on angel wings right into the bosom of Jesus. There was no sickness, no dress. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. J. Howard. Text, "Fight the good fight of faith." It was a solemn occasion. She was a faithful Christian.

Sister Emma Hendon, of Lamar, La., died here August 25th. She was about 25 years old and A. M. E. consistent Christian life fifteen years. She rests in peace.

RESOLUTIONS

ADOPTED BY AVERY CHAPEL CONGREGATION FOR THE RETIREMENT OF REV. OSO DANIS.

At a meeting of the trustees of Avery Chapel held Tuesday evening the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, We learn with regret that the pastoral relations that have so prosperously and happily existed between Rev. Oso Danis and this congregation for Rev. Geo. Darda for two years will be severed, and he will remove to the conference which will must in the city of Jackson, Tenn., on October 20th next; and,

ENDOWMENT DAY.

SEPTEMBER 19, 1886.

DEAR BROTHERS:—The Board of the First Edocetional District has adopted the following plan by which to make Endowment Day the means of saving Wilberforce University. It is certain, absolutely, that unless money is raised to pay off the old leddish-edness the doors of this institution, which has so long been the pride of the A. M. E. Church, will be closed. The churches are divided into twelve classes: The first class comprises churches numbering not less than 400 members; the second class, 275; the third 200, and so on at leddish-ted in the accompanying table.

Please varying in weight according to the amount of money raised, will be awarded to all the pastors and churches that will work according to the following plan: The pastor and church that raises $225 will get First Church Prize, and the pastor and church that raises $200 will eat Second Class Prize, as is indicated in the table. The pastor and church in any class above by raising the required amount; for example, the pastor and church in class No. 12 can get First Class Prize by raising $225; the pastor and church in class No. 9 can get Third Class Prize by raising $175.

The amount of money raised by any pastor and church designate to what class they belong. If the pastor and church fail in the first class, according to number, raise only $10 less than pastor and church would belong to the Twelfth Class, and get a Twelfth Class Prize. No prize will be awarded to any pastor or church that does not raise 15 cts or more per member. The Executive Board of Wilberforce University will annihilate any pastor who will work according to this plan to seddish and receive. During the leddish-ted year contributions from the friends of education. To meet contingent expenses each pastor will raise a certain amount of basket or contingent money. Pastors of the First Class $5.00 of the Second $4.50, and so is indicated by the table. The contingent money may be raised on or before Endowment Day.

Now, the whole amount of money raised by the pastor and church in any class will locate in the second number by the pastor who his Subscription Book by the Church, by the Sabbath School, or the children with the 40-dowment Day Peach Card, and the Basket or Contingent Money.

PRIZES.

The prize awarded to the church shall be equal in value to the prize awarded to the pastor. It is Bible, room, commodious set, hyme book, or anything the church may desire, provided it does not exceed the value designated. The pastor's prize shall be theological books, books send on the course, or anything designated by the disciples, any other books suitable for presentation. Either gold, or anything he may desire, provided it does not exceed the value of the prize to be awarded. The value of each the prize for the pastor or the church in the First Class is $22.50. In the Second Class $20.00, in the Third $17.50, and so on as mentioned in the table.

Dear pastor, believing that you will do all in your power to relieve Wilberforce University of her financial troubles, I soon send you a small subscription book, praying that you may feel many friends whose hearts beat warm for the cause of education. Please write soon and let me know what class you propose to put your church.

Reverently,

JOHN G. MITCHELL,
District Secretary.

Yours, for God and humanity,

H. BUTLER,
Secretary 4th Educational District, Waco, Texas.

To the Bishops and Members of the several Annual Conferences:

Rev. and Dear Brethren—The time has arrived when the annual conferences have commenced to meet. I beg permission to call your attention to the agreement made before the Metropolitan Church, in Washington, D. C., was completed, which was that every annual conference was to have a window bearing their name and that every conference would pay for that window not less than one hundred dollars (1 pounds). Several of the conferences paid their note to the gentleman who furnished the windows. The Bishops will be due in December. The Bishops will please see to it that each annual conference's attention is called to the matter. Some of the annual conferences have not paid. For their windows as much as two hundred dollars. It may be possible that all the annual conferences cannot pay a hundred dollars for their windows, then they will please raise what they can for that purpose. I have asked assistance from some of it's wealthy gentlemen of the state of Maryland and I hope to get it.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing as agent he or she must sign a written agreement to sell only such as will return the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of the sales of every book every three months. 2nd. All papers ansolde to be carefully preserved and reported with the settlements and held subject to our orders. They must be scouted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Each agent will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, for obtaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular Itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against seeing loss. We know about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out on agents. On this number we look for a face of $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sabbath School Work of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to put the same on the surcoat nor the number of your house also. Box 46 of this high seat rank and greatest learning hang up on big line, God's word was brought forth from his mesatic mouth, like chickens. Did Banky Taylor, the only man I ever heard who could preach for a half a day and say anything he chose, by simply using the Bible? Yes, and he was a good man.

As eminent white minister asked me a few days ago to name the greatest preacher that ever took our soma great soul stirring evangelist, like Moody, Jones, Smalls, &c. He said we had the greatest voice, the long power, and he thought God had endowed him under and above the race with that kind of gifts. I told him our scholars were too high strung, and our ordained preachers were too timid. And he said, "Too high strung and timid to save souls? What were they called to preach for?" He had struck me with a stick. I answered, "To save souls." But more than I did the force of these words. True, we have men of great intellectual power, and we have men, but I need not mention names; but where is the man that stands for power as a specialty? Think of it, and tremble for our condition. Look at the great colored revival preacher in the United States. Several on a small scale, I admit. Ministers often are relating their great triumphs to me, speaking about having a dozen or two converts, or possibly a hundred. But a man that God called to preach who cannot count his converts by the thousands, has nothing to congratulate himself over, unless his ministerial life has been of brief duration. I hope to have more to say upon this subject in the future.

2d. While the members of the last two General Conference treated me personally with marked respect, and while I have no revenge to seek, yet a sense of candor and I think duty, should prompt some one to say to the conference, if they intend to return the same man to the General Conference of 1888 they should instruct them to legislate with more calmness and cool deliberation. Not only is the most of our legislation put through under whip and spur, previous questions, but some measures killed by motions to lay upon the table, before the merits of the questions were presented by the mover, or say one else, but I have heard more boys but slange of insolence in the face of old decrepit Bishops who were famous ministers in their mother's land, and were born. Indeed, our late General Conference became the scene of unchristian like humiliation, not in the high, dignified, sagacessful manner, that will point out the errors of the Bishops, presenting precedents, analogies, historical authorities, Scriptural references, &c, but more lenalcese is most always with a little skill or, to speak by the laughter, which always betrays weakness or ignorance. The idea of a man standing upon the Conference floor making a speech upon the grave question of church polity and government with a view of extorting laughter, is simply ridiculous. Such conduct is an insult to our Lord Jesus Christ, and proves that he is totally inadequate to the task of legislating that will be acceptable to God in our General Conference.

Now, I do not accuse all the members of our late General Conference of being unconscious of the high and holy dignity entrusted to them; but I do say that in the case of a few, I am sorry to say, everybody else as a general thing to be their seats. And as for fixing into many operations it is common. The consequence is, more motions are put through in session or laughter than in a cool, calculating mood; hence, the folly of so much of our legislation. I hope you will see our last Disciplines in the best and soberest possible light. By this I mean the best arranged and the purest forms of Methodist government in the world, and nothing else. Let us have no cossection laying claim to intelligence. Let us have no ambition to say that we are Bishops in some instances have not been just a little too leaxorable in their judgment, and as a result we have a class of ministers who are relating their great triumphs to me, speaking about having a dozen or two converts, or possibly a hundred. But a man that God called to preach who cannot count his converts by the thousands, has nothing to congratulate himself over, unless his ministerial life has been of brief duration. All our Pastors are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

A Luxuriant Growth Of Hair

May be obtained by the continued use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A few years ago my hair began to turn gray, and, in a short time after, fell out so freely that I became nearly bald. Ayer's Hair Vigor stimulated a new growth of hair, and of the original color. I have applied the Vigor, occasionally, since that time, and my hair is now strong and abundant."—Mrs. D. Kendall, Utica, N. Y.

I had been troubled, for years, with scalp disease, and my hair was wearing out and rapidly turning gray. I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor but a few months, and my hair was soon restored to its natural color, and is growing luxuriantly. The use of five bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor entirely cured my scalp disease, and gave me a luxuriant head of soft, black hair.—Mrs. E. H. Foster, Lynn, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

Scrofulous Affections

Humors originate in the blood, which, when vitiated, carries disease to every tissue and fibre of the body. Ayer's Sarsaparilla eradicates all traces of the scrofulous taint from the system.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for many years, and find it a reliable medicine for scrofula. I have also prescribed it in my practice, and have found it to be the best blood purifier ever compounded.—W. F. Phelps, M. D., Greenville, Texas.

PHILADELPHIA, SEP. 23, 1886

THE BISHOPS' appeal in behalf of Charleston would doubtless have the signature of the entire bench had they been in session, and it was the understanding of those whose names it bears. It is highly necessary that our Church act promptly. A week's delay will diminish the value of every dollar by a large per cent.

BEFORE OUR readers see this number of the RECORDER Redoomed Day will have passed, some hope with the result of $15,000, some $200,000 and more even from Quakerdom to Purkopolis, $40,000, while Dr. Johnson asks for $1,000,000. Every one hot the Secretary laughs at the million idea. This is one great reason why the million onedeandleng must fail, "the people make light" of it. The A. M. E. Church thoroughly aroused, united, determined, clad in her beautiful garments of sacrifice, could raise $1,000,000.

THE Sunday school Department is doing a business of which the Church may well be pleased. Dr. Smith has the services of the Rev. B. F. Dyson as chief clerk, and has the business so systematized as to render it very effectual in its action upon the young. He is introducing a series of items of usefulness to Sunday school workers in the way of cards, catechism, song book, lesson helps, Sunday school journals, &c., that are bound to modify our general character and especially inspire our youth with loyalty and indoctrinate them with the true spirit of Christian y.

WHAT MINISTER is commensurate with his appointment? Not that of appointment being less than a minister, however strong, is unitinerent and nonministerial. The meanest place on which a man is permitted to stand is an honorable one. Let no man think of as the erection of great churches under our pastoral services renders us large, too large for God's work. After his conference session in 1885, a friend wrote me that he was tired being kept in poor places and, utterly disgusted at his latest appointment, believed he should try other business than that of the ministry. Near the close of this year's work, he wrote in '86, "It has been the best appointment of my ministry, a good one, more salary gotten and more money owned." We had admonished him that God knew his sleep, their pasture and their pastor.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

It is a pleasure to take the position of others, "put yourself in my place" now and then, in respect to almost all phases of action, but please do not, at the risk of coarse office, put yourselves in my place and consign my notes to forgetfulness as I sometimes have done my fellow men, often with neither design nor pleasure, it is true, still they never come to life. Some day the authorities are going to make the RECORDER twice its present size and give the editor an assistant, as they do nearly every other general officer of the connection. Then the negatives will be properly reviewed, hooks examined, manuscript more closely considered and promptly published, editorials made stronger and more numerous and the entire make up of the paper improved. This may be done in the first issue of January, 1887. If every reader of the RECORDER will interest himself in securing one subscriber between now and then, it will be done. If all writers desire this, let them advocate it in their churches, if all readers desire it let them go to work for it at once. A liberal compensation will follow their labors. I am satisfied it can be done. But, like many other writers, I am failing to say what I set out to do.

Last week's RECORDER stated that I was visiting Western conference's. This is true, but only true in that this section is West of that from which the statement was made. Fifty years ago Ohio and Kentucky were Western States. Then the centre of American population was east of Baltimore, but now it is West of Cincinnati. Then Ohio was the wild West, giving away land to secure settlers, but now the "United States of Ohio," as was tauntingly said a few years ago when federal patronage, in the hands of Presidents Hayes and Garfield, with the powerful Sherman and others. While the centre of population has steadily moved westward for fifty years at the rate of two miles per year, the influence of the cayheetsmen of "Ohio" has diminished in the past five years at an equally rapid rate. But Ohio has had a big hand in President culture and now feels almost by divine right that her Sherman should have the big handle for four years after Mr. Cleveland gets through vetoing pension bills and settling international difficulties. There is no stronger American than John Sherman. In 1888 the Republican party could far better afford to nominate the cold, sinewy financier than the stronger, more brilliant idol whom they followed to defeat in 1884, but there are probably others who would be more likely to win than either. Just because both are so immense. If Blaine had been a man of less personal force, yet possessed of his brilliancy and magnetism, he would have compassed so election, notwithstanding his hardness. Arthur, all certainly to better, was elected, a weaker man will likely be elected two years hence. The country would do more dangerous things than the election of Mr. Sherman to its chief magistracy.

I came West by the Baltimore and Ohio road, the great rival of the erimoly Pennsylvania; all the way from Philadelphia to Cleoinnati in about 22 hours, fare $12.75. This road, which in point of speed, equipment and in the country, is not so smooth, so attractive in the artistic finish of its grounds, so gorgeous in equipment nor so complete in its connections as the Pennsylvania. It rattles its through passengers over the cobble stones of some of the streets of several miles in omnibuses after having brought them from Philadelphia over the beautiful Pennsylvania. It requires three checks to carry baggage. Its dining cars are all owned by Purkopolis, and yet when the rattling of the dollars is loose and when one would just as soon as not take a momentary peep at the monuments of Baltimore, to of the pleasure of looking upon the old form of John Brown at Harper's Ferry, sacred and small, on the banks of the Potomac river, between the stately hills of West Virginia, as he thinks of the awful forces that agitated the Osawatomie spirit before he has his breast to the cool vengeance of the slave power; or if he would enjoy, instead of the thrilling scenes of the horse-shoe bend and other beautiful scenes of the Pennsylvania, more likely to win than either,

ENDOWMENT DAY.

SEPTEMBER 19, 1886.

DEAR BROTHERN:—The Board of the First Educational District has adopted the following plan by which to make Endowment Day the means of saving Wilberforce University. It is certain, absolutely, that unless money is raised to pay off the old indebtedness the doors of the institution, which has so long been the pride of the A. M. E. Church, will be closed. The churches are divided into twelve classes: The first class comprises churches numbering not less than 500 members; the second class, 275; the third 200, and so on as indicated in the accompanying table.

Prizes varying in value, according to the amount of money raised, will be awarded to all the pastors and churches that will work according to the following plan: The pastor and church that raises $225 will get First Class Prizes, and the pastor and church that raises $200 will get Second Class Prize, as is indicated in the table. The pastor and church in any class below can get the same prizes in value as the pastor and church in any class above by raising the required amount; for example, the pastor and church in class No. 12 can get a First Class Prize by raising $225; the pastor and church in class N. 9 can get Third Class Prize by raising $175.

The amount of money raised by a pastor and church associate to what class they belong. If the pastor and church in the first class according to number only $10, then that pastor and church would belong to the Twelfth Class, and get a Twelfth Class Prize. No prize will be awarded to any pastor or church that does not raise 15 cents per capita for each member. The Executive Board of Wilberforce University will not award to any pastor who will work according to this plan to solicit and receive, during the Endowment Day, a single dollar from the friends of education. The most contingent expenses each pastor will be entitled to amount of basket of contributed money. Pastors of the First Class $5.00; of the Second $4.50, and so as indicated by the table. The conference must money may be raised on or before Endowment Day.

Now, the whole amount of money raised by the pastor and church in any class will include the money raised by the pastor who the Subscription Paper, by the Sab-ath School, by the Children's Day Concert, by the Day Pasch Card, and the Basket or Contingent Money.

PRIZES.

The prize awarded to the church shall be equal to value to the prize awarded to the pastor, and shall be Bible, communion set, hymn book, or anything the church may desire, provided it does not exceed the value of the prize awarded to the pastor. The pastor's prize shall be theological books, books shall be first course of the studies designated by the discipline, any other books suitable for a minister's library, gold, or anything he may desire, provided it does not exceed the value of the prize awarded to the pastor. The value of the prize for the pastor or the church in the First Class will be $22.50. In the Second Class $20.00, in the third $17.50, and so on as indicated in the table.

Dear pastor, believing that you will do all in your power to relieve Wilberforce University of its financial embarrass, I now send you a small subscription book, praying that you may find many friends whose hearts beat warm for the cause of education. Please write soon and let me know into what class you propose to put your church.

Respectfully,
JOHN G. MITCHELL,
District Secretary.

To the Ministers of the Fourth Educational District of the A. M. E. Church:

DEAR BRETHREN:—The time is now approaching for us to make another grand rally for the cause of Christian Education. Two old soldiers who recently met at Sioux Falls, Dakota, says the Chicago News, had never seen each other but once before, and that once was at the battle of Gettysburg, where one of them wore the blue and the other the gray. Kleptomania as a synonym or excuse for shoplifting was discussed lately by a counsellor at odd chap who was arraigned before a Berlin police court, charged with pocket-picking. He was discharged. The plea has not been copyrighted in Germany.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

They are a source of great suffering, and are liable to appear in large numbers, unless overcome by the use of some powerful alterative. PHILADELPHIA, SEP. 30, 1886

BISHOP CAMPBELL is usually happy in his charge to candidates for holy orders.

OHIO and Kentucky gave the two per cents Dollar Money to the Board of Treasury without hesitancy or regret.

WAYMAN'S Manual on Discipline Every minister and officer ought to have one. Price by mail 60 cts. Order them.

WINTER will be on us soon. It is time to lay aside pleasure robes and arrange to meet the stern visitor. Note how cautious. The happy must be protective when the cold comes, not after it comes.

THE BEAUTIFUL new edition of Wayman on the Discipline is now on the market. It is issued by our house and should find ready and rapid sale, since it contains many things not in the old edition.

THERE is a great hope for the colored people of this country. Progress is clearly marked in nearly all their life phases, but there is still danger. The A. M. E. Church and all other religious bodies of colored men must get down to the work by united effort very soon. Less boast and more boost, less hurt and more help, brethren.

TWO weeks ago we stated that Bishop Turner would publish a paper devoted to prohibition and religion. We have had the good pleasure to read the first number of the Southern Recorder, a lively sheet of twenty-four columns of thoughtful, lively matter. Readers of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER will rightly infer that the Southern Recorder is a spicy, spirited, special paper. Subscription, $1.25 per year. Address, Bishop H. M. Turner, 28 Young Street, Atlanta, Ga.

WE CALLED the attention of our readers to second-hand books last year. Our recent visit to the Kentucky Conference has led us to repeat it. Thousands of books can be had at less than half the regular prices at second-hand stores. We are aware of the natural repulsion to this buying up the cast-off of we know not whom, yet is it small compared with the repulsion that should characterize the dwelling in the garments of intellectual darkness. Many ministers can scarcely be too poor to get this class of books.

THE LETTER of Rev. G. A. Mills in a late issue of the RECORDER, relative to the grave of Bishop Dickerson, has brought a response from Rev. W. H. Yeocum, who suggests a practical and practicable idea. The suggestion, however, not be adopted by the brethren of the New Jersey Conference alone, but let the brethren of the whole district over which Bishop Dickerson presided, especially, and the whole Church generally, enter into the movement and erect a monument that will honor the dead and do credit to the living.

WE ARE asked if the Southern Recorder will not damage the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. It will not; the CHRISTIAN RECORDER is official and general, the Southern Recorder is private and special. True, the former may sow and then lose a subscriber now and then, but the general tendency will be to enhance the interest in, and extend the circulation of, the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. The more light brought to bear upon the more the circulation of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER will appear. Besides this, no man would be less liable than the editor of the Southern Recorder to throw any influence against the official organ of the A. M. E. Church, notwithstanding his natural desire for the success of his private enterprise. Bishop Turner will still contribute to the paper occasionally, as this editor may do for the Southern Recorder. Every new paper established in our Church, though private, helps relieve the RECORDER of much matter and brings to it much sympathy. It will not be long till contributors to and editors of the Southern Recorder will feel to be very charitable to the burdened CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Since I wrote last I have been out of Cincinnati, but having returned I resume writing. One of the most imposing panoramic views I have ever seen is the "Fall of Babylon," exhibited in this city. Accompanied by Dr. Tanner, I entered the great concourse of open-air gazers upon the gorgeous scene of pageantry, civil and military seen, and final destruction of the mighty city on the Euphrates. The mighty walls, turreted and mounted, stood in imposing height, grandeur and seeming reality. I need not describe the ballet dancing, the athletic games, the wierd music and brilliant award fencing which marked the refined corruption of the doomed city; the military manœuvers and engagements, the display of ancient customs and vague luxury, the picture of abandonment of all that is pure for all that is graceful; the blasphemous disregard for holy things when the intoxications of wine and the madness of bigotry have possession of the mind were well illustrated. The whole closing scene was the handwriting on the wall, the sight of which spread wild consternation throughout the gilded hall where men and women were freely drinking from the sacred vessels of God's temple, borne by slimbe slaves. Suddenly followed by lewing the mystic writing on the wall: "Mene, mene, tekel, upharsin," came the crash of arms, the hasty rush of chariots, in several parts of the city fires burst from above the low ground, the entire city was in flames, chariots and horsemen rushed in and fro, a fearful combat ensued, the dead lay everywhere, on the gilded temple floor could be seen the wells of human blood, finally the walls fell in complete ruin and two sleepy editors and several thousand other persons sought their lodgings—well, about 12 o'clock.

Among the several amusements in this city are also the Japanese Village and the great Exposition. I attended the first exposition of Cincinnati in 1870, I think. This, I believe, was the first of America's great exhibitions of art, agriculture, science, &c., on this grand scale. I have not yet gone to this exposition. I don't know that I shall do so. I attended the Centennial five or six days, the Cincinnati Exposition of 1880 one day: what could I do in a single day? I have not yet gone to the Louisville. Should I find a day—but I'm all in!—that I can give to it, I will do so.

The Ohio Conference will meet next year in Xenia. This conference may congratulate itself on having Rev. Frederick, the African missionary. The Ohio Conference is a very quiet and easy going conference. It is making a great deal of good work. I think I mentioned Elder Dolon last week as a faithful old soldier. He says he has many books on various subjects, but that all the books he buys from Bishop Turner, of Xenia, and the Publishing House. Rev. Major Nelson, a father in the Kentucky Conference, says the same. Of course, this is devotion beyond what can be called reasonable, but we might for the masses, but it will do for these fathers, and our book-store will carefully supply them with all the books they may order, if they can be had.

The Ohio Conference had its minutes printed and ready for distribution at work after adjournment, another indication of thrift. The work is nicely done, too. The pasturate of Zanesville and Ironton are still to be supplied—the "last" say for transfers. I did not observe an ordinary delegation from receiving the appointments. This shows a healthy relation between Bishop Campbell and the members. I did hear of a little rumbling which resulted in a transfer after the announcement. I felt disappointments that, so far as I have learned, showed one failure to understand or to respect the vows and principles of itinerancy.

On Wednesday, 15th, the editor of the Review was the RECORDER'S guest in Cincinnati for Ashland, Ky. All newspaper readers remember Ashland, the scene of the horrible triple outrage and murder of three children three years ago, the subsequent lynching of one and the trial and execution of the other two villainous perpetrators, the last only about a year ago. When we crossed the Ohio river just above Ironton, entering Kentucky, we agreed that there was a different atmosphere and felt that we were out of the land where colored men are taken for their worth. We were mistaken. Bishop H. M. Turner, D. D., LL.D., had opened the conference in A. M. The committees had been appointed, the day's sessions had adjourned and it was nearly time for the evening session when we arrived. In opening the morning session Major Nelson was offered the position of Agent

PHILADELPHIA, OCT. 7, 1886

THE MAN OF VIEWS has already appeared and begun to chalk out plans of legislation for '88. He is going to legislate the Church out of all her difficulties and so fix up things by resolutions and laws that we shall have nothing to do hereafter but sing doxologies of praise. O, this man of ideas, he's a wonder worker on paper and at fireside chats, at the tea table or preachers' meeting. If the world will only hear him the millenium will soon be here.

While president in the General Conference of 1872, Bishop Payne said to one of our ambitious young legislators, we shall never forget the remark, "God has given to but few men the power to legislate wisely, because only 1 in 1000 few men can possibly comprehend the wants of society at large, either as relates to the State or the Church." How true this is, and yet how often do we not transgress it.

OUR OF THE best of the smaller hymnals in popular use among the Christian churches is the "Hymns of Praise," published by the Methodist Book Concern. In beauty and richness it rivals Gospel Hymns and is far cheaper. The Manager will be prepared to quote prices in our next issue. The book is published in three grades—down as low as fifteen cents. To accommodate the multitudes of our churches who want a cheap compilation of hymns, is our present ambition. The Manager has received to make a selection of one hundred from our hymnal and then collect one hundred more from various sources and print and bind them in one edition of 1,000 to 2,000 copies in boards and cloth. The work of collecting will be commenced at once and pushed with energy. Meanwhile he makes the following offer: Send to one of our ministers or laymen who will write a letter asking to each a work, of four stanzas, not more than five, he will pay one dollar for each stanza of four or six lines. But the conditions are about as follows: It must be true poetry, not mere versification. Only two grades will be accepted, "It must be good to pass." For "best" we will pay one dollar per stanza, and for "good" we will pay fifty cents per stanza of four or six lines. All others will be rejected and returned to the writer on receipt of stamps for the purpose. This offer will be open until Christmas next. Address Rev. J. C. Embry, Box 801, Philadelphia.

WILL THERE BE WAR?

A war cloud of threatening aspect still hovers over Eastern Europe. The powerful old Russian Empire and the once all-powerful Turkey are in the dangerous game of diplomacy, each seeking ascendency of influence in the petty Balkan States—meanwhile old England, Austria and Germany sit by in full armor and watch with nervous interest the progress of affairs. Russia is an ambitious and warlike nation; they have always hated Turkey and wished for the expulsion of the race from Europe. All Europe dislikes the Turk, but at the cametime, all fear Russia and stand ready to check her ambition in conquering other people and spreading her territory. If a contest should occur England and Austria are both likely to be drawn into bloody strife. Nothing seems only a pleasant pastime with both Russia and Turkey. When will the age arrive wherein the nations shall learn war no more?

COLORED MEN AN KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

In speaking on the subject some months ago, when the Knights were conducting a contest that agitated the whole country, a Western contemporary urged a plea against the policy of colored men becoming identified with this powerful society in any way whatever. This was and possibly still is the view of most of our thinking colored leaders The idea was that the association in its bearing and tendencies is only one of the phases of socialism, and hence only capable of mischief to the country, and one to bring confusion and injury to all honest labor. So far it must be said for the organization that nothing specially dangerous or harmful has appeared in its doctrines or conduct. It has made great blundering mistakes, of course, but behind all this there are principles involved in its existence and aims for which it seeks that are worthy of sympathy and of praise. We have never supposed that it would be a thing of special concern to colored men except in a general way. Certainly we were not prepared to see it receive colored men into membership and stubbornly defend their rights before the world. But the report read at Assembly 40, urging the right of its colored delegates to the great assembly of the order to be received and respected at a public hotel in a Southern city, is a revelation of pluck and purpose that is happily astonishing. If this report be true surely no one entering upon a new era of experience in America.

The last and most heartless difficulty to be dealt with and destroyed in this free land is race caste. Its citadel is in the Church of the States. Thus far the poor colored man has been left to combat it almost alone. Reason and religion both show its flagrant inconsistency—in fact, it is at war with every principle of truth and right. God is surely raising allies for its efficient resistance and final overthrow. If the Knights are destined to hele us in this contest, then may God bless the Knights and prosper them. From Mr. Powderly to the youngest member we say, God speed you, gentlemen, and a million hearts will say, Amen.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

There is general increase of members, churches and financial power in the tate States whose conferences I have attended during the past three weeks. In Ohio a new church has been built at Loekland during the past year. At Hamilton the church has been beautified and the membership increased to double the number reported last year.

Scholastic advantages and facilities for our children are improving rapidly in Kentucky and living nothing in Ohio. In the latter it is probably the fault of colored people quite as much as white that the colored schools are not swallowed up in the white, and when are popularly called mixed schools made the rule. In Kentucky a much more liberal provision is made for colored children's education than ten years ago. The general industrial condition of our people is short as we find it in all elsewhere. In Ohio some stibe seem to be the colored laborer at very little disadvantage. In Springfield he has about all he can ask; in several branches of mechanics and mercantile affairs colored men are doing a good business. In Kentucky colored men are also engaged in most of the trades and in nearly every feature of industry.

In the latter State "profession" have been numerous over since freedo'n was rose, but now they have there some real professors, as scholarly as the case demands. Colored doctors are in every considerable town; some of them making creditable practice. In Ohio some of our physicians may be said to have prominence. Lawyers also are numerous and respectable. As everywhere in our land, colored people here are largely engaged in farming. Some as good farmers as the State affords are colored, many counting their acres by the hundreds. The relations between the race varieties are growing less strained daily. Free, Ohio still keeps her black laws and Kentucky has barely dreamed of inraising hers up from their unety caste to see whether they are coosistent with the general federal laws, yet Kentucky is actually freer than New Jersey was twenty-five years ago. Prices and to Christ.

In the churches whose members are white were exceedingly fraternal towards the conference. Sixteen appointments were made to these shorches Sunday. They seemed quite as generous as our kind friends of Ashland, Ky., had been who previous Sunday. Elder Prioleau had found a very warm place in the hearts of this class of Hamilton's citizens, as well as in the hearts of these to whom he more directly ministere. He is a young man, having graduated from Wilberforce only two years ago. He is a son of the Rev. L. S. Prioleau, of the Columbia conference. Recently he married Miss A. L. Scovell, a member of the Wilberforce class of '85, resident of New York city. We are happy as birds and useful as bees. God's blessings be upon them. Being their teacher, I was given the freedom of their cozy parsonage, sharing only with Bishop Campbell.

The conference adjourned Monday. The most of the brethren were well pleased, but a very few were very ill-pleased with their appointments. May they live to see the hand of God in them. The Bishop went to Philadelphia to spend a few days at home before opening the Pittsburgh Conference.

THE WEST KENTUCKY CONFERENCE.

Bishop Turner opened this conference September 29th. The Rev. R. Harper was elected secretary the usual committees were appointed.

Prominent among the visiters were Rev. E. C. Joiner, of the Illinois Conference, and Rev. W. W. Colby, Baptist minister, for eight years missionary in Africa; not a cultivated Africa, but heathen Africa. Brother Colby lectured to the conference and a large audience on Wednesday night, on Africa. He has been and been twenty-five conversions in Africa under his administration of the gospel during the past three years, and that these were equal to three time as many in America.

The Africans among whom he labors except only Baptist, Methodist and Episcopalians. They reject the Roman Catholics. The three hundred millions of Africans must be saved through the to work so rapidly as Dr. Jaskson. The people of Hamilton supported the conference royally and the conference patronized the Church Publication Department royally. Every man subscribed for the RECORDER. Nearly one hundred dollars' worth of books were sold there.

Bishop Campbell's sondnating this conference the past three years has been wise and generally satisfactory. At the time of adjournment the Bishop rose, like a patriarch, and made an address whose wisdom, pathos and fatherly tenderness impressed all with his exceeding love and deep affection for the race. The speech was a farewell address, as the Bishop intends to sail for Hayti this fall. A busy man of seventy-two, he begins to feel the weight of years; but his zeal and courage are unflagging. The Bishop has suffered much from rheumatism in the past two months. The prayers of many thousands go up for him daily.

that the thousands of colored American men edeseted now may go to Africa to labor. A Stanley or some other white man must give the world all its information concerning Africa; so colored explorers, pioneers and leaders. The colored people of this country must organize exploring and engineering companies. The white man's steamers carry destructive drink and inferior fire-arms to Africa and bring back more than $15,000,000 annually. Young ladies are not allowed to wear a piece of clothing till they are married, and not half so many horrible crimes as in civilization. The heathen like to be called Christian names and wear Christian clothing. The shop of Africa have hair instead of wool. The people along the coast, badly trained by wicked sailors, are often corrupt; but in the interior the people, having not been "civilized," are the more honest. Boxes of goods may lie by the path, undisturbed, for many weeks, though persons pass every day. A store-keeper leaves his goods with whose old home is pictures and books and leave the money. The owner has been careful, however, to leave a heathen god near his goods; the heathen will not steal in the presence of his god. In a town of two hundred thousand naked bothers, he has lain down at night with his house open, perfectly safe. There are probably a thousand dialects in Africa. They have intrepreters among themselves. Mr. Colby's labors are among the Yer'uba. This tribe has a systematic language; they have some manuscript, but no books. There is a tree in Africa that produces salt. Africans set great value upon salt. They have it in the form of marriage. The engagement is made when they are small children. Wives are acquired by purchase.

Sometimes a little sorcery attends the marriage. In some tribes wives are simply sent for. Some one who has designs upon the wife, in debt may sell off his wives. Records are kept only in tradition. Some of them say they are over five hundred years old. He has met one man who claimed to be seven hundred years old. The climate is not so dei ly as many suppose. On the coast there is malaria, but not so in the interior.

—MRS. W. H. Heard has been elected as a member of the Faculty of Allen University in the place made vacant by the resignation of Miss B. B. Wolfe, now Mrs. W. D. Cooke.

—A resolution was adopted in the preachers' meeting on Monday that each of the pastors take a collection for Mt. Zion church, Charleston, S. C., who had not already done so.

—Rev. S. B. Williams had a painful accident recently by which he severely injured his right eye last week, which will be the cause of seeing his left eye, though his sight in it is at present the best of his right.

—Owing to lamoness, resulting from a sprain received five weeks ago, President Warren, of Benton University, has requested leave of absence two or three weeks for rest and recuperation. As the school of theology will not open until Nov. 3, this will not interfere with his teaching duties.

MR. EDITOR:—After leaving Wilmington, N. C., I came to Richmond Va., where I drove to the residence of Dr. W. H. Huntor. I found he was not in the city. I drove to the residence of a trustee, then of a steward, but could not get a hearing, so I drove to a boarding house, sent for lawyer Randolph, arranged to go with him to see the Mayor, who gave me the names of two white friends to whom I called and they donated $20 to my cause. At 6 P. M. I boarded the train for Washington City, where I arrived the next day at 7 A. M., found that man who delights in walking the sufferer to his home and his kind wife, who is glad to say, "welcome, you have our sympathies." I soon wended my way to Brooklyn and arranged to preach for Rev. W. H. Thomas on the next bath morning. He and family were as pleasant as can be, and said, "come and dine with us;" but Mrs J. E. Pierce, one of our former members, said not so. We dined with Mrs. Pierce and had service Sunday morning we preached in Brooklyn; Sunday night found us at Bethel, New York; Monday we attended the M. E. Preachers' Meeting, 806 Broadway. They gave us a hearing and $50 for our church—noble for Methodist preachers. Tuesday night we labored for Rev. C. C. Townsend. His people were all in a glow of love. At the close of the night fin is us at Bethel. The pastor stated why we were present, and after being introduced to the audience by by Father Dashiell, we described as best we could the earthquake in the city by the sea. The pastor called for a collection for Mt. Zion, of Charleston. A collection of $42.50 was taken without any extra effort, making $117 for Charleston from Bethel. I fled as is the pastor so are the people. Mt. Zion cannot forget the good people of "Big Bethel," in New York. The white people of the North are not ready to put large sums of money into the hands of colored men. Bridge street and her noble hearted pastor did not be present on Friday night. Dr. Thomas, like Dr. Derrick, is the best hearted, and has a people of similar make up. We did the best we could in addressing the earthquake, and the people gave us $50 for the Charleston fund. We will next tell of the City of Brotherly Love and her people. The Bishop at the head of all that is grand and noble in our beloved Zion. From here the light of this connection is radiated.

MISS CLEVELAND'S IDEAS ABOUT HOME.

This item of preprietorship in the home should be shared by each member of the household. It is a worthy member this proprietorship in his right. Perhaps here, in order to avoid any possibility of being misunderstood, I should drop the generic term and write down the specific. Let there be in every man here to emphasize the sh and me as the he. Here in the home, where ever else a difference there appears, there should be none. The man and woman, the boy and the girl, should have equal demand and receive equal concession. Later should, in some practical way be made to feel free to share in the home with the brother. Up to that time when the old home is relinquished for new one there should be something in the home which will cou to whom it became can by the hand, and say, "this is mine; and it is part of the property." Then the young man will be glad to take their home to your son, your daughter, and to your husband, your right, to share in the capital stock. This rela will work both ways and to the advantage of both. Then the young man or girl, who has a right to the root that he or she utilizes, will have a pride in the place, and that noble natural pride will be the best to benefit in all those numberless little ways and methods that transform a house into a home.

Every woman who passes the age of twenty-five should feel, in order to meet the responsibilities which come from independence in the items of her food supply, clothing and shelter, a certain development where there is no concession responsibility. I am not speaking of small children. Wives are acquired by purchase.

Sometimes a little sorcery attends the marriage. In some tribes wives are simply sent for. Some one who has designs upon the wife, in debt may sell off his wives. Records are kept only in tradition. Some of them say they are over five hundred years old. He has met one man who claimed to be seven hundred years old. The climate is not so dei ly as many suppose. OUR MARTYR BROTHER.

[Rev. vi.—9-11.]

Written for the Northwest Iowa Conference Memorial Service, in Memory of Rev. Thomas Quarles, by Rev. JOHN HOGARTH LOGAN.

I.

Oh my lis'ning spirit hath heard a new cry,
From the "throne of the" that stands near the Throne!
'Tis the voice of our brother who feared not to die,
On the field where his triumph was won!

II.

'Tis the voice of that sister, who, for the sacrifice of gore,
Was given those "Robes" of pure "White," as the Angels sweep down through the air,
His soul to their mansions of light!

III.

Make room, O! ye martyrs who hallowed this sod,
With your blood, in those ages of yore;
For Liberty's cause hath he died for the word of our God,
And the witness he faithfully bore!"

IV.

Let him r'ose "neath the "Altar" where Him Tithes "Little Children" is past;
Then the voice of the martyr: "How long?
Oh, how long?"
Shall dissolve to an echo at last.

V.

For the "voice" of a martyr's blood first reached the Throne
And vainly his murderer fled!
So the blood of our brother shall cry, and not die
Till the demon that slew him is dead!

VI.

'Twas at MAR the vile murderers leveled their aim;
But as God their fell missils was buried;
Then the weapon that took Lincoln's life gave a fame,
That, for ages, shall blaze round the world!

VII.

And the churches of God shall arise to their pride,
One impulse inspiring us all;
And the lines that divide us shall vanish beside
'Neath the "mantle" our brother let fall!

VIII.

And millions bowed, in the churches unknown,
Have lifted their hands to the sky,
And have swore by the Being who sits on the Throne,
That the Cores that hath slain him shall die.

IX.

Oh! Haddock! we catch up that Banner all stained with thy rich martyr blood;
And we lave each drop to a kernel shall swell,
That shall sweep off the Curse with its flood!

☞ This poem is dedicated to the memory of our murdered brother, and to the arrest and conviction of his murderers. His associates in the Conference are trying to raise five thousand dollars for his widow, in addition to the thousands offered by the civil county and State. Any one who can send or bears this poem is requested to send a contribution for this fund to us as also, at Mt. Vernon, Iowa, or to any member of his conference you may select. We name no amount, only let every lover of Temperance and law send something. A nickel or a dime can be wrapped in paper and sent by mail. If the murderer escapes, other murders will follow. Send it now, friends, now!

Charleston is higher than intellect. A great soul will be strong to live as well as strong to think.

INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION.

SHOWING THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE COLORED RACE IN TWENTY YEARS.

The National Republican of Washington, D. C., in its issue of September 30th, says in regard to the industrial exhibition originated and conducted by the colored people of Washington: "The formal opening of the first colored industrial exposition in this District took place at Bethel Hall, on M street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth, yesterday afternoon. The attendance was not an auspicious one in respect to the number present. The works of art, the mechanical devices, and exhibits of skill, industries and capabilities of the colored people displayed on every side, surprised even those to whom their talent and native genius were best known. The booths, which were arranged at the sides of the building, are resplendent in brilliant colors.

All the exhibits are not yet in position, but when this work is completed the list will be published in full in the National Republican.

The inauguration exercises were commenced by an overture from the Mendelssohn Quintette Club, composed of colored musicians. The selection was a medley of airs operas and was greeted with much applause. Rev. Walter H. Brooks offered a prayer suitable to the occasion. Dr. R. T. Wate delivered a short introductory address; he said:

Ladies and Gentlemen:—The Executive faternity, in presenting this opportunity to their fellow-citizens for the display of their handiwork, have in contemplation through this effort for their race, industrial training and skilled and commercial pursuits.

They have reached the conclusion that our destiny rests largely, if not wholly, in united action, we made the appeal to a generous display of race effort. Upon it we confidently base assistance, for the purpose of developing more than our capacity to successfully engage in the pursuits indicated. Considering the short time we have been allowed, in which to accomplish the great work before us, we consider the display highly creditable, and we feel that it is due the exhibitors, on behalf of the fraternity, to make public acknowledgement of their zeal and energy displayed in the different industries that the genius of their minds can be turned to their best account.

An eminent writer has said: "Every need be no schism in the body of industry, there should be no enmity among the guilds of labor; all are useful parts of a productive whole."

What our country most needs will be taught in these industrial exhibitions. All people should learn that the most important factor in their material prosperity is the diversity, harmony, and protection of industrial labor. In agriculture, in commerce, in all industry, brain and the muscle of the colored man have made a large annual contribution to the wealth of our common country. It is estimated that last year the total farm valuation of agricultural products of the eleven States known as the Southern States amounted to two hundred and fifty millions of dollars. It is safe to estimate that fifty one-half of the labor of the colored race.

Of the latter the allowance of one hundred and twenty-five millions would make the round sum of five hundred millions of dollars as the colored man's addition to the wealth of this country in the year of our Lord 1885.

These figures demonstrate that the colored race in this nation has been a wealth-producing nation, even under unfavorable circumstances.

As a people you are now making a new departure. Having shown to the world your capacity to create, it is your duty and the binding law of self preservation that you become a wealth-accumulating race.

To accomplish this you have but to follow the example of the industrious, economical, honest people of other races.

In most of the States of the federal Union you stand equal before the law in regard to your privileges for success in every industry. If the coldness of any race or people should be followed by prejudice as not to appreciate the benefits to the State of your valuable labor, then it is but right that they should suffer the loss of that labor.

In the discussion of the Irish Roman Catholic question in the British Parliament much time two hundred years ago, William Pitt declared: "I lay it down as a rule that communities and races which have come under our care, and we are confident that nearly every race of mankind possessing any real life in the case of our treatment. A few more months, and sending us 40 cents.

Those rates will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Publishing Agent against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and forty thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 per annum. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have adopted the above rates. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

Under these new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

"I WILL STRENGTHEN THEE."

The strength which I have to do my work with does not lie in me. If it did it would be all over with me. How little strength there is in thearm I sorrowfully know, but there is no man on earth who can tell how much strength God might put if he so willed into that same arm. If so he willed it, he could sesible me, a poor, feeble, trembling man, to pull down the strong gates of sin and evil. He can put physical strength of the most gigantic kind into an infant's arm if he will it. But, my brethren, I realize that we are not spiritual strength. You have God's command to preach you preach if the pleasure to obey you. You have to take a large class of boys and girls, or of young men and women, and you feel you cannot do it. Of course, without his help you cannot; but go and try, for he has said: "I will strengthen thee." There was a man back in the wilderness, but a baby, but he lived. He grew without and it was nothing to look at, nothing splendor when God came into it, so that it burned with fire, and they knew not how it seemed. God can come into you, my brother, and into you, my sister, and he can make you on a shine; with glory, like the bush at Horeb. He can make you so strong that you shall not be consumed. Why, he has done it up till now. If some have not had the experience, all yourewould have passed through your last year's work here to-day will mark a memorable epoch in your history for progress and prosperity. In your every effort to accomplish the highest type of civilization, you are entitled to the encouragement and best wishes of every patriotic citizen.

An ode dedicated to the opening exhibition was read by Miss Mary E. Wall. The last verse, which appears below, summarizes the object and purpose of the exhibition.

To-day we exhibit our part;
Much that we show is our own;
But we have this matter at heart—
To take what we show to the throne.

The exhibition was then announced to be formally opened by the chairman. On it was the following: Rev. Walter H. Brooks, the chairman, who introduced the Commissioners of the District, Rev. E. W. Foe, and the committee of reception.

THE STORY OF AN ANCIENT EGYPTIAN CITY.

Upon some spot of rising ground above the Nile, there was originally built a few mud huts cluster around a rude sanctuary. The hut-dwellers multiply; the village spreads; the huts become of burned or rebuilt. As time goes on, the village becomes a town, the town becomes a city; and the temple, enriched by successive kings, is rebuilt, enlarged, encased, and those decors, because of great historical aggregate of chapels, halls, courts, pylons, and sacred lakes and enclosures. Bra-nd-by, whether ruin or restoration, the city has grown into a seem convulsion of nature, the speeds structures fall into partial ruin? Have upon the depression of the people, or age, careless of the past and eager to raise some memorial of their own no ayuntul rule, lay profane hands upon the monuments of their predecessors, cut them up for building materials, and use them in the construction of debased imitations of their originals. This process, in all probability, is again repeated, and the city sinks deeper in ruin, sphinxes, obelisks, are appropriated and inappropriated, worked and reworked, till finally the whole city is buried in the sand, and forgotten. Later still, the sacred places become quarries for the builders of Coptic churches, and finally the very ashes of the Pharaohs governors. Meanwhile the mound of débris accumulates, and the thin lanes of mud-built dwellings, gradually disappear, leaving the precious bones of the rich, the bowels of the poor, the crocodile, collapse, and receive them. Then arises a new city of mud-built houses. Such is the local history of hundreds of cities in the Nile-basin sites, and such is the history of Tanis.

A hundred years ago, the grave of this dead city was yet invisible. Then, as now, the green and island was heaped high with debris of ages, and was overgrown rubbish. Then, as now, those mounds enclosed a low, but extensive and irregular area, which is described as best plain in the country for such a display. The presence of the governments officers here so roles in social affairs that a man desiring a position in government place ranks socially above a first-class mechanic. Again, there is a class of literary lazy bones, and no man having anyclaims to literary recognition, can fail to get something, while a tradesman and mechanics are overlooked. This should discourage that industry which can show itself in material results.

But at the task before me. It is plain that the laboring man cannot afford to be idle, and that the poor man cannot afford to allow him to remain so. The uneducated laboring man is least able to protect himself from the frauds and couples the lowest round. Education or the development of the mind will tend to divide up the labor and extend the field of labor, opening up fields in the area of unskilled labor and improving the condition of the common laborer.

The industrial schools are good things, but are inadequate, and it is the duty of the young men to make the most of terms they can with the great business world. They should diashnes themselves of the idea that the trades are all closed against them. This refrain has been sung, almost to death, by those acknowledging ourselves whipped before we have taken off our coats for the second contest.

The first display, like the first stroke of the workman, must determine what is the character that is behind.

Let us congratulate every true success, and wish for you a prosperous exhibition.

MR. E. W. FOX, of the National Republican, was present, and responded to the address of the Commissioners as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND FELLOW CITIZENS: The wisdom and the courage which have induced the colored people of the District of Columbia to inaugurate this, their first industrial exhibition, deserves the highest commendation.

In the development of any enterprise it requires the greatest courage to inaugurate it, and the first step on this occasion you are to be congratulated that the exhibition is a success. The colored men in this capital city, after a generation of hard labor, have laid the foundation and promote an organization that will, in all coming time, be the medium of presenting to the world the capacity, the progress of colored men, and the skill and ability in the industries that the genius of their minds can be turned to their best account.

An eminent writer has said: "There need be no schism in the body of industry, there should be no enmity among the guilds of labor; all are useful parts of a productive whole."

Eczema

Is now commonly known as Salt-rheum. It is caused by impure blood, is accompanied with intense itching and burning sensations, and, unless properly treated, is likely to afflict its victim for years. If you are suffering from Eczema, or any other eruptive disease, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has proved, in numberless instances, a complete cure for this disorder.

Entirely Cured.

A few weeks ago I was attacked with a severe and distressing form of Eczema. The eruptions spread very generally over my body, causing an intense itching and burning sensation, especially at night. With great faith in the virtues of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I commenced taking it, and, after having used less than two bottles of this medicine, am entirely cured.—Henry Hendricks, of Ice Hope "Nine," West Philadelphia, Pa.

I was, for years, troubled with Salt-Rheum, which, during the winter months, caused my hands to become very sore, crack open, and bleed. The use of in a few months, entirely cured me of this troublesome humor.—Ellen Ashworth, Evanston, Wyoming Territory.

Debility

Languor, and Loss of Appetite, are cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine relieves that sense of Constant Weariness, from which so many suffer, purifies, invigorates, and vitalizes the blood, gives tone and vigor to the stomach, and restores the appetite, health and strength more surely and speedily than any other remedy.

Positive Proof

Two years ago I suffered from Loss of Appetite and Debility, the result of Liver Disease. After having tried various remedies, and several physicians, without receiving any benefit, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle produced a marked change, and the second and third accomplished so much that I felt like a new man. I have, since that time, taken about one bottle every year, and feel no symptoms of the disease.—Wilkins E. Way, East Leicester, N. H.

If any one suffering from General Debility, Want of Appetite, Depression of Spirits, or Poor Blood will use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I am confident a cure will result therefrom. I have used it, and speak from experience.—T. D. Lovejoy, Lowell, Mass.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and; fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible stories of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The author claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and examines from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward considers in a very interesting way physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that science while surely reaching a direct creation, also shows the evolutionary principle, but the tempter is so moderate and its plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to compel the mind to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done reverently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, and that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the correctness of the other. It is a book that will be read with much profit, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between science and religion, while Bishop Campbell's appendix is an admirable answer to those who have sought to express the Divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

The book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence both of diligence and of more than ordinary literary power in such a work and of intimate acquaintance with the Scriptures, but his temper is as moderate and its plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to compel the mind to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain charm of originality

PHILADELPHIA, OCT. 14, 1886

BOOKLESS homes are sad drawbacks to civil and religious progress. News-paper and book reading are as indispensable to right growth of the mental and moral American as are bread and meat to the physical American.

THE STAGE of saintly diadems in heaven will not likely correspond with the number of persons brought to the faith by the crowned. More probable is it that the good Judge will make the spangles correspond to all the good done to the least of His little ones.

WE MUST confess to an obtuseness too great to see that our Church has yet risen so high on the subject of ministerial intellectual qualification as to have a deified education. We can bear a much nearer approach to such a condition better than a recession from our present standing

WORSHIP carried beyond certain points becomes insipid and serviceless. Of course there can be no fixed rule for these points. The above, feelings or wants, but it is evident that worship should be jointed by activity-doing. The spirit of worship cannot be forced upon men by ridicule. Whoo driven to the new acts must accompany worship, simulating worship, we become mockers.

A MINISTER'S oall and fitness to the Christian ministry are not to be measured alone by his ability, to secure members to the church. A successful planter and Apollos a waterer. He gave some teachers as well as other apostles and prophets. Nor can the co-parative usefulness of two ministers be settled by the number of persons they have brought into the church membership; one sows and another reaps.

A SPIRITLESS man is of comparatively little service in any office, but the more especially so in the ministry, where so much depends upon the executive and guiding activity of the pastor. Ministers called to the holy work, finding themselves wanting in practicability, should study the methods of practical men, not abet themselves up in the hard shell of their own ecclesiastical natures as an apology for constant failure.

A SAD REFRAIN.

We have this from Texas:—

"I would like to know from some of our leading men what shall we people do? The whites are killing colored people on the sly. There were two killed last week. Three ordered from town a little over a week ago. I think we all had better leave here and go to Kansas, or I am in trouble. If some of you, please, let me know what is the best to do. After killing the old man's boy, they made the old man leave the town and he is 60 years of age. They gave him two days to leave. I tell you this is all too bad, and the law will not protect us."

Some of the brethren may feel happy after reading such news as this, but we confess we cannot. Would to God we could tell our disconsolate friends what to do, or where to go. As we see it, there is now no place on earth where he may go with the hope of being free from the presence of the bodily and overbearing white man. In Africa itself 'twill not be long until Europe shall have over-run and subjugated the whole population. Long years of bitter wrong must be endured, both here and there; but we must live with him to either hour-sphere. By and by the power will come to us to come sel barbarous men to respect our manhood and our rights. "Thrash conflict to the stars," is the rule none can avoid.

OUR GREAT RESPONSIBILITIES.

Individual responsibilities are increased by individual endowments and acquisitions. If only our powers for good were enhanced by all our natural and acquired excellence, we might soon grow to perfection; but greater the man, the larger the target for shafts of evil; the greater the man the more he has to protect, support and direct. In the transition of our people from the fearful fires of slavery to the clear, bright light of freedom, even the possession of beauty is a great responsibility to woman, especially so since usually associated with poverty, and surrounded by vile hearted and unmerciful lust. The possession of wealth brings weighty responsibilities, since in our case it is surrounded by so great poverty and undertain by so great inexperience. He that hath this world's goods and seeth his brother have need and shutteth up his bowels of compassion against him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? "Die tribute to the poor" is the Lord's command. The responsibility of the wealthy does not end in this command, however. Further on it is "Thou shouldest leave to put my money to usury." The time that separates perfidy and avarice from economy and charity is the objective line to be sought by our wealthy men. Power in the hands of a people made absolutely free, but whose former life has been not of submission, is to be guarded carefully. It is to the possessor a very grave responsibility. Men of our race variety in the most exalted positions are responsible for much more than seems at times to appear to them. Their every word and act is a director to contemporaneous negro life and an index to its future. They among us that rule well are worthy of double honor. This most not all be ministers, as we have several times heard a colored dignitary say, tho that the mere occupation of an exalted position is meant. Good ruling, not sitting in the seat of a high executive, is the meaning. Many a lower officer is worthy of the applauation of their race, while many a superior officer is not touched by it. How humble should be the dignity received from men and sanctioned by God, giving our brethren's lives into our hands. A leading men hold probably a greater and far-reaching destiny in their hands than any other equal number of men on the continent. Hut the greatest responsibility rests upon the ministry of Christ. The necessity to live rightly and add to faith virtue and to virtue knowledge, and continuing till the entire category of excellencies is acquired by repentance towards God and faith in our Lord Jesus Christ, is inexplicably and inseparably connected with the ministry. May we add, especially the ordered ministry! The question should be not what do the people like, but what will best subserve the moral needs; We cannot afford to support idle fanciee in worship nor satisfy feeling, even in explaining the message of the great God; we must speak forth the words of soberness and truth.

"COMMON-SENSE RELIGION."

Absent from ser office, we received the RECORDER of two weeks ago to observe that a mistake had been made in publishing the article under the above title. Our feelings or wants, but it is evident that worship should be jointed by activity-doing. The spirit of worship cannot be forced upon men by ridicule. Whoo driven to the new acts must accompany worship, simulating worship, we become mockers.

A MINISTER'S oall and fitness to the Christian ministry are not to be measured alone by his ability, to secure members to the church. A successful planter and Apollos a waterer. He gave some teachers as well as other apostles and prophets. Nor can the co-parative usefulness of two ministers be settled by the number of persons they have brought into the church membership; one sows and another reaps.

A SPIRITLESS man is of comparatively little service in any office, but the more especially so in the ministry, where so much depends upon the executive and guiding activity of the pastor. Ministers called to the holy work, finding themselves wanting in practicability, should study the methods of practical men, not abet themselves up in the hard shell of their own ecclesiastical natures as an apology for constant failure.

A SAD REFRAIN.

We have this from Texas:—

"I would like to know from some of our leading men what shall we people do? The whites are killing colored people on the sly. There were two killed last week. Three ordered from town a little over a week ago. I think we all had better leave here and go to Kansas, or I am in trouble. If some of you, please, let me know what is the best to do. After killing the old man's boy, they made the old man leave the town and he is 60 years of age. They gave him two days to leave. I tell you this is all too bad, and the law will not protect us."

Some of the brethren may feel happy after reading such news as this, but we confess we cannot. Would to God we could tell our disconsolate friends what to do, or where to go. As we see it, there is now no place on earth where he may go with the hope of being free from the presence of the bodily and overbearing white men

Boring to a depth of 1100 feet, with no success, has been continued by a Henry county (Ill.) farmer in search of petroleum, which, a medium informed him, abounded on his lands.

The worrimeat a Jersey City man indulged at over his defeat for an office he was striving for has ended in causing him to loose his reason and he will probably be sent to an insane hospital.

Cincinnati has discharged two policemen because they could neither read nor write. The positions of lawyer is now about the only one to which cesse ignorance is a qualification.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" perfectly and permanently cures those diseases peculiar to females. It is tonic and nervine, effectually allaying and curing those sickening sensations that affect the stomach and heart, through reflex action. The backache and "dragging-down" sensations all disappear under the strengthening effect of this great restorative. By druggists.

The strongest wood in the United States, according to Professor Sargent, is the nutmeg hickory on the Arkansas region, and the weakest the West Indian hitch. The most elastic is the lancewood, the white or shell-bark hickory standing below it. The least elastic and the lowest specific gravity, upon which in general depends value as fuel, is stained by the blue wood of Texas.

When your blood is impoverished the remedy is at hand. Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

A Bridgeport sawboy was carried out of the station by a train from which he had gotten when it was at quite a good rate of speed and lighted on the other track, where he rolled over and over. A train was approaching on that track, and was stopped just in time to save his life. The boy was very little the worse for his double peril, and was selling papers on a local train half an hour later.

In thousands of homes Hood's Sarsaparilla is constantly kept as a family medicine.

Instant death would probably have been met with by a tramp in Illinois in the other day who was stealing a ride, not in the least injured, and even refused an offer to ride to the next station.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE

INVALUABLE AS A TONIC.

Dr. J. L. PRATT, Greenfield, Ill., says: It is all that it claims to be—invaluable as a tonic in any case where an old time lack of stimulant."

A Waterbury man has been bothered for three summers by ants, which made their bed town in the joists of his and large sheds tree. The family bed was next from the yard and the trees were fast enough to keep the ants' feet tends cems to the rescue and are making short work of the insects.

CATARRH CURED.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from this loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved his life. Sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Dr. Lawrence, 212 East 9th St., New York, will receive the recipe free.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach me. We are thus settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to send the paper to each man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend, to those who are not, we will be acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Send the paper for five cents and send us three cents.

J. C. EMERY, 631 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 50 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (five cents and a half); less than 20 copies, 3 cents.

As agents are selling such a stream for more than one month will be stopped if agents must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER account alone. Let us have of our agents every month.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by us by your own acts.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES ROOMS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and remit the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of the year, or six months. 2nd. All papers sent to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement, and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Each agent will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, selling 50 cents at the time, several two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to except those of itinerant missions. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We desire about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

To the Bishops and Members of the several Annual Conferences:

Rev. and Dear Brethren—The time has arrived when the Annual Conferences have commenced to meet. I beg permission, through this medium to lay the agreement made before the Metropolitan Conference, Washington, D. C., was completed, which was that every annual conference was to have a window bearing their name and that every annual conference would pay for that window not less than two hundred dollars (if possible). Dr. Arnett and the trustees have their note to the gentleman who furnished the window, and the money will be due in December. The Bishops will please see to it that each annual conference's attention is called to this matter. Some of the annual conference have already paid for their windows as much as two hundred dollars. Those conferences that have not paid their annual conferences cannot pay a hundred dollars for their window; then they will please raise what they can for that purpose. I have asked assistance from some of the wealthy gentlemen of the state of Maryland and I hope to get help from them. I. N. WATMAN.

What we must say

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will set for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The writer claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

It Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. In the course of the book it is shown that though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a divine revelation, allows also for orderly development, but his temper is so moderate and his grasp of the literal consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so comprehensive, that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the established facts of the other. It is a book that may be read with profit, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between religion and science, while Bishop Campbell's appendix is an admirable answer to the attacks of those who oppose the Divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relations to the Mosaic record. There is much in the book to interest the reader, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a divine revelation, allows also for orderly development, but his temper is so moderate and his grasp of the literal consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so comprehensive, that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

SUMMER SAUNTERINGS.
BY PROF. W. S. SCARBOROUGH, LL.D.
CONCLUDED

Macon is the central city of Georgia, and per location ought to be the capital. The inhabitants number something over twenty thousand, nearly half of which are colored. There are plenty of cities that have more wealth, but none that are more beautifully situated. The high elevation above the sea-level, like that of Atlanta, it has the building mania, which has served all alike, white and black. I venture the assertion that there is no Northern city in which the people as a whole are more liberal and prosperous than they are in Atlanta and Macon. The educational interests of Ohio can furnish the wealthy negroes with the no one city in Georgia can furnish these educational advantages, but the statements that have come to the ears of the people in the State of Georgia have done much to elevate the colored people in the State of Georgia have more wealth in proportion to their numbers than is found among those in any other State in the union is, I believe, actually true. Why, there are plantations, summer seats and winter homes owned by colored people. I have said a white banker to the writer, "I suppose you have observed the rage for building in this city? It is the rage of the whole South as well as this." He said he could not help it, that the people would and is building more. Some of our strong business men are colored people. I can name dozens of colored men in this city that are rich and self-sustaining. Many of them own them in all the business ramifications of this town, and are prosperous. Indeed, I must confess that I was surprised to see the prosperous condition of the colored people. Mr. A. O. Johnson, Macon, Georgia, in addition to large property in different parts of the city, is constructing two storied brick building on the corner of Cotton and Washington streets, on which he has three separate stores—a grocery, managed by himself and sons; dry goods, by his wife and daughters, and a shoe store, in the hands of other parties. There is no lack of trade in these stands. Then there is F. O. Holt, south of the above-named, who is a prosperous owner in another part of the city. Then there is Edward Woolfolk, whose houses are rented for more money than is paid for property in Cleveland. Then again there is Dr. Campbell and the two Bolds, who own none of his rivals in point of ease and good from the people, and a large wood business. Following him are P. Bell, Bishop, W. B. Clark, Thos. Sellers, J. W. Jones (who owns the block he lives in somely), Thos. Screen (the banker and broker), the Misses Ross, Mrs. Lucy Bee), Jackson and many others whose names I cannot now mention. Many of these men stigmatize every summer as watering places and other fashionable "haunts" for pleasure and comfort. Among the many churches the most prominent are our own Bethel and the Presbyterian and Congregational churches. To say Elder Grant is the only excellent work at Howard School, and that he is highly esteemed by his people expresses it but feebly. The appointment could not have been made; a more satisfactory one could not. Elders Gaines, Hall, Johnson and T. G. Steward (the founder of this church) could not have done more. Nor can it be said less of the portraits of these divines—especially the latter, whose portrait hangs on the walls of the lecture room of this church. This is fitting, for under Dr. T. G. Steward will ever be, but will always live in the hearts of the citizens of Macon. Dr. Steward has cherished there and the good Doctor himself is happy to say that it is a pleasant piety and sound scholarship. The Sabbath-school was addressed in the morning I was there they seemed to have come out in their full strength. The church was full and the singing well arranged. The method of conducting the Sabbath-school is excellent. On one lecture in this school that I admire, among many others, and that is the appointment of a teacher of the advanced classes or a teacher to review with the school the lesson of the Sunday before. The explanatory and exegetical remarks as a rule are excellent. The blackboard is connected with the lesson. Miss Fanny Pappy presented her work in this line and I was pleased to see the interest shown to her. Elder Holmes' class is one of great promise, and Bro. Hall, the teacher, he exhibits the same faithfulness that has characterized his pastoral labors elsewhere. Mr. Green Smith, the superintendent, shows taste and skill in the management of the school. I was pleased to note, also, the progress made in the secular schools of the city. Prof. Hudson, with his corps of teachers, is doing good work and deserves the gratitude of the patrons of his school. If the other city schools were likewise provided for the educational facilities for the colored children would be many per cent better. It is astounding that the principal of the colored schools receives such small compensation as compared with that of the white schools. The school must be. The colored people should rise up en masse against it and demand a hearing in this matter. Here lies the future of the race [concerning the white] Head and pounder. Flat justice. Wilberforce, O.

TITUS AND HIS FAMILY.

BY MARY A. GRAHAM.

Many hundred years ago there lived in a distant part of the vast Roman Empire a good and noble man, named Titus. Some years before his birth, the light of the blessed gospel of Jesus Christ had dawned upon that benighted land; pious men had preached the glad tidings of salvation, and thousands had given ear to their words and been baptized.

Titus, who had received this name in holy baptism, was a Christian, and a believer with his family found his greatest joy in the service of the Lord Jesus Christ. But the heathen priests, who had long held the people in bondage, sought to persuade the rulers of the country to root out the Christian religion. Titus and his family were torn forth from the king to execute all who would not worship the false gods.

Titus was one of the first on whom the king ordered death to be inflicted. He thought: If I succeed in making this man, whose the Christians hold in such respect, forsake Christianity, all the other Christians will soon follow his example. So he sent for Titus to his palace, and used all his eloquence in trying to make him turn away from the faith in Christ. When all his deceiries and promises were in vain, the king threatened to have him tortured to death in the most fearful manner. But Titus remained firm. "I am ready," he said, "to suffer or to die; but I will not sacrifice my life for thee, oh, my king; but I am still more ready and willing to die for my Master and my Saviour. Death to us Christians is only deliverance from pain, as you have exclaimed." "Very well, as you do not choose to live a little, but a long time, as and our children there above with the angels, you shall have your wish, and all good people forever. Why should we be hasten?"

She hastened out of the room; the captain accompanied her. Before an hour had passed, Titus, his children and wife, were in the presence of the king. "Titus, the king summons thee before the throne of heaven," said the captain, in royal chamber. The king stood near a throne, upon which splendid garments of silk and purple, silver vessels, golden vases, jewels and pearls were laid out. Titus took obeisance to the king, but cast upon all these treasures only a glance of contempt.

The king said: "Such things are, I know, nothing to thee. All thy children are also accustomed to live as I see with me, I will show thee better treasures." Titus replied, "Do not give yourself such trouble, oh king

PHILADELPHIA, OCT. 21, 1886

CONSECRATION is protective of other virtues, as well as itself a virtue.

SOULS MUST be given to God with the understanding that the body accompanies them. We should gladly use both in his service.

BOTH WILBERFORCE and Paul Quinn are opening nicely this fall. Nothing but want of time prevented our visiting the former school while West.

CLOSE WORK is the watchword for success. In study, in business, in government and in religion close work is required. The work of the race is a great work.

WE HAVE now on hand very much more matter than we can possibly squeeze in. Will not reporters of conferences which we have attended and reported allow us to simply publish such items from their reports as have not been mentioned?

THE PULPIT is God's gift to man. The minister of Christ is God's messenger to man. The gospel is God's message to man. For the minister to mistreat a message, how sacred should be the place and the messenger! Twaddle and witticism in the pulpit are unbecoming, insincerity is mockery and irreverence is blasphemy.

THOU SHALT not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain, is based upon the sanctity of that name as that of the highest and purest conception of being and highest grade of worship. Do Christians who use this sacred name with all the lightness with which they would handle the commonest terms, think of the gravity and magnitude of their sin?

THERE IS much talk about the next General Conference everywhere, save outside the RECORDER than in. We occasionally get a reminder that there is a General Conference coming, but we are aware of it, hot our future is all wrapped up in the awful present. Our work of to-day may not please our friends, but it is our best. We are doing it for to-day with the belief that it will live. Don't trouble us with your little threats, friends. It is a waste of words; it will be time enough to deal them out when we come short in the future.

THE Bishop and Secretary of the West Kentucky Conference promised faithfully to forward to our office the list of appointments, which they have failed to do at this date, October 15th, ten days after adjournment. Presiding elders (especially P. E. Harper) may inform their minister of the cause of their failing to receive the RECORDER, excepting in such instances as those where no changes were made. We earnestly begged each of the members of the conference to send a postal card to this office with his address. We would gladly have brought the appointments away with us, if possible.

ACCORDING to the Chatham Banner, the appeal case of Bishop vs. Ledgin, in the Divisional Court at Toronto, was decided against the plaintiff. This reconfirms the decision of the court of chancery and throws costs of both suits on Bishop Dunsy. Whether this is the end is not known. The effect of the decision can hardly be less than an annulling of the articles of agreement between the two churches so far as relates to the provinces of Ontario. So far as legal objections are found, they may have doubtless been applied to the union at any place within her majesty's realm. How much can be made of the matter of jurisdiction of the A. M. E. Church over the work on the British West India Islands is hard to tell. The inference is fair that the discontent will spread. To battle with sin is enough. Our Church should spend no time, care nor money in coercing by legal or other methods.

HAS the bishops, ministers and members of the African Methodist Episcopal Church no reply to make to the fearful and sweeping arraignment made against them by the Rev. L. M. Hogood? Surely the things he is placing upon record demand consideration if they are not true, and if true they place the African Methodists in a sad predicament.

We have simply this to say concerning the Southwestern Advocate's calling our attention to the Rev. Haygood's writing. We have not brother Haygood; so seems to be a Christian gentleman. If as such he finds any pleasure in such unmanly proceedure, we are quite willing that he should have his conscience. We have met the editor of the Southwestern several times also. If the editor finds place in the Advocate for such a set of papers and place in the Christian code for their circulation, the Advocate and Christian field are his. Were we to care to dwell in the same slimy regions we could find quite enough of retaliatory ammunition; but we have entirely too much serious work to do for Christ to stop to do the vile work of the calumniator. We scorn the methods of Brother Haygood, in the papers referred to by the Southwestern. Still, Brother Taylor, we might thank you for calling our attention to the matter. When we cannot find enough with which to interest our readers nor eat of our idea of duty without noticing Brother Haygood's wonderful revelations, we may give them some attention. Until then enjoy yourselves, brethren, though your rest be less sweet than it might be after the satisfaction of a battle.

BRETHREN of all the five conferences visited by the editor of the RECORDER this fall, having paid him the money for books or other articles, will do him a favor by dropping a card to the office, stating whether said articles have been received; for they have all been mailed promptly. A copy of a book entitled "The Promises of Scripture" was sent to each of the following addresses in Kentucky: Rev. E. Johnson, Trey; H. Knox, Grocery; W. H. Crowdus, Frankfort; S. Lee, Midway; B. P. Porter, 1002 W. Walnut Street, Louisville; E. Owens, Bowling Green; S. Whales, 1122 Churchill Street, Louisville; H. Williams, Lovelaceville; B. Taylor, 398 May Street, Louisville, and J. M. Turner, Cynthiana, Mo.; Mr. York Baker, Padueah, and Rev. C. D. White, Ratco, Ohio, one. One of those mailed to Rev. J. M. Turner, Cynthiana, was addressed especially to some one whose name is now forgotten. Brother Turner or friend of his for whereabouts, he will doubtless have the kindness to forward it to him. "Genesis Re-read" was mailed to Rev. A. J. Talbert, Lancaster, Ky.; New Testament and Psalms to Mr. J. M. Reid, Padueah, Ky.; Pastor's Companion to Rev. T. J. Christopher, Centreville, Ky.; Outlines of Our History, to Rev. J. H. Bell, Urbana, O., and "Cesar's Orations Against Catiline" to Rev. N. Mitchell, Van Wert, O. The editor of the RECORDER would also call the attention of those whom he has credited. Please be prompt, brethren. Your patronage is most highly appreciated. Any failure of RECORDER to reach subscribers should be reported to Dr. Embry by the first person who hears of it. One sent cost will do this.

TOO MUCH TALK about the young men of the late General Conference might provoke the retort that would be immodest and unbecoming, whether proceeding from young or old, that a large majority of the less commendable features of that conference did not proceed from youth, unsupported by aged props. The truth is that, in this instance, it were better that neither side was on the other, for the controversy was by no means without strength and practicability. Its work will stand fair compared with any in our history. Its organization of education, settling on a good and wise basis the Sunday School Department and establishing the Quarterly Review, are enough to classify it among our most profitable. Much concerning as is evinced towards the book of Discipline, it has never before been published with so superb consistency in itself, faithfulness to the spirit of the legislators ur practicability of operation. It is a sad misfortune to complain so much against the General Conference. The charged that this was done for spite, and that through ignorance; but this, if correct, is what happens in any human legislation. There was certainly no more madness in 1884 than in 1880; we would hardly think so much. Sober-mindedness is among some of the aged inspires the youth with sober-mindedness. No one could expect a hundred and fifty men, young and old, trained by the Church largely, to accept gracefully new and unthought of tenets showered upon them in a moment. Rather call them mad if they had done so. The men representing the Church would have been unworthy their place had they not expressed the feelings and beliefs of a very, very large majority of their constituency, and a very, very large majority of Methodists of all ages, and especially of the present. If the young had not been immodest enough to say out, the old would have had the battle to fight. If they had made it less hot, they would have made it longer. The same number of men cannot be assembled in our Church upon their return to their charges and not have a considerable number of the Church, but much of it from persons who are opposed to the action of the Rev. Mr. Corbin, being unable to say anything in commendation, will be very well to say nothing.—New York Christian Advocate of June 24, 1886.

About four months ago we noticed that in its "editorial correspondence" from South Carolina, the New York Christian Advocate was very far from correct in certain statements relative to Church troubles in Atlanta, S. C. We did not call our readers' attention to all the extravagances in that editorial correspondence, but did refer them to some of them. Excepting Brother E. W. Taylor's little sycophantic note, we had failed to observe that the Advocate had attended to our circulars. The excerpt given above is a "N. B." of editorial correspondence to the Advocate of June 3.

It is never too late to do good; the Advocate shall have the opportunity to "either prove it, or take it back." For an honest man we believe the former very hard to perform, and for a dishonest one, the latter. But one A. M. E. Bishop went to Aiken to attend the church troubles mentioned in the case; that was Bishop Shorter. If any Bishop, as is described in the Advocate, "was so angry," it was Bishop Shorter. Therefore, if we are substituting his name, does not "seem singular."

The RECORDER does not "confine its criticisms entirely to this sentence," "They sent a Bishop there to settle the matter," the Advocate witnessing." It does not charge the Advocate of declaring that Bishop Shorter said anything—two worthless points of the Advocate's defence. "They, in that passage, stand for the African Methodist Episcopal Church." But the African Methodist Episcopal Church did not send a Bishop there to settle the matter. Whether the Advocate meant respect or "disrespect" the statement is false. Bishop Shorter was there, but was not "so angry that he refused to see the minister." He was not angry. He did not refuse to see the minister. "We are the readers the opportunity to see just how angry he was, in stating that he would not see the minister." Just how angry the Christian Advocate of "tradite," and says that we were imposed upon by a people excited by victory over their brethren, and like the Pharisees, "will not notice that the CHRISTIAN RECORDER does not deny the statement that Bishop Shorter refused to see the minister, or any other statement we made. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER either deny that statement or we continue it wrote an editorial without any reason? If it denies it, we will not trouble it with it unless it be practically admits it, for it says: "Why the Bishop would not see the minister we do not know; but do know that it requires more than the ability of the Christian Recorder to prove the existence of anger." Wishing to avoid any unkindness of the minister we cause to us, it says: "We happen to know that Bishop Shorter, the minister referred to. The Christian Recorder might have noted a fact quite as interesting as those by means of which it seems to take pleasure in spreading unreasonable misrepresentations concerning "a Bishop;" that is the fact that this new church is modestly named 'Wesley Winston Chapel.'" We did not know that fact, and now announce it but what of it? Did Mr. Taylor name it? If so, it was modest to take his middle name rather than his surname; if he named it it might not be so modest, but it is not a serious charge. The fact is that we did not get the information from the editor or members of the church, but much of it from persons who were opposed to the action of the Rev. Mr. Corbin, being unable to say anything in commendation, were well to say nothing.—New York Christian Advocate of June 24, 1886.

A NOBLE MAN.

While Rev. A. Grant was here in May, he was called home to Austin, Texas, to baptize Mr. Thomas Hill, who had been visiting some time. The Elder arrived in time and took him in the church, as he had professed.

Mr. Hill was the wealthiest colored man in Travis County, Texas, being worth over $50 000. In life will be left one fifth of his wealth to the Metropolitan A. M. E. Church in Austin, one-fifth to Paul Quinn College, in Waco, Texas, one-fifth to Hearne College, in Hearne, Texas, one-fifth to Wesley Chapel M. E. Church in Austin, Texas, and one-fifth to the Third Baptist Church in the same city. He appointed Elder Grant his administrator. Could we find a few more such men in our Church we would be much better off. The trustees of Paul Quinn College must feel good over this.

THE "CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE" OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE IT BACK.

The CHRISTIAN RECORDER, of Philadelphia, organ of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, takes umbrage at our letter concerning the new Methodist Episcopal Church at Aiken, S. C. It confines its criticisms entirely to the following sentence: "They sent a Bishop there to settle the matter," it says: "It is remarkable that the editor of the Christian Advocate would be imposed upon by such unreasonable gossip as attributed to Bishop Shorter." As we said nothing about anybody but Bishop Shorter said, this would seem to be singular. What is objected to is the phrase: "They sent a Bishop there to settle the matter." "They" in this passage stands for the African Methodist Episcopal Church. We mean no disrespect. Our Bishops in their each other around according to a plan made by the General Conference. If the anger we charged against the Bishop, the CHRISTIAN RECORDER calls it "unconscionable rage." We gave the reader the opportunity to see just how angry he was in stating that he would not see the minister. It then quotes the Christian Advocate of "tradite," and says that we were imposed upon by a people excited by victory over their brethren, and like the Pharisees, "will not notice that the CHRISTIAN RECORDER does not deny the statement that Bishop Shorter refused to see the minister, or any other statement we made. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER either deny that statement or we continue it wrote an editorial without any reason? We did not know that fact, and now announce it but what of it? Did Mr. Taylor name it? If so, it was modest to take his middle name rather than his surname; if he named it it might not be so modest, but it is not a serious charge. The fact is that we did not get the information from the editor or members of the church, but much of it from persons who were opposed to the action of the Rev. Mr. Corbin, being unable to say anything in commendation, were well to say nothing.—New York Christian Advocate of June 24, 1886.

THE FITTSBURG CONFERENCE.

Last week we gave our readers a hint of the excellency of this little conference, only eighteen years old, yet probably among the best of our conferences in financial results. It may be remembered orally, when it was said that it contained not one first-class appointment. What has built up other conferences most rapidly and most substantially has served so much in this one; one set of men have remained within it, shaping its course after a plan, ever performing every year's work according to a well arranged basis for hope.

Conference who set out with three to five ready made leaders who will stick are sure of success. The Kentucky Conference and the Pittsburg are about of equal age. Both are good, but owing to the permanency of the ministry of the latter, it is somewhat in the lead. But few of the men who were in the lead of the Kentucky Conference in 1868 are in that State at all, or, if there, are active, while in the Pittsburg Conference there are several who took the position of leaders in the first few years of its history. It is not quite clear that this conference reports near so large a number of conversions as the Kentucky Conference. The Secretary of the Pittsburg Conference is Rev. C. Asbury, D.D.; for eighteen years one of its members. Revs. W. H. Brown and W. S. Lowry have been members about the same length of time. So with reference to W. G. Ralph and S. T. Jones. Then among the o es who have been born from ten to fifteen years may be named Revs. J. M. Morris, three Palmers, A. B., J. M. and W. H., the latter two of whom are brothers and J. M. Peebles, candidate for congressional honors, and B. Wheeler. Latecomers in Revs. J. W. Riley, T. W. Cyrus, R. Tanner, R. H. Morris and John E. Russell. $1,600 is not a small sum of Dollar Money to be reported by a conference of only forty members.

In the Ohio and Pittsburg Conferences Bishop Campbell has made special inquiry concerning camp-meeting holding this fall. While his course, in using the appointing power to shut those who persistently violate God's Sabbath to make money seems, compared with former custom, somewhat severe, i. e., secure less congregations of the people, we will bring the answer, i. e., secure less compromise of the Sabbath for the love of money. The Bishop appoints a committee on camp-meetings, without whose consent, if not co-operation, the conference has declared none of its members shall hold such meetings. Now, if it should transpire that the committee would be no more respectful towards the Sabbath sanctity than some of its members may have been respectful towards the Sabbath sanctity, the end may not be gained.

All the five conferences we have attended have given a donation to the Charleston sufferers. Our Church is reporting itself quite well respecting this matter. We would be glad to see the full statistics of our help rendered in this case.

The people of Meadville seemed to vie with those of other cities where we have attended conferences. Nearly all the Protestant churches were opened to our ministers. Meadville is a beautiful city laid off in rectangular blocks. It is the seat of the Meadville College, Christian and Allegheny College, Methodist. In the former Revs. W. F. Ross, President of the Jacksonville Theological School, and W. H. Brown, pastor at Bridgewater, took the theological course. In the Methodist school there are two or three colored gentlemen and ladies studying.

One of the most extensive business colored men in the State is located in Meadville. S. L. Gardner is probably as widely known in business circles as any man classified "colored." His business qualifications place him in association with those most active in the various branches of mercantile life, and his methods secure to him the confidence and patronage that are championship of color prejudice. The Rev. Mr. Neal conducting a large grocery and supply store, is now about to organize a large produce corporation to manufacture butter, etc., for shipping. It is highly encouraging to some across colored men of large business capacity.

We noticed that the Pittsburg Conference has its eyes upon the one or two appointments which have played between it and the North Ohio Conference several years—Salem and Warren—now owned by the latter conference, and that a certain appointment where a church has been erected by the Philadelphia Conference on Pitsburg territory. This we got by eavesdropping and proclaim it upon the housetops. The dear brethren of the three conferences may continue their earnest work, striving for masteries.

Literature.

"The Bloc Fields of Carolina" is the title of an illustrated article by Prof. N. Siarnes, which is to appear in the Atlantic Monthly for November. The methods prevailing on the rice plantations are described at length and all the various processes in rice culture are carefully illustrated. The subject is one of national interest and the article is the best of the series on Southern industries appearing in the Review.

Gen. Adam Badeau is to write a series of "War Stories for Boys and Girls" during the coming year for St. Nicholas. They will be personal reminiscences of single contests or short campaigns, and will be illustrated. Each one will be complete in itself, and the series will bring the author down to the surrender of Lee's army and the battle-field from the beginning to the end of the struggle, but with the advantage of having grown in movement and charge, every attack and counter-attack, carefully explained to him.

A feature of the coming year of the Century will be a series of papers on "Great Singers," written by Henry Edward Krehbiel, assistant musical critic of the New York Tribune. For years past he has been engaged in special investigations in this field. The object of the articles is to present, in reader ease, a series of realistic research which have a direct bearing upon our daily life, such as the substances of which our bodies are made, the foods that nourish them are composed; the assimilation of the various combinations of nutrients appropriate to different conditions of health; food as a factor in labor question; food and morals, etc., etc.

The October A. M. E. Quarterly Review, in its 105 pages, is thoroughly to do with thought. Written in a very strong character, to the number of thirteen, by Bishop Payne, LL. D., Holly, LL.D., Bishop of Hayti, and kindling with Rev. A. B. Watson, LL. B., of Georgia, keep the reader in a lively journey from the consideration of one of America's great literary luminaries, the late Col. Martin R. Delany, to the "Future of College Education," by Dr. Scarborough, of Wilberforce. "Thoughts and Recollections of a Life" by Rev. Frederick Douglass; "Inconsistent with Industry is Great Gain" by Rev. J. C. Embry, and so on: "The Dolcets of our Ministry," by Rev. F. J. Grimke. Then the address of the New York Freeman. T. Thomas Fortune, gives us a moment in the realm of poetry in his "Barter Song." "Shall our Schools be Mixed?" is thoughtfully and logically treated by Prof. F. L. Cardozo. "Should Colored Men Join Labor Organizations?" by Hon. John S. Lynch, and "The Device of Literature," by Prof. H. T. Keating, A. B., are well considered, and Lynch seems somewhat conservative in his affirmative reply, while he does not. Dr. W. J. Simmons, of the State University, in the editorial, well arranged, and Rev. Mr. Morris, well arranged paper, replies to Rev. Mr. Douglass on the subject of baptism. This paper will be of much interest to the readers of theological students. "Ghalib," by Rev. Dr. Steward, is a fine piece of literature, and "Ghalib" is a brother at Baltimore, who came down to see him while the bullets were in full blast at stairs, and who appeared to be terribly excited at the nonessential position of Bishop Brown, what the Bishop had said and what he should have said, and he replied by saying, "I don't know what to notify, but I know he is wrong, and he never carry me with him." Then to see him how he kept he (the Bishop) was going, how he knew what the Bishop was talking about. He replied by saying, "I know it." The truth is they heard some one else say so, and that was all he knew about it. But it is noteworthy that in attempting to describe in detail the scenes associated with this conference he knows its history as well, well, I will not say, at this time, yet our children will point back to the General Conference of 1884, and wonder at the states of our intelligence, while men of thought and wide reading now living will be lost in their astonishment, in the absence of an illustrated and unbiased account called a General Conference which legislation in part vied, if not excelled, any political convention ever held in this nation—led on, too, largely by men who never saw a General Conference before since they were birthed much less being a member of one. Now, we do not say as far as I will permit, with this question at the present; hope to refer to it no more, yet, if more is necessary, namely the unknown writer, I have much more. I never meant to intimate to any sane conference that I would young man to the next General Conference, but that the annual conference will take my advice, they will send cool, sensible men whose previous experience, powers of analysis are sufficient to tabulate, digest and examine into subject matter, and with their equilibrium in turn that grave body into a scene of calmness and wisdom, having prayed before they know what they are doing.

H. M. TURNER.

A VOICE FROM THE LAITY.

BY AN A. M. E. PREACHER.

MR. EDITOR:—Please allow me space to mention a few points concerning the Christian Church in general and African Methodism in particular. I propose to do the laity speak or write about Christianity, and I am persuaded in that it is questionable whether this part of the Church is doing its duty.

If the principles of Christianity and anything to the sum of human happiness, then the individual, society and the world wiser and better—very one wiser object each member of each branch should advocate its principles and disconsciousness everything that is in opposition to it. Christianity is a principle, a system of government which every point is to study to know what are the principles and doctrines of the Christian religion. The next point is, knowing them, to put them in practice daily, hourly, momently. Probably not one many church members who have no other object than merely to be seen; while a few have for their grandest object to do good, but in the majority of cases unfit to the wisdom and benevolence of the great Dispenser of all things. The question is, why do we fail? The answer is, in their minds, can live most any way they please, and by a week spot or two make a big about on the seventh, or put on a long face, and receive praying privilege. The latter are those who are, in truth, "the salt of the earth." There are a few who understand it, but are not reached with reference to the forms of the Church, and especially the laity must not fully embraced the power of Christianity; they have erroneous conceptions of its nature, or, I should say, of its hypocrites. If the first conception of Christianity is not done away with, they deserve counsel and sympathy, if the second, the ministry must be up and doing, for the blood of souls will be required at the watchmen's hands. The earthquakes seem to have seriously shaken the foundations of the Church, and the results of the continual shocks that are yet to be having have been fatal to many. Pray for us.

N. B. STEWART.

P. S.—Since writing the above my sister has died.

AN APPEAL.

MR. EDITOR:—We have appealed to the church in Wilmington, N. C., to have had the church examined and find that it will cost $1,800 to put in repair. Now, with our ordinary circumstances, that would be looking for Heaven's help to raise; but in the present condition of things we are compelled to appeal to our brethren to help us. This church is one of our best loyal to the connection, and never will there come a better time than now for the connection to help us. The late earthquake has left most of the people homeless, and in their wisdom they are still attending to making their property habitable. We, on the other hand, a great number of those who rent are still camping out. We therefore appeal to the friends of African Methodism to come to their help as per our church so that we may also worship God from our own house. We are willing but unable.

THE VALUE OF PROMPT ACTION.

"I shall move immediately upon your works," was the strong language of General Grant at one time in his historical career. Such should be the declaration of every one who feels himself or herself assailed by some inciting foe to health, and especially strong should be the resolve, if not if the enemy has already intrenched himself in some vital part of the system. Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Bronchial and Stomach troubles become dangerous only when neglected. They can all be cured by Compound Oxygen if applied with judgment. Drs. STARKEY & PALEN stood a Home Treatment on this principle, which has been of aid in his own home. Send to them at 1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., for a pamphlet on Compound Oxygen. It costs nothing to obtain it.

THE SERVANT "TIPPING" NUISANCE.—Mr Rasway, says the New York Observer, was recently much approached by a friend in high station for not coming oftener to dine with him. "Indeed, my lord, I cannot afford it" he said, and explained that he had to give his money more usefully than to well-paid and well-fed servants. On another occasion he visited a Scottish Tennante, who, as usual, appeared as he was leaving the house where he had dined. "Sir, your great coat," said one, upon which he paid a shilling. "Your hat," said a second, and another shilling. "Your umbrella"—a shilling. "Your gloves, sir," "Your boots, sir," and half a crown. "you may keep the gloves they are not worth a shilling!" The Duke of Newcastle told this story to George IV, who laughed heartily; but on reading Mr. Rarway's pamphlet, which the duke had left with him, he took the matter more seriously. He sent for her head cook and two or three of the chief servants of his household, and told them that as the wages they had paid for their service, he would not be subject to being taxed without his knowledge by others. "I will not," said his Majesty, "allow a single vail to be taken in my household, and the first who is guilty of the offence shall be dismissed." The royal order was issued at great expense, but his Majesty's firmness was well known, and the example was followed by many noblemen and gentleman. So fierce was the resentment of the whole fraternity of servants, that on the next public appearance of the King at Drury Lane a howl of dulgust was distinctly sounded from the pinandthe galleries, while were packed with servants, determinded that to express their anger at losing a large part of their perquisites by the King's edict.

A Word to the Wise.

Every winter and spring Inflammation of the Lungs, induced by neglected Colds and Coughs, causes the death of thousands who might have been saved by the timely use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. We was difficult, with a severe Cough, which deprived me of my regular sleep. After trying various remedies, without benefit, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and used it according to directions. "GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation, this time of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book entitled Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. There is, of course, a book given to it, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, believes also for orderly development, but its keeper is so moderate and so free for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist as to make important and that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a type student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or unsticking that may be read with profit, by all who have a taste for reading of the systematic conflict between religion and science, while the scholarly reader will find in it an admirable answer to those who have sought to assail the Christian authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. There is, of course a book given to it, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, believes also for orderly development, but its keeper is so moderate and so free for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist as to make important and that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

PHILADELPHIA, SEP. 4, 1886

WE ACCEPT Brother Harper's correction, but had published the facts considered as given to us in Louisville the morning after the conference adjourned.

IT is our intention to publish in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER during the winter the pictures and short life sketches of some prominent educators, ministers and other highly useful men, especially the old pioneers and present leaders of African Methodism.

THE PRESIDENT has designated Thursday, November 25th, as a day for national thanksgiving. His proclamation is deep in its recognition of the superruling providence of God, and the consequent duty of our rendering him praise for his care and guidance.

ELECTIONS have taken place in several of our States since our last issue, but we go to press too early to learn anything of the results. We trust all will be well. Of course Prohibition is hardly expect to win in many cases. They are willing to wait for results of their work in the future.

WHAT SAD silence we make of our strength when we set it against the right. Two stronger the man, the sadder the silence. Only a strong man can put great things into proper relations and orderly action, but a babe can disturb the order of the universe. It is an indication of strength to arrest great popular and Christian movements.

BROTHERS would secure a much surer publication of their contributions if prepared with greater care. Many of our best writers do not think of sending in contributions, and when they do write carefully, and often written them three or four times. If those not well informed would submit their productions to more scholarly persons before sending them in, they would do themselves credit.

THE seven deemed anarchists' appointed time is December 10th Some of our exchanges think the time too long Of course much depends on which cuts the rope men have, in measuring time for such an awful event. God gives men their chance many years to repent and regain their proper relation with him; a few weeks will be very short to these seven men to whom the appointed time is fixed.

THE New York Tribune recently exposed some of the schemes of Mississippi Democrats to overcome Republican majorities in the Third Congressional District of that State a large majority of the voices are Republican; that is, they are colored men and supposed by their democratic neighbors, at least, to be republicans. The democratic committee chairman has issued a circular to the voters, saying to effect that the colored voter has no voting right that white voters are bound to respect.

THE "NEW JERSEY NOTES" had to lie aside last week. It will occur occasionally. We have adopted this method of taking in a whole conference, thereby allowing one of their members correspondent, in other conferences. We believe it would be well for all our conferences to adopt this method. It is certain that, if brethren will persist in sending us long articles as many do, they may expect to read them considerably abridged, or not at all. The conference correspondent need not interfere with other contributors in that conference.

THE FUNERAL of MRS. A. T. STEWART was hardly over when the annoying history of contest arose. One of the basty means of disposing of the shamefully preserved wealth of our modern financial magnates after they go hence, is to distribute it among lawyers, jurors, witnesses and, possibly, judges. Exceedingly wealthy men would be wise to investigate their relationship most carefully and to remember them in their will. The Vanderbilts, the Tildens and the Stewarts are examples of the unconsciantiae of a testator's wealth being confined to the channels in which he designs it to move. The contestant in the Stewart case in an Irishman claiming to be Mr. Stewart's second cousin.

CHURCH MEMBERS among Methodists are under particular obligations to the connection, as well as to the societies of which they are members. When re-sired they are obligated to certain duties and from doing certain things. These obligations are, as a rule, unmodified and independent of contingencies. Reasoning the devil is not contingent upon exemption from temptation, nor is steading on established means of grace, mojo feeling, fancy or fashion. Supporting the Church is contingent upon the prosperity given of God and not upon loving the ministers. Loving the ministers and all who are of the household of faith are not dependent upon their agreeableness.

THE work of rebuilding and of building churches where there are old congregations is usually beset with many difficulties not present in the erection of buildings for worship where these has been none. In the former place there are many who know, or think they know, more about the wants of society than do their pastor and his working majority. Against their protest, however, the majority, possibly a small majority, can go ahead, involving their all in a large debt. This done, the wise and protesting must withdraw their protest and become assistants to their working majorities, to secure the best results. There is time for protest, but there is also a time when the protest should not be held up to the annoyance of the active. It is but childish to stand off and say "I told you so." The fact is a man is protesting against himself in such case.

THE Missionary Record comes to us smiling the goodly feelings and hopes of the A. M. E. Church from the missionary side of its face. The Record is published under the auspices of the Missionary Board, by Rev. J. M. Townsend, D.D (Secretary of Home and Foreign Missions in the A. M. E. Church.

This a movement in the right direction. We wish and expect nothing but success for the Missionary Record. In his secretary, the editor offers the following as his apology for the issuance of the Record: 1. The lack of missionary intelligence among us, and 2. The The formulating of missionary facts for instruction and history. The Missionary Record is an eight page paper, containing, besides a large amount of good literature relative to missions and kindred topics, calculated statements showing the amount of money each conference is to raise for the African missions, liberal advertisements of the connectional Publication and Sunday school departments. We are highly delighted with the make up of the paper, its motto and its spirit. Motto, "The world our field," "Go ye into all the world," "Upon this rock I build."

IT WAS our good pleasure to join with the Trenton, N. J., African Methodist Church in celebrating their sixty-seventh anniversary Sunday, 31st ult. Elder A. H. Newton, who had been pastor at Trenton two or three years, ending 1885, preached in the morning; Bishop J. F. Campbell, D.D., who was their pastor twenty-four years, preached in the afternoon, and the editor of this paper at night. The congregations at the three services were good, the collections amounted to $442.00. Brother Newton made the instance an opportunity to raise a collection for discharging some small debts that had grown upon the church.

There were many old veteran members of that society, Yardly and Langhorne pioneers, who have been thoroughly loyal to African Methodism. One of the fathers of Africee Methodism, Mr. Thomas Coowdes, of Longhorne, was present. Brother Gowdes helped to raise money to defray the expenses of the Baltimore General conference in 1812, he folks in our early history. He also assisted in collecting the money with which the first A. M. E. Discipline was published. Now over 70 years of age, he remains thoroughly African Methodist. The Rev. Biddle, son of the A. M. E. Zion Church, Trenton, was present at the afternoon session and contributed to the collection. The Zion Church is prospering in that city. Brother Biddle and Brother Newton seem to work together with God for good. The residence of the pastor of Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church is hard by St. Paul's A. M. E. Zion Church. There is union in a house and the spirit of brother Biddle in Brother Yeocum's congregation was union in a higher sense.

IN THE PAST the colored man has been counted in the Republican lists without question, but he has reached a point of uncertainty now. A black face is not nearly so sure a guarantee of a republican vote as ten years ago. House the colored brother is looked after by republicans a little more carefully than in the past eight years. Republicans are interested in the class counted against them so heavily, though not voting, in the South, but they are also interested in the fact that the number of colored men voting with the prohibitionists, and even the democrats, is increasing daily. If republicans are wise and if colored voters are wise, republican party may yet save the colored vote to itself. But colored men will no longer be content to simply vote. They will not stop to discuss the question of comparative ebility, but will act upon the belief that mere blackness is not a disqualification to the holding of honorable positions. The sooner our Northern republicans give free place to this fact the better for the party. Colored men are weary with having Langston and Douglass, Bruce and Lynch only granted the grace of being worthy to fill insignificant places of honor, and of having the lavish cast at them that these have so equals as to possibilities in our race. They are tired of having their representatives confined to five or six men and women. The colored men in politics can hardly be other than republican but he cannot afford to be republican under all circumstances; nor will he be driven along in the herd, regardless of the practical recognition given him.

It is too clearly plain that the democrats, especially of the South, are unprepared to enter into close political alliance with colored voters. But they will come to it. The combination of some of the elements in the working men's movements and those of the prohibitionists is going to work wonderful changes in that feature of the great parties that tells how its pulse beats relative to the colored people. The great parties might as well yield to the sure logic of providence. God rules, and the black man is here, and here to do such a work as will bring his full recognition. The moral questions of temperance and labor are here, too. No party will have lasting success that disregards between representatives of the greatest questions. The Republican party can well afford to be the champion of liberty on all those points; while neither party can afford to treat these topics shabbily.

"LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD."

The unveiling and dedicating of the statue of Liberty Enlightening the World, on last Thursday, was made the occasion of much practical communion between representatives of the greatest two republics, America and France. The presence and participation in ceremonies of historic men of both countries, such as Messrs. DeLesseps and Bartholdi, Pegeot, Cullen and Evarts; the presence of the President of the United States and his cabinet; the President's formal reception of the statue; the vast concourse of people from hundreds of American cities and from foreign lands; the reception dinner given at Delmonico's by the Chamber of Commerce to their excellent guests; the learned and patriotic speeches by representatives of both republics rendering this one of the most prominent of America's gala days.

To think of those great men, of these great countries, of those great speeches, of that great associate wealth, of that vast hearing, of that colossal representation of humanity and of peoples of art; to contemplate the probabilities accepted in all those is to study one of the great object lessons in modern civilization and to read in one line the history of ages. To behold all those things united in the inspiration of booming cannon, comming'ed national banners, imposing parades and cultured voluptuousness must be to have crowded upon one in a single moment the thoughts of a lifetime.

To us, who are struggling to build a steadieg foundation for right life and growth, hardly thinking of looking to such heights as the conception of monuments building, all this display has somewhat the effect of the gilded mental phenomena of a joyous dream, and passes away with too much of its regretfulness. But when we read the history of these Bartholdi statute's as it appears on the long page of their history, observing whence they come, out of what degradation and obscurity, out of what ignorance and vice, out of what barbarism and superstition they have been upheld by their lungs influence always given from above to the struggling energies of God's sons in their attempts to regain their devine nacelleuce, we are encouraged to purer thoughts and nobler deeds. We have not only a monumental strength and proportions yet It is to be remarked that the more enlightened Americans have risen to a proper appreciation of this splendid gift of France, the Bartholdi statute is only being begged, ridiculed and driven by the very presence of France's gift on our shores. The more refined and methodically cultivated Frenchmen was far enough above the practical, busy American on this subject to conceive the towering stems, execute his grand designs, ship the work to America at his own expense and then beg Americans to erect it on their own land, a fit monument the glory of Republican principles, the memorial of a hoodred years of unbroken international friendship and an everlasting expression of lofty act and pure principles.

Edward Springs, the sculptor, has contributed an original chapter on faces and fonts. Prof. Gullen had, the eminent teacher of languages, contributes a chapter on the best methods of cultivating the memory for words. One of the most instructive papers in the work is an address by Dr. Brumbend, of the Ohio University, of the training of his own memory, which was in boyhood very poor, but was made very vigorous. We commend this work especially to students of metaphysics but generally to all classes of readers. It is an excellent work. The plan is a bands of boys and girls of from ten years upwards.

From the same publishers we have "Behind Time," a sweet, charming and instructive little story book for children by George Parsons Lathrop, a writer who knows how to please and instruct at the same time. "Lucy Maynard's Journey," by Mrs. Mary Ella Mossell, is another excellent volume for young people, and the latest volume from the same publishers is "The King's Command," a story for girls by Maggie Symington. This work has nearly 400 pages is in equally as pretty binding as the one above and of equally as fine moral tone.

"The Divinity of Our Lord" is a succinct, clear argument on the much discussed topic, prepared by William Al exander, D D. The D.D.'s, Lord Bishop of Derry and Hepbon Theologian inquirers and others can scarcely find a more concise and interesting review of the arguament with more purity of style than in "Knappville" and very much in one missionary school house, just in the rear of the A. M. E. Church. Here I remained eighteen months, while the carpenters and masons were at work in the building of the church. Although there were many discouragements in the way, encouragements were forcoming us, we toiled on, trusting in God, whose work it was. The tribes of the land were coming to the house of worship. The white Mrs. Maria Cook, Mrs. Margaret Green, collected money, perhaps, as they knew expected, it was simply marvelous. The former, if my memory is correct, raised over $500 during Thanksgiving week. The latter, as I remembered that we announced six teen months ago the death of his wife, the news of which was conveyed to him during the session of the Baltimore Conference of '85, and, by mistake, was published in cloth binding and as pure as the light. It is as instructive as it is fascinating as a book for children it is excelled by few in respect to moral tone and elevated character. Secure it for your home. The author already favors in "Nannah;" "The Dragon and the Cub, Keith;" "The Jog On Notes and other works, maintains the quality well in this. New York. A NEW CHURCH DEDICATED.

BY REV. WM. H. TROCUM, D.D.

MR. EDITOR:—In the midst of the changes of the light and sectionest, and while the busy world is moving on in the grand march of improvement, the Church of the living God is unfolding and developing everywhere. The kingdom of Christ is gaining territory in the hearts of men.

Sunday, October 24th, the new Methodists A. M. E. Church, in Camden, N. J., was dedicated with imposing services. It was the universal assertion that it was the grandest occasion in the history of the connection. Forty years ago a few fathers and mothers of African Methodism concluded to build a church, and the work until but third building has been completed. Many of the beams used to form the glory of the latter house is greater than the former. The members and congregation have been worshiping in the basement for the past year, and the work has been pushed before it was built. They were losing by the separation of the congregation from other societies were taking their start from old Macedonia till eight other churches have been built, all of which, with the exception of one or two Macedonia A. M. E. Churches, are self-supporting, and a half below the grade of the street and can be seen a small flat roof house with a small steeple on the east end. This was the A. M. E. Church with a small membership, but some of the most ardent ministers had pastored here.

After I had labored for seven years in the city of Providence, R. I., in August, 52, the venerable Bishop John M. Brown was kind enough to appoint me to the work. We resolved by assisting Providence to build a church. We felt that God has blessed us in the past seven years, and again reconfirmed the truth to our hearts that we are his messenger, or we would have not been successful in our meetings we were most agreeably surprised to find a neat church edifice, and by young members of my church, led by Miss Lizzie Bosley, Miss Mary Phillips and others. The presents were very valuable and made lasting impressions on the minds of the people. The conference reports—we are looking with pride to the time when we shall be able to report from November 1, 1886, to January 1, 1887, that we have paid off $2,000 (82 00). WE SUSPECT that statistics of Pearl Quinn, Allen, Morris Brown and Wilberforces labor for Chambers's Encyclopedia. Which first is the question.

THE Pittsburg Conference minutes manuscript has not reached this office yet. We expect it. The secretary is a member of our Board of Publication. The conference voted to send it. These are our reasons for expecting.

A LETTER from Rev. A. J. Chambers states that the very venerable Bishop Payne was taken ill at Wilmington, N. C., Sunday, 31st ult., but a later letter announces his recovery to the extent of being able to continue his journey to Charleston, S. C.

ONE GREAT point to be watched by the Knights of Labor, is to keep a distinct line of demarcation drawn between knighthood and anarchy; another is in keep a strong line drawn between knighthood, and a popularity gained by bowing to the wishes of the false aristocracy of the South. Thus far the organization has had commendable success in both respects.

THE New York Tribune censures President Cleveland as a citizen for shirking his responsibility to vote. Wonder if it would not have ridiculed him had he gone to Buffalo to vote, as aiding Governor Hill in defeating his renomination to the presidency of the United States. It is difficult to please the ways of our great political organs.

MRS. ELIZABETH RAWLES, the missionary lady of Bethel Church, Philadelphia, should be encouraged. Last week by her arrangements nearly 150 children were collected at her mission rooms in the city to par ake of a joyful repast. After all had been made happy and returned to their homes, and having been well fed, will entertained with addresses, there was quite a nice little purse left from the gatherings for the benefit of the Christian Recorder and it was well as with it. The paper for fourteen months at $2.00 is cheap enough. The beautiful premium offered by Dr. Embry is an effective reward to minister or layman to spend a sufficient time to secure ten subscribers in his city or community. Chambers' Encyclopedia once sold for $75 a set; he offers it to you for securing ten subscribers to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER for one year, and $11 00 in cash. Of course you have weighed the fact that a religious paper is as necessary in the family as is a seamster paper, and that the two may advertise different and distinct objects. We believe there is no religious paper published for the same money that is more beneficial to the American colored people than the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We are sure that there is no other religious paper worth so much to an African Methodist. Will not our brethren impress their membership with the idea that they need the RECORDER in their homes and will they not slither art themselves or set some one else to acting to make up a club?

MAY BROTHER MILLS live long to enjoy his dream of an African Methodist Bishop for the West Indies. In order to realize the dream he must live a century What ground have the West Indies for such a claim on the A. M. E. Church? Wherein is the ecclesiastical necessity for the act? No especial Bishop in the A. M. E. Church. Our brother may inspire some friend to go to the West Indies and become their Richard Allen, but not to get there by the "short cut" of an African Methodist episcopal, ordination, authority and connectional support. We are not going to elect a West India Bishop, an African Bishop nor a missionary Bishop. It is the divine providence we elect Bishops, and Morris Brown choir at eight. Tim day should bring to the church at least a thousand dollars.

THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER has completed the five hundredth number of the present series. This covers nearly ten years of constant visitation to the homes and hearts of the people of the race. Its standing has never been better than to-day; but we desire to enhance its value. In order to do this we want it to enter 1887 with 20,000 subscribers. This done, we will give the Church and fathers a paper worth quite twice what it is now. The connection is just entering upon its seventy-first year. Why can we not signalize this entrance upon the last half of its fourth score years by giving the RECORDER a quarter of a hundred subscribers?

The Iowa Conference has 2,428 members and $760.72 Dollar Money; a fraction over 31¢ cents per member. The New England Conference has 1,389 members and $500.50 Dollar Money, a fraction over 30 cents per member. The Philadelphia Conference reports 6,154 members and $3,117.80 Dollar Money; nearly 50¢. The Kentucky Conference has 4,685 members and $604 70 Dollar Money, nearly 15 per cents. The Missouri Conference has 3,209 members and $1,052.43 Dollar Money, nearly 33 per cent. Total membership of the five conferences, 17,665. Total amount of Dollar Money, $5,102.50. Average per cent. over 34¢. The probability is that the Philadelphia Conference leads the connection in percentage.

IT MUST be encouraging to those in sympathy with the laboring classes that the close election of Speaker Carlisle, in which he seats very near losing his head; the defeat of Mr. Morrison in Illinois and Mr. Roosevelt in New York, are all attributed to them, more or less directly; as well as that they have several connected representatives in the legislative assemblies of both State governments and the Federal. It is so indicative that there must be reformative in the exercise of the associate powers of wealth and labor. How very careful one should be in effecting revolutions, all who have read history know. How the reform movement is proving very costly, but if the cost be confined to financial treasures only, it is well; so only true reform is reached.

READ Brother Watson on sleeping Not only should we see to it that ministers and members know how to sleep, but that they know what to sing. Some ministers absolutely necessary that which cannot, must not be entirely discarded the singing of compositions that are meaningless, since slavery was abolished, though they were full of meaning before. The so-called jubilee songs, distorted by skilled musicians far out of their original form, contain a meaning before. The so-called jubilee songs, distorted by skilled musicians far out of their original form, contain a very few hymns bearing upon common sense and religious truths, though some of them are of this class. After twenty-five years from the darkness of slavery, a new generation begins to sing. Instead of the few old songs that objects to life in its entirety this generation requires a different class of songs from those of the fathers. Our best, most sacred, richest, most lasting and lovely old slave songs are sold out on the stage for money. Those songs are meaningless, we must bring out from their ill use stations and restore them to their proper place in worship. Down with jubilee songs in the shop sense and up with the poetry of worshipers.

THE MANAGER'S proposition to reward agents and favor new subscribers should rule, a warm response. The RECORDER is the property of our Church and without the CHRISTIAN RECORDER agency it cannot do without as with it. The paper for fourteen months at $2.00 is cheap enough. The beautiful premium offered by Dr. Embry is an effective reward to minister or layman to spend a sufficient time to secure ten subscribers in his city or community. Chambers' Encyclopedia once sold for $75 a set; he offers it to you for securing ten subscribers to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER for one year, and $11 00 in cash. THE Rev. L. J. COPPIN and the progressive trustees are fast bringing the remodeling of Allen Chapel, Philadelphia, to completion. On Sunday, 21st inst., they will re-open. All the ex-pastors will officiate, in the following order:—At 10 30 A. M., Rev. T. G. Mid; 2 P. M., address to the young people by the Dr. J. S. Thompson; 3 P. M., sermon, Rev. C. T. Shaffer; 7.45 P. odist Bishops, to go wherever African Methodism requires, as their fathers have done. The Church has not made a respectable record in the West Indies, but that is not for want of a West Indian Bishop. The work in Hayti and San Domingo has been regularly continued. The work on the British Islands has been hardly respectably managed since it came into our hands. It is unfortunate that we have not been able to continue the dealing with these fields. The delays of conference sessions and the obsolete, entire lapse of one conference have given us no prestige in that work, but to properly assert ourselves and properly set our episcopal functions into operation there, we require simply going at it just as we do our other work, our Bishops overseeing that as they do our general Church: no West Indian Bishop.

THE APPEAL of Brother Heard and Brother Nichols for aid in repairing the damage done their churches should not be allowed to pass our sherches unheeded. It is strange that we have not already forwarded to them money in sufficient quantities to meet all their immediate sherch demands. God has allowed us to enjoy the full rights and the full responsibilities of freemen quite long enough to enable us to discriminate between the worthless and the worthy. He has given us our self-directive reason quite long enough to enable us to feel for one another and aid one another. He has given us enough of the pleasures of self-possession to enable us to appreciate our own powers.

That is a calamity, a dire calamity, that has overtaken our brethren in Charleston. They are in a sense deposed as upon the aid that flows from sympathy, but they should be made glad by the aid of those who understand what that means: I will have mercy and not sacrifice;" especially to them who are of the household of faith. Now, brethren, a little organized action, beginning with Bishops, moving on through presiding elders, pastors, local preachers, exhorters and other members, being discussed in annual, district, quarterly and official conferences would give the Charleston sherches several thousand dollars in a few days. If we do not do this we shall suffer the consequence, both in this world and that which is to come. The Bishops have added their appeal to that of the pastors. Don't let us say anything more about the 400,000 members till we give $4,000 from a connectional standpoint.

"MILLENNIAL DAWN."

In these times, when skepticism and liberalism are making desperate efforts to gain respectable recognition, it is encouraging to come across such books as the "Millennial Dawn," by the author of "Why Evil Was Permitted" and "The Tabernacle and Its Teachings," published at 40 Federal street, Allegheny, Pa., by the Tomer Publishing Company. The book contains 351 pages, is well printed, bound, good paper and clear type. From the table of contents we should infer that the work is a clear and logical consideration of the cardinal points of biblical truth. Bible students and ministers will find in such a work a valuable instructor. The low price ($1.00) places it within reach of almost the poorest. The author's work on "The Tabernacle and Its Teachings" has already familiarized theological readers with his style and his competency. Observing that his circular proposes one copy free to ministers, Sunday school superintendents and Y M C A secretaries, we trust our ministers and superintendents will avail themselves of his liberality.

WHIPPED INTO LINE.

Dickinson College, at Carlisle, Pa., was founded in 1783, one hundred years ago. Since 1833 it has been under the control of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Before the late war its patronage was largely from the South; since the war it has received its boys from the Northern States chiefly. At present the janitor is colored. His son having graduated in the Carlisle High School, he undertook to have him matriculate in Dickinson this fall. The authorities of the college barricaded the inshes back of the few Southern students to and, "while they, themselves, did not mind it," they felt sure their Southern patrons would be offended. The subject created considerable excitement. Public opinion generously supported the "sheep that was lost," the black boy, not minding the stiver, and-done that had hoodreds of college folds open to them and not one shut against them. Finally the executive board—high it now something about their power—acted and the Faculty took in the black sheep. Even this is progress, for which we thank God. Now, may the young gentleman prove worthy and the college proper as never before. It may be pleasant to our readers to know that when the question arose among the Southern barbecues had disappeared; not a student left.

As good, as useful and as pretty as any is "A World of Girls," by L. T. Meade. Rarely have we had more pleasure of examining such a galaxy of fine books for children as is this one by this lady. Few things did more in the days of childhood than the class of books. Few story books or one dwelling too long on ostracizing moral characters. The evolution of this is the characteristic of all the books herein noticed. Cassell & Company, limited, New York.

From the same publishers we have "Behind Time," a sweet, charming and instructive story book for children told by George Parsons Lathrop, a writer who knows how to please and instruct all classes. This is among the best and cheapest books for children.

On glancing over the contents of the Century one instinctively pronounces it a good, wholesome, and as it is, a rich number. Every article in the Century is always excellent, consequently it is a delight to the literary reader with most interesting articles, arranged by most able writers. Who can say that the Century is best in its literary entry? Anyone may guess what he will, and then guess again. Each one has a favorite with their wants, necessities and likes. Each one has a favorite writer, but of all men to give expression to the wants of their people and should be counted on members of public interest to the people they represent.

Some of the features of our race have charged us with inactivity, and justly put upon us the blame for the most part of the charges. We have turned sentimental to the present and future prospects of the race. We have continued to merit this blame and thus have failed to secure a literary entry upon which they will place no higher estimate than manner of blighting contempt? Fail to do what? Fail to do what we owe it to our people—one and all. We owe it to ourselves, and first of all, we owe it to our God.

Ask to be more literate and liberal and essential to the successful carrying out of these principles, we refer to our plat form, constitution, as well as to our organization.

Under the adoption of the "open letter" and arrangements for its distribution to the colored people of this city and State, reference will be had to the ex ellent arrangements already perfected for the great action meeting to be held under the auspices of the Alliance in Philadelphia, on next Sabbath, October 10th, 1886

CHARLESTON LETTER.

BY REV. W. H. HEARD.

DR. LEE: Dear Brother—Since I arrived here I have been busy all over church and are now having one of the greatest revivals. We have never been in my province to hold. The meets of the people of this city are great and it can truly be said that they love to hear and for themselves or any other cause, if I may be allowed to say so, I have never witnessed. The brethren I visited while in Conference, viz.—Rev. J. H. Smith, of Newport, R I.; Rev. W. H. Gaines, of Aiken, S. C.; Rev. L. H. Smith, of Beaufort, S. C.; Rev. J. H. Lawrence; Rev. ——, of Galesville, Pa., and Rev. Mitchell, of Cheraw, S. C.; Asbury, of Washington, Pa., sent for by Dr. Salisbury Conference. These are they who have carried our church people or churches. Our people throughout the Conference are talking about Dr. Nichols or myself.

We need it.

Rev. Mr. Smith collected barrels of clothing and one of provisions, and this has been distributed by Mr. Heard to more than seventy persons. The condition of the people beggars description and there is little or not doing. Many are sick and living in damp districts. The dead are buried without decking. Too many people who are able and willing to give their mite to have the opportunity. Rev. Mr. Smith collected a box of new Boston sent clothing, also, which was distributed. This is but charity.

The annual conference meets here on the 24th inst. I am very sorry to say, Money sent would be very helpful to further on our cause here. The Bishops have been very considerate of the Charleston and Central Church schools and the Bishop Payne Theological School workers, white or colored, in this city, and, in very respect, have maintained their well-earned reputation for the profession. I may here remark that the interest in the Educational Day and our general educational work is on the increase. Conference opens with sixty four dollars and forty-seven cents having been forwarded to Bi. Arnett's academy by the District Board of education at its last meeting, that amount being the first money appropriated to the James Academy since the Educational Board was organized in Baltimore at the last General Conference. The slight struggle that has been encouragement and Louisiana will take care of does time with all her honored sisters in the South.

I herewith transmit a report copied from the Times-Democrat, of this city, relative to the work of our methodist association, organized some time ago for the purpose of advancing the interests of our people:

MEETING OF COLORED MINISTERS.

At the regular meeting of the Colored Ministerial Association of this city, held at Union Chapel, Bienville street, near Marias, yesterday, at 12 o'clock, noon, quite a prolonged discussion was had upon the utility of a more efficient and cordial co-operation among themselves upon matters of general importance affecting the interests of their race. The meeting finally culminated in the adoption of the following open letter:

"To the Christian Ministers having charge of the colored people of this city and State, greeting:

"Whereas the betterment of unity among the clergies of the different denominations of Methodism, and

"2d—The amelioration of the condition of the people religiously, socially and educationally and in every other way which tends to the development of the highest type of manhood, and

"3d—To prevent, as much as lies in their power, any imposition in every department of the public interest within the reach of their ministerial influence and to bring to bear such moral suasion upon the weak and unscrupulous among the people as may seem expedient, and advice.

"4th—We propose to summon to our assistance the services of the best and most influential men of the race, our friends who stand ready to aid us in the accomplishment of these desirable objects. Many of the most influential institutions here settled the fact that the misfortune which has embarrassed many of their people by being a solid unity exposed to those touching their public welfare. A great many of the best men of existing among the people might have been saved from ruin by the kindly offices of such support as we propose to give the animals a feeling of security.

The journey from southern Texas to Montana is a long one, but the air of the mountains is so invigorating that it is impossible for one who has not had actual experience to realize the change in the climate. The difficulties involved in driving a team over the mountains in midwinter, or a lumber storm at Helena, are scarcely to be realized by those who have not had the experience. Nothing but the most powerful animals can stand the exposure to which they are subjected, and the greatest care must be taken to keep them from freezing. Many of the horses have their noses frozen while on the road, especially the Buck of Lavigne, Montana, and Fort Benton. Horses make the matter so plain that we cannot forego the temptation to quote, even at the risk of being stale.

"For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things can never, with those sacrifices, which they offered year by year, continually make the comers thereunto perfect. For then would they not have ceased to be offered, because that the worshippers, once purged, should have had no more conscience of sin. But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance again made of sins every year. For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins." Now, when he cometh into the world, he saith, Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not, but a body hast thou prepared me. In burnt offerings and sacrifices for sin thou hast had no pleasure. Then said I, Lo, I come (in the volume of the book it is written of me), to do thy will, O God. Above, when he said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings and offerings for sin thou wouldest not, neither hadst pleasure therein; which are offered by the law. Then said he, Lo, I come to do thy will. O God. He taketh away the first, that he may establish the second. By the which will we are sanctified, through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ, once for all."

And so the well-beloved Son of God, having assumed man's guilt, must stand the punishment due to sinful men. Sin must be atoned for by a sacrifice, and the sacrifice must be a human life. Only a life could atone for a life. Only a life could atone for a life. The real fact is, what life is "no man knoweth to this day." Hence, the mystery of the penalty, thou shalt die, thou shalt surrender thy life. Referring to the manner of His death, the Redeemer said: "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." And it is because we are thus drawn to Him, that we idolize the Cross and the Blood and bow in reverence for it by it he made peace.—J. M. P., Church Review for October.

A Young chemist employed in the Smithsonian Institution, Prof. Darling, is said to have made the most practical application of cocaine in the country. The Washington correspondent of the World quotes a "distinguished physician" as saying that it was through young Darling's experiments that the knowledge was acquired of the use of cocaine as a local anæsthetic, so that the physician in charge of General Grant's case ventured to use it. It was through this Professor that they heard of Dr. Koller, of Vienna, and his ability to stop all pain by the application of cocaine, an enthusiastic friend went to an oculist in Washington and Koller was sent for. Dr. Koller, when he arrived, found that the patient was in the midst of another attack of pain, and, without saying a word, he took out his watch, and, placing a few drops of cocaine on the eyeball, he allowed the watch to remain there for a few minutes. He then removed it and showed the watch to the patient, who found that he could read the time of day. The pain had entirely disappeared. Dr. Koller then left the room, and the patient fell into a sweet sleep, which lasted for several hours. When he awoke he was entirely free from pain, and has been so ever since. Dr. Koller has since left this country, and is now in Europe, but Professor Darling is still in Washington, and is said to be the only person who has the secret of the cocaine treatment.

A NEW STEERABLE BALLOON.—The largest balloon ever constructed is probably that we saw last week, the property of Herr Gaedecke, at Berlin. On behalf of this collossal machine, which is 150 metres in length, and has a cubic capacity of 30,000 metres, a company has been formed with a capital of 14 yards to 16 yards per second, or at the rate of 32 miles an hour. The machine is said to be capable of carrying 50 persons, and nearly 31 tons, independently of the car which, together weigh about 21½ tons. The balloon is of cylindrical form, with a horizontal keel. Herr Gaedecke, who has been making practical trials on an exhaustive trial of his balloon, at first that he will be able to travel in any direction he pleases, even in the midst of a storm, and that he will be able to return to his starting point. The machine is driven by two screws, one placed at the front, and the other at the back of the car, and give 150 horse power. The motive power is supplied by petroleum motors. Herr Gaedecke has been engaged for the past two years in the construction of his ambitious attempt.—Public Opinion, London.

The advertisement of the Rossian Rheumatism Cure, so liberally advertised during the Winter and Spring of 1886, will be found in the present issue in the advertisers' column. Unlike near all the so-called rheumatic cures, the proprietors of this, claim it to be a specific for all forms of disease known as rheumatism. The number of cures effected, in the matter of cases apparently incurable, given by physicians of the highest standing, that have been greatly relieved, only proves the claim that this is indeed one of the bold statements made by them in the past three years. This disease is a specific; and when physicians of high standing send patients for it, it certainly must be a specific. We have done so, and Mr. Uedenhoefft it will become the great remedy for this disease.

NOTICE.

To the Presiding Elders of the Gaccher Conference:

Brethren: That I may properly prepare to entertain you, please inform me as early as possible, the time of the year in the itinerary you will bring to the conference in Baltimore, Md., 1887. Also, the General Officers expecting to attend the Conference, before the meeting in fall. Ministers bringing their wives will have to provide for them them selves.

Respectfully,

ALL "PLAYED OUT."

"Don't know what ails me here lately. Can't do well—can't sleep well. Can't work, and don't enjoy doing anything. Ain't real sick, and ain't really well. What is the kind o' case, Mr. Druggist? That is what scores of men say every day. "Have you tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery?" they would soon have to reply. Without it I believe the blues, lumps on the system and fortifies it against disease. It is a great anti-bilious remedy.

BEST IN SUNDERLIN.

Plumbridge, N. J., Sept, 20, 1885.

Dear Sirs—I certainly am feeling more comfortable. The "house I live in" is undergoing repairs. It is supposed by his to tear the whole house down, I have to do the next best thing, viz: to build up the old one. I am doing it well as I can, and my resort has consisted in using your Compound Oxygen in accordance with it, to Compound Oxygen.

In the use of this auxiliary of nature there is no remarkable shock of any kind to the system.

I am now satisfied more than ever that the absence of such shock is beneficial to the system, is just precisely what is wanted.

Nature in all her moral and bountiful operations, silently and quietly, and it is under the operation of her laws that we have by the day or week, would be found almost incompatible in her progress.

We had been sustained all our lives by breathing the atmosphere which surrounds us, who would believe in the existence of oxygen, if it were not for a mere nothing, that we inhale and exhale fifteen or twenty times a minute, and yet we are dependent upon it for life.

We could not endure its privation for five minutes, and yet thousands of persons can be contaminated, and without the least perceptible shock to the consciousness, that it would not support life for a single hour.

Such are the subtle influences which should be thought of by those who have an idea that this remedy (Compound Oxygen,) is not sufficient simply because it is tasteless.

How foolish (?) to swallow down the tasteless draughts of limpid spring water, but how long could life be sustained without that tasteless beverage?

The glorious light of heaven comes to us in a quiet way, yet who can compute its actual uplifting power of the universe?

The tons and tons of water and other substances in the form of grains, grasses and fruits, actually lifted up from the earth by quiet influence of the sun? Just such are the silent influences, though helpful forces, which are daily being building up our physical immunity, the numerous temple which is so beautifully displayed in our dwelling place here a little while.

In connection with such thoughts I can easily apprehend, though I may not fully comprehend any more than I can the light and power of all its wonders, how this beautiful but potent vitalizer of the human body should so effectually do its work.

It might be interesting to me to know (though more needful now the Compound Oxygen brings me a quiet restful feeling that I possess more) and pour to me in a condition where all her force is exerted, and where physical disease is specific; and when physicians of high standing send patients for it, it certainly must be a specific. We have done so, and Mr. Uedenhoefft it will become the great remedy for this disease.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES SCHEME.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly, and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months' end. All papers sent to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Sesh agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they send us, and the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on the installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents. These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand dollars, will be paid in cash. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor this plan with a prompt compliance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished to such as all who wish to become or continue agents.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Please send in all Endowment Money at once so reports can be arranged and sent to conference. The Bishop and friends who have promised to make their gifts later than the third Sunday in September, will please do so. We arranged for the second effort, will please notify us and let us wind up this part of our work.

Yours for the cause,

NOTICE.

To the Presiding Elders of the Alabama Annual Conference:—Dear Brethren, please notify me at once, by letter or personally, how many collections each will have for the traveling preachers' relief, and when you will have them taken. Remember the time is short. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming fading for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full SIX months for paying the subscription.

PHILADELPHIA, NOV. 18, 1886

MANY BRETHREN are having interesting series of religious meetings, with good success.

OUR READERS will be highly gratified in reading the excellent paper by Col. William Hannibal Thomas in this issue.

WE REGRET that the notice of the missionary send-off came to hand too late for publication last week, just one day after the RECORDER was printed.

FAITHFULNESS has its own reward. There is more in the consciousness that one has been faithful to an imposed trust than in all money of the mints and the praise of men.

ACCORDING to the People's Advocate, Dr. Stewart has resigned the pastorate of the Metropolitan A. M. E. Church, Washington, D. C. This seems unfortunate for all concerned.

IF COLORED boys want clerkships and trades, let them apply for them often and stick to them well after acquiring them. If boys lack the inclination, let parents urge and encourage them.

HOW STILL the financial department keeps. The Church must be making its work tell in bringing up the arrearages of last year: since the good Secretary seems well satisfied and no one else disturbed.

THE Southern Recorder has learned that to the "dishonest" list of the Atlanta post office there is the name of no colored man, though several have been employed for many years. Good for the brother in black.

POLITICS is settling down as gracefully as if there had been no election. The result is almost known, and the defeated parties to be highly satisfactory. When politicians on both sides are satisfied, others may rest well.

DO NOT pass Dr. Embry's notes unheeded. Put in one good fall's work for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, give it a good boost now, give it the 25,000 subscribers; then if it will not live you will not be responsible. We want to receive our subscription this fall and winter.

WILL NOT our conference arrange to each have a regular correspondent who will forward to the RECORDER, every week, such notes as brethren will furnish by mail from their various charges, to make up an interesting list of conference notes from their entire field, similar to our New Jersey Notes?

CHURCH newspaper organs should be regarded among our most potent means of accomplishing the work of Christianity. Like the pulpit, the religious press should be able to direct all its political shafts against the devil, not against those who, though Christians, are not of us. The instrument of a Christian editorial section should not be embarrassed by controversies.

WE MUST rise above the appearance of contempt for law and order to not inspire others with real contempt for both us and law. To exercise indifference to law is to lose the advantages of the protection of law. To walk and act under the law without feeling it a burden is to have the quality described as the characteristic of the man to whom there is no law.

ON Wednesday evening, November 10th, the Century Building and Loan Association was organized in Philadelphia, with Mr. Crawford Hardy as President and Mr. Thomas H. Boling as Secretary. The association thus far has colored men only. Some of the best business men of the city are connected with it. Having taken stock in it, we enthusiastically urge our friends to do likewise. It is comparatively easy for a poor man to secure a home by this means.

WE WOULD remind Brother Ransom that not two per cent. of any congregation in our church are opposed to any man because of his learning. This little story has gone the rounds that the flock of a given church made this objection, but you may be sure it is a mistake. Not the flock, but a few members there of, made that objection. They did not mean all that is made to appear on the face. There is much wisdom required to regulate this association of teacher and taught. Jesus, alone showed perfect wisdom in exercising the functions of a teacher, others approximate him more or less as they partake of his character.

THE LOAVES and fishes of the Christian household began very early to draw men. It does so still. How much is it going to pay? is a prominent question with those called to work in His vineyard. "What is right" is he question of Jesus to all. But, won't you pay what is pleasant? the suppliant asks. "What is right" comes from Jesus. But, seriously, will you not pay what is profitable? The answer, "what is right," won't you pay what is popular? Nothing more, nothing less than "what is right." Then, tell me, what is right? "In this world a hundred-fold and in that which is to come everlasting life." This reward is better than the perishing loaves and fishes.

CONFERENCE examining committees are supposed to be competent to judge the merits of authors treating such subjects as come in the range of ministerial studies; they should carefully see that the books of young ministers bearing upon theology be not only orthodox, but Methodist. It ought not to be required that books be used, that the very author mentioned in the Discipline has been studied in all cases. Occasionally it is said that young ministers, having completed church history, have been required to repeat the study because, in the first instance, they had not studied Sebaß's History. Committees should see that all the subjects have been properly studied and are by proper authority.

DR. HANDY'S wedding, which did not take place till after our last issue was printed, though we anticipated it by publication, was characterized by the marked dignity and ladylike refinement that were, by all who know the contracting parties, to be expected. The ceremony was read in Allen Chapel, Philadelphia, by the Rev. L. J. Coppin, at 7 p. m. Wednesday, 10th inst. Dr. Handy's wedding was probably the first service in the remodeled basement, the main audience room being unexpected. After the solemn service of joy the Rev. James Priddy, father-in-law of the bride, gave a splendid entertainment to a good number of guests. In the afternoon the bridal party left for their home, Washington, D. C. Happiness to you, good friends.

STEWARDSHIP study will secure a respectable education to almost any person. There is some one in nearly every town who would aid an industrious minister in his studies. The day is past for our ministers to secure proper respect from semi-efficiency. To make good, reliable, strong, self-respecting men, we must respect right and will.

If it is not already apparent, it will be ultimately, that non-official papers are not organs, that secular papers are not religious though managed by religious men, and that local papers are not general. To maintain the local enterprises for what they are worth is quite different from attempting to maintain them at the expense of our Church organs, under denomination. Such cases bring to mind an old story: In a country where it was contrary to law to extend wornout persons down a declivity and kill them, it is said a young man once took his father to the death-mount to cast him down. "Hold," said the old man; "I have but one one word to say: forty years ago I was a young man. I brought my father here and cast him down. Thirty years hence you will be an old man to be cast down by your son." The youth could not accomplish his design. So our descending friends, living with a new paper twenty years, having a dozen malcontents to every one of today declaring that they will cast them down the hill of complaint; will say, right here we undertook to cast the CHRISTIAN RECORDER down because, though doing its best, it could not please us. May the tender mercies of the generation that will judge them, withhold its mad hand and poor blessings upon the benumbed back of these our children; a score of years old, and moving to their assistance and strength, make them right.

A COMMENDABLE ORGANIZATION.

It was our pleasure a few nights ago to attend the anniversary of an association of women in Darby, Pa., worthy the attention and emulation of many other good women. The title of this society is the United Benevolent Daughters of Israel—rather an odd name, but among our people, odd society names being the rule, the oddness is passed by. This association was organized thirty-four years ago; has never had more than fifty members at one time. It has now over $1600 in treasury. Like most societies among us, it is a benevolent society, whose purpose is to attend and aid the sick and bury the dead; unlike most other societies of our people, they do act special to the public often for all nor make great display. We have not space to name its members, but notice Mrs. Stanford, Mrs. Rollins and Mrs. Price, who are in the organization; Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Gross, Mrs. Aims, Mrs. Massey and others. Owing to certain requirements of State, they were obliged to have one male member in order to secure their charter. This fortunate man as president is Mr. Stanford, of Darby. Mr. Morris Brown has nearly doubled her membership this quarter. Many others has received them by hundreds. Mt. Zion, a child of slow growth, has received about one hundred and fifty. Many of these have been added.

The earthquake has filled our churches and if the condition of the people was not as it is, our finances would be better than any conference year. But the condition of many of our people makes the best kind of sacrifice, and we do not their condition! The conference we took to as a time of spiritual feasting. Our sister Rev. Dorsey was present, and Miss Nannie Norris, secretary. Rev. Dorsey, they left many warm friends. Rev. Lewis Reed and Rev. Phenix, of the A. M. E. Church, were present at the services. The Pink United Workers held their first entertainment on the 7th inst. at Mt. Zion, which was a grand success! $52.00. They have organized permanently with Mrs. Downey as president, and Miss Nannie Norris, secretary. Rev. Williams, pastor, may their labors be abundantly blessed.

—The Rev. G. C. Booth is stationed at Kansas City, and has the oversight of Brown University, Quindaro.

—Bishops Brown and Gaines were both reported to us as being at their homes in Washington, D. C., last week, both improving in health.

—Bishop Campbell has gone to assist Bishop Shorter in holding his Conferences. He will spend a few days with Bishop Shorter at his home before going South.

—The Rev. John F. Lane, of Gainesville, Ala., is one of the most successful ministers in our connection; a man of clear theological knowledge and very modest mien.

—Dr. N. F. Mossell, of this city, and a younger brother, who is studying law at the University of Pennsylvania, called at our office last week. Dr. Mossell is brother to Elder Mossell, and has a good medical practice in Philadelphia.

CHARLESTON LETTER.

BY REV. W. H. HEARD.

MR. EDITOR:—Charleston is not free yet. We had a severe shock yesterday; but no serious harm is done.

Mt. Zion celebrated her fourth anniversary last Sabbath and collected more than four hundred dollars, yet she falls short of her annual payment. Emancipal is preparing to build a new church. Morris Brown has nearly doubled her membership this quarter. Bethel Church has received them by hundreds. Mt. Zion, a child of slow growth, has received about one hundred and fifty. Many of these have been happily converted.

The earthquake has filled our churches and if the condition of the people was not as it is, our finances would be better than any conference year. But the condition of many of our people makes the best kind of sacrifice, and we do not their condition! The conference we took to as a time of spiritual feasting. Our sister Rev. Dorsey was present, and Miss Nannie Norris, secretary. Rev. Dorsey, they left many warm friends. Rev. Lewis Reed and Rev. Phenix, of the A. M. E. Church, were present at the services. The Pink United Workers held their first entertainment on the 7th inst. at Mt. Zion, which was a grand success! $52.00. They have organized permanently with Mrs. Downey as president, and Miss Nannie Norris, secretary. Rev. Dorsey, they left many warm friends. Rev. Lewis Reed and Rev. Phenix, of the A. M. E. Church, were present at the services. The Pink United Workers held their first entertainment on the 7th inst. at Mt. Zion, which was a grand success! $52.00. They have organized permanently with Mrs. Downey as president, and Miss Nannie Norris, secretary. Rev. Dorsey, they left many warm friends. Rev. Lewis Reed and Rev. Phenix, of the A. M. E. Zion alter, then B. F. Lee, D. D., now of Boston, and Bishop Newby, as deacon and afterward elder. How I missed the old friends as they passed by, one by one, my mother and four brothers. After twenty-two years I met Rev. Dr. Lee in conference; there I met Rt. Rev. B. R. Disney, Hays Eude Mc Carty, Dr. Dorsey, Dr. Gaines, Skewes and Hill and several proxy brethren.

The good old times are behind me, but it quite pleasant in the city. I was very much surprised at General Logan's death. The smallness of the conference and the tardiness in doing business. Rev. Mr. Hall, presiding elder of Newark district, was appointed to preside over the Conference. The A. M. E. Church is growing. The Rev. Mr. Hall has not been what it ought to have been, but this is not the case with the new man, and we hope the day will soon come, when the labors of the colored Methodist Episcopal Church will be appreciated as now for the deeds. We expect to commence building this fall.

LINCOLN AT HIS MOTHER'S GRAVE.

This life has been vaunted by poets and romancers as a happy and healthful one. Even Bernhardt's dream of his youthful days when his only home was a half faced camp, says, "I tell you, Billy, I spread more material upon the boards than I ever have since." But we may question the appreciation of old soldiers who see their youth through a rosy mist of memory, and who find their present loyable nor wholesome. The rank woods were full of malaria, and stagnant water, and the manner of living in the settlements. In the autumn of 1818 there was a terrible epidemic of typhoid. Nova Scotia Conference. I think that all the men ought to be sent to Conference, if practicable, which would be beneficial to all concerned. Having visited the entire conference, I feel that I have opportunities offered and as "duty to make examination, and be able to report not to be ashamed." Let the coming session of the North Mississippi Conference mark a turning point in our history. More anon.

NOVA SCOTIA CONFERENCE, A. M. E. CHURCH.

MR. EDITOR:—You will no doubt be pleased to learn from this part of our great church work on British soil. I arrived at Halifax on the 19th inst., the day of its session, being delayed on the passage from Liverpool to Halifax by storm. We had a beautiful sail of seventy hours across the Bay of Fundy, leaving Boston August 2, at 5 a. m. Tuesday morning, arriving at Yarmouth at 7 a. m. Wednesday morning—missing boat connection, we took the mail train, reaching Halifax at 4 p. m. after twenty hours ride from Yarmouth to Halifax, a distance of two hundred miles. Rev. Lewis Reed and Rev. Phenix, of the A. M. E. Zion alter, then B. F. Lee, D. D., now of Boston, and Bishop Newby, as deacon and afterward elder. How I missed the old friends as they passed by, one by one, my mother and four brothers. After twenty-two years I met Rev. Dr. Lee in conference; there I met Rt. Rev. B. R. NEW JERSEY NOTES.

The churches in Camden propose holding union Thanksgiving services.

Presiding Elder Geo. A. Mutts is making himself felt among the people where he is now.

There will be a fair held in Bordentown during Thanksgiving week for the benefit of the church.

The church of Bridgeton gave an entertainment Thursday, Nov. 4th. It was well attended and a financial success.

Married, Nov. 2nd, by Rev. A. H. Newton, Mr. Alfred Sparks to Miss Lizzie Martin. Both parties are from Riverton, N. J.

Our mission work in Haddonfield and Bordentown is coming up. The indications are that we shall have a church at the former place in the near future.

The Macedonia Literary Association has made arrangements for interesting and instructive lectures during the year, at which time the annual fair will be held.

Rev. David Croshorn is succeeding nicely at Freehold. He has received six members into the church, raised $100 for the church in good repair since conference.

The pastor and officers of the Trinity M. E. Church, Camden, have kindly tendered the use of their church, in the afternoon, to the Mt. Zion church on the day of their anniversary, Nov. 28th.

The church of Bordentown will celebrate their anniversary next Sunday, Nov. 21st. They expect Bishop B. W. Gain, D.D., with many of the leading elders, South and West, to be present.

There was a series of gospel meetings held at Woodbury, Rev. Jones, pastor, which I know that some men holding appointments on Sunday schools ought to meet it at every inn. A corrupt and immoral minister makes a corrupt and immoral congregation. Is not this not? Are not our ministers the leaders of their congregations? Is it not the right way the ministers see the congregations will be as they are? Is it not the truly said "layman bare come to dance when parson play?" Ignorant and immoral men are far more numerous leaders among our ministers. The ministry in these days, as a whole, is not in good repute, because so many of our preachers, both travelling and local, are ignorance of the Bible and of the gospel. Is not this the reason why so many of our preachers are so much afraid of the higher criticism? Is it not because they are afraid that a healthy taste for good books is of dismay to some?

Our subject of study really mastered will prove a better mental training than a course of study, which is gone over at random, and at random put down again. Later, and in a better way, any one who has thoroughly read a dozen good books knows incomparably more than the studies reader who has skimmed a dozen minute and hours of the hundreds o' books now published. Reading and study is of not enough he intelligences, in the conference, and in the world.

Let us learn to make haste slowly, as was the advice of one of the noblest of men. And the maxim be was wont to apply to the conduct of life let us apply to our reading and be sure that we read less than others of our compassions, provided only that little be the very best that can be written.

ROBERT YOUNG ADMITTED.

The following dispatch appeared in the Philadelphia Press, Nov. 12th:

"The authorities of Dickinsee college have at last succeeded in getting Robert Young, son of the colored janitor and elder in the A. M. E. Church, to the penitentiary where he will serve out following the appearance of the tele-graph in the Times concerning the matter, which, by the way, created considerable stir here, the principal of the school, Professor Bowers, saw the father and the son together, and the latter, not a written application for the admission of the son, and added that he would see every effort means in his power to obtain for him his request. Yesterday Mr. Bowers received a letter from the first time since the matter has been brought to the attention, and decided that they would admit him. Several of the members of this committee are personally acquainted with Young, that the committee has no jurisdiction in the matter.

Before the meeting Professor Bowers requested that all evangelical students who would leave if the boy was admitted to send in written resignations. Not one responded. Several days ago Young was put before the board of trustees; there I met Rt. Rev. B. R. Disney, Hays Eude McCarty, Dr. Dorsey, Dr. Gaines, Skewes and Hill and several proxy brethren.

The good old times are behind me, but it quite pleasant in the city. I was very much surprised at General Logan's death. The smallness of the conference and the tardiness in doing business. Rev. What we must say

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Eczema

is more commonly known as Salt-Rheum. It is caused by impure blood, is accompanied with intense itching and burning sensations, and, unless properly treated, is likely to afflict the victim for years. If you are suffering from Eczema, or any other eruptive disease, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has proved, in numberless instances, a complete cure for this disorder.

Entirely Cured.

A few weeks ago I was attacked with a severe and distressing form of Eczema. The eruptions spread very generally over my body, causing an intense itching and burning sensation, especially at night. With great faith in the virtues of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I commenced taking it, and after having used less than two bottles of this medicine, am entirely cured.—Henry K. Bramhofer, of the Hope "Nine," West Philadelphia, Pa.

I was, for years, troubled with Salt-Rheum, which, during the winter months, caused my hands to become very sore, crack open, and bleed. The use of entirely cured me of this troublesome humor.—Elisha Ashworth, Evanston, Wyoming Ter.

I was also troubled with the disease, and can confidently recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a sure remedy.—Mrs. Mary Hall, Providence, R. I.

Debility

Languor, and Loss of Appetite, are cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine relieves that sense of Constant Weariness, from which so many suffer, purifies, invigorates, and vitalizes the blood, gives tone and vigor to the stomach, and restores the appetite, health and strength more surely and speedily than any other remedy.

Positive Proof

Two years ago I suffered from Loss of Appetite and Debility, the result of Liver Disease. After having tried various remedies, and several physicians, without receiving any benefit, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle produced a marked change, and the second and third accomplished so much that I felt like a new man. I have, since that time, taken about one bottle every year, and find no recurrence of the trouble.—William E. Way, East Dompster, N. H.

If any one suffering from General Debility, Want of Appetite, Depression of Spirits, or Loss of Energy will use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I confidently believe they will find perfect relief. I have used it, and speak from experience.—P. G. Loring, Haverhill, Mass.

PHILADELPHIA, NOV. 25, 1886

THE BULGARIAN hoax-ship is held by the great powers, but their first man is Prince Alexander, of Malgriea.

DR. TOWNSEND is seeking a first-class minister who can speak the French language fluently for the Haytien work.

THE DIFFICULTIES arising concerning our church property cannot all be averted respecting that bought in the past, but we should so conduct new church business now and hereafter as to leave no reasonable ground for such troubles.

ACCORDING to published programme, Alice Chapel was reopened last Sunday. It is all that is included in the previous statement that would be one of the nicest churches in which colored persons worship in the city. The financial results were over $1,900.

MORE INTEREST should be taken in our Sunday school lessons by parents at their homes. If they cannot attend the Sunday school themselves they should so manifest their interest in the studies as to lead their children; not allow their children to lead them.

IN THIS issue we publish a sketch of Prof William S. Scarborough, LL D Professor of Greek and Latin at Wilberforce University. We send extra copies to many of our educators and students; should the RECORDER please them we should be glad to receive their subscription.

ONE CAN but note the weakness of strong men when he reads of the great Dr. McCosh feeling snubbed because Harvard University passed by the Princeton Faculty in conferring honorary degrees, and Oliver Wendell Holmes said something sandy about New Jersey.

PRINCIPAL COUNCIL, of Huntsville, was in our city last week. Like Principal Washington, of Tuskegee, Principal Council keeps a very wise and careful connection with the current of philanthropy and cash, and, like Mrs. Washington, wheels that into line in his excellent Alabama work of education.

"I BELIEVE IN GOD the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth;" is an excellent item to be used in connection with the sentence upon those who do "really and truly repent of their sins." With those who mock God's law and violate in every principle as if they did not believe in his presence, it is a consuming fire.

THANKSGIVING DAY and this issue of the RECORDER come together. But Thanksgiving Day is no longer Thanksgiving Day, in fact, any more than Christmas day is a religious feast. It is a good thing, however, that the day is observed in both cases. It helps to move along well without the benefits so rising from our pretended religious observation of these days.

THE SCARCITY of such men as the Bishops would like at many points is one interesting church work, shows to it to who are entirely out of work how necessary it is for them to fit themselves by self-legitimate possible means for their calling. It shows those who, though well-enough learned, cannot be placed over important work on other accounts, how necessary it is for them to correct their ways.

GLASS HOUSES are, as a rule, very unsuitable for church edifices. Men should build of stronger material than glass, the temple for the indwelling spirit. "They who live in glass houses must not throw stones," but in the Church any one may be called upon to do battle for the eternal cause. He that battle no one must grow faint on the ground of living in a glass house. The protection of the man who is in Christ is arranged by heaven.

MEN WHO talk of "golting even" with their fellowmen for some real or imagined offense, forget that they are declaring that they will do an impossibility. To do against one what he does against you is not getting even with him in the full sense, for his evil act had a negative moral side that yours cannot have. When he committed the vile act, he at the same time failed to do some good moral act in the line of his duty alone; so one else can get even with him in this respect.

THE RECENT storms at sea and the wrecks on railroads but call our attention again to the weakness of human calculations as well as the uncertainty of earthly human existence. Many thousands exclaim on reading of the accident at Pittsburgh, "Why, I've passed along there many a time!" So of the wrecks at sea; so of all the ills that befall us. Someone else passed by often enhanced; we ourselves may have passed unharmed; other they anyone else. According to certain laws and conjunctions, the fortuities come at this time and place while we are there.

THE DEATH of ex-President Chester Allen Arthur, in New York last week, leaves but one man living who has filled the exalted place of chief national executive of the United States, aside from the present incumbent, R. B. Hayes being the only ex-President living. Mr. Arthur was a brilliant and wise politician, possibly not a broad statesman. He was an unqualified friend of colored men when it cost something to be thus denominated. In 1862 he defended a fugitive slave case in New York—a Virginia slave-holder taking his slaves to the State of New York, intending to take them thence to Texas—and his act, Subsequently he defended a young colored lady in a suit against a street railway company for ejection. This suit was gained also, and satisfied forever the right of colored persons to enjoy the privileges of public conveyances in New York City.

THERE is a first-class opportunity in the Metropolitan Church trouble to throw away the accumulated hopes and energies of nearly a half century of African Methodism in Washington. Too many wrecks are strewn in the path of our race development. Not one of our connectional undertakings is just what we should have it. Nothing has traded more to injure and destroy them than the personal squabble between two men to position to divide those who hold them in responsible control at different times.

OUR conference, our missionary work, our educational work, all are of en embarrassed in this way. These persons so often casting their own spirit of spite in the faces of others with such peculiar force as to overcome repugnance and draw them to their own side.

THIS side business in connectional work is very dangerous. There is usually trouble, too, from the officials, in both the local and the general work. In this Metropolitan affair we think there is ample wisdom, discretion and godliness on the part of those near the Church is confided to push to the death the greatest church building in the connection in order to push a man to the death.

DR. T. O. Steward is one of our most successful, courageous and wise ministers. We are glad to hear that he still remains at the Metropolitan.

YES, THE, Brother Hidgel, rent every corrupt minister from the ministerial ranks. Such corrupt ministers hinder rather than help the people we shall ever succeed. There are many in our conference whose loving kindness to scalawags is so injurious as the scalawagism itself. They are always pleading the conference is to save him, save him," the ecclesiastical slavonic rascal, some urging his appointment to poor work and sometimes his transfer. The wrong of either is appreciated. What right has the conference to protect an avowed man in his slavery by sending him out to "the hills"? Most the itinerant gospel system become party to throwing fire-brands among the young, because they chance to be forgiven and ordained? How can the appointing power be requested or even allowed in thus impose upon small places? How can that same power afford to place these moral wrecks over God's heritage, even though in a conference where they are not known? They invariably become known. A few years ago we saw a gray headed minister upon his trial for intoxicating himself. He was ably defended and is now active in the same conference; but he is not reformed. In fact, few ministers, having degraded themselves to the level of the whiskey bung, ever do reform absolutely. While as slaves they merit Christian pity, as ministers they merit irremovable expulsion. They may be retained in church membership, but not in ministerial ranks.

There are some whiskey drinking ministers in high ranks. We may well wonder if they do believe in the existence of such a God as they preach. If so, what fights they and their consciences must have when brought to consideration for a moment.

THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

The conference met yesterday. It is an important meeting. We shall all be anxious about its results. Our readers have heard more or less about the difficulties existing since a short time after the conference of 1885. In mid-summer of the current year a so-called extra session was held, the first in our history of seventy years. This appeared by coded with quite as grave difficulty as existed at its beginning. The waters have seemed to lack the pacifying oil ever since. There have been some very plain talks in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER on the subject. The last, or last but one, from the Rev. Aldridge, was of such a character that we allowed it to appear by oversight. We have nothing against plain talking whatever, but we do not think it wise to publish everything in the Church Organ that has the element of being plain as its only remuneration. However, there is now nothing for this conference to do but set itself right by doing its duty. In doing this there must necessarily be much crucifixion of the flesh. There can be little doubt that there is ability sufficient in the conference to settle all the difficulties, but it is a question whether, in such case, that ability will be used properly. If the hearts of the bishop and brethren are fully open to the all-wise and the all-loving Jesus, there is no doubt that the Prince of Peace will subdue all the waves and bring the conference out as tried by fire.

THE MISSIONARY FAREWELL.

To shake hands with those who is lose than one week will cross the ocean to enter upon the work of our blessed Lord in Africa is a rare sejourment, as not which sends thrilling through the mind thoughts of the mighty past it mission history, culminating in the great missionary founders of Paul, the Judsons, Wasleys, and the later Amaeds Smith, William Taylor and W. W. Colly. It brings to mind the wonderful transformations of the State of New York, intending to take them thence to Texas—not his act, Subsequently he defended a young colored lady in a suit against a street railway company for ejection. This suit was gained also, and satisfied forever the right of colored persons to enjoy the privileges of public conveyances in New York City.

The December St. Nicholas will be made especially attractive as the Christmas number. It will contain the first part of a new sea story by Frank R. Stockton, entitled "The Casting Away of Mrs. Leeks and Mrs. Aleshies"; will also the first part of a short serial by Mrs. Burnett.

A new edition of "Representative Poems of Living Poets" has just been issued by Funk & Wagnalls' market. Messrs Cassell & Company have in press a holiday edition of the same volume, which will be published with a new and elaborate cover, making it peculiarly suitable for a Christmas present. It would be hard to find anything in the way of a poetic collection more satisfactory than these poets' selections from their own poems.

In the December Century the authors of the life of Lincoln state that Lincoln's release from the service of the United States after the Black Hawk campaign "was signed by a young lieutenant of artillery, Robert Lincoln, who, twenty-six years later, as one of the most official crises in our annals, was to contain to Lincoln relations of prodigious importance, on a scene illuminated by the flash of the guns of the Civil War." The authors further state that the story to the effect that Lincoln was mustered into service by Jefferson Davis is not confirmed by the strictest search in the records. We publish in a foot note a statement by Adjutant General Drum giving all the known facts in relation to this story.

The unprecedented popularity of "Ben-Hur," now culminating in one hundred and forty-sixth thousand, renders exceptionally interesting the article on "The Boyhood of Christ" by the author of that Tale of the Christ), which is the leading attraction of the December Harper's. If any one can enlighten us on the unrecorded youth of that sublime life it is the writer, who has woven about his manhood the most realistic story that has ever dealt with such themes—a story so carefully studied in all the intricate detail of Roman, Grecian and Jewish life in the years of its appearance in America, that when General Wallace steward visited the scenes depicted he had no occasion to change a word. Uncle Miles, the old and bale old gentleman, whose narrative of Christ's youthful life to the wondering listeners away from their Christmas festivities, may be taken as the general idea of glorified life. The facinating experiences of Uncle Midas are clearly autobiographical, for the author describes himself in writing "He had been a busy life: he had been a lawyer, a soldier, an author and a traveler; he had dabbled in art, diplomacy and politics." The exquisite illustrations are all original, being made specially for this article by two French artists—Alfred Brunet and Sue O. Merson.

HOME AGAIN.

BY REV. J. HENRI HURST.

It was 4 o'clock on the 9th of October when our steamer, "Alps," raised anchor from her pier at the Atlantic Steamship Co. port of New York. We were deeply impressed with the scene, while we reminded us of that which we experienced four years ago—the day we bade farewell to our home and friends, and perceived in the far distance their hand kerchiefs waving in the air and felt the emotion of their anxious hearts. But trusting to the mercy of Him that stilleth the waves and controlleth the storms.

Though a perfect stranger among our fellow voyagers, we sympathized deeply with a mother who was bewailing our removal from the moorings to take the last glance at her daughter's glowing face. She was married to a Hayti merchant and, according to the divine injunction, had to leave her parents, sister and cleave to her husband." While the steamer was out of the sight of land, the passengers were bustering from one side of the deck to the other to see the Bartholdi's imposing statue of liberty and to pay their last tribute to the stirring city of New York. Of course some there were deep silence, gloom and tears, while we felt that the great day of rejoicing, or long expected, had surely come. As the darkness of the night evening was fast approaching, we retired to our room to prepare ourselves for the Sabbath. We were much pleased with the thought that we were blessed with an opportunity to preach the gospel, in the manner of the Saviour, on the sea, amidst the terrific waves. So in the morning, we asked the captain if he would not have divine service for the edification of both the crew and passengers. With an air of surprise, he said, "We have no priest" "You have a minister," we said. "A minister," he replied; "where is he? Are you a minister—an Episcopalian, Presbyterian or Methodist?" All of them he put to us at once. We humbly told him that we were Methodist. While he was pondering over the question, ore could see the expression of an inner-comfort exhibited on his face. Before he gave us his well thought answer, his purser, of a wild character, whispered to him the speech, "The steamer is under the Spanish flag and it would be a disgrace for this emblem to let a Protestant hold service here to-day." He was much incensed with him and declared that, for this single reason, we could not commemorate the holy Sabbath that God hath made. We were not much surprised at this action, because the Holy Crawl were Spaniards and, except the purser, not one could speak the English nor the French language. Besides, the fanciful Catholic Moor is not disposed to piety. He loves the amusements more or the rancid iliceaus. His delight is utter the writings of Voltaire, whose voice will sing the sweetest song while his heart and hands will dive in the deepest hell. Truly, for the first few days following we were journeying over the trackless ocean, having by day no object of communication but the sun, and by night the full moon and the stars. When tired to watch the crosses of the short October sun, whose setting presents the celestial canvas of manifest beauty, the mysterious band of Jehovah brought forth the thousand stars from their socket to meditate with us on the mysteries of unknown worlds. We feel that Brother Frederick will succeed in Africa. The people are anxious and ready for the Lord's work and to pay their last tribute to the missionary city of New York. OFF FOR AFRICA.

The farewell meeting to Rev. J. H. Frederick and wife, our missionaries to Africa, took place November 16, 1886, at Bethel Church, Philadelphia, Rev. J. W. Beckett, pastor.

The following named persons were requested to be present and participate in the services: Bishops Campbell, Cale, Brown, Shorter and others who are not holding connection; Elders W. H. Darrick, A. H. Newton, W. H. Yeocum and others of the ministerial force, not too remote. Dr. B. F. Lee, B. T. Tanner, D. D., Embry, were invited to confer with all the city pastors as a committee on program. The committee were requested to be present at the time and place designated by Rev. Beckett, for the purpose of arranging the programme. The Ladies' Mite Missionary Society took a prominent place in the conduct of affairs, and kindly joined the committees.

THE MACON (GA.) DISTRICT.

BY PRESIDING ELDER W. C. GAINES.

MR. EDITOR:—Everything preparing now to go into winter quarters [extract from a letter]. Some of the work is very good, so let me just here speak of the goodness of the Lord toward us in the past few months. I was sick for one fourth round, and the Lord hath wonderfully blessed me in my affliction. I need not say anything about the affliction of Rev. E. F. Holmes, for he is well known throughout the connection as being a pastor in every sense of the word. Quite a number of souls have been added to the church and happily converted since I was with him. Brother one and two [that cannot be scratched anywhere in the connection] have so labored and manoeuvered that about 3 people in a day have given up their amount asked for, till the $3,000 redabt edness of the church has been reduced to $1,400. Brother Holmes has been so educationally, and as we have not yet a building his services have been needed to the use of the basement of the church for the district high school till we can build.

Sandersville, Rev. L. Rice, pastor, is moving along, as we can learn by mail and at the place very recently, during which forty persons were added to the church.

Davisboro, Rev. H. Lester, pastor. Though the good old man is old and gray, is now lying very sick, he has labored hard and faithfully for the Lord and the dead souls in the church within the past two months.

We had a grand district camp meeting at Lofton Camp Ground, Rev. H. W. Holmes, presiding elder, and everybody pegged to be taken into the church.

Rev. Lofton, the pastor, is very much loved. For years we have had no church there, but the pastor, Rev. T. Williams, has changed a word. Uncle Miles, the old and bale old gentleman, whose narrative of Christ's youthful life to the wondering listeners away from their Christmas festivities, may be taken as the general idea of glorified life. The facinating experiences of Uncle Midas are clearly autobiographical, for the author describes himself in writing "He had been a busy life: he had been a lawyer, a soldier, an author and a traveler; he had dabbled in art, diplomacy and politics." The exquisite illustrations are all original, being made specially for this article by two French artists—Alfred Brunet and Sue O. Merson.

HOME AGAIN.

BY REV. J. HENRI HURST.

It was 4 o'clock on the 9th of October when our steamer, "Alps," raised anchor from her pier at the Atlantic Steamship Co. port of New York. We were deeply impressed with the scene, while we reminded us of that which we experienced four years ago—the day we bade farewell to our home and friends, and perceived in the far distance their hand kerchiefs waving in the air and felt the emotion of their anxious hearts. But trusting to the mercy of Him that stilleth the waves and controlleth the storms.

Though a perfect stranger among our fellow voyagers, we sympathized deeply impressed with the spirit of the test. We thought it needful to mention that the churches of Burlington and Woodbury, New Jersey, sent by their respective pastore contributions to the missionary transit funds. We feel that Brother Frederick will succeed in Africa. The people are anxious and ready for the Lord's work and to pay their last tribute to the missionary city of New York. Of course some there were deep silence, gloom and tears, while we felt that the great day of rejoicing, or long expected, had surely come. As the darkness of the night evening was fast approaching, we retired to our room to prepare ourselves for the Sabbath. We were much pleased with the thought that we were blessed with an opportunity to preach the gospel, in the manner of the Saviour, on the sea, amidst the terrific waves. So in the morning, we asked the captain if he would not have divine service for the edification of both the crew and passengers. With an air of surprise, he said, "We have no priest" "You have a minister," we said. "A minister," he replied; "where is he? Are you a minister—an Episcopalian, Presbyterian or Methodist?" All of them he put to us at once. We humbly told him that we were Methodist. While he was pondering over the question, ore could see the expression of an inner-comfort exhibited on his face. Before he gave us his well thought answer, his purser, of a wild character, whispered to him the speech, "The steamer is under the Spanish flag and it would be a disgrace for this emblem to let a Protestant hold service here to-day." He was much incensed with him and declared that, for this single reason, we could not commemorate the holy Sabbath that God hath made. We were not much surprised at this action, because the Holy Crawl were Spaniards and, except the purser, not one could speak the English nor the French language. Besides, the fanciful Catholic Moor is not disposed to piety. He loves the amusements more or the rancid iliceaus. His delight is utter the writings of Voltaire, whose voice will sing the sweetest song while his heart and hands will dive in the deepest hell. Truly, for the first few days following we were journeying over the trackless ocean, having by day no object of communication but the sun, and by night the full moon and the stars. When tired to watch the crosses of the short October sun, whose setting presents the celestial canvas of manifest beauty, the mysterious band of Jehovah brought forth the thousand stars from their socket to meditate with us on the mysteries of unknown worlds. SEVENTH EPISCOPAL DISTRICT, PHILADELPHIA CONFERENCE.

BY REV. JOHN M. PROCTOR.

This district embraces the lower part of the State of Delaware. The conference convened in Bethel A. M. E. Church, Smyrna, Del., Wednesday, Oct. 27th, 1886, Rev. Presiding Elder, in the chair. Every charge is represented by the ministerial force, Camdee, Del. The opening sermon was preached by the Elder from Jeremiah, 4, 6. Rev. A. R. Wells, of Mr. John C. Martin were elected secretaries. Dr. Proctor presented to the HACONBER and SMYRNA Times. The following ministers were introduced from a well prepared programme, The Rev. A. Hammond preached Wednesday night. The following shall stretch forth her hands to God." Rev. Wilson, of Bethel A. M. E. Church followed with another grand sermon on Thursday, Oct. 28, "Soo, go work in my vineyard."

The various committees had well prepared reports, and were appointed to the financial ability of the people deserves mention. There are within this district members of the A. M. E. Church to the amount of $1,713 scholars, with an average attendance of 1,016, receiving for support from the State $3,000.00, and there is not a school house that was built at the expense of the State, while at the city of Seaford the school house cost more than the State gives for the education of five years, and because was are of a dark hue.

Rev. Wilson Hill, superintendent, incased out and seventy or eighty happy faces are patiently drinking in instruction from his lips. Using appropriate language, addressed all present. Sunday school anniversaries are best in the Philadelphia Conference, because of great good to the future church. Rev. James Mullon, the superannuated father of the Philadelphia Annual Conference, delivered a remarkable sermon to us on Friday afternoon. He particularly warned the young men to beware of the dangers and snares that beset their way. The conference was remarkable for the spirit of love and peace. On Thursday morning while the brethren were reporting the condition of their charges, telling of the souls that were coming by scores to Christ, the Holy Spirit came down and the secretaries threw down their pens, ceased to write till they praised God. While we sung some of those sweet gospel hymn, the spirit fired our hearts and we felt cheered with the fact that God was blessing the labor of his servants. Mr. John C. Martin, of Seaford, read a well written essay, entitled "Yonder Man in the Front." It had its good effect: one old father of Simpson remarked that it did his soul good to hear such good things from the young men of the church.

The conference closed Friday evening and a more pleasant time was never spent in this district. The good people kindly entertained us at their homes and expressed sorrow that we could not remain over on Sunday. May God bless the dear people of Smyrna, together with their pastor, our presiding elder of the seventh district.

GOOD WORDS KINDLY RECEIVED.

HAMPTON VA., Nov. 19, 1886.

To Manager of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER:—Please send me, as a subscriber, the RECORDER, as I have just seen three grand papers. I must say it is a grand one indeed, and glad to have just such a paper. It is full of good things, and I like it very well. You will find enclosed two dollars ($2.00). I am yours in Christ by Love,

G. W. GODWIN.

The CHRISTIAN RECORDER has completed the five hundredth number of the present volume, and the twenty-fifth years. Our contemporary is growing old, but, like wine, grows richer with age. The RECORDER is a welcome and the A. M. E. Church should be proud of it and feel it owes it its support.—N.-Y. Freeman.

BELLEVILLE ILL., Nov. 20, 1886.

DEAR DR. EMBRY:—I cannot do without the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. Indeed I am doing my best to get others to subscribe. Yours respectfully,

L. J. PHILLIPS.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Nov. 1886.

REV. J. C EMBRY, D.D.:—Your paper is a favorite with me. I have read it for several years, and am always glad to see it. Please send me a sample copy, and I will see what I can do for you.

Sheridan, Ark.

MANAGER'S NOTES.

PLEASE READ THESE THROUGH.

1ST NOTE—To the pastors of all our churches: Dear Brethren—We appeal to you once more in effect the New Year. We must have (God willing) one thousand new subscribers for the RECORDER by January 1st, 1887. We have attended to encourage subscribers we offer the paper from November 1st, 1886, to January 1st, 1888, for one full year's subscription ($2.00). Thank you for the months of November and December free.

2D NOTE.—To any one of our ministers who will send us the largest amount of money for subscribers above $15.00 between this and December 15th, 1886, we will give a full set of the Handy Commentary on the five books of Moses (5 volumes) and the Life of Christ. This work is by two learned Egyptian divines and is highly recommended by Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. It is a small price, and expert work, with be weight in gold to any one who would study the Bible profitably. Now, dear brethren, this is a big offer for us. We need and must have better support for the paper.

3D NOTE.—We have resolved to ask all the ministers who subscribe for the RECORDER at the Conferences to kindly change their plan and send in their annual subscriptions the week before the conference meets. Our plan is as follows: Pay your subscriptions before conference, say 10 days; we will send you a receipt in our stub book to the conference; you hand the receipt to us and we send you a package of postal cards, all printed, by return mail. The same will be on the receipt already written out, and you will receive both a receipt for your money and a card. Then as the adjournment, when the appointments are read each year, you only need to put your new post office address on the card and mail it to us, and the paper will be sent to your charge or dear brethren, will save delay to you and help us in our business generally. We cannot just all, or even half, of the conferences, but we can approximate that and if our brethren will be good enough to help us in this matter we will be lost in the whirlpool of business dispatch. Shame to say, but intemperance has crept into our churches and annual conference. What a shame to see him, who pretends to lead sed teach the people to do honest, just and right things, make himself a mountebank or disgrace. A minister of Christ, a teacher of good and holy things, a watchman upon the walls, to drink whisky, to get drunk, to do anything to call out words or actions, is enough to provoke the unbelieving of heaven upon him. Rev. Sam says, "don't expose the ministry." Well, sir, we might just as well expose him as for him to expose his self and himself. When we retain one drunkard or immoralist in our ministry we prove to the world that we recognize such, though it be contrary to the word of God; we show that we are not a perfect Christian courage to raise the hand of vengeance against him. Brethren, such a one if he will not be reproved." Let Ezekiel, the watchman, clear his skirts, sweep. I say is the name of God when humanity let us get rid of whisky drinking preachers. I say, let us commence at the head, and come down to the feet, and purge the whole body of every man and woman in the church who is given to intemperance. What say you, Mr. Editor? I will put my money down, and I believe the majority of our brethren will do the same. We are ready to receive the names of your preachers, and your daily subscribers. Please send us the names of the subscribers of each of the conferences, and we will send you a receipt for your money. Please send us the names of the brethren who did pay for six months free. Please do not put before hand and save the trouble to you and expense to us by sending them. Please try it once and let us see how it will work.

5TH NOTE.—Left entirely without support or help of any sort, such as has been given to all the Managers here for sixteen years past, we are having a hard time of it. Sometimes at the end of the month we are compelled to use hundreds of dollars to meet the month's expenses, and have to use up the sinews of war. Please be prompt and send us money for months in advance. We have resolved to turn again rigidly to the cash plan—then if we have it we pay, if not we don't. We earnestly entreat all who owe us to pay us what they owe us.

5TH NOTE.—To any one who will send us 10 cash subscriptions for one year we will send William Hisory of the Colored Race. To any minister or other person who will send us ten cash subscriptions ($20.00) and $11.00 in money, we will ship a complete set of Chamers' Household Cyclopedia, ten volumes, cloth bound and fresh from the press. We are sorry we have not volumes to offer for subscribers, but can't speak of any more. We must have more and more names.

J. C. EMBRY.

"SELF-MADE MEN."

At the recent commencement of the high school in Washington, Mrs. Phillipdelphia, one of the finest papers read was upon the above theme. A Household Remedy.

Ayer's Pills are invaluable for children, and should always be kept ready for use in case of an emergency. "I have used Ayer's Pills, in my family, for the past fifteen years. I give them to my children, in preference to any other physic, and always with satisfactory results. We consider this medicine a household necessity, and could do without it. — R. F. Stevenson, Yonkers, N. Y.

I have used Ayer's Cathartic Pills, in my family, for ten years. They are pleasant and safe to take, and agree with my children better than any medicine known to me. For stomach, liver, and bowel complaints, I consider Ayer's Pills unequalled. — Mrs. Helen H. Perrin, Jackson, Miss.

I have used Ayer's Pills for over twenty years, and am never without them. As a family medicine they are unsurpassed. — Jacob Swope, New Haven, Conn.

I have used Ayer's Pills many years, in my practice and in my family, and have found them entirely satisfactory as a cathartic medicine. — George E. Walker, M. D., Martinsville, Va.

Ayer's Pills are made from the concentrated extracts and active remedial properties of purely vegetable substances. They are therefore more powerful and safer than pills made by the ordinary processes, with powdered drugs. "I have used Ayer's Pills from childhood. They have been my family medicine for years, and never fail to give perfect satisfaction. — Mrs. C. E. Clark, Tewksbury, Mass.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills are considered a household necessity in my neighborhood, and always give perfect satisfaction. Our many customers invariably use them in their practice. — Caleb Tilton, Ringgold, Allendale, Ga.

We have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla Pills many years, and think them a very safe and excellent family aperient. — A. H. Foster, Children's Home, Westville, Conn.

For the past five years I was seldom free from the torturing pains of Neuralgia. At last I discovered a remedy in Ayer's Cathartic Pills, which not only afforded immediate relief, but have completely cured me. — Mrs. Lemuel N. Dunnewith, Bittencourt, Uruguay.

PHILADELPHIA, DEC. 2, 1886

THERE are some good points in Brother Madison's article.

COLORED NEWSPAPERS spring up entirely too fast for the ordinary mind to keep pace with them.

WE HAVE not been able to give our readers the results of Endowment Day. We should be very glad to do so.

IT IS REMARKABLE that while they have had wieter all around us, Philadelphia has had no snow to mention.

READ BROTHER Seymore's article. We have few wiser or more vigorous writers than he. We wish he would write more frequently.

THE Signs of the Times is the name of a new sight page paper, published in St. Louis, Mo., and edited by Rev. O. Hunt. Success, brother.

THE PITTSBURGH CONFERENCE has about 2,400 members and collected about $1,160 Dollar Money, about 48 per cent. Next to Philadelphia.

AGAIN let me call the attention of those who have the responsibilities of home to the necessity of supplying these homes with books as well as pictures.

THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER is the paper for every family desiring a good Church journal. There are few other papers containing more original matter.

THE REV. C. H. Green takes 25 copies of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER in Long Branch, N. J., with only twenty members. There is another prosperous church.

THE North Carolina Conference opened as pleasantly as the dawn of a May morning, with Bishops Campbell, Shorter and Turner present, the latter presiding. The Rev. W. F. Giles, secretary.

EVERY member of our Church should remember our missionaries in prayer and in missionary meetings. We must learn no cause for complaint of lack of interest in this undertaking and then faithful laborers.

INSTEAD of being at Farmville, Va., as the RECORDER stated, the Rev. G. W. Taylor, formerly of the West Kentucky Conference, is stationed at Wytheville, where he would be pleased to hear from his friends.

WE MUST increase our subscription list, friends. Tell your neighbors they can get the CHRISTIAN RECORDER from now till January 1, 1888, for $2. Don't fail to read our club rates in another column. Make up a club, get the premiums.

THE FUSION of the labor and temperance classes in politics, if possible, would make a strong party, but these two will hardly join forces for a long while. Each of them needs to broaden in order to become strong in politics. They both need more liberality of principle Each needs all the other has and more.

SHOULD Germany and Russia engage to war with each other, there is no guessing the extent of the results; for these great powers once more would disturb the affairs of all Europe and prove the signal for the greatest revolution that the world has known. Smaller dependencies would become footballs for these powers LEVEL HEADEDNESS and level heartedness go together. If the heart is not in proper relation with man we may expect much irregular, abrupt and ungrace us action. If the heart is not right with God we may expect much ungraciousness and blasphemous action. More of the spirit of Christ will insure less of the ungodliness of the evil one among men.

THE REV. W. H. Bryant entertained the editor of the RECORDER two weeks ago at Concord, Pa. Concord is one of our charming little church works, a cheerful people and a cheerful pastor. The places of its members have a larger number of subscribers to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. In

The church edifice at Shrewsbury, Monmouth county, is said by the Trenton True American to be 117 years old, and is built on the site of an old stone church erected over 200 years ago. A Bible which was presented by Queen Anne is used in the services. The Bible is printed in red and black inks, on thick paper, in quaint type.

The police of Brooklyn are getting ready with petitions and papers to ask the next Legislature to advance their salaries. The schedule to be applied for is: Captain, $2500 instead of $2000; sergeants, $2000 instead of $1500; roundsmen, $1800 instead of $1200; patrolmen who have served five years, $1200 instead of $1000.

Marseilles, says a writer on the London News, because of its hot and dazzling aspect, and perhaps its frequent relations with Egypt, is greatly afflicted with eye diseases. So it Prussia, for different reasons. Alsace is the region this side of the Rhine where there are the most frequent children. The cities of Italy most unfortunate in this respect are Milan and Florence, and in the United States the large New England towns.

THE GREAT WAR DUKE—"Is the organ dumb?" asked Mr. Beecher on Sunday evening, turning around and looking up at the occupant of the organ loft. He had finished his discourse, and he and the great audience, completed filling Plymouth Church even to the aisles, had waited awhile to permit the choir to begin the singing of the closing hymn. The organist looked distressed. "The organ bellows will sing the closing hymn," said Mr. Beecher. "and I sing on would fit that organ or burn it up."

The former manager of an unfortunate local theatrical venture was negotiating for a certain dramatic attraction to fill the failing gap of dull dates. He received a telegram from the agent of the company, agreeing to come for 80 per cent. of the gross receipts. Although staggered at first by such unheard of terms, the Lowell manager recovered sufficiently to wire a reply in these words: "Cannot give you more than 65 per cent; willing to go ragged; must eat."—Lowell (Mass.) Citizen.

One of Alabama's most prominent female contributors to the press is Miss Gordon Duffee, of Blount Springs. She is known as the "Queen of the Mountains," and writes to several journals, both North and South, under the name of "Mary Dodd." Besides she is a poet-ess of no lovely mountain in Blount county, of these in ancient and classic style, carries a green umbrella and wears a basket of flowers behind her door for protection from intruders. She is one of the oddest developments of literary life in the South.

AN OFFENSIVE BREATH is a most distressing, not only to the person afflicted with it, but to all who come to those with whom he comes in contract. It is a delicate matter to speak of, but it has parted not only friends but lovers. Bad breath and catarrh are inseparable. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases as thousands can testify.

It is stated that the first temperance society in Russia was established by a Swedish missionary. At present there is a temperance hall in St. Petersburg, where nightly gospel temperance meetings are held.

FOR COUGHS, SORE THROAT, ASTHMA, Catarrh, and diseases of the Bronchial Tubes, no better remedy can be found than "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Sold everywhere.

Intemperance is said to be strictly prohibited among the employees of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Any employee addicted to the use of intoxicants is first warned, and if he does not forgo the evil habit, he is dismissed.

Catarrh oftentimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

A girl bandit, who is believed to be the real chief of a gang of train-robbers, has been arrested in the province of Rio Norte, Colorado. She is known to be a born horse thief, and is said to be a sure shot with a pistol.

The Court Journal (London) says: "Londrop's Edenia and Marechal Neil Rose are both remarkable for delicacy and richness, and for the permanence of their sweet smelling savour."

The Duke of Westminster has just erected the Presidency of the London Temperance Hospital.

The germs of scrofula are destroyed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

Peanut vines in Kearney county, Kansas, are said to have yielded thirty bushels to the acre this year.

The "historian" of the Boston Record is reminded of a little episode in the career of the Rev. Mr. Chaubie, an Episcopal clergyman of Hartford, Connecticut, for some time presided over the religious services in one of our suburban towns. Chaubie was a good deal of a card-sharp as well as a faithful pastor. One day he happened in at a sporting house, where about dinner time, and meekly accepted an invitation to dinner. He found the table decorated with a sporadic display here and there, with nothing that promised the slightest appetizing for relief to the appetite or the palate.

"Mr. Chaubie," said the head of the house, "will you offer our thanks for these viands?"

"I would be glad to accommodate you," said the clergyman, "but I haven't got the check!"

CATARRH CURED.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Dr. Lawrance, 212 East 9th St., New York, will receive the recipe free.

If you prefer to take hold of this, "Let us hear" from our readers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers needing to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and bill subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they may obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred of these papers, and expect copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 yearly. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—Those new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

ABSOLUTE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; relieves wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Iowa Conference.—I have on hand Hymn Books, Disciplines, Wayman's Manual, Order of Services in the A. M. E. Church and Love Feast Tickets. Send on your orders. See list of prices in CHRISTIAN RECORDER. I have always for sale other reading matter. Such as the General Manager may deem proper to furnish.

Installment sounds a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

NOTICE.

To the Pastors of the New York Annual Conference:

You will, according to law, convene your respective membership and elect two delegates who shall meet in the Electoral College which is to convene on the 17th of November, 1886, at New York, in Bethel Church, Sullivan street, at 10 A. M. for the purpose of selecting two Lay Delegates who will represent the Laymen in the coming General Conference of 1888.

B. H. CAIN, Bishop.

NOTICE.

To the Presiding Elders of the Georgia Conference:

Brethren: That I may properly prepare to entertain you, please inform me at once how many candidates for the itinerancy you will bring to the conference each will bring. Also, the number of General Officers expecting to attend please inform me. Brethren, do not fail. Ministers bring their wives and will have to provide for them themselves.

Respectfully,
M. J. IRGRAHIM, Pastor.

To the Ministers of the Sixth Episcopal District:

Dear brethren, your attention is called to the necessity of raising and forwarding to the conferences a larger contingency or financial collection to help bear expenses of conference, and especially to defray expenses of getting out conference minutes. Last year we fished for the want of funds to get out the minutes of the Columbia Conference, and I'll mistake not we still owe something on the South Carolina Conference of four years ago. We must publish our conference minutes. Brethren, we cannot afford to be less, therefore I say, I again beg the presiding elders of each conference, and the pastors of each conference, to make a special effort in behalf of your next conference collection for this purpose. You will remember, dear brethren, that it is an absolute necessity that we have the minutes, therefore I shall expect you to do your duty.

Your affectionately,
JAS. A. SHORTER.

ON THE DEATH OF MRS. SHORTER.

BY M. E. L.

Softly, softly enter here!
Angel whispers fill the air,
As they gently bear away
Spotless, the last of pain and care,
Waiting for the angel guard
To convey this soul to heaven.

Fragile was her gentle form.
But her heart was strong in love,
Clearly s'er pure and warm,
Grace within sought room above,
Those she had for all, always;
Quite gentleness was her ways.

Oh! the day of care and grief,
Patient, self-forgetting care;
Thinking only of relief
For the pains her children bare
As she watched their slow decline,
Giving them choicest prime.

In His own time came the word,
"Arise my love, beloved, faithful one."
She and angels heard,
Blissful realms she entered on;
"He giveth his beloved sleep."

NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY BISHOP WAYMAN

Dear Brethren, Texas, on Tuesday, November 16th, and on Wednesday my birthday. I was born a slave, but am now a free man at 9 o'clock. There was not a quorum present at the hour and there is the conference to a recess at 10 5 o'clock P. M. When the conference assembled there was a majority present. Dr. J. W. Randolph was elected secretary and Rev. H. J. Lynch assistant. Texas Conference is the smallest one in the State, and being held in Galveston, which is one of the most, if not so largely attended as if it had been held in some other place. The city of Galveston was visited not long ago with an overflow of water which threw the people had fears about coming to conference. There were twelve preachers admitted on trial in the Texas Conference, three from the M. E. church, one from the Zion A. M. E. Church. They were a class of promising young men. Rev. Frank Green, the father of the conference, asked for a supernumeral relation. In his speech he said he was present when the first conference met in the State and that he had stood at his post as long as he could, and because he could stand no longer he asks, therefore, that this conference grant him his request. The old warhorse of African Methodism is growing feeble in age. The seal Brother Green was not the only one in the conference who felt that it was a solemn time to witness the retirement from active work of the father of his conference. Bishop Gaines in his admission were asked if they used tobacco and sworn. Some of the preachers said they did, but promised to abandon it in the future. Whether they will do it or not remains to be seen. The conference was only able to contribute twenty-five dollars for the relief of the Charleston, S. C., disaster. Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of Charleston, S. C., was present and received great kindness from it. I consider it an excellent medicine for the diseases it is designed to cure. — Rufus A. Tremain, Cuyahoga county, N. Y.

One bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife, It cured me of severe bronchial trouble when other remedies failed. — George B. Hunter, Atizona, Pa.

THE CONFERENCE.

This is the largest conference we have ever visited in the connection. The annual roll comprises 101, besides Bishops and visitors. The big roll of active pastors represents a constituency of twenty thousand members. Here, as in every plain, we see the strength and hope of the race in America manifestly, and, as in many other respects, it must be confessed, these people have become the center of African-American influence. In this we so, it follows that whatever the masses in Georgia become in the future, the race as a whole will be in this Republic, whether wail or ill. Some may dispute this, but to our mind it is clearly true. We have no time to debate it. A majority of these one hundred preachers are natives of Georgia. They are hopeful and full of enterprise. From all we can gather by questioning these men concerning the state of things throughout the commonwealth, the outlook is very encouraging. It is not State of this Republic in opposition to the spirit of caste and the surviving influence of slavery strong-er than in this State of Georgia. But the watchword of the colored people of Georgia is forward, and forward they move. In the matter of the schools in time is three months. The amount allotted is five cents per diem per scholar. This will ultimately reach the white scholars. This allows $105 per term, or $315 per month. The schools are held in but, in fact, no colored teacher in a district school ever receives this sum; it is generally scaled down by non attendance or some other subterfuge to about $15 or $20 per month. It is true, a white overseer's pay amounts to more than $60. Often these white overseers have no schools and are told that in some few of the counties six to nine months are allowed and also a little better scale of pay. Colored teachers holding first grade certificates are paid as high as $45. But even in these cases the pay is often deferred until the following December. For example, one minister's wife, who is a first grade teacher, and a school averaging sixty pupils, has been engaged for a year and has not been paid a dollar. Many ministers have been a little hobbled to find out what particular angel has been appointed to look after the interests of the colored people during this period in the history of the Church did not appear to us. Some of the angels that have been appointed to look after the interests of the colored people have been weak, and all the languages that were then spoken; some thought it referred to the "sign of the cross" in the heavens; others supposed it referred to Luther, the great German reformer, who kindled a light that went far over the hills of Germany and over all England, until he was lost in the land of Carolina. Dr. Clark does not agree with either of these. He supposed it referred to Great Britain and America. But, however, this is God's work in all the languages, easterly and broadcast from centre to circumference. The doctor may be correct and he may not.

Another has said it referred to or represented the great band of missionaries that should raise up best men all over the world to go with speed to save the lost and to preach the gospel to them that dwell upon the earth. And I am inclined to adopt the latter opinion, that the angel which John saw flying in the midst of heaven represented the great band of missioners and their mission, preaching the everlasting gospel to dy-ing men from every nation, kindred, tongue and people. And now, as a proof, go with me if you please to that upper chamber at Jerusalem, and to the dark scene of calvary. The Son of God was laid in Joseph's new tomb. Before his entombment he had told his disciples that they would be scattered, and that he would be slain and resurrected. He had told them, too, that all power in earth and in heaven was given unto him, and he commissioned them to go into all the world and to preach the gospel to every creature. They were to go West, go North, go South, as far as the matter has sailed the sea, the traveler has gone, the blood stained banner of Immanuel, representing the love that dwell upon the earth. Though their number was small, they were to go out in the power of the Holy Ghost and in the spirit of Pentecost, in the midst of the Greeks and the skeptic opinions of the Pharisees, and the Sadducees, and the Roman rulers, and men have been crying in the light of the heavens, preaching the everlasting gospel to them that dwell upon the earth and this is remarkable, when one comes to get to death. God raised another. You remember Stephen was stoned to death, and a young man named Saul, who exiled and Paul was beheaded at Rome. While these went down, God raised up others. They have multiplied for eighteen hundred years. Their descendants are found in all parts of the globe, they are just commencing on the other side. When the minister on the other side of the water, in the congregation, "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all," the other side is angling his introduction hymn. So the churches are moving on, making progress; hence books were few and behind the reach of all but the wealthy. In this period the poorer classes were not taught to read; and even if they had been, books were too high for them in the sight of her husband. The schools of education were limited and the whole system corrupt; but when Christianity dawned upon the world with its rays of the sun, so brilliant were its rays. Virtue in its truest sense began to arise and to spread. She arrived at her light shone. Through the influence of the gospel, the Roman nations of the globe becoming Christian. The people discusses and the press moved on. From that time forward the commerce of the world has been the handmaid of the gospel. Every new bridge is public evil and no power can stop it. Every new railroad is a gospel highway which is never to be broken. We learn that the early conversion of the printing press the people used language, in respect to spelling and writing, too much as they pleased.

In order to be successful in what we call education we must have some standard by which to be guided. The same applies to the ministers, for it is a fact that if every person had confined to the same system from one dollar to fifty cents per month, and thank God, the Republican party showed up nobly all along the line, but it has continued to keep the people in such know and love the doctrine and ways of the Church, on the other hand, who have her prosperity at heart. We have in the past, and at this time, questions: 1. Shall our Bishops rotate? 2. Shall we change our Dollar Money system from one dollar to fifty cents per month? 3. Shall we elect more Bishops? 4. If so, how many, and what salary shall we pay? 5. Shall the presiding elders be appointed every year, or be left optional with the annual conferences? 6. Where shall our publishing department be located and what location is most the wants of our people? 7. The publication of the A. M. E. Church and the A. M. E. Zion Church. 8. High church ritual service. 9. Consolidation or secession as advanced by Dr. Rev. Bishop John M. Brown. 10. Hymn and foreign missions, work. What is our income, church debag? 12. Shall one man manage our financial department? The twelve above named questions are some of the things we as a Church must be wide awake upon. Come, brethren, and let us reason together and legislate for the good of our beloved Zion. We must take care of our home mission work as well as our foreign, and our young men must be home on poor missions must be cared for. Look well, brethren, and legislate wisely for the future. Be wide awake to the work.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN AMERICA.

Rev J. C. Wand, in a recent address before the British Baptist Total Abstinence Association, referred to the awful pitfalls and destructive influence of the liquor traffic in Africa, said:

"A few facts and figures will indicate the extent of this traffic. The quantity of spirits in Africa from Great Britain, Germany, Portugal and the United States is about a year amounted to nearly 9,000,000 gallons! And these gallons are not drunk without a price, for they are dealt out to the natives. One of the National African Company's factories recently exported 25,000 cases of gin and rum for the supply of two factories only. Mr. Hendly says he has heard of 50,000 or 60,000 cases of gin as an annual sale of certain factories of Liverpool. The average price per 'puncheon' of alcohol is sometimes used as an article of barter, though in the moralization which is the effect of this destructive traffic is almost incredible. The shrewd trader reckons upon the opening up of the Congo as affording him a new field for the retail trade. He will put his casks of spirits against all the riches of trade, and believes he will be sure to win. There is no inexpressible horror in the way of the liquor traffic of this great river at present. It is a fair river. It has islets all adorned with cruel coloring. THE VOICES OF POWER.

BY MRS BELLE B DORCH

The music of the spheres is not a monotone, but is composed of myriads of melodious sounding through the ages; like unto the golden tones which measure the progress of civilization is not solitary. We notice that one brilliant star seldom shines unattended; it is surrounded by an infinite number of stars of less brilliancy. be one great voice seldom reaches without the accompaniment of others. The has been the case throughout all the struggles of our growth.

Every age has had its peculiar tones which are the most powerful tones of to day? The civilized, the essayist, the lecturer, the political orator, the press an opinion correctly and the pulpit are the voices of power.

The pulpit of to day is too often made common by what are supposed to be simple orations and by the essay, the lecture or manner. How often do we listen with horror and disgust to the jub

PHILADELPHIA, DEC. 9, 1886

THE North Carolina Conference did not quite equal its last year in Dollar Money, but it threatens to nearly double this year's report next year.

AMBITION is the exercise of natural and proper forces, but, like the exercise, may be abused by too great injuring the person exercising them and others as well.

WE ARE thankful that there is justice and true moral courage, when it comes to the color-line, in the hearts of some white men in this country, as in the case of Judge Caldwell.

YEAR BY YEAR we can but observe the steady growth of our ministry in its intellectual strength and power. The march is constant and regular. It may be feared that the growth in intellect is greater than that in morals; it is well that we fear lest it should be the case. A people coming from where we have come, has a mighty struggle with old habits and ill-formed notions, to gain the solid footing of the best people of this world. But for this excellence the African Methodist Church is striving very patiently.

"HOME, SWEET HOME," is the sound that leads men on towards their heavenly home. A people regarding home as can scarcely be well trained for heaven The best conceptions of the home idea are brought into exercise in the practice of that faith which looks to everlasting excellence.

We have great need to excite our people to higher notices of home. True, this idea of home among us is far above what it was twenty-five years ago. Parents and mothers who regard the house of the present as a place to eat in and that which to eat and sleep, have very low conceptions of home and are poorly adapted to the training of the young in the proper notions of home. Little children who are put out to play in the streets all day, poorly clad and poorly fed, are not encouraging signs of the future of the race. Let home be much more than a house; let it include all that is included in the proper idea of those associations which characterize all those things which make up the idea of family and all the exercises which should flow from those relations. In religious life at home there must be much grace exercised and much manifestation of God's love and inspiring joy.

CONFERENCE MEETING AND PREACHING.

Few scenes exite better feelings in a careful observer than the meeting of a Methodist Conference. Hope, assurance, geniality, good cheer, enthusiasm and resignation combine to pencil on every face a rouge the brightest found in human association. During the first week's session the keen manifestations of those feelings exhibited in first meeting are worn off, friendships are strengthened in some cases and in others weakened. The danger of the second element of death in the ranks, the settlement of difficulties, the sad messages from home and the anxiety of probable changes of hopes, combine to show the whole conference. The exchange of opinion, the receipt of intelligence of the vastness of missionary, educational and general work during the year and the religious enthusiasm gained by exercise in the Christian services of the conference are also modifiers tending to create more solid feelings respecting the great mission upon which ministers are sent.

After five or six days everyone realizes that the time is near when his suspense will be ended and the veil will be lifted from the face of their probable home for the twelve months following.

There are nearly always a few who anticipate no change; there are some who, though they do expect change, have not the slightest idea where their place will be; there are still others who cannot settle whether or not they are to have a new home for the coming twelve months, and others who know not whether they will have any assignment. At last the solemn hour comes when the announcement that the appointments will be made. The pulse of nearly every member is quickened for a moment. The issuing of appointments is often the declaration of disappointments. The men who go out from that house look little like those who entered a week before. Many are cheerful, it is true, but all are weary. Many are anxious to go to their new work, but many others are sad at the thought of returning to the work which they have left. Some feel that the responsibilities placed upon them by their new appointments are greater than they can bear. But, coming and going, acting in the session or the field, the Methodist Conference is a body of true, earnest men, whose work leads as strongly and practically toward the proper development, proper civilization, as any other class of Christian men.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

The nineteenth session of the North Carolina Conference sat in Newberne, North Carolina, at 9 o'clock A. M. Wednesday, Nov. 24, 1886, Bishop H. M. Turner, B.D., LL.D., in the chair. Devotional exercises were conducted by the Bishop, assisted by Bishop J. P. Campbell, D.D., LL.D. and J. A. Shorter. The services were repeated in an order that rendered their impression very great. Rev. W. H. Giles, being elected secretary, chose as assistants Revs. W. H. Gaspeheart and W. G. Caine. The committee remained as last year, with few exceptions. Rev. B. F. Lee was elected correspondent to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, Revs. B. F. Arnold and H. C. Nunn were made marshalls, and J. W. Talbot, conference postmaster. Bishop Turner then ordained Rt. Revs. J. P. Campbell, D.D., LL.D., and J. A. Shorter, and the Revs. G. H. Cain, B. W. Arnett, D.D., G. S. Smith, M.D., and B. F. Lee to the conferences the first session. Very thrilling and timely remarks were made by these fathers and brethren. During the session several prominent brethren were introduced at different times. On the first, second and third days pastoral reports were read. These reports showed a slight decrease in Sunday school and Dollar Money receipts, but the receipts for education were increased. The membership reported was greatly in excess of the previous year.

The annual sermon was preached by Rev. C. S. Smith, text, Isaiah 62, 10. Dr. B. W. Arnett preached the Thanksgiving sermon, Text, "The Lord has done wonderful things for us, whereof we are glad." The evening sermon was preached on the adoption of reports on education, Sunday schools and missions. The educational and missionary anniversary meetings were very largely attended by citizens. The former had for its principal attraction an exceedingly well arranged paper on Baptism, by the Rev. I.S.A. Murphy, and an able address by President B. B. Goins, of the Kittrell School. The missionary meeting was addressed by Revs. J. A. Barham, R. H. W. Lee and Rev. J. P. Campbell. The address of the latter was lengthy, including statements of the early missionary movements of the A. M. E. Church and its present missionary work. The congregation was delighted by the Bishop's address.

On Sunday morning Bishop Campbell preached. Sunday afternoon the editor of this paper preached and at night Rev. J. G. Pry. Brother Pry is a very lively, pointed preacher, quickly drawing his audience into his sympathy. The annual sermon by Secretary Smith was strong in urging that the proper standard be set up before the people. It was practical and salutary. His condemnation of robe-wearing was probably not very effective. Notwithstanding much fear had been exercised regarding the result of the meeting of this conference from rumors afloat, it was short in peaceable and well conducted as the average conference.

On Saturday evening Bishop Brown arrived, and Monday evening preached a very fatherly and enlightening sermon on the necessity of the Church of God to-day to go and preach. The business of the North Carolina Conference was attended to to quite an orderly way. Of course, the old wrangle had had its influence, which every now and then arrayed, but we feel safe in saying that this conference may be relied upon in future as in the past as one of the most loyal of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. The committee remained as last year, with few exceptions. Rev. B. F. Lee was elected correspondent to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, Revs. B. F. Arnold and H. C. Nunn were made marshalls, and J. W. Talbot, conference postmaster. Bishop Turner then ordained Rt. Revs. J. P. Campbell, D.D., LL.D., and J. A. Shorter, and the Revs. G. H. Cain, B. W. Arnett, D.D., G. S. Smith, M.D., and B. F. I took four bottles of this preparation last spring, and my appetite, health, and strength were completely restored.—Richard M. Norton, Danbury, Conn.

My wife was long subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. After trying various remedies, without relief, she used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was speedily benefited.—E. P. Capen, 21 Ainsley st., Lowell, Mass.

Troubles

Never come alone. If the Liver, Kidneys, or Bowels are disordered, other parts of the body become affected. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restores the vigor required for the healthy action of these organs more speedily than any other medicine. A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

I was afflicted with a severe bowel difficulty; my vitality seemed to be rapidly diminishing, my appetite failed, my tongue was badly coated, and my strength was gone. PHILADELPHIA, DEC. 16, 1886

THAT is indeed a noble response to our circular card from Mr. J. R. Blackburn, published elsewhere. Let others follow his example and the future of the RECORDER will be assured.

THE CONDITION of the races in association on this continent is going to prove as fast as would please our best people. The unscrupulous and unreasonable prejudice exercised against our race do not die at the same rate as we advance in culture and worth. Prejudices are always unreasonable, but in this case seem to be especially so. There is no argument to justify it. We can but hold American white church people responsible for much of it and American white church people responsible for some it; but this must not be understood as holding both sides equally responsible, for, on our part, it is largely defensive and protective. Crowded off to ourselves, left alone, what if we grow selfish and narrow? Shall we give our brethren a fair showing when our turn comes?

THE PRESBYTERIAN eldership is an excellent opportunity for vast good as well as for vast evil in our Church. The office, filled with men strong in sympathy, strong in comprehension of the true state and real wants of the masses, willing to distribute, ready to communicate, capable of measuring men by their real worth instead of by their patronage, would be of substantial and permanent good. The greater part of the difficulties in our government by presiding elders seems to result from ignorance of law and men on the part of these functionaries, or from the assumption and arrogance. In distributing literature, teaching proper observation of the relationship between members and ministers, instructing in the law, unifying methods of the church and the organization of law and indoctrinating the masses, the office may be rendered very powerful. But, alas! how few such men we have. Many men known to be unfit for the office are placed in it because no better can be spared. Many of the best ministers of a district soon become "my men," and are held under the thumb of their elder instead of being free to think and vote on any topic as they feel to be their duty.

MANY OF THE schools in small towns and in country places in the South are still only the poorest of excuses for schools. So many persons sit in teachers' places who know next to nothing to teach. Those lessons of industry, thrift, neatness, good taste and virtue, so requisite to the proper training of youth, are so largely neglected in those schools that progress is exceedingly slow. Children are too often kept bending the rounds of a circle established in the first year of their school life till they grow weary of the very thought of school. This circle is the measure of their teacher's knowledge. That teacher is so lazy or so incapacitated that he does not develop; hence the stand-still of his pupils. Our ministers could do something to improve this state of affairs, doubtless are doing so; but it will not be entirely obviated till a much larger number of our people become educated sufficiently to enable a good and critical observation to be exercised at home of the ability and the progress of their children. So long as education is confined to the children and tends to elevate children so far beyond parents as to place the amount gained beyond the computation and appreciation of parents, education must be inferior. The lively criticism by our colored papers of the words of our learned men has been very salutary to the race; so it would be if our parents were able to criticise teachers.

THE SUNNY SOUTH CHURCH UP.

It was our pleasure to be in Georgia and Alabama during the cold snap of last week and the week before. It was a surprise to the people much like that which the unexpected dash of an army would be. A heavy snow of nearly one foot depth in Atlanta in early December is about as unwelcome a visitor as would be such a snow in Philadelphia in early September. Houses were still open, and to say this of houses in the South is to say that they were what, in the North, is unteachable. Among the poorer classes floors were open, loose shingles and clap-boards still answered to the call of the winds, the coal-hole was empty and the dealers in fuel were ill-prepared for the rush; clothing was yet to be bought for winter "after Christmas," overshoes and woolen stockings had hardly been thought of. In short, few outside those in "good circumstances" were prepared in any sense for such falling in the temperature. The snow fell with the same earnestness and rapidity that give it such character for unmerciefulness in the farther North. The Chinese tree, the elm, cedar, pine and other evergreens bowed themselves low in humility at being submitted to such cold treatment. The roofs of great buildings eried out under the super-weight for their structure, some of them giving way with terrible crash. Pedestrians, in too many cases unprepared for the sleet that accumulated on the streets, were breaking their way through the snow below and the snow above with difficulty. Street cars battled with their too formidable opponent, a second team of mules or horses was added, shovels were set to work, the cars frequently became set to the snow, sometimes thrown off; street car traveling was much slower than walking. On Sunday and Monday sleigh bells rang, improvised and regular sleighs broke the monotony of the carriages and cars. Boys and girls, men and women coasted upon the hillsides, on chairs, barrel staves, crooked logs, etc—very few sleds. To a Northerner it was surprising to see how many sleighs they have stowed away in the "Sunny South" waiting the occasional treat of a snow. Seeing the recklessness with which half clad girls sed boys of our people indulged in snow-balling and the total exposure of many little bare feet to the snow, one could but shudder in anticipation of the fearful burroot of death that is liable to follow; consumptive, pneumonia and a score of other diseases will get their work in on the foundation laid by the snow.

Few persons could be drawn to church on Sunday. Churches with capacity for two thousand and one hundred and fifty Sunday schools were poor scenes. Even the excitement of an Annual Conference, which before the cold days scanned an almost crowded house through the day and every night a jammed house, on the every Sunday, notwithstanding the most exciting scene of the session had taken place on Saturday, drew no more than a very poor congregation for ordinary Sundays. Where conference collections had reached upwards of $20 in warm evenings, they amounted to less than $15 all day Sunday. The fact is, it is not customary to take any collection. It would have been a generous act in the conference to have sent messengers to the homes of the poor with a morsel of bread or a handful of fuel to mitigate their sufferings. Such a thing is done all around, that conference could have done good for two hundred bodies. The suffering has only begun. The cold has closed many avenues to souring support, increased necessities in fuel, clothing, food and shelter by one hundred per cent. and sent bitter discouragement to busy hearts. Oh, for real charity, charity that considers the poor! We write at Opelika, Ala., a hundred miles south of Atlanta. Here the condition of things is even worse than in Atlanta; because there is less wealth in the town and there is also poor provision for supplying the wants of the people. The fact is, to look at the houses, not of the poor alone, but of many of the well-to-do, not like colored people alone, but the whites also, it is marvelous what meager preparations are made in all this Southland for cold weather. Roofs, sides and floors of houses in thousands of cases are entirely open—more so than our stables, more so than many of our sow-houses. This is all well in summer and in mild winters, but O! how hard for this Northern blast. Men seem utterly beguiled by the excuse that the people "live so South" in the real South. But the real South is ecostantly growing colder in winter. Last winter Jacksonville and New Orleans vied with Baltimore and Philadelphia in temperature, and many of the people in the South must awaken to facts as they are. They must provide themselves with better clothing, food and house. They must save more of their summer's earnings for winter subsistence. They must lay in more fuel in the fall. They must surely be more careful of their children in preparing them for the exposure of school going, bare smaller rooms and substitute stoves for fire-places.

OUR WORK IN THE SOUTH

A study of the status of the race-variety in the South is ead; especially when that study leads one to retrospect to get the foundation of the present status. Martyrs to the principles of freedom all the race pioneers in the South may be called. The establishment of the right of foreign white men to live on the red man's continent was attended with scarcely more injustice and outrage than has been the attempt to establish the right of the black man to freedom in the land of which the white man robbed the red man. In this stroke for liberty, human rights and noble manhood, our Church has occupied a place in the front rank and in the hottest of the fight. No other organization of colored men has done nearly so much to transform the millions of men with the feelings and consequent energies of slaves into men of the highest type of manhood. Our General Conference is the Athens of the South, having fine institutions of a higher order, viz., Spillman, Brewe, Atheta and Clark. It was our pleasure to visit the latter upon the invitation of Prof. Cregman, the learned professor of classics, President Thayer being absent, attending the Savanesh Conference of the M. E. Church at Griffie, Ga. We met Prof. Thirkield, the efficient dean of the theological school and the husband of a daughter of the lamented Bishop Gilbert Haven; also Prof. Parks, whose acquaintance with the theological faculty recently has added so much to Clark's strength. At Clark University much attention is given to its industrial education. They are turning out some superb carriages, carriages worth $200, doing all parts of the work by student labor, overseen by skilled mechanics. They have also a printing office, which turns out fine work. Neither space nor time permits us to more say all that we should like to say socrning Clark University. We are happy to learn that a number of African Methodist ministers, as well as others, are acquiring there a good education. The great schools of the South, as well as those of the North, are making perceptible gains on vice of all kieds. The State of Georgia is the leading Southern State in respect to education, especially in the interest it has created among the white people. The second report issued by Bishop Sherter with two since last March. Still he is eboorful, vigerous and ready. It is a question how many conferences he could hold in the course of the year. RELIGION.

BY REV. P. C. CREWS.

According to some writers religion means to reconsider; to bind fast, or to reconsider. In the New Testament it is the will for God, and in a constant care of myself whatever we are persuaded that would disapprove, to dispatch the work of the Lord, and be ready at all times to promote his glory in the happiness of mankind.

Moral ethics treats religion under two general heads: natural and revealed religion, but the difference we shall not consider in this article.

God is the author of true religion, and if we believe the gospel of Jesus Christ it appears self-evident that God has planned the great salvation of man all the nations of the earth. Without religion the carnal nature of man will add sin to sin, and lead him from one degree of evil to another, until he bathes in the flames of hell. Hence for the coming soul. Reader, has God delivered thee from sin? I trust you will answer me, Yes. To overthrow sin and save the sinners from hell God has provided that religion which comes down from above and saves to the utmost all that come to him through Jesus Christ. The Bible speaks of a time when the whole earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord. What means will the Lord employ to spread his glory throughout earth? I trust, reader, you will answer, Christ, tells a graphic and powerful gospel of Christ, on the one hand, and in a note received from Rev. L. M. Beckett, B. D., pastor of the A. M. E. Church in Elmira, N. Y., under date Dec. 6th, he says: "I am succeeding nicely with my work. Yesterday was really Sabbath; we added to our list received $240. Seven have joined my church."

One hundred thousand Jews in different parts of the world have accepted Christianity since the beginning of this century, though only about two hundred and seventy missionaries have been employed among them. At the present time about a thousand Jews publicly go over to Christianity every year, and twenty-five missionaries are in charge of high position and superior intelligence.

Literature.

"Our Little Ones and the Nursery," a perfect little gem for the wee ones, opens the December number with a lovely picture, "Blessed is the Pure in Heart." The illustrations are beautiful and attractive, the stories are entertaining.

The December Dorcas Magazine is a Christmas gift in itself for those who have any taste for needle work and in expensive home decoration. It is full of helpful hints for sewing circles will be in knitting and crocheting. It has also a fine paper on oriental embroidery.

The Century for December is rich in biographical history, beginning with Admiral Du Pont of Henry Clay, with reminiscences of his life. Three portraits of Mr. Clay are given, one engraved by J. Johnson, from a daguerreotype by M. P. Simons; one as a young man from a miniature, and the third is from a photograph of Mr. Clay and his wife. "The Life of Lincoln," begun in the November Century, grows in interest. These papers are said to contain the most authentic statements in the whole career of the life of President Lincoln; also contained, historical story alone is enough to command the Century to all patriotic Americans. "The Food Supply of Animals and Europe" in a practical paper, by Edward Atkinson. "The Life of Berlioz" has for its subject, the world. "The Second Day of Septembury." Sonnets are contributed by Rob ert Burns Wilson and Henry Tyrrell and a poem, "Song of Christmas," by Louise Chandler Moulton.

The Christmas St. Nicholas has fur its frontispiece a charming Christmas picture by Reginald B. Birch. The illustrations and old-time Christmas poem, by Helen Gray cone, which opens the number. "The Boys of Parrott Academy" by H. H. Burnett's new fairy tale, is bright and amusing, throwing a new light on the habits and manners of fairy-folk. J. T. Trowbridge has a short story, "Jo of Bamberry Boys and their Flock of Sheep." The most striking feature of the number, which is also highly interesting, is the article on "How a Great Battle is Described in Music." The entire process of producing the marvelous effects obtained is described so as readily to be understood. It is written by Frederick R. Davis. There are two fine Christmas songs by the gentle verses and pictures by Alfred Brennan. There are also other fine articles by Dodge and others. The illustrations, drawn by several well-known artists, are entertaining. There is a jovial little face in Jack's Pulpit for the Christmas.

The December Brooklyn Magazine takes on a special and handsome appearance from this issue. Mrs. Harriet Lewis has given a great narrative of a spirited and delightful description of "Christmas in New England" during the time of the Puritans and now. Following this comes an exquisite bit of verse by Miss Edith M. Thomas, entitled, "A Christmas in the Tennessee Mountains." A new writer, Edward Fuller, has a capital and powerful short story "Which Was It?" This story alone is worth the price of the magazine Dr. Talmage has a brief and characteristic article on Christmas Bells. Dr. Lyman Abbott, Rev. Sec Sophie L. Scheock have each a Christmas story. Beatrice Chandler, Grace Harby, George Birdseye, Thomas S. Collier and Jessie Benedict Hunter add each a Christmas poem, while Mr. William H. Bishop contributes his series of county papers on "The Old New York Frontier." Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher goes into a description of "After Christmas, or My Visit Abroad." These some articles on "Neatness in Dress at Home," "Charity," "Seven Ways of Marrying," "The Use of Money," "The Past and Future of the African-American."

Dr. O. S. Smith was confined to his hotel several days by illness, by reason of sickness, but is recovering.

—Bishop Gilbert Haven is to have a monument, a tribute from two old friends and business associates.

—Miss Emma Thomas, daughter of Rev. Jesse Thomas, of the Arkansas Conference, is a student of Clark University.

—Bishop Payne hold the Alabama Conference last week. He certainly is wonderfully blessed with mental vigor and physical endurance.

—Prof. B. T. Washington and Mrs. Washington are spending several weeks in the city, the guests of Rev. Jesse E. Moorland, D. D., of the Howard University.

—The Alabama Conference elected as delegates to the General Conference: Rev. A. W. Atwater, H. O. Calhoun, [illegible] Fitzpatrick, Jas. Simms and R. H. Dixon.

—Last month Mr. Moody returned to Chicago, to devote three months to establishing permanent missions throughout the city, on the plan of the McAll mission in Paris.

—The Rev. C. L. Bradwell, formerly of Jacksonville, Fla., now of Chicago, is the will for God, and in a constant care of myself whatever we are persuaded that would disapprove, to dispatch the work of the Lord, and be ready at all times to promote his glory in the happiness of mankind.

Obituary.

Mrs. Mary E. Taylor, the wife of Rev. John M. Taylor, of Sinitor, Fa., departed this life Dec. 5, 1886, in the triumph of a living faith ago 68 years 11 months 21 days. She suffered greatly for several months, but bore her afflictions with great fortitude. Her last words to her husband were, "We must part, but we will meet again to be seen, where we will part no more." She left a home for him for it is well with my soul." The funeral service were held in Station Meeday 7 p. m. at 8 o'clock and reported before I also died Rev. T. Gould was in large phon for, who came from Philadelphia and preached her funeral sermon from 1 Cor. xv.55 57. The church was crowded, as she was great favorite. Rev. Gould of the church but by the entire community. After the services her remains were returned to the parsonage, where many friends who could not be at the church were permitted to see the body. "CASKIE, Green Co., N. Y.
August 19, 1886.
I can recommend Mr. Ashbourne to anybody that is in want of it. It has saved my sister who has been sewing all her life and also rheumatism. She says she is all right now. Before she used it she would be without a bottle for twice the price. I gave a bottle to my brother who had the rheumatism in the hip, and him to a few days.
FRANK EDWARDS.

Rosse Pa., Green Co., N. Y.
August 18th, 1886.

Two years ago this Summer I was nearly afflicted with rheumatism in my right knee and left shoulder, and was induced by a friend to try Ashbourne. I used it a bottle, got well, and have been comparatively free from rheumatism since. I have great faith in it, and have recommended it to my friends. So far as I know all who have tried it speak highly of it.
H. HARRIS.

Every druggist should keep Ashbourne and Athlophorus Pills, but where they cannot be bought, send 25 cents in stamps to Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophorus and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

Rheumatism

We doubt if there is, or can be, a speedier remedy for rheumatism; but unanimously who have used it say that it is the most effective relief by Hood's Sarsaparilla. If you have failed to find relief, you should not fail to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will neutralize the acidity of the blood which is the cause of the disease, and bottle up the whole system.

"I was afflicted with rheumatism twenty years. Previous to last I found no relief, but grew worse, until I was almost helpless. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done more good than all the other medicines I ever had." H. T. BALDOU, Shirley Village, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"FOOLSRUSH IN WHERE ANGELS FEAR TO TREAD."

So impetuous youth is often given to folly and indiscretions; and, as a result, nervous, mental and organic debility follow, memory is impaired, self-confidence is lacking; at night bad dreams occur, premature old age seems setting in, ruin is in the track. NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st, On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address
J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

To Brethren of the Four Educational District:

Please send in all Endowment Money at once so reports can be arranged and sent to conferences. The brethren and friends who have promised to make efforts later than the third Sunday in September, and those who have arranged for the second effort, will please rally at once and let us wind up this part of our work.

Yours for the cause,
L. M. BURGAN,
Secretary 4th Educational District.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

Fraternally,

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

Be Warned in Time.

Cure your Cough before you are beyond reach of human care or skill. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, properly administered, is a certain and speedy cure for all Throat and Lung Diseases. It is not a mere syrup, or cheap cough mixture, but a scientific preparation of great merit. "I used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, last spring, for a severe Cough, and for Lung trouble, with good effect. It completely cured me. —Harvey Baughman, Proprietor Globe Hotel, Mt. Gilead, Ohio.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

After other medicines failed, I was speedily cured of a dangerous Cough by the use of two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.—Rev. W. J. Chaplin, Pastor of the New Covenant Church, Chicago, Ill.

About five years ago I suffered from a very obstinate Cough, from which I was unable to obtain relief. I was finally persuaded, by a friend, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before taking half a bottle of this medicine, was entirely cured. Since then I have used it whenever needed, and always with good effect.—Charles Meacham, Westfield, Mass.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy I have ever found for Colds and Coughs, or for Throat and Lung diseases. I have used it in my family for many years. It always effects speedy cures.—J. F. Depuy, Londonderry, Ohio.

A few weeks ago I took a severe Cold, which, at first, I neglected to care for. In three days it affected my Lungs, and I became extremely ill. Breathing was most difficult and painful, and my family physician, not being able to come immediately to the house, sent directions that I should take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I was promptly relieved by the use of this medicine, and, after taking only one bottle, was entirely cured.—Andrew J. Davis, Atchison, Kansas.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe attack of Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take it, and, in a short time, was cured.—Ernest Collom, Logansport, Ind.

NOTICE.

To the Pastors of the New York Annual Conference:

You will, according to law, convene your respective membership and elect two delegates who shall meet in the Electorial College which is to convene on the 17th of November, 1886, at New York, in Bethel Church, Sullivan street, at 10 A. M. for the purpose of selecting two Lay Delegates who will represent said conference in the coming General Conference of 1888.

R. H. CAIN, Bishop.

NOTICE.

To the Presiding Elders of the Georgia Conference:

Brethren: That I may properly prepare to entertain you, please inform me at once how many candidates for the itineracy you will bring to the conference at Quitman, Jan. 13th, 1887. Also General Officers expecting to attend please inform me. Brethren, do not fail. Ministers bringing their wives will have to provide for them themselves.

Respectfully,
M. J. INGRAHAM,
Pastor.

To the Ministers of the Sixth Episcopal District:

Dear brethren, your attention is called to the necessity of raising and bringing to the conference a larger contingency or financial collection to help bear expenses of conference, and especially to defray expenses of getting out conference minutes. Last year we failed for the want of funds to get out the minutes of the Columbia Conference, and if I mistake not we still owe something on the South Carolina of four or five years ago. We must publish our conference minutes. Brethren, we cannot afford to do less, therefore I urge it upon the presiding elders of each conference, and the pastors of each conference to make a special effort in behalf of your next conference collection for this purpose. You will remember, dear brethren, that it is an absolute necessity that we have the minutes, therefore I shall expect you to do your duty.

Your affectionately,
JAMES A. SHORTER.

RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE

HAS PROVED TO BE THE REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM.

MARION, Ind., Aug. 19, 1886. My wife was so afflicted with Rheumatism in her shoulder and arm that she could do nothing for herself, and could not sleep in bed, but had to be bolstered up in a rocking chair. Physicians prescribed, many (also) medicines were used, but the pain still got worse. I sent for the Absorption Cure, under a cloud of doubts. It was used according to directions for one week, and my wife was cured. It was one of the most astonishing surprises that ever came in a lifetime. It is now over four months since the cure was effected, and she can wash, iron, bake in the kitchen, and do all kinds of work as well as ever, and has no symptoms of the old disease. We have no hesitancy in recommending the cure to all similarly afflicted, as ours was done.
Truly yours,
H. J. FISCHELL.

Thousands of others have been cured.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES DEPARTMENT.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st, Our subscription and remittances are made by written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsolicite be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Sixth agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

Be Warned in Time.

Cure your Cough before you are beyond reach of human care or skill. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, properly administered, is a certain and speedy cure for all Throat and Lung Diseases. It is not a mere cough mixture, but a scientific preparation of great merit. ††I used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, last spring, for a severe Cough, and for Lung trouble, with good effect. It completely cured me. —Harvey Baughman, Proprietor Globe Hotel, Mt. Gilead, Ohio.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

After other medicines failed, I was speedily cured of 3 dangerous Coughs by the use of two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.—Rev. W. J. Chaplin, Pastor of the New Covenant Church, Chicago, Ill.

About five years ago I suffered from a very obstinate Cough, from which I was unable to obtain relief. I was finally persuaded, by a friend, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before taking half a bottle of this medicine, was entirely cured. Since then I have used it whenever needed, and always with good effect.—Thos. Brenham, Northfield, Conn.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy I have ever found for Colds and Coughs, and for Throat and Lung diseases. I have used it in my family for many years, and always with perfect success. —J. P. Dwyer, Londonderry, Ohio.

R. H. CAIN, Bishop.

NOTICE.

To the Presiding Elders of the Georgia Conference:

Brethren: That I may properly prepare to entertain the Conference, I desire at once how many candidates for the ministry you will bring to the conference at Quitman, Ga., March 4th. Also General Officers expecting to attend please inform me. Brethren, do not fail. Ministers bringing their wives will have to provide for them themselves.

To the Ministers of the Sixth Episcopal District:

Dear brethren, your attention is called to the necessity of raising and bringing to the conference a large contingent for the financial collection to help pay expenses of conference, and especially to defray expenses of visiting conference minutes. Last year we failed for the want of funds to get the minutes of the Columbia Conference, and if I mistakes not we still owe something on the South Carolina debt of four or five years ago. We must publish our conference minutes. Brethren, the amount asked to be less, therefore I urge it upon the presiding elders of each conference and the pastors of each conference to make a special effort in behalf of your next conference collection for the purpose. You will remember, dear brethren, that it is an absolute necessity that we have the minutes, therefore I shall expect you to do your duty.

Your affectionately,
JAMES A. SHORTER.

I continued their use in diminished quantities, for a short time, and was entirely cured. I have since recommended them to many others, and in every instance they have proved beneficial.—Sophia Harmon, Biddeford, Me.

FIVE CONFERENCES IN THREE WEEKS.

Those who have read our conference correspondence may have observed the rapidity in which one conference visits has followed another. In four weeks from the time we left our office we had visited five conferences, having had one week off from all conference and travel-ed over 800 miles beyond the size of the last conference taken in, longing for more conference. It is a long run from Meridian to Philadelphia, via New Orleans, Galveston, Shreveport, etc. The shortest time spent at any conference was twenty-four hours, the longest five days, including Sundays. The business done for each Department amounted to nonsiderably over $125 per week for the whole time and over $175 for the three weeks in which we attended the five conferences. The information gained of people and things, races and religions may be set down as worth to the nonsection many times more than the money collected.

THE MAGIC CITY.

Birmingham, Alabama, stands where, twelve years ago, land went begging at $1.00 per acre; to-day land is worth $1,000 a front foot. Property here has Philadelphia and New York prices. Indeed, there are many thousands of building lots in Philadelphia at lower rates than the average on the streets of Birmingham. There are houses in Philadelphia selling for $4,000 that would bring $15,000 in Birmingham. Many a man whose property cost $1,100 three years ago, can sell that same for $20,000. Men who can scarcely make ends meet possess property worth $15,000. The torpidity of property values and the price for labor and provisions must prove serious to the poor very soon and cast them all into the awful abyss of unscrupulous hands of the wealthy, many of whom have acquired their wealth by organized efforts to affix these fancy values to real estate. Men who were worth $10,000 a little more than five years ago are now worth a half million in the same property. Besides the influence of incorporated wealth, Birmingham is suffering from a rapid overgrowth of business. The demand for laborers brings to town more persons than the town can accommodate; so that many are absolutely unable to secure lodgings at any price. But the purchase of homes, to which they are driven, will only throw them in many cases to a disastrous end.

Of course colored people are sharing the benefits as well as losses of this unwrought city. Many of them are worth from $10,000 to $40,000. It is hard to make them believe that their wealth cannot be permanent. Several colored men are to the grocery and provision business, doing well. Birmingham is the seat of the spirited little "Negro Age," edited by Mr. C. O. Benjamin, a colored lawyer.

The first sight we spent in Birmingham the murder of two men (not five, as we stated last week) made the impression that though a city of rapid growth it was evidently not a city of perfect refuge. When that city left the bodies of those murdered men lying with their hoots in where they were shot over thirty-six hours, and without a coroner's inquest, for twenty-four hours, we felt that it was a city of more power than charity. For nearly two days those dead colored men lay stretched in death on a floor covered with their own blood, their eyes glaring and their mouths open, presenting a ghastly spectacle. Hundreds of both races looked upon their faces and passed away. The only wonder is that the colored people were not enraged beyond control. This unwonted patience, this degree in magnitude the longer one remains in this charming land of sunshine (?) After a long while the plucky little newspaper man and lawyer, C. O. Benjamin, had the sheriff and posse placed under bonds. What will be the outcome, do you ask? Wind; though Mr. Benjamin did succeed in knocking a white man down in Montgomery the other day, and, after the white man fired at him, in securing his arrest and fine of $50 for carrying concealed weapons; not for shooting with intent to wound or kill. Even this is progress in Alabama. There is no telling whether it would have been so had not Montgomery been anxious that the great world's fair should be held there in 1887. Of course they must guarantee to the colored people duo protection against fools and idiots with revolvers.

NORTH ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

On the 14th of December, Bishop Payne opened this conference in Birmingham, the Southern magic city. The Rev. W. H. Mixon was elected secretary, and Rev. H. K. McVay, assistant. The ordinary conference committees were appointed. Among the visitors were Revs. Dre. Tanner and Arnett and Rev. A. W. Atwater, of the Alabama Conference. The North Alabama Conference does not equal the Alabama conference in membership; but there are some vigorous minded men on the roll. The Rev. M. E. Bryant has for several years been a prominent figure in African Methodism. He has for four years been presiding elder of the most extensive district in his conference. In this time the district has been improved greatly.

In Birmingham our people have good schools, Messrs. F. Hasle, John Wathen and H. Arnett, Jr., being principals of the three schools, respectively. The last two are graduates of Wilberforce. Mr. Watkins, is son of the Rev. Dr. George T. Watkins of the Baltimore Conference. These gentlemen are assisting with success in their profession, and are helping to sow sod direct society in general.

Birmingham has a colored Congregational Church, whose pastor is an affable gentleman. The pastor of the A. M. E. Church for the past two years has been the Rev. T. W. Coffee, who has succeeded in building a large brick church, whose seating capacity is at least 1,500. The building is still naplastered. The pastor of the A. M. E. Zion, is a member of the A. M. E. Church. He says he will make St. John's steeple the highest in the city. We spent only the first two days of the session in Birmingham, when we left for Meridian, the seat of the Mississippi Conference, Bishop Ward presiding.

THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

This work is under the immediate supervision of Bishop Ward, who presided at the late session, which opened December 14th and closed December 20th, at Meridian, Mississippi. It is a small conference, numbering about forty-five members. Every reader remembers Meridian as the place where about fifteen years ago a fearful riot took place between the races. This riot set Meridian back twenty-five years; for even in these lands, the country cannot violate the principles of equity and peace with impunity. The retributions of the moral law are visited upon all communities that disregard it. Just as the splendid types of civilization developed among the ancient were despoiled by the misconceptions of justice and righteousness by which their people were actuated, so the most refined modern attempts at civilization, however brilliant, must crumble beneath a system of caste which castrates the proper recognition of either humanity or Divinity. But Meridian has improved greatly within the past six or seven years. There are many signs of progress there not found in most Southern cities. The city is growing rapidly. Its new houses are in many cases patterns of oeainess and beauty—much like those of beautiful New Jersey towns. Schools are provided for by terms of four months aanually. Teachers are not paid exhorbitant salaries. There are quite large property holders among the colored citizens, some having positions away up in the thousands. One man of historic name, Hon. Johnson, is principal of the firm B. Johnson & Co., which does a large grocery and commission business. One of the prominent hotels located within fifty yards of the Central Depot is owned by a colored gentleman, who rents it to a white gentleman. Mr. Dred Finley is an old citizen of Meridian. He owns a good deal of real estate in the country. There are four or five colored churches in the city. Besides the property owned by these and other men in large quantities, there are a great many persons who own small, but respectable homes. In the city cotton is king. From early dawn till dark the most observable evidence of life is the constant line of car and mule teams driven by negroes, Canaesians and Indians, bearing cotton, cotton, cotton. In the heart of the city the streets are alive with this business. This, however, is what we saw in every Southern town.

The Rev. A. J. Miller was Secretary of the Mississippi Conference, which is so unpretentious that it has no assistant secretary. The presiding elders are Revs. W. Watson, S. Dixon, R. Bryan and W. H. Weathers, a good number for forty-five ministers, themselves included. Like the Georgia and the Ohio Conferences, each of the Mississippi Conferences is always attended by a good number of ministers from the other. Revs. C. O. H. Thomas, H. B. Parks, L. M. Mitchell, Dangerfield, W. W. Golden and the venerable Dr. Stringer, of the North Mississippi Conference, visited the Mississippi Conference, taking more or less active part in the proceedings, reminded every now and then, as the colored man used to be by the Irishmen, "but ye can't vote." Dr. Stringer is a man of generosity in both conferences. Thonsands of African Methodis s know him as a man to whom African Methodism owes much. The Rev. T. M. Nowsome, of the Mississippi Conference, has also done extensive work in Meridian. He is a better builder than Dr. Stringer. Both have taken as active part in politics as in preaching in the palmy days when colored men's votes were counted. We intend to publish the Nowsome-Stringer controversy in the next year." The same brethren had in most cases reported that they had done the best they could. How do they know they can ever beat that? We doubt very much if anyone who has not been in their respective fields of operation can form any proper conception of the condition in which they have done their work; from how nearly nothing they had gleaned nothing. Doubtless, as in every group of human beings, there were some who had failed to do their whole duty.

Dr. Arnett spent two days at this conference; Dr. Tanner one and Dr. Embry one. The Bishop, though attonished at the visitation of so many Oeneral Officers, gave all a hearty welcome and substantial recognition. During the session visits were made by the Revs. Cody, of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church; Vance, and Ramsey, of the Baptist Church; Pope and Cunningham, of the Congregational Church; Houston of the M. E. Church and Dr. Weschler, rabbi of the Jewish Church. The addresses of these brethren to the conference were encouraging. From each member of all of Bishop Ward's conferences, the CHRISTIAN RECORDER can confidently expect a good and steadily increasing subscription next come. Hence, when we get his list of appointments at the office, we have also the list of subscribers from his conferences. We gain very little financially by visiting his conferences, still we do gain something for the Department by visiting any conference. This, respecting both the editorial and publishing interests. We should enjoy a call on the more Western conference next year (D. V.)

THE CAUSE OF OUR WEAKNESS.

Evidently a large amount of our weakness and inefficiency results from the failure to combine our forces, bring-ing them to bear on a given point; our unwillingness to look beyond our own nose. Instance: There is no doubt of the capability of our people in the territory embraced in Bishop Turner's part of Bishop District, Virginia and North Carolina. Bishop Shorter's District, South Carolina and Georgia, are equally able to establish and support a first-class school of a higher order, a school capable of accommodating one thousand students. There are grave doubts respecting the ability of any part of this important field succeeding in constituting and perpetuating anything like a respectable college, to say nothing of a respectable university. The same could be said of Bishop Payne's district, Florida and Alabama, and parts of Bishop Ward's and Wayman's, Mississippi and Louisiana; oo of Texas, Indian Territory and Arkansas; or even the whole of Bishop Ward's and Wayman's works might unite, or combinations even greater might be made and something worthy of the name Church be established in the South among the great institutions for education conducted there by other denominations; giving them an advantage over us that will shock us some of these times, when we shall have fully awakened to a realization of the truth as to these institutions, formulely for their success, are not the creation of the brain of the colored people among whom they are located, or they would doubtless be subject to the same weakness displayed in our efforts to accommodate the increasing demands made upon us for educational facilities. Coming from without, the energies by which those schools are planted among themselves wherever and whenever they deem wise, consistency wants of the people there and the ability of the people whence their strength must come, totally disregarding clamor having only a local ring. Differently from this, our school work is arranged largely by annual conferences, who look only, at most two nearly so, upon their own territory, forgetting that under the press-ure of existing conditions, conditions and wants, they can combine with brothers of other conferences, and even other denominations in the same locality; not one of these is meant. We refer to the fact that things, to-day, came from heaven to earth and bound to the Church, proclaimed liberty to captives, opened the eyes of the blind, set the feet of the demsalion, and established his work upon the assurance, "I open; none can shut."

But this the octave of the feast of the nativity of our Lord, the Church is filled with Christmas Day and ending will with New Year's Day, the Church's New Year's Day, we who were without Christ, strangers from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, are made nigh by the blood of Christ. We are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow-citizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and then we are built upon the foundation of the Apostles, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone, in whom all the building fitly framed together, groweth unto a holy temple in the Lord, in whom we are also builded together for a habitation of God through the Spirit." Ephesians ii. 19-22.

Why should not the renowned city of Bath rebem in the presence of the Lord, and throngs were satis in that city. It was a magnificent university town, and why there for one common purpose. His Imperial Highness, Count Augustus, had issoda royal command and in obedience to his subjects began their journey, every one to keep his family of kin and to observers that ordained the mansions of the Lord, and the Lord's Christ, and the astonishing structions which art had recently distributed in public gardens and streets claimed the admiration and secured the admiration of strangers. It is a noble thing for the prophet to contemplate, lay the admiration of all ages and secured the admiration of wonders, the child whose name, said the prophet, Isaiah, should be called Wonderful. Did ever royal Highness receive so distinguished a welcome? Did ever an imperial baby receive so grand an ovation? The feeble, Cheerful, courteous, eloquent, vigilant and courageous, he is leading on the mighty hosts of the great Southwestern section of African Methodism to moral success. He is a strict observer and teacher of the principle that preaching should not be too long nor too long.

Last year the Mississippi Conference reported $800 or more in advance of the year previous, but this year they fell back nearly $100 from last year's report. The missionary money and Sunday school money was very small. Our presiding elder district in North Georgia reported nearly twice as much money for all purposes as the entire Mississippi Conference. But under the support inspiration of Bishop Ward, nearly every man who did poorly has said, "Well, Bishop, I'm going to do better next year." The same brethren had in most cases reported that they had done the best they could. How do they know they can ever beat that? A Christian gentleman can go anywhere and do no harm; if he visits a former charge by appointment or otherwise, his visits invariably prove prejudicial to the charge, congregation, success and all the many perplexities come in contact with. Not so with the minister-ial interference. It never comes on the scene as the exemplary gentleman mentioned; no, his manner of visitations which, by the by, are more frequent are one of the other of these: 1st. If delayed one week after the date new appointment, he prefers the home of a favorite" member of his former charge to reside with five or six weeks and declines an offer to remain domiciled in a spacious house with his successor in the church parsonage until he can permanently locate himself. If the charge is within sixteen or twenty miles of the former one, then he delights in visiting six or ten times in a month, sometimes in the day and as often in the night. 2. He delights to secretly influence as many of the people of his former charge as he can, by quarterly meetings and all his special engagements, in the same time neither informs his successor of the fact that he has been gathering or secretly influencing his charge in too far off for short and cheap excursions. Then comes the most material interference has many other ways of manifesting itself (but, oh, yes, there are as many as there are conferences) always denouncing his successor's every act, word and deed. The object is to be maladministration, continuously and unceasingly, and sarcastic and cynical inquiries about his successor and supplementing the same with unjust and false reports. If a work prospers and is larger than than the article's, the latter is ever ready to say that it is a matter of impossibility for the church to support that size family or pay (if they do not own a parsonage) for a parsonage rent for them, even if it is known that the minister has been particularly when the people could do no more for the family (that is selfish) than they have done, and how many savings have their detrimental effect upon the living, they are independent citizens and therefore do not vote for a strict non-e dolling, and to be known as Atlanta is dry. Prohibition does prohibit. I did not see Mr. Harris on the breath of a single man in Atlanta, and we were mingling with that class of people, too.

On Friday we visited the public school of Atlanta, under the superintendship of Mr. O. A. Coombs, a worthy member of our church. We found two young ladies and Mr. W. H. Davis. We were invited to dine with Mr. M. Davis, real estate agent, former member of Congress and his family. This was a pleasant visit. We found Mr. Davis a man of a leading merchant tailor, and his family; also the Rev. Bishop Embry, J. D. Dunicotte and W. H Davis prepared a reception for us at the Odd Fellows' Hall. After which in the evening we had a leading member of the C. M. E. Church, and visiting Dr. Crogman and family at dinner. Dr. Crogman is a professor of Greek at Clark University. He is a graduate of Atlanta University, and has been connected with the institution since its organization. He is a native of Barbadoes, West Indies, and is a man of fine literary attainments. He is a member of the Congregational Church at Berlin Heights, and is a brother of Fellman Rapids, Mich.

A letter from Lapolle says that in the church at that place under the labors of Rev. Simon W. White, a revival is in progress, the congregation, already large, is rapidly increasing.

The Greenfield Circuit is in charge of Rev. Simon W. White. When he entered upon his work there he found that he was generally agreed amongst his people that he would be a complete failure, but Brother White has labored so successfully that they have changed their minds and now think he is the right man in the right place. His quarterly meeting, held on last Sunday, December 26th, was a glorious season. An intelligent gentlemen who was present said that it was the grandest day of the year. Rev. Mr. Wilson, the presiding elder, gave great assistance.

Friday evening, November 26, T. A. Thompson, D.D., of Columbus, presiding elder of the Columbus District, held the Waterville Circuit Quarterly Conference at Waterville, Lucas County. Waterville at this place has a large number of students, two of whom, J. C. Foss and Miss Mary A. Campbell, are members of our church.

Last year Rev. Jesse H. Smith, of Cleveland, received notice in the church nearly 300 converts, and refitted Allen Temple at a cost of $600, every cent of which was paid at least three months before conference.

Within the several years ago so run down in physical condition that the insurance companies refused to take on my life. Now I became so prostrated that I could not sleep more than an hour or two in the course of a night. I suffered with acute neuralgia, and with headache, which was terrible. Nothing helped me. Friends advised me to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and in a few weeks was restored to perfect health. I am a practicing physician, and prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in a case of severe rheumatism, with the most satisfactory results. I have also used it in my own family, with like success. I regard it as the best blood medicine in the market.—Dr. Jas. Hall, Bethany, Ill.

Mr. Edward L. Wilson, of No. 1125 Chestnut st., Philadelphia, Pa., was photographer to the Cartesian Institution at Philadelphia, and also to the recent International Exhibition at New Orleans. He is also widely known as a lecturer on Egypt, Sinai, and Palestine, which countries he illustrates to his audiences by photographic views taken by himself in 1882. He writes as follows:

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsolicite be carefully preserved and reported with cash settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balence. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against seeming loss. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTA.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street for the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

AGENTS WATNED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

To Brethren of the Four Educational District:

Please send in all Endowment Money at once so reports can be made up and sent to conferences. The brethren and friends who have promised to make efforts later than the third Sunday in September, and those who have arranged for the second effort, will please rally at once and let us wind up this part of our work.

Yours for the cause,

J. M. BURDAN,
Secretary 4th Educational District.

What we must say now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment foe (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Boils and Carbuncles

Carbuncles result from a debilitated, impoverished, or impure condition of the blood. They are a source of great suffering, and are liable to appear in large numbers, unless overcome by the use of some powerful alterative. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures these painful tumors, and also prevents them, by removing their cause.

One year ago I suffered from Boils and Carbuncles, and for nearly two months was unable to work. I was entirely

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Somehow way all preachers should read Dr. James Porter's Hints. 1st. Because it furnishes the most natural mode of preparing to preach effectively. 2nd. Because it shows how to study the Bible. 3rd. Because it is full of encouragement. 4th. Because it will increase power even in all branches of ministerial service, and how to correct faults. JANUARY.

A new year smiling comes. It seems that we
But yesterday the last one turned to greet.
Swiftly the months passed by, and silently
We marked it fade, and felt the fleet song-thing sweet
Was drifting from us; and we softly sighed
As the year, lately new, grew pale and died.

O January! first of this new year,
What scenes are hidden in thy coming hours?
We greet them with a mingled joy and fear,
Knowing thou hast for us both thorns and flowers.
And as we blindly meet each new-born day,
We ask for guidance o'er the untrod way.
Welcome, New Year! Fain bids each heart be strong
For God will order all that comes with thee.

To Him we leave it, glad to march along,
Feeling that what is best alone will be.
And as we onward pass, kind wishes fall,
That this may prove a happy year for all.
—Sophie L. Schenck, in Brooklyn Magazine.

THE GLAD NEW YEAR.

The glad New Year is at the door,
What may I ask from out its store?

Riches and ease, and years to-day?
A daily walk in pleasure's way?

No; this I ask: a heart to see
The Hand of Love that leadeth me!

NOTES BY THE WAYM.

BY BISHOP WAYMAN.

MR. EDITOR:—When I wrote last to you it was from Galveston, Texas, from which place I visited Houston, Columbus, Wesmar, San Antonia and then to Austin, where the West Texas Conference met. The most of the members were present at the roll call. Rev. C. F. Jackson was elected Secretary, a position he has filled for some time. The conference was pleasant and very largely attended. Dr. Embry was present, looking after the interests of the Publication Department. He sold a large number of books and secured many subscribers for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, as well as the Quarterly Review. The number of candidates admitted was large; some of them were graduates from colleges and others principals of high schools. There were among those admitted three ordained ministers from the M. E. Church and one E der from the M. P Church. The financial reports were rather better than last year. There was only one death reported among the ministers, and that was a young man formerly of Philadelphia. He came to Texas two years ago and filled the station at Georgetown, Texas, and he stood at his post as long as he could and then gave up and went home to his father's residence and there died. The conference was only able to pay $25.00 on the debt due to the Metropolitan Church, Washington, D.U., which was sent to Rev. James A. Handy.

The West Texas Conference is very much interested in Paul Quinn College and there is every prospect of her success[illegible]. By special request A. Grant was returned to Austin again to finish the new church, which he hopes to have ready for dedication by next June. The conference adjourned on Tuesday night, Dec. 7th. Edmonds and others by their was a general exodus among the preachers, going by the train with the money of God and man another year.

I called at Georgetown, Round Rock and Waco. The church at the latter place was much pleased to learn of the return of Rev. E. W. Roberts to them again. On Saturday I called at Ennis to lay the corner-stone for a new church. When the Northeast Texas Conference was in session, at Corsicana, in November we had a number of sisters came to see me and asked that a preacher be sent them who would build them a church. Such a one was sent as they requested, and in a month's time he was ready to have the corner-stone laid Dr. Embry stopped off to assist me and on Saturday, Dec. 11th, the corner-stone was laid. The amount of $60 00 was collected. I remained there at night by request and spoke in the Baptist church Sunday morning, Dec 12th, found me in the beautiful city of Dallas.

J. H. Armstrong is completing his very fine church; he has named it Bethel Sba will be a monument to African Methodism in that city. Rev. H. H. Trapp is the pastor of the Second A. M. E. Church in that city He has recently commenced it and one of the finest colored churches in the city are the A. M. E. Churches I am making to take the train for Shreveport, La., and then on to Alexandria, where the North Louisiana Conference will meet. I expect to meet Dr. Embry at Big Sandy, Texas, and he will accompany me to the conference.

BISHOP TURNER REPLIES TO REV. I. P. ALDRIDGE.

MR. EDITOR:—In your issue of the 23d ultimo, I see as the caption of a communication from Rev. I. P. Aldridge, of North Carolina, "The statue of Rev. W. H. H. Baile in the A. M. E. Church, according to Bishop Turner's decision." The following article of misrepresentations too long and slanderous to notice in detail, I have answered repeatedly that of all animals in creation I should hate most to be a dog, and I now say that if I was a dog I should hate most to be a hound, for all they ever do as belligerents, is to yelp at a safe distance in the rear of big dogs. Brother Aldridge, like all and have intelligence enough to understand Bishop Turner's decision, or he most wilfully, maliciously and diabolically misrepresents the truth, and is culpable of the basest slander possible for a man to utter. He seems to have a monomania for pulling everything he thinks or hears derogatory to the good reputation of Bishop Butler. True, the doctor does not think enough of Bishop reply, hence the embodiment of his calumniator, yelping in the distance. Then what are his charges, only rumors of domestic infelicities, said to have occurred fifteen years ago, which possibly called to mind in a marital segment, which, if true, he cannot prove, nor does he know of the reasons for any more than I do what is going on in heaven.

If Brother Aldridge is so anxious to write somebody down, why in the name of reason does he not write himself? The old adage a, charity should begin at home. There are more charges against him by far than ever he tried to conjure up against Dr. Butler, for no one else has ever attempted such a thing but him. Why did he not publish that charges of the gravest nature were preferred against him by Dr Butler, and that I refused to adjudicate them, because I wanted peace in the State at that time, etc? Why did he not publish that Dr Butler, his presiding elder, had him upon trial for grave charges, and while the court was in session, that I had him released by telegram, etc.? Why did he not publish that charges for a worse crime than he ever thought of charging Butler with, were made to me at the late North Carolina Conference, and that Bishop Campbell and myself concluded to waive them, as there had been so much confusion in the State already, and await future developments? If Brother Aldridge wishes to deal in rumors, and keep on with his slander, I will give him more of it than he wants, both publicly and before a committee of his membership. He knows but for me he would have gone to the last conference suspended; and he knows, also, if he is not an absolute bigot, that he deserves expulsion to-day. Why did he not present his pretended charges last summer against Dr. Butler when I begged him to do it. The truth is he was afraid. Now he proposes to turn the CHRISTIAN RECORDER into a slander mill, and make the columns of a religious journal a cesspool for filth and falsehood. But for the fact that I am more than Dr. Lee, the editor, was not at home and never saw the letter, and that he would have no more admitted it to the press than satan could be admitted into heaven, I should demand of every minister in my district not to allow the paper to enter their doors. I see, so happens that I know the Doctor was absent on official business and knew nothing of it, for he is as high above that as heaven is above the earth.

If Brother Aldridge is so anxious to write on this line I will make him a proposition. From now to the 1st of March take him in charge, I will give him the use of the columns of the Southern Recorder, which now has a circulation of nearly two thousand copies weekly and goes into all the Southern and Western States, a few into every State, except Maine, Vermont, and he may prosecute against Butler, Turner, or any one he chooses, and write to his heart's content, and allow me to offset them with the charges, allegations and the anonymous letters I have in my desk, and write against him, and if he don't get enough of it to suit him he He, I do not know what enough means. I make the challenge and I dare him to take it on. I never heard of a man so lotesely bent upon manufacturing slander and breeding confusion; he must be a bound beast that can only satiate his hunger upon carrion, filth and stench. There were four Bishops at the North Carolina Conference, all of whom had sense and experience; if I did anything wrong why did they not arrest me? Then several of the presiding elders before me to warn there also; if I did the great wrong he charges, would they have to believe all the ill that great hero spoke? Strange that a man who could not stand his examination for a elders, less than a year ago, and was begged through by Dr. Butler, upon the plea that the people at that point needed an elder, should all at once stand into such gigantic proportions that Drs. Tanner, Hunter, Arnett, Lee, Embry, etc., should have to be told what to do, and how to do it. Why did "O fool, speak to that head Dr. Lee, Embry, Hunter, Arnett, Lee, Embry, etc., should have to be told what to do, and how to do it. Why did "O fool, speak to that head Dr. Tanner

PHILADELPHIA, JAN. 6, 1887

THE A. M. E. Church and parsonage at Hoarse, Tex., were destroyed by fire December 28.

LIFE'S LONGEST day is not its gloomiest day, but its most idle day. Its shortest day is not the day of greatest joy, but of best use of powers and time.

A CAUSE well pressed is the cause to succeed. The colored race has its cause in its own hands very largely. Let it press this cause; press it in social, civil, literary, artistic, business and religious circles. Press it everywhere.

IT IS CLEAR that free-traders, protectionists and high tariff advocates are engaged in a triangular contest, that they will not succeed in establishing a law entirely disregarding any one of these angles. Like the discussion of free-will and necessity, in metaphysics and ethics, these discussions must almost necessarily be endless.

AS WE "swing around the circle" we learn that Mr. T. T. Fortune has entered upon the publication of the Voice of Zion. We have seen nothing concerning it, but heard only that such a project is in his vigorous mind, and that ere long the public will greet the new child. He will give the world a magazine worthy of their patronage and pride, if any at all. We shall be pleased to receive the magazine as a New Year's gift, Brother Fortune.

THE SUCCESS of colored physicians throughout almost the entire land is encouraging to the colored race. Even they were all considered as quacks by the profession, but they have forced due recognition by conducting their business in such way as to preclude any different consideration. What is true of colored physicians is also true of other professions. They are no longer the butt of derision, but in many cases are commanding the respect of both the bench and the bar.

THE HOLIDAY season in the South is a jolly time, when association is divested of its ordinary stiffness and the peculiarities of custom are disregarded. Gifts are large and plentiful; wines are flowing freely, religious services are conducted amid festoons of evergreens and redolent with flowers. Even the fair, the bazaar and the ball offset the influence of religious services and render the state of society but little improved from the enjoyment of the natal day. The general relaxation of business and abandonment to pleasure are costly and require the exercise of double diligence after the close of the season. The freedom allowed in social movements together with the contrast in Christmas commercial business make the season profitable to community in general, while many a poor soul is elevated to higher plane by the enjoyment of a generosity that it has for several months felt impossible.

BEING BEYOND the proof-reading line, we have been obliged to allow our thoughts to be interpreted by others for the past five weeks. This has been done admirably for the greater part. Indeed, considering the copy, our only wonder is that some of our communicated editorial matter was ever deciphered by our good typos. But in our issue, December 16th, article "Our work is in the South," we certainly did not say that the people of the South are a moral people, though they may be as highly so as others, but we said they are a rural people; as the succeeding paragraph of the text implies. Our editorial work has been done, aside from editorial writing, by Mrs. Lee and our foreman, J. H. Williams. We have had the fattening comment passed that the work on the paper for the past week or two has been superior. Whether or not this is correct, the demand for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER is all the time growing. This is right, easily accounted for and highly encouraging.

EN ROUTE from Meridian to Galveston, we spent a few hours in New Orleans with our old friend, the Rev. R. F. Hurley. The old "Crescent City" has not proved so successful a field for African Methodism as some others, but seems now to be on the ascent. Brother Hurley is nearing the close of his second year there. He appears to have the highest respect and fullest confidence of his people. In our calling, Mrs. Hurley had just returned from a visit to friends in Clarksville, Tenn.

The colored people of Louisiana have organized a State Agricultural Fair Association. The Rev. Alfred M. Green is President and the Rev. Henry Price is Treasurer. The success of similar institutions in other States leads the Louisianians to expect to make a fine thing of this enterprise. The State has established a university for colored people at New Orleans. Already they have over 300 students in attendance. The free schools of the city are in good condition. There is a building and loan association in New Orleans conducted by colored gentlemen.

AT THIS WRITING but one branch of the South Carolina Legislature has voted to suppress the Knights of Labor on its own soil. This is another testimonial of South Carolina improbability. It does not suppress corruption, but seeing that the affiliation of the colored people of the State with the masses of determined laborers over the entire country means a breaking away from the vassalage in which they are held, these white South Carolinians resolve to break the spell that has seized the hopeful colored men and bring him again into their unhindered and unlimited control. Those unwise South Carolina white men may learn ere long awhile that among American citizens the right to combine forces for mutual advancement will be maintained, though at considerable cost. They may also learn that the tendency of degraded labor in the South is to depreciate the value of labor in the North, and that this fact, sooner or later, will make the cause of the colored laborer in the South common cause with the universal United States laborer. This will prove a source of annoyance to every effort of the capitalist in the South to disrespect his laborers. South Carolina must always have been slow to forget that she cannot, with impunity, disregard popular philosophy, popular feelings and popular tendencies. She has never failed to fear the organised influence of colored men. Is it because of her nonconsciousness of so great injustice done this class?

DESPITE THE inequality given colored men in the South in the public walks of life, nothing seems to bring the white people to a willingness and a promise to deal fairly with the colored people but "exodusting." Evidently the colored hand is of value. Despite this acknowledgement, however, of social emancipation, as soon as the colored man is persuaded to remain and make another crop, sinks back into that same unlikeness and unfairness that made his laboring friend resolve to find more genial associations. It is not the real fact of prosperity of the laboring man that awakens the ire of the white man so much as it is the self-appreciation of the results of that prosperity. Large crops are very agreeable, but, to insure peace, the whole process of business by which the cotton is grown, prepared for market and sold must be known to the white friends (?). They must even be connected with their affairs sufficiently to reap by far the greatest benefits. Independence of action on the part of the colored American grinds the white American in the South more than does the prosperity of the former.

Whatever be the treatment given the colored man he must not leave for a better land in large numbers. The white man must, in a solemn meeting in the parlor, and the hall offset the influence of religious services and render the state of society but little improved from the enjoyment of the natal day. The general relaxation of business and abandonment to pleasure are costly and require the exercise of double diligence after the close of the season. The freedom allowed in social movements together with the contrast in Christmas commercial business make the season profitable to community in general, while many a poor soul is elevated to higher plane by the enjoyment of a generosity that it has for several months felt impossible.

All papers uncalled for carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the year at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Twenty-five hundred and fifty of these thousand copies are sent out to agents. On such number we lose from $12,000 to $15,000 yearly. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have made the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

A Word to the Wise.

Every winter and spring Inflammation of the Lungs, induced by neglected Colds and Coughs, causes the death of thousands who might have been saved by the timely use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I was afflicted with a severe Cough, which deprived me of my regular sleep. After trying various remedies, without benefit, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and used it according to directions. I am happy to say that this medicine cured me. — Robert Holliway, Lisle, Mo.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for several years, in cases of severe Colds and Throat Affections, and have always found it a speedy and effective remedy. — Thos. Bennett, Principal Bethel Seminary, Maywood, Mo.

I cannot say too much in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have used it in my family many years, and always with perfect satisfaction. It never fails. — Mrs. H. F. McKeen, New Groton, N. H.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice since 1856, and have always found it reliable for the cure of all forms of Coughs, and all Throat and Lung Diseases. — S. Hussey, M. D., Gilmanton, N. Y.

I am never without Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It cures severe cases of Colds and Coughs more speedily than any other remedy known. — E. Allen, Kingston, O.

PHILADELPHIA, JAN. 13, 1887

SEVERAL STATES are having difficulty over the election of United States Senator. They might make smooth work of it like the Philadelphia caucus.

IF YOU want to know the distance from Texas to Pennsylvania, leave the former with the mercury at 40° above and reach the latter with the mercury at 2° below zero. Its a great distance.

THE STATE of Louisiana has adopted a Sunday law, whose object is to close those kinds of business which tend to disorganize and interfere with society, notably the whiskey business in particular.

THE LITERARY societies of Galvestor, Tex., and Owego, N. Y., will please accept our thanks for a place in their list of honorary membership. We shall be glad to share in any responsibilities and privilege falling to that class.

HAVING RECEIVED a marked copy of the New New York Star, containing a copy of Dr. Derrick's views on the subject of capital punishment, we cant add another copy to the same, send us, with notes, by a New York correspondent.

CLOSE STUDY is more profitable than much superficial reading. Study is characterised by more pain than reading, but the superior pleasure which it affords hides the pain. One may frequently gain more real strength by studying a single sentence than by carelessly reading a great book.

THE WEAKNESS of the colored race is evidenced by the misrepresentations of our case in itself and when it is made by men like Mr. Grady and so largely received by the world, though contradicted by a thousand colored men and even one white man. Shall we grow stronger soon? That is a question we must answer.

CHRISTIANS need not be afraid of reform moving too rapidly. We often hear the words, "Now we can't expect our people to reform in a day." This is true, but the truth does not warrant our discouraging moral progress. Strike directly at vice. Hit it every time if possible. Kill when you hit. Point to the better way strongly and unequivocally. Live as if your moral philosophy were worth something to you. Act as if Christianity was the embodiment of a saving moral philosophy.

WHILE IN Cincinnati we spent a pleasant hour with Prof. Peter H. Clark, A.M., whose edcuation and refinement has given him a wide reputation. Foremost among the many that have led the race in the avenues of learning, he seems foremost in hopefulness for the race's success if only it will appropriate all its advantages and shun those things that detract from all race, regardless of race. Mr. Clark is a man of large humanity and deep feeling, as well as rich thought and strong purpose.

NOT QUITE all of Brother Mills' "Rejoinder" appeared in our paper of two weeks ago. The remainder of the grist is, that the editor of the RECORDER is said to be snoddiate for the episcopacy, and that had he nominated the editor for the West Indies Bishopric, there would have been no opposition. We have already and repeatedly expressed all allusions to connecting our name with the holy office whom presented for the RECORDER, but we don't want our brother to lose this point in his argument. Thank you, dear brother, a more hopeful field, please; say common work will do.

THE SOUTH is coming more and more to appreciate the necessity of educational aid to the work of edcuation, all on account of the negroes, who have been thrust upon it by the national power. But the South is suffering nearly as much from the ignorance of the white people as from that of the colored people. It is true the peculiar insensitivations of this ignorance differ in many respects, but still they suffer. It is a nice thing for the white people of this country to clamor for the Blair bill on account of our poor people. It matters little to us or our what ground the clamor is made, but let it continue. We want the national educational law.

RIGHT, RIGHT REV. TURNER, right, right! we should not have published Brother Aldridge's letter nor is reply had we consulted the character of either the paper or the Church. We trust we shall not be called upon to continue the controversy, for we shall sorrowfully decline. What can brethren hope to accomplish by this class of correspondence? Say what we may, there is a dignity from which the Christian ministry cannot afford to descend, whatever be the gain. There is a big world outside our own church, reading the literature that we produce. In the great future there will be a still larger class of readers than now. The time will come when our present status will be recorded largely by what we shall have written.

AT THE SIGNS of the bride's table, ex-Senator Henry Wilson, Shreveport, La., December 29, the editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER united Mr. D. M. Roberts, A. M., and Miss Isabella M. Harper in holy wedlock. Both were formerly students of Wilberforce University. Since graduating, Mr. Roberts has been teaching in Jefferson, Tex., and Miss Harper in Paul Quinn College, Waco, Tex. They set out on the course of married life on a smooth sea with fair winds.

THE selling of votes is a quiet affair, only a select few of the ex-Senator's friends being present, among whom we observed some of Louisiana's statesmen, prominently ex-Governor Antoine, accompanied by Mrs. Antoine and daughter; Mr. Segers, a large colored planter, and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Segre, with others, making eight or ten couples.

THERE ARE nineteen colored members in the Louisiana General Assembly. Many of them are considerable property holders. We had the pleasure of meeting the honorable member from Madison Parish, Governor Hawkins—a name derived from his master's connection with old Governor Hawkins, of North Carolina, as his property. Mr. Hawkins is a native of Louisiana, quite intelligent and industrious, seemingly bearing a considerable of his constituency's respect. But colored men in Louisiana are not elected on the Republican ticket often; usually on the Independent ticket, and are so circumscribed that they cannot exercise an influence equal to that to which we think they are entitled. We don't care to fear from his official acts, further than that logically flows from them or comes from mere political animosity.

TWO WEEKS ago we spoke of successful colored physicians. Ten days ago it was our pleasure to meet Dr. Connelis E. Clark in Cincinnati, O. Her success is far beyond her expectation. Two-thirds of her patrons are white persons. During the holidays a German whose child she had attended and who had recovered, in recognition of her successful treatment, brought her a substantial intimation of his appreciation of her talent, by presenting a splendid, finely carved and gilt frame easel, or, upholstered in blue plush. It is cheering to see a woman thus brave the prejudices against her sex in profession, and the even meaner prejudices against the vanity with which she is more or less identified, and force recognition upon merit alone. It is an indicator to our people. Worth will overcome unreasonable antagonism ultimately; get worth—worth in work—mind, manners and morals.

WE EVENT Sunday, January 2, in Cincinnati, preaching in the morning in Allen Temple, and in the evening in the beautiful Brown Chapel on "the hill." The Rev. John G. Mitchell, D.D., is pastor of the former and the Rev. W. J. Johnson, D. D., of the latter. Both churches are in good condition, though in considerably in debt: Allen Temple about $3,000 and Brown Chapel about $1,700.

THOUGH the day was very cold, Dr. Mitchell had a good morning audience. He has them always expecting to hear an instructive sermon in the morning if they attend, and miss an instructive sermon if they remain at home. Hence, he has good morning audiences. We like this idea. It is better than to give the people the poor preach in the morning because few attend, and the good preach in the evening because many attend. It is decidedly better to encourage more daytime public worship, even though it be had at the expense of less night attendance. The day was Brother Mitchell's rally day. He had hoped to raise $500. We have not learned how near to it he came. These are a good people. They have had a long stage paying for Allen Temple, but Dr. Mitchell hopes to lead them out by the next conference. There is a class of men and women in that church who will follow such a leader to the 'ends. The Doctor is giving a series of lessons to a class of adult Sunday school scholars, and also instructing a large class in vocal music. We found the recorable James Clark and Mrs. Clark still with open hearts as of yore. Brother Johnson had a good cold weather audience. His people had been conducting a holiday bazaar and had worked very hard the week previous. They are a progressive people, having completed their new chapel and at the same time paid their pastor a liberal salary the past two years, owing now no more than $1,700—probably not quite that much. We were substantially aided on our journey by them. This church is destined to become one of our leading appointments in Ohio. Indeed, Brother Johnson may feel uneasy now on account of the number of other calls men willing to relieve him at the proper time. Immigration to the city will naturally settle out to this beautiful open part; this will tend to increase Brown Chapel's membership. Brother Johnson is succeeding nicely. He hopes to discharge a $100 of the indebtedness this year. This he ought to do, for he seems to have a set of good officers and, be it remembered, of about one hundred and fifty, six local preachers. We met three of these, Brothers Baltimore, Saunders, Owens and Wyatt. Many of the colored residents of this part of the city own their own homes, some renting out two or three houses. Several good factories men and mechanics are included in the membership.

An addition of one or two male voices would increase the efficiency of the good singing. The Sunday school is well conducted under the superintendency of W. H. Baltimore. Elder Johnson is one of the best active Sunday school workers in our connection, reeking with Dr. Smith, Revs. Coppin and Beckett. The Sunday school needs to fill an order for the principalship of Mr. A. G. DeHart, who is said to be one of Cincinnati's most promising young gentlemen. We left the grand old "Queen City" for the stand, "the only old Quaker City," spending more time between the two than on any former trip in twenty-two years twenty-nine hours.

A SUCCESSFUL COLORED MEDICINE VENDER.

In our business jaunt through the South we learned of a successful colored gentleman of whom we had heard little for years. Twenty-three years ago Rev. Dr. Lee, of Louisiana, then Tennessee, attended Wilberforce University. When the main college building was destroyed by fire in 1865, he left school; now he is traveling in the interest of a medicine, the "Keystone Liniment," which he manufactures and manufacture. Mr. Keys is reported to be worth one hundred thousand dollars. He resides in Shelbyville, Tenn.

SUNDAY AT THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Sunday school of Meridian met at 9 o'clock conference Sunday. Though small, it is a spirited school, well prepared to consider the lesson of the day. We could but observe the reply of a little boy to the question, "Where is God?" Said the little theologian, "God is everywhere; he's in that stove over, in the trees, every place." The Sunday school is under the boy's analysis, and thoughts on the subject of Divine omnipresence. Interspersed with the good singing were addresses by ministers, Brother R. Bryan being the chief speaker.

The one regretful fact of the school was the almost total absence of young men and young women. Where were the girls of 16, 17 and the boys of 18-20? Would a Sunday school session at 3 o'clock guarantee a fuller attendance? They were not all "at secular work—what the progress of 1887. We can easily see a great deal that needs doing; so can everyone else.

Having passed through or visited the conferences of about twenty-five States, we are inclined to be hopeful with reference to our people and our Church. Comparing our present condition with that of twenty years ago, or with the condition of the white American, we stand fair. Twenty years ago our Church numbered not more than half its present membership; it had but one school, which had never graduated a pupil, we were without an organized educational department, our missionary society was spending its forces at home simply; we had not dreamed of a Sunday school department; our original literature was composed of hot two religious weekly books and one paper, a weekly. Now, to say nothing of the better of members, we have seven times the number of schools, from which have gone nearly one hundred graduates and many hundreds of well educated persons besides. Our organization enables us to call our educational forces together once a year and distribute our annual gatherings among our schools. Our missionary society, faintly, yet practically, reaches its head out beyond the territory of the United States, making some effort to lefinesce the heathen abroad. Instead of one paper we have five that may be called denominational, one being at present suspended. The Sunday School Union is supplying the schools of our churches with literature in considerable variety. The standard of ministerial qualification is very respectable and the demand for holy lives among ministers and laymen is increasingly regular.

With these appliances, why should we not flourish? Why should we not produce a glorious harvest unto the Lord?

Our work has materially changed in most States. We have passed the stage of organization and reached the age of selfling, regulating and developing. This work requires considerable change in methods. The contest for grounds is open more largely between us and churches popularly known as white, though authorizing many colored persons. We must be alive to work with these classes as we have not before. We must stand out before the world preaching an unquestioned capability for self-government; we must manifest wisdom, piety and purity sufficiently to commend our work to the world as capable of large influence in modifying the nation's morals. We must be gracious and generous, philanthropic and brave, true and loyal, faithful and strong, diligent and thorough in our work. The scores of popular movements tending to correct the common life of the people and strengthen them by co-operative must no longer be allowed to pass unappropriated. We must work as reformers, leads and bonnes. The Rev. M. E. Bryant, presiding elder of the Selma (Ala.) District, is doing good work in this respect. He sees that the ministers and people of the district lay lands. It is true that the Church does not engage in real estate business, but at the same time no one can be too good nor his office too sacred to assist his fellow-man in making to himself a friend of the unrighteous mammon. "A good work both God and mammon," but "aim to yourselves friends of the neighteous mammon." We must have the favor of God and may have the favor of his material universe.

We must get closer to the real wants of the people. What are they? Besides that of more wealth in reality, they must be taught lessons on the affairs of everyday life. Could the 2,500 African Methodist preachers in the world be appointed to Tuskegee, Ala.; Covington, Ga.; Bishop James A. Shorter he was sent to Kingston, Greensburg and other points. He was presiding elder four years ago at the Port Gibson District by Bishop Brown he was appointed to Greensburg, Lake to Clinton Mission. Bishop Ward appointed him to the district of Jackson and Archipelago. Under Bishop H. Davis he was Bishop Payne's and Bayon Hoeuf and Hoopa. Father Payne was founder and organizer of all the work we have in Louisiana, in Helena and East Feliciana Parishes. He was born in Governor Hill's grant. He raced for three years as a member of the State Senate. Elder Reese and myself were very intimate during the late war and during the organization of the Conference in Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana Conference, which was about 73 years. I remain the last of those who took part in the organization of the Louisiana Conference, and I am the last of the Reese family. God bless you, my brother, and the interests of Christianity are dear to you. Brother Reese and myself were very intimate during the late war and during the organization of the Conference in Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana Conference. The Governor has

To the Ministers of the Sixth Episcopal District:

Dear brethren, your attention is called to the necessity of raising and bringing to the conference your pastoral dues, also or financial collection to help bear expenses of conference, and especially to defray expenses of our delegate to conference mission. We must publish our conference minutes. Brethren, by small sums we do lose, therefore I urge it upon the presiding elders of each conference, and the pastors of each station, to make a special effort in behalf of your next annual conference. Let us start the new year right and begin to work. Do not neglect to send in your reports. Let us have a report from every station and circuit. Brethren, remember, that it is an absolute necessity that we do the above, and I shall expect you to do your duty.

Your affectionate brother,
JAMES A. SHORTER.

DEATH OF BISHOP CAIN.

THE LONG BATTLE ENDED AT LAST

A telegram from Rev. Dr. Derrick, sent us this morning from the bedside of the Bishop, says that he is in the agonies of death. He breathed his last this (Tuesday) morning, 18th, at 2 o'clock. His long and severe illness has been a source of anxiety to his many friends, and to the whole Church, for more than a year. Although the exact debilitation and nature of his ailment has not been generally known, the best information from his physicians is that he has suffered nearly two years of that formidable malady "Bright's" did to cause of the renal organs, or, plainly, disolution of the kidneys.

The precise date of the Bishop's birth is not known to us, and therefore we cannot tell the precise number of years he has lived, but from our long acquaintance with him, we can say with strong reasons that the year of his nativity was about 1823 or 1824, and that Bishop Cain was about 63 years of age. We recall with distinctness and emotion the time and place of our first meeting with Richard H. Cain. It was in October, 1854, thirty-two years ago last October. He was then, by his own estimate, about 31 years old. We were under 20. He was then a licensed preacher in the A. M. E Church, and a consistent Christian.

In the summer of 1858 he bade us all farewell and left us at Galena, Ills., to join the then Indiana Conference. His first charge was at Mascoutine, Iowa, and second at St. Louis, Mo. From that time coward his old devoted friends of the Northwest have watched his career with the interest and pride of real friendship. In his early days, with his versatility, to dwell upon the chief features of Bishop Cain's life and character. Let this be done hereafter, and by those best fitted by reason of their abilities and near acquaintance to do him full justice. Be it ours, for the present, to uncover our heads, and stand beside our brethren at the grave, now open to receive the mortal remains of one we have known so long and well, and in whose achievements we have felt so keen an interest. With the dear brethren composing the ministry of our Church in the First Episcopal District, we lament the loss of our Bishop. With the whole Church we unite in the language of Paul, also our brother in the ministry, for truly a great man in Israel has fallen.

Bishop Cain always felt called to lead a strabip among his brethren, and he had also a natural peculiant for captaincy of the hosts. We may remark here, also, that we have now let by, and by the request and member of the Episcopal bench since the last General Conference. This is the first instance in our history of two deaths in one quadrennial term; not only this, but the absences to be heighted by the fact that both these were the very last chosen to that high office. The Bishop leaves behind a loving wife and adopted daughter to mourn his death, and a sad, broken household it must be.

Bishop Cain has been a professed Christian and a member and minister of our Church about thirty-nine years. During this period he has been student, minister, statesman, teacher, and Bishop in a powerful Church. The men of our race and time are few who have or ever can pass through the same long range of experiences and duty. The funeral takes place on Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

Servant of God, well done!
Rest from thy loved employ,
The battle fought, the victory won,
Enter thy Master's joy.

THERE is a great revival at Wilberforce University, Rev. J. H. Jones, pastor.

IN PHILADELPHIA and Jersey City laboring men and employers are having general set-to; in the former city in the beer business, and in the latter in the tobacco business. "Much ado about nothing."

THE PEOPLE of this country are increasing in kind feelings toward the brave men who saved the Nation in its time of peril. They come up with their thousands to the windo of Senator Logan, as they did for Mrs. Garfield.

THE Alabamians still continue to talk up the colored world's fair for September, 1887. They will have to talk hard to get it up. If they can't talk it up they cannot get it up; for a world's fair gotten up in a year can be little more than wind.

WE MUST insist on our contributors respecting the relies of courtesy and Christianity in their disputations. We cannot, for the Church's sake, pedle and the slang expressions that would not meet with objections in the lower haunts of the crowds.

DR. T. O. STAWARD was in the city last week. He reports the present condition of the Metropolitan Church as altogether hopeful. The congregation is increasing regularly, there is a good spiritual life in the church and the money matters are easy.

BEFORE writing for the world to read, men cannot think too carefully; a thousand ages, looking through as many spectacles, will read from the same standpoint of standpoints. Some articles are held aside because we cannot afford to quarrel with the writer in carelessness.

KINDNESS is a very cheap article, still its marked value is very great. Few ingredients of our nature cost less, none bring greater reward. Rashness is quite as easily acquired, but is the most expensive of all our constituent elements. You can never get as much for it as you have.

WE HAVE on hand three articles on the subject of baptism. We cannot publish them all. Our people are pretty well settled on this subject. We have an article on the syllogism that we consider excellent, because, if original it is nothing more than an original recitation of what others have written.

FROM Fort Supply, I. T., Chaplain Allen Allesworth greets us with his New Year card, ordering the "Provisional Commissary of Subsistence to cause to the bearer 365 days' ratios of health, peace and prosperity, frien ship, love and truth, faith, hope and charity for the campaign of 1887." Thanks for the order, Mr. Chaplain.

WE HAVE received from Rev. I. F. Aldridge a reply to Bishop Turner but we must leave these gentlemen's discussion with them. Our respect for the Church makes this necessary; not fearing the Bishop's preventing the sale of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER in his district, however. A Bishop boycotting his Church paper would be like a seniou pastmur boycotting his own firc.

MANY ARTICLES of hand cases appear on account of a fast plain to all observers—a fault paper. Rut Brother ——— sees somebody's else article, dated later than his, published, and asks, how is it? This, dear brother, you would very soon learn if here a month or so, but which, when stated, you evidently do not believe; for we have so stated several times in these columns. Again, brethren, we cannot agree to return unused copy. Keep dopliestes.

THE OLIPSE in Col. Thomas' article mark, first, his very courteous and skillcriticism of the editor's already explained (typo) mistake in an article entitled "Our Work in the South;" secondly, a Bolian respecting the "bull-fire," the former having been explained and the latter not requiring soy airing just now before a people, requiring cohesion more than repulsion, knowledge more than speculation. We do not find it particularly necessary to discuss either side of the question in these columns half so much as to instruct our people concerning just such other facts as some which the Colonel mentions.

WE ARE about to establish correspondents in several States, to whom may be sent on postal cards or otherwise for consolation and consideration for the RECORDER. We trust brethren will avail themselves of this opportunity and forward news promptly to our correspondents, Rev. A. H. Newton, Camden, N. J.; Rev. W. H. Giles, Hillsboro, N. C.; Rev. R. R. Longdon, Moberly, Mo.; Mr. R. G. Mortimer, Jr., Westerville O., and Mr. Geo. P. Daniels, No. 655 East Avenue, Galveston, Texas. This will accommodate those having knowledge of interesting facts occurring in their own work and under their observation. A mere mention of fests will be sufficient. This is not intended to keep out especially prepared articles, but, of course, to secure brevity and variety.

THROOP correspondence of Dr. W. B. Derrick with Dr. Tanner, we learn again that Bishop Cain is completely prostrated. A long siege disease has made upon the Bishop's frame. With Herculean will he has resisted and receded only after exhaustion. To those most able to judge, his case seems about hopeless. Yet we have not heard of his despairing of life, though resigned to the divine will and providence. Throughout his fiery trials Dr. Derrick has been his friend, manifesting a large sympathy and devotion worthy of high commendation from all and the heartiest thanks of the Church.

Since early last spring the Bishop has been a confirmed invalid; only his great will power has kept up physically and his great faith spiritually. In his trials he has had a good deal of good office by the connection. His colleagues have rendered him marked service, especially Bishop Campbell, who resides in Bishop Cain's district and has assisted him in holding every one of his conferences. Bishop Wayman, Ward and Brown also have rendered him considerable aid.

Since writing the above we have learned of the Bishop's demise.

THE TENNESSEE HIGH SCHOOL, it will be remembered, was, at the last session of the West Tennessee Conference, changed to the "John F. Slater University" and Principal H. T. Johnson made President. The latter is now traveling in the East in the interest of the school. He delivered an effective lecture in the Mt. Pisgah Church, this city, Thursday night, 13th inst., subject, "That Girl of Mine." The aim of the lecture is to impress young ladies with improved notions of their worth, work and duty. The audience was well pleased. The president preached in Union Church Wednesday night. Friday night he left for New York. He is to address the Brooklyn Literary Society February 8th. He is doing considerable literary work in connection with his other duties, expecting to issue a book very soon.

WE trust the Slater University will prove successful. In order to do this, one hundred thousand of our people must become interested in it and five hundred thousand others must be careful not to oppose it. Some of the best educators of the land are interested in it. We cannot urge the brethren of congregate States to join this movement and let at least five States throw their influence together.

IT is a misfortune to any government for the incumbent of any office to stand in the path of reform and progress, clad in the full paraphernalia of his office, waving his wand in the face of the reformer. The recognition of general human frailty should afford reason enough to guarantee a respectable bearing on the part of officers, to the lowest person suggesting improvement in any and original recitation of what others have written.

Literature.

The A. M. E. Quarterly Review for January opens with frontispiece illustrations of Rev. John Mc. and, thoughtful and reflective face of the late Mrs. Mary Ella Mossell. The latter is a sketch of her interesting life, by the facile pen of Hon. John W. Langston. Few have Mrs. Mossell but Mr. Langston's few moments have furnished better write of her virtues. The Review is well worth the study of every American girl as an incentive to better and more practical life, and every American woman as an inspiration to doing duty under discouragements. Dr. Bishop, of Africa, writes a remarkably unique article (to be continued) on "The Accomplishment in Nigritia." The writer holds that the intellectual superiority of the influence of Christian civilization is undeniable, and the like, right practices for Christian people out of church buildings for church purposes? The best minds, the minds that lead the world in morals, with few exceptions say no. Those who count godliness, and godliness a temporary accommodation, say yes. The line between these two classes corresponds very nearly with that which separates the Christian, practically good and the Christian half-hearted, or, more often, it is true, where ignorance is blise. The act of gaining value by mere sociolect is in itself demoralizing generally. The moralist in the sanctuary must be supported is characterized by several essential elements. The acquisition of property at church fairs but opens the way to the vile serpent-like practice of policy pledging, or vigorously deals with in the article in this paper, "Will Answer If." In short, gambling has ost the moral sanction of the better part of those who practice it.

Now, the theatre attendance, considered alone: is it wrong? No man may say that the man who occasionally attends all other points would commit a sin in attending a theatrical performance that is all right, with an endeavor all right, accompanied by purposes all right, acquiring knowledge all right for ease of right. No one may fear moral contamination in such a place. But "where that place, that spot of earth be found?" Besides the improbability of such conditions in the theatre we can but afford to exclude from discussion of this kind the fact of human weakness, which yields so readily and so fully to the impressions of phases of life that tend to excite the feelings highly to licentiousness or horrible brutality. It doubt the race, strengthened properly might enjoy refinements that are merely hinted at in the theatre; refinements without degrading elements or tendencies. They assert the present popular theatre, with impunity, but we think the discussion has little to do; for it is speculation merely. On almost every hand we observe the results of pleasure of this kind as associated, more or less with life. Individual and social decline is somewhat intimately connected with the decline of anti-theatrical attendance in too many cases to allow the pulpit to afford a bint in favor of the theatre. We must remember the inability of men to discriminate between the better and lower performances, that renders it the more dangerous for religious leaders to waver on this subject. The testimony of theater-goers themselves, the circle set and best of them, is against those going for the masses. The advice of many of the most popular tragedians and comedians is against general theatre attendance. In a church, whose whole spirit is against it, for the sake of unanimity of moral action, every pulpit must discourage theatre attendance.

UNIQUE CHURCH DECORATION.

The Orange A. M. E. Church, Rev. J. P. Sampson, pastor, is quite an attraction during the holidays. The pastor has secured a large, an attractive gallery, the church nearly covered with evergreens, Caesar, and a furnace of spiritual vitality, and the result is seen in the following:

The Christmas decoration at the African M. E. Church, on South Street, is unique and pretty, as well as appropriate. It has caused many a thousands of people to pass by and admire the handsome lettering tastefully wrought with evergreens. Over the pulpit in front hall he called a home of prayer for all nations. The entrance is very close background, representing a beautiful sky with bright gold stars, and a new moon. Over the altar are many beautiful stars of Bethlehem. In the foreground are the shepherds watching their flocks by night, while in the distance, among the hills and valleys of Bethlehem, may be seen the sheep. About the right hand corner are three large crosses, showing the crucifixion of our Saviour. Crowns, sceptres and other appropriate designs. Around the entire church, which has been recently refurnished and painted, are the words: "For unto us Christ is born," etc., set up in large arborvitæ lettering. The Christmas dress of the little church is quite appropriate to all classes in that part of the city."

We failed to note in our last issue that Rev. W. H. Ogleton, of Connersville, Texas, is the first of our ministers to send us a club of ten cash subscribers for one year. We sent him promptly the premium offered, namely, a copy of Geo. W. Williams' history of the negro race. We have a few more of them left. Who will send in the next club? Remember, the change to get this splendid work will not always be ours. Next!

CATARRH

CATARRH IS A DREADFUL DISEASE, yet it can be cured by the use of our Catarrh specific. Thousands suffer without knowing the nature of this almost universal complaint. It is an inflammation or ulceration of the lining membrane of the nasal passages. There are several varieties of Catarrh, with widely different symptoms. The most common kind is characterized by an excessive secretion of mucus or matter in the nasal passages, which sometimes flows from the nose, or drop back behind the palate, or is hawked or snuffed backward to the throat.

Other indications are hawking, spitting, weak and inflamed eyes, frequent sneezing, sore throat, often ringing or roaring or other sounds in the ears, more or less impairment of the hearing, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness and dizziness of the head, and dyspnea and head of the nose.

All persons thus afflicted should take cold easily. The breath sometimes reveals to all around the corruption within, while the patient often loses all sense of smell. The disease advances generally, until pain in the chest, lungs or bowels startles him; he hacks and coughs, has dyspepsia, liver complaint, and is urged by his doctor to take this or that; perhaps end-liver aid is prescribed. Patiently ridiculous! The real ulcers in the heart can not be reached by pouring such stuff into the poor, jaded stomach. The patient becomes nervous; the voice harsh and unnatural; he feels disheartened; memory loses its power; judgment her call; gloomy forebodings hang overhead; headaches, by the thousands, in each circumstances feel that to die would be a relief, and many even do cut the thread of life to end their sorrows.

Thousands are Dying

In early life with consumption who can look back a few years—perhaps only a month—and say, "I was then in perfect health." Nasal catarrh is the starting point. It and Consumption are twin brothers. Loathsome is the history of both. In order to meet this terrible scourge, the cancer of blood gushing from the lungs, or night sweats, all significantly proclaim it too late; and thus a neglected Catarrh ends the consumptive's grave.

Nasal Catarrh.

Sometimes the disease only affects the membranes lining the nasal passages and they may be easily reached and cured by simple means. But when it is located in the "frontal sinus" or in the "posterior sanus," or if it has entered the "Eustachian tubes" and is injuring the ears, nothing but a thorough course of constitutional treatment will cure it. As follows: We think this order will not last long, as thousands of requests we have had for better patients, than contained in the cheap outfits offered in flash advertisements, which ladies of our country have learned to shun. In order to meet this long-felt want, we have established an outfit of original patients, every one of which is large enough for prescribed use. She has discarded rib, hair, silk, and all the cheap trash usually found in such outfits, and has selected a full line of the finest goods in the market. Our Outfit, including a full course of treatment, will be offered to LADIES' HOME JOURNAL readers for the small sum of $1.00, postage paid. Any lady who will show this offer to her friends can secure a full course of treatment in her friends and secure 4 full subscribers at 25 cents each for 6 months, will receive as a premium complete outfit.

The outfit consists of the following patterns of WORTHWHILE bugs and butterflies, so crowded together on a single sheet as to make it impossible to list them.

ALL patterns are stamped before they are sold. The brush sometimes reveals to all around the corruption within, while the patient often loses all sense of smell. The disease advances generally, until pain in the chest, lungs or bowels startles him; he hacks and coughs, has dyspepsia, liver complaint, and is urged by his doctor to take this or that; perhaps end-liver aid is prescribed. Patiently ridiculous! The real ulcers in the heart can not be reached by pouring such stuff into the poor, jaded stomach. The patient becomes nervous; the voice harsh and unnatural; he feels disheartened; memory loses its power; judgment her call; gloomy forebodings hang overhead; headaches, by the thousands, in each circumstances feel that to die would be a relief, and many even do cut the thread of life to end their sorrows.

Each outfit is accompanied by directions for doing stamping of FLEISCH'S NEW PATENT PERFORATING TRACE. It has no oily or oily or oily stamp. THE VALUE is in the PATTERNS, which Mrs. Knapp has designed expressly for this outfit, and they can be had from no other source. Each outfit contains a full set of these patterns, and they can be had from no other source. Each outfit contains a full set of these outfits to be delivered during this season, and shall GIVE THEM AWAY RIGHT AND LEFT as follows: We think this order will not last long, as thousands of requests we have had for better patterns, than contained in the cheap outfits offered in flash advertisements, which ladies of our country have learned to shun. In order to meet this long-felt want, we have established an outfit of original patients, every one of which is large enough for prescribed use. She has discarded rib, hair, silk, and all the cheap trash usually found in such outfits, and has selected a full line of the finest goods in the market. Our Outfit, including a full course of treatment, will be offered to LADIES' HOME JOURNAL readers for the small sum of $1.00, postage paid. Any lady who will show this offer to her friends can secure a full course of treatment in her friends and secure 4 full subscribers at 25 cents each for 6 months, will receive as a premium complete outfit.

The Experience of Others.

The record is a guarantee that Child's Treatment for Catarrh, and all diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, can be taken at home with perfect ease and safety, by the patient. We especially desire to treat those who have tried other remedies without success. A full statement of method of home treatment and cost will be sent on application.

Address Rev. T. P. CHILDS, Troy, Ohio.

Imitators

Catarrh is generally many years in gaining a foothold in the system, and attacks so many parts of the body that it can not be cured by any one remedy, or by a single application. Therefore, any remedy that will cure Catarrh must be used in these diseases wherever it is located, and fight it, inch by inch, until a complete victory has been obtained.—Baptist.

Catarrh and consumption are the twin cousins of the race, and any means of relief is a boon—and blessing. The treatment furnished by Rev. T. P. Childs, of Troy, O., has proved to be a specific and certain cure for nasal catarrh, bronchitis, and every disease of the throat and lungs, and may be recommended with every confidence. None need fear any hesitancy in placing their case in Mr. Childs' hands. Those who have tried other treatment without success, should not despair until they have personally tested his advice.—Advocate.

SENSITIVENESS.

We have heard people talk about their sensitiveness sometimes as if it was a peculiarly commendable trait, as something to be proud of indeed—until we had longed to moderate them; for sensitiveness they only are sensitive that they are extremely quick to take offense, and consequently are the most hidden enemy of where none existed.

Such sensitiveness has other names not quite so flattering to its possessors, as touchiness, unreasonable temper, and even self-conceit. For nothing is more uncomfortable in every-day life than these sensitive people. They may be against the patience and alienate the love of their best friends. To be explaining or soothing the "feelings" of such a one, and what we must stop to measure our words and guard our every action lest the slightest thing should offend, is simply the constant becomes irritating, as well as tiresome, and the sensitive one, when used for a cold in the head, bronchitis, clergyman's sore throat, or any disease of the throat, will find it of little use. Dr. T. P. Childs, of Troy, O., has been so long and successful in connection with this catarrh cure, and has cured so many thousands of people in the last 5 years, that he is the greatest catarrhal troubles suggests Rev. T. P. Childs.

FOR OVER THIRTY YEARS

"Dromedary Yeast Powder" have been used with unfailing success, for the relief and cure of Coughs, Hoarseness and other throat troubles so prevalent. Rev. WARD BENCHER says of them: "I have never changed on a thousands of people from the first, except I think yet better of that which I began by thinking well of. I have also commended them to friends, and they have proved extraordinarily efficient." Ask your druggist for your Troches are pre-eminently the best."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are teething. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. For sale by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and call for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES DEPARTMENT.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return the same money to us months from date. 2nd. All papers must be carefully examined and reported with each settlement and held subject to our order. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fourth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $2.00 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us the balance. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 60 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 40 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Some agents order one hundred and four thousand copies, or one hundred and four thousand copies, and only get to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 per year. Believing that all our brethren will favor us with prompt payments avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please send in names, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be forwarded to all who may be to wish to become or continue agents.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 20 copies and over will be allowed 4 cents each; two cents and a half; less than 20 copies, 3 cents.

Agents will please remember and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped All agents must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on Recorders sales unpaid for. We shall sift our agents every month.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are anxious to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending the list of names to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to get the names of some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady to whom you could recommend. Many of them are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one help them. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. ESCREY, 631 Pine street.

NOTICE.

To any minister having in his possession copies of my "Cyclopedia of African Methodism," will please send them to Rev. J. C. Embry, 631 Pine Street, Philadelphia, Pa. This refers to those who have should copy on hand.

A. W. WAYMAN.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $3 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for elder people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. O. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

Be Warned in Time.

Cure your Cough before you are beyond reach of human care or skill. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, properly administered, is a certain and speedy cure for all Throat and Lung Diseases. It is used, more or less, every day, in every civilized community, and is known to the whole world. ¶ I used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, last spring, for a severe Cough, and for lung troubles, with good effect. It completely cured me. —Harvey Baughman, Proprietor Globe Hotel, Mt. Gilead, Ohio.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

After other medicines failed, I was speedily cured of a dangerous Cough by the use of two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.—Rev. W. J. Chilton, Pastor of the New Covenant Church, Chicago, Ill.

About five years ago I suffered from a very obstinate Cough, from which I was unable to obtain relief. I was finally persuaded, by a friend, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before I had half a bottle of this medicine, was entirely cured. From then to now, I have had no occasion needed, and always, with good effect.—Charles Meacham, Woodland, Mich.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy I have ever found for Colds and Coughs, or for Throat and Lung diseases. I have used it in my family for many years, and it always relieves promptly. — J. P. Dorey, Londonderry, Ohio.

IF.

If we were less quick to censure
All the errors we may find
In a weak and tempted brother;
If we could but bear in mind
That he like ourselves is mortal,
And refrain to cast the stone—
Might find the world less doubtful
Of some failures of our own.

If we made the world and people,
Every man in shape and size,
And its thoughtless inmates such as,
We with reason might complain.
If our judgment were the standard
Of our feeling and our fears
Should bring about the best treasures,
There would be more need for tears.

If it were not wrong to cherish
Everything our hearts hold dear,
If heaven seemed not quite so distant,
Or if earth were not so near,
If our love for God were deeper,
Trust more perfect in his saving—
Then the upward road to heaven,
Was not quite so steep and long.

If as soon as life grew sombre
We could enter that world's bliss,
Or if we could claim as glories
Those we daily miss,
If our duty and our wishes
Yielded equal pleasure,
Any one could be a Christian
Just as well as not.

If our yesterday's pitched battles
Were not fought again to-day,
If we kept no record of wrongs
In this world's bloodless allays,
If there were no dark corners
From our hard earned vantage ground,
We should grow weak from inaction,
Strength from conflict is found.

If we only could be patient
Though God's time be long or soon,
If we could but learn the lesson
Of the Cross and Crown by Crying,
Casting for the moon,
Then should we gain richer blessings
Worth more than we really do,
Than the fleeting pleasures enjoyed.
For ourselves and others too.

"THE NEW DISCIPLINE."

BY REV. J. M. PALMER.

The General Conference of the A. M. E. Church in Missouri has considered one of the most auspicious events that has occurred during the year. We were not able to witness the personel of that intelligent body, but from what we have been told, it was the ablest that has been before the people for a decade. We have also been informed that the A. M. E. laymen and clergymen ever met assembled within the United States point of intelligence, of moral and immaterial dignity, to say the least of any religious body of people in the world. The social gatherings, whether of our own or the opposite race. When I assert that we have the most intelligent body of men in all the United States, I refer especially to the commanding body of men which gathered in the Conference, which by former conferences, however. We doubt not that every previous session has been the best that could be had in advance of its time.

But the first and one of the most important changes noted in our new Discipline is that which is found, if not in every particular, yet with those need in any other of the books of the Church, that the Bishop shall not be a member of the Book Committee, or Publishing Agent, or Secretary of the Board of Missions, or Editor of the Church Paper, or Pastor of the Church in which the General Conference may be held. This section will be fully observed and kept inviolate by every element of the Church, and no Bishop who would doubtless extend from every bottom of our hearts. The strongest and most radical temperate man in our country cannot ask for more stringent legislation for the overthrow of rum and rumism than this.

Furthermore, it might say if the laws of our land were as stringent as the law in our Church, about the sale of liquor distilled, retailed or drank within our commonwealth having their sanction or without their sanction, however, it is one thing to enact laws and another thing to have the power to enforce them. The lawmakers who give us stringent prohibitory measures for the suppression of this evil, and who have the legislative department of the Church, must create them as such. Their proper interpretation and so forcement by the executive authorities. It therefore devolves upon the brethren who control the legislative department of the Church sumption to relieve them in giving them existence. It requires more power to enforce. It requires more ability to be executive, in the persons of the pastor and officers, and down also to the lay member, whose duty it is to promote the peace and purity of his church. Doubtless the section of the Discipline put to shame every day and hour before their eyes and the bleeding heart of the cardinal virtue of the religion, and the spirit of the Christian moral relation; and that, too, in many instances by the dominant race, remains highly important that a General Conference of African Methodists in this enlightened age should be called to the work of former considerations of this vital matter.

The restrictions of this division of the new Discipline are so simple, so plain, and so much in accordance with the declarations of our blessed Lord himself, that no one can be misguided, nor claim that they are the invention of human judgment alone. It is not presumed that every member of the A. M. E. Church will have seen this important section of our book, but the general and quadrennial, yet they are here, and if the rule of the class of persons referred to should increase during that period; if ministers, preachers, exhorters or lay members, male or female, should ever veil their matrimonial relations for other cause than that prescribed by the word of God and the Discipline of the A. M. E. Church, their blood will be upon their own heads and not upon the members of the General Conference, who have faithfully discharged their duty in running up the signals of warning beforehand, that the Church might be guarded against the admission and retention of men and women disposed to use the liberty in being separated from each other, exercised in the time of Josephus when even he and many others of more or less distinctive promised and pure blood, were if they displeased them in their manners, the cooking of their victuals, and numbers less other trivial causes, which were doubtless the cause of the rejection of the saviour said to the Pharisees, "Go account of the hardness of your hearts, Moses suffered you to put away your wives, but from the beginning it was not so."

It is the sincere regret of many better thinking people in the great State of Pennsylvania that our laws on the subject of divorce are so liberal as to aid in the separation for the most unnecessary causes of these being voluntary desertion for the period of two years. It would almost seem, according to this, that there were grounds for reflection upon our Creator, who joined in holy wedlock in this, they seem to fail to base the law which they make upon the teachings of the One who is the founder of every good and righteous law, and who, himself pronounced the sentence, "Those whom God hath

What we must say

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slip of receipts to all who will sot for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full SIX months for paying the subscription.

A Luxuriant Growth Of Hair

May be obtained by the continued use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A few years ago my hair began to turn gray, and, a short time after, fell out so freely that I became nearly bald. Kennah, Ulster, N. Y.

I had been troubled, for years, with scaly disease, and my hair was falling out and thin. The use of five bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor cured my scalp disease, and gave me a luxuriant head of soft, black hair.—Mrs. E. H. Foster, Lynn, Mass.

PHILADELPHIA, FEB. 3 1887

THE EMPEROR and Chancellor have been much annoyed by strong rebuke to their high claims by the Reichstag.

RUSSIA has declined entering the conference of the powers with reference to the Bulgarian troubles. Russia is a big bear; she can afford to forbear.

PERSONS wishing to secure extra copies of our issue of January 20, containing a set of our lamented Bishop Gaio, may have their orders filled at this office.

MICHIGAN is going to submit the question of prohibitionary amendment to the constitution to the popular vote. That's right. If the whiskey men will keep their hoodlin inside their saloons and other places of business and not shake it in the faces of sober Michigan will make it close for them.

NEW JERSEY Assemblyman Seeman must have unsanity perfected. He introduced a bill in the Legislature to abolish Sunday from business considerations; so that legal papers drawn up on this day would be valid. This aims at the general disregard of the Sabbath day. Say it if you will, you pulse in France tri d it. Hundreds of little individuals have tried it. God has "beloved the day;" yoo cannot disregard it with impunity.

IT WOULD be much better if brethren who have a little difficulty with their presiding elder would simply tell him so; set write to him through the RECORDER. This is not the office of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER to act as an arena upon which these personal battles may be fought. We have a reply to the article of Brother Reed on this ministerial interference. What reply could he give but that of sanction? you may ask. We have a reply to a statement made by a Missourian; that the Missouri ministers are disloyal, too, in the matter of presiding eldership. All this for our discovery.

THE LITTLE flurry in the Roman Catholic brotherhood relative to the Rev. McGlynn, the minister who threw his influence on the side of Henry George, in the late New York municipal elections—this being in favor of Knights of Labor, and so against the highest authority of his Church—seems to increase in magnitude. The Doctor has been superceded by Rev. Doscelly in his pastorate, and summoned to Rome, which seems, as it is said, the Doctor has disrespected. It is hard to tell what will be the outcome of this tilt between a man and a pope.

THE Philadelphia Times, dissecting the ballot dancing subject and ministers' relation thereto, states that ballot dancing is a beautiful subject for the boys to dwell upon; that it is a source of real joy-inspiring. But it fails to discuss the more important question, whether all that is pleasing may be enjoyed with moral impunity, and the very serious question, whether those who are thus sacrificed to the pleasure-loving of their fellowmen are themselves in a proper moral state. We would like to have his daughter be a ballot dancer? If this sentiment of pleasure be harmless, if it be something that ministers should see orange, then it may be something for which any man might, with the full consent of conscience, have his daughters educated. This bootleg the whole world to our appetence for pleasure is a grievous fault, and grievously in the present answering it.

THE IDEA of school children going on a strike is ridiculous, yet so high has the notion of revolt against oppressive rises to revolt against government that the spirit has reached eyes children. Within the past twelve months schools have struck for shorter days, for keeping certain teachers against whom their boards had declared, etc. Whoo shall we look for revolt of the orrdis against certain hands attempting to rock it and the protest of the enraieg infant against the mother, demanding a change of hotels? Only last week, in Philadelphia, a schooler, beloved by her pupils, was dismissed by the board for disobedience to their orders. The children—from ten years old to fifteen—struck, armed with sticks and stones, raising a serious disturbance against the newly appointed teacher. They finally beat back not only her, but the board representatives sed others who attempted to settle them; hold the police in key for one hour, finally compelling them to withdraw. The matter was settled by the board restoring the old teacher. This is a first rate way to raise up a new set of anarchists to take the place of those who will soon pay the prices of their un-Americanism on the gallows. But these young fellows may fare better when they become big anarchists; they may have a public sympathy more in their favor. At least it may be so if the silly sentiment against the enforcement of law is not abandoned.

THERE ARE two classes of men in every community who are to be pitied: one is the sober, thinki, though able, is unwilling to contribute anything to his necessities wealth, either as city, county, State or general government, in money, judgment, sympathy or protection, only so far as compelled by law or led for personal gain. The other is the able and which, though able and willing to assist in all respects, is debarred from so doing, excepting where other individuals from selfish motives arrange to allow it to act.

The man whose name never goes on committee or society rolls because he is selfish and mean, does not feel chagrined because he does set want his name nor his presence where he is not the principal beneficiary, but the man of large heart and generous feelings, who would like responsibility for community life as well as individual, does realize his great loss when that community refuses or fails to use him. To this latter class belong thousands of colored Americans citizens. They do act demand the mere recognition of their existence and their rights, but also their powers. They want to stand in all the reformatory affairs of their neighborhood for the sake of contributing their mite. In too many cases white men do not regard this fact. In too many others they observe it, but do not respect it. There are also by far too many colored men who are themselves indifferent to their community good.

ON ONE first page is a brief sketch of the Rt. Rev. A. W. Wayman, D. D. Bishop Wayman has always been recognized as one of our popular men. His very appearance on the streets, in the parlor, in the pulpit, everywhere, is the subject of admiring and attractive. We give these sketches of prominent men in order that persons not having seen them, but read of them, may get a glimpse of their face. This picture of Bishop Wayman is not good. He has a much more benevolent face than appears in it. We shall give a sketch of Bishop Campbell in our next. On the 24th of February, which is Bishop Payne's seventy-sixth birthday, we propose giving a sketch of the Senior Bishop's useful life. On the 17th of February we purpose giving a sketch of the life of Bishop Allen, the first of our Bishops and founder of the African M. E. Church. Bishop Allen whose popularity increases with time. We have had many years hence, will be much more notable than he was a hundred years ago. We shall publish extra numbers of these issues in order that our subscribers and friends may supply their friends. We trust all our ministers will use their influence in behalf of increasing the circulation of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. As previously stated, it is our intention to publish sketches of other men and women, ministers, teachers, song, who have done great work in behalf of educating the race.

THE SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE repeats the nonsense started by some of our colored newspapers, set without information supposed to be reliable, doubtless, concerning the wealth of the Bishop, in his account, which is said to be considerable. It is hard to tell what will be the outcome of this tilt between a man and a pope.

THE Philadelphia Times, dissecting the ballet dancing subject and ministers' relation thereto, states that ballet dancing is a beautiful subject for the boys to dwell upon; that it is a source of real joy-inspiring. But it fails to discuss the more important question, whether all that is pleasing may be enjoyed with moral impunity, and the very serious question, whether those who are thus sacrificed to the pleasure-loving of their fellowmen are themselves in a proper moral state. We would like to have his daughter be a ballot dancer? If this sentiment of pleasure be harmless, if it be something that ministers should see orange, then it may be something for which any man might, with the full consent of conscience, have his daughters educated. This bootleg the whole world to our appetence for pleasure is a grievous fault, and grievously in the present answering it.

THE ADVOCATE says that the Bishop's estate is considerable, and that he has left his property to his children. This is not the case. The Bishop has left his property to the Church which characterized those personal battles may be fought. We have a reply to the article of Brother Reed on this ministerial interference. What reply could he give but that of sanction? you may ask. We have a reply to a statement made by a Missourian; that the Missouri ministers are disloyal, too, in the matter of presiding eldership. All this for our discovery.

THE LITTLE flurry in the Roman Catholic brotherhood relative to the Rev. McGlynn, the minister who threw his influence on the side of Henry George, in the late New York municipal elections—this being in favor of Knights of Labor, and so against the highest authority of his Church—seems to increase in magnitude. The Doctor has been superceded by Rev. Doscelly in his pastorate, and summoned to Rome, which seems, as it is said, the Doctor has disrespected. It is hard to tell what will be the outcome of this tilt between a man and a pope.

THE Philadelphia Times, dissecting the ballet dancing subject and ministers' relation thereto, states that ballet dancing is a beautiful subject for the boys to dwell upon; that it is a source of real joy-inspiring. But it fails to discuss the more important question, whether all that is pleasing may be enjoyed with moral impunity, and the very serious question, whether those who are thus sacrificed to the pleasure-loving of their fellowmen are themselves in a proper moral state. We would like to have his daughter be a ballot dancer? If this sentiment of pleasure be harmless, if it be something that ministers should see orange, then it may be something for which any man might, with the full consent of conscience, have his daughters educated. This bootleg the whole world to our appetence for pleasure is a grievous fault, and grievously in the present answering it.

THE IDEA of school children going on a strike is ridiculous, yet so high has the notion of revolt against oppressive rises to revolt against government that the spirit has reached eyes children. Within the past twelve months schools have struck for shorter days, for keeping certain teachers against whom their boards had declared, etc. Whoo shall we look for revolt of the orrdis against certain hands attempting to rock it and the protest of the enraieg infant against the mother, demanding a change of hotels? Only last week, in Philadelphia, a schooler, beloved by her pupils, was dismissed by the board for disobedience to their orders. The children—from ten years old to fifteen—struck, armed with sticks and stones, raising a serious disturbance against the newly appointed teacher. They finally beat back not only her, but the board representatives sed others who attempted to settle them; hold the police in key for one hour, finally compelling them to withdraw. The matter was settled by the board restoring the old teacher. This is a first rate way to raise up a new set of anarchists to take the place of those who will soon pay the prices of their un-Americanism on the gallows. But these young fellows may fare better when they become big anarchists; they may have a public sympathy more in their favor. At least it may be so if the silly sentiment against the enforcement of law is not abandoned.

THERE ARE two classes of men in every community who are to be pitied: one is the sober, thinki, though able, is unwilling to contribute anything to his necessities wealth, either as city, county, State or general government, in money, judgment, sympathy or protection, only so far as compelled by law or led for personal gain. The other is the able and which, though able and willing to assist in all respects, is debarred from so doing, excepting where other individuals from selfish motives arrange to allow it to act.

The man whose name never goes on committee or society rolls because he is selfish and mean, does not feel chagrined because he does set want his name nor his presence where he is not the principal beneficiary, but the man of large heart and generous feelings, who would like responsibility for community life as well as individual, does realize his great loss when that community refuses or fails to use him. To this latter class belong thousands of colored Americans citizens. They do act demand the mere recognition of their existence and their rights, but also their powers. They want to stand in all the reformatory affairs of their neighborhood for the sake of contributing their mite. In too many cases white men do not regard this fact. In too many others they observe it, but do not respect it. There are also by far too many colored men who are themselves indifferent to their community good.

ON ONE first page is a brief sketch of the Rt. Rev. A. W. Wayman, D. D. Bishop Wayman has always been recognized as one of our popular men. His very appearance on the streets, in the parlor, in the pulpit, everywhere, is the subject of admiring and attractive. We give these sketches of prominent men in order that persons not having seen them, but read of them, may get a glimpse of their face. This picture of Bishop Wayman is not good. He has a much more benevolent face than appears in it. We shall give a sketch of Bishop Campbell in our next. On the 24th of February, which is Bishop Payne's seventy-sixth birthday, we propose giving a sketch of the Senior Bishop's useful life. On the 17th of February we purpose giving a sketch of the life of Bishop Allen, the first of our Bishops and founder of the African M. E. Church. Bishop Allen whose popularity increases with time. We have had many years hence, will be much more notable than he was a hundred years ago. We shall publish extra numbers of these issues in order that our subscribers and friends may supply their friends. We trust all our ministers will use their influence in behalf of increasing the circulation of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. As previously stated, it is our intention to publish sketches of other men and women, ministers, teachers, song, who have done great work in behalf of educating the race.

THE SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE repeats the nonsense started by some of our colored newspapers, set without information supposed to be reliable, doubtless, concerning the wealth of the Bishop, in his account, which is said to be considerable. It is hard to tell what will be the outcome of this tilt between a man and a pope.

Finally, in fair to apply to WILLIAM Taylor the law made for the support of those heretofore known as Missionary Bishops? They were colored men elected as Missionary Bishops for Liberia many years ago, because it was supposed that no white man would ever live in the country. The climate of Providence would not have thought of restricting William Taylor to Liberia, or of requiring him in the province relations to the Church which characterized those colored Bishops. Let the next General Conference elect Taylor a Bishop—not a missionary Bishop—and the whole thing is settled in a moment.—Western Christian Advocate.

The provision made in our Discipline for Missionary Bishops was made specially for Africa, and has never been tried anywhere else. And, indeed, so unsatisfactory was the trial there made that Bishop Taylor was elected, that no one seemed to care to have it repeated. And indeed, no other of our ministers fields or whites have such a provision made for them. If the African work had remained in any vitality, it, too, would have spurned the offer of a Missionary Bishop, unless it really desired to become an Independent Methodist Church.—Philadelphia Methodist.

The Africss work alone was given an especial Bishop because a colored man was supposed to be able to stand the climate. Strange that under the circumstances those colored men were not made simply Bishops with the probability of having their work in Africa exclusively. Stranger still that the Methodists, the papers, think that the Church did not intend to make Bishop Taylor of those what a chief and not a real Bishop. Even stranger how Bishop Taylor, made Bishop for Africa by special consecration, can be now made a "full Bishop." If the two black men had been made full Bishops at the time of their consecration the inconsistent attempts of the M. E. folks to nullify the black and white races while carefully seeing to it that they do not get together. It reminds us of the order to "not go near the water till you learn to swim." The difference is very fair that had Dr. Marshall W. Taylor, instead of Dr. William Taylor, accepted the African Bishopric, our good sostemperaries would hardly advise that he be made a full bishop.

THE REV. C. O. H. Thomas, A. M., LL. B., is slightly mistaken; of all our hundreds of relatives we have none by the name of Stevens. Not that if we had, the public has tried no too long to catch on to Brother Thomas' sarcasm. fit falls at his feet a lifeless thing. Not one person who is well acquainted with the editor of the RECORDER will notice it, while two thousand well acquainted with him will say Brother Thomas knows very little of the man at whom he points.

The article published by our worthy secretary, Dr. Stewart, had no reference to the Rev. C. O. H. Thomas. But, left to our own judgment, we would not have published it, because we felt that it injured the Metropolitan cause, but we chanced to be attending duty away from the office when it was sent up; so our return we found a letter from the author saying, "Don't publish it." It came too late. Seeing that a continuation of discussion of the matter on the line shown by the RECORDER would be a wrong to the Church before the world in an unwarrantably weak attitude we declined to do so. We well know that the Church had authorized the assumption of certain investments of given facts, concerning the Metropolitan Church by the Seaside board, and that without any stipulated contingency of control.

We are determined, so far as in us lies, not to parade the intidestal weaknesses of the connection of the Church. We are trying weekly to do less and less of it. It is not always available. Sometimes some of our chief officers do this very thing, but it can be but a source of regret. In a case like that that seemed so largeant to Brother Thomas, he could have addressed himself to the bench of Bishops sod to the Financial Board; but, pray what excuse for publishing it where it did not reach any considerable number of African Methodists! The suggestions of an honest desire for reform in the Church would most likely be directed to the place in the Church where it could do most good; not to the places where it would be most effective in the right direction and at the same time where it would do most good to stir up criticism against the A. M. E. Church. There may be many Christians in the M. E. Church in sympathy with us, but this could not increase their sympathy.

THERE ARE many strange facts connected with the estimate men place upon their own lives and degree of teasnity to life manifested in different persons. The fear of death is well nigh universal, yet it is often hidden from thought by strong desire, deep grief, fervent affection, delusive self-indulgence and madness. When we hear of persons dying from old age or lingering disease, we are not shocked as we are when their death comes without warning or with very brief previous chris ie signs. We do not speak of the death by lingering disease or old age as sudden, but death unaccompanied by these signs is called sudden. Comparatively little attention is paid to the destruction of life by murderous hatite; intemperate eating, drinking, and eating that which is poisonous. It is not rare to hear men declare the necessity of their desisting from given habits, stating that they have realized the ill effects of said habit for many years. These persons have been slow suicides. Finally their life pays the penalty of their intemperance. They are pitied. Had they lived quite as long and committed suicide by violence, they would be condemned.

There is something strange in our common treatment of suicides, so far as it will be censured. A man undertaker to kill another man and fails, he is put to prison. If he attempts suicide and fails, he is cot tried in the criminal courts, though he should be so tried and condemned. A man has no more right to take his own life than that of his fellow. There is no especial command with reference to the crime of suicide, but "thou shalt not kill" certainly includes suicide.

The idea that death is painful is decided by scientists and controverted very largely by observation. The fear of death has come largely from the notion that it is painful. It is true that disease or the sudden interference with the action of any law regulating the body causes pain, but probable that the article death, or dissolution, is without pain. The confusion of moral and physical things goes far to strengthen the idea of death being painful. The "King of Terrors," the last enemy, may be supposed to have his awful character from the circumstances of his mission being to cut man loose from his probation and bring him at once to the stage of life that is unchangeable and everlasting. The ecesay mind is poised by misgivings, not by physical affections. We have a misunderstanding of the great offer of everlasting life in our acceptance of Christ and the full assent to his will is hesitancy to conquer even this form of pain connected with death and enable us to exclaim, "O death! where is thy sting?" But in no sense is this se indecent to those life away is intemperance or in despair. The life is more valuable and the body than ralment. "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain," expresses the proper attitude of man towards life and towards death. "Whether we live or die, therefore, we are the Lord's;" though the life be long and painful and though the death be short and painless. No man's life is his own, it is his fellow's for use and God's for glory.

THE BERGEN STAR CONCERT.—Philadelphians never fail to give Mr. Bergen's concerts a warm reception. That which is to be given 17th inst. will hardly prove an exception; for earnestly appreciated home talent will aid in making the entertainment equal to the best in the galaxy of "Stars." Mrs. Amphions, Mr. T. Chestnut, Mr. L. L. Brown and Mr. W. I. Powell, is music, sed Mr. Strange as tragedies, are to associate no the programme with Miss Adelaide O. Smith, Boston, soprano; Miss Flora Belzoo, Providence, Mezzo soprane, and Prof. W. F. Craig, New York, and Mme. V. A. Montgomery, of New York. A grand treat for Philadelphians. Academy of Music.

OUMPTION.

There is no ingredient of mind nor education of intellect that can substitute this good old Anglo-Saxon word. Where it pertains, other things being equal, success is sure; where it is wasting, whatever else exists, failure may be expected. Gumption means more than care, observation, caution and the like; it means a strong mind to be carefel, cautious, observing and correct. It means a readiness to seize abstract ideas, and if given facts, conceive their natural and proper relations as well as their possible combinations. It is leader a readiness in the indestive process and a correct power in the exercise of mind in deductions. It is not education, but the man who has it largely is of more practical value to the world than the educated man who lacks it. It is not genius, but is it greater service to its possessor than would be genius without it. It is not morality, but morality must ever depend upon it for practical demonstration. It is not philosophy, but it is the best mental ingredient that enters let's the constitution of a philosopher. It is not skill, but without it skill is shorn of its looks. It is decided grasping of the idea of self and surrounding, deep insight, quick perception ready use, wise distribution, close comparisons and proper decision. A gumption boy is worth a half dozen boys of no gumption. The former can be taught governed and used with less expense of effort, with less damage to the application with which his work is executed and with less liability of injuring others. The ungumptious boy must be told what to do, how to do it, watched while he is doing it and, finally, pushed aside while you do it yourself. A man without gumption is in the way of other men. He must live. He is a good fellow if he must have employment, but his constitution readers him a sort of nuisance in business. He lets opportunities pass that would bring good to his employer, and does those things that apply to himself. He rarely notices two things that are to be joined, at the proper time and proper place. To get out of him what good he possesses is the way of muscular power, there must always be another man present. Thus two men are paid to secure the right kind of work from one man. It is the want of gumption that allows one man to be easily gulled by another; to discover what he has interest in the past of a great city. An interest and change altogether new, and especially great to all readers of the "Story of a New York House," with its quaint little people, has, in even greater degree than in its opening chapter, an interest and charm

LITERARY CONVENTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 1, 1887.

Officers and Members of the Connectional Literary, Historic and Educational Association of the A. M. E. Church:

For several years we have omitted calling an annual convention, for the reason that it was rather a new enterprise. Then the Bishops in council were empowered to act in the absence of the convention, which they have generally done, thereby allowing more time for the establishment of sub-associations, and, at the same time, saving traveling expenses, which, in some instances, was an important consideration. We have been frequently chided for not assembling the connectional convention; but to us it appeared the better part of wisdom to wait until organizations existed in all parts of the nation. Now, as that time has arrived and important business demands the attention of the said convention, we do hereby call the convention to meet in St. Paul A. M. E. Church, located at Marshville, Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, at one o'clock P. M. Delegates to said convention shall consist of all the connectional officers, one delegate elected from each literary society throughout the land and every presiding elder who has complied with the provisions of the law touching his duties toward the association. Presiding elders are therefore not elected, but are members by merit.

We recommend that the associations elect delegates by ballot. Those delegates are the connectional officers: Professor. Bishop H. M. Turner; Vice-Presidents, Bishops D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D., A. W. Wayman, D.D., J. P. Campbell, D.D., H. M. Turner, A. Shaffer, T. M. D Ward, D.D., J. M. Brown, D.D., D.D.S., R. H. Cain, D.D., R. E. Disney.

Episcopal District Presidents: First District, Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.; Second District, Rev. W. B. Hunter, D.D.; Third District, Prof. R. C. Mitchell, A.M.; Fourth District, Rev. C. S. Smith, M.D.; Fifth District, Rev. B. F. Lee, D.D., LL.D.; Sixth District, Rev. J. B. Salters, D.D.; Seventh District, Rev. M. B. Ryan, A.M.; Eighth District, Prof. Jesse Porter; Ninth District, Rev. J. H. Rose.

Recording Secretary, Rev. Richard Harper, B.D., Louisville, Ky.

Corresponding Secretary, Rev. J. T. Jenifer, D.D., Boston, Mass.

Treasurer, Messrs. Winters, Esq., Nashville, Tenn.

Historiographer, Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., Wilberforce, Ohio.

Board of Managers: First District, Rev. William H. Brisbane; Second District, W. G. Alexander; Third District, Rev. Thos. Hargrove, D.D.; Fourth District, Rev. J. C. Owens; Fifth District, W. H. R Butler, D.D; Sixth District, Rev. S. S. Nichols; Seventh District, T. G. Denham; Eighth District, Rev. W. H. Anderson; Ninth District, Rev. A. M. Green, A.M.

Executive Committee: Rev. J. H. A. Johnson, D.D., Rev. J. W. Alstork, D.D., B.D., John P. Turner, M.D., A. W. Upshur, Esq., J. H. de Cargie, Esq., and James T. Morris.

We sanction the most literary gathering that ever assembled in our connectional interest. While the membership is not necessarily to be members of the church, we shall expect all who can to write and bring an essay upon some subject, either looking to the interest of the society or the advancement of the race. We will not name the subjects. Such matters as have taken the place of their respective conferences can bring or send their essays to the convention to be examined for the connectional prize. While Rev. T. B Caldwell, pastor of St. Paul, assisted by Revs. Bedford Green, Nathan Mitchen, Dr. A. Thornly, etc., will provide places for the delegates, we hope each delegate will come prepared to take care of himself if necessary. Where a delegate is a minister he would do well to drop one of the pastors above named a postal card. Literary visitors who are not members will receive a cordial welcome.

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Read Dr. Porter's late book called "Christianity and Modern Thought," and Dr. Cairn's book on "Unbelief in the Nineteenth Century," and Dr. James Porter's Bible. Because it furnishes the most material for preaching to preachers effectively. And, because "it shows how to read books and study, and how to write books and sermons first. Because "it shows some of the best methods of Bible study and preparation for the ministry." Because "it reviews and recommends to read the work carefully; because every word of it is worth remembering and every suggestion of value." Because "the very hints they make need to be read and remembered carefully by the ministry." Because "it is written in a style with shrewd, hard, keen sense and humor." Because "it is a book for you, however learned or unlearned it is or claims to be." Because "it is the most helpful book they ever read." Because "it will be a good investment if you do good."

CANNOT our Philadelphia parties do something more for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER'S daily circulation? Can they not impress their members with the necessity of taking the RECORDER?

MINISTERS, read the Manager's proposition to increase the circulation of the RECORDER and act at once. This proposition should increase our subscription greatly at once. It will pay you as well as help us.

INDUSTRIAL education holds a very high place in all considerations of the subject of education. It is in the interest of the Philadelphia Industrial Institute, in behalf of which Mrs. Fanny J. Coppin has labored so assiduously the past two years, that the "Bergen Star Concert" is to be given in the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22. Prof. Trotter, of Philadelphia, is to be the accomplished lecturer in a noble work.

THE WINTER'S Senatorial fights end their results will mark an especial era in the politics of the several States in which they have occurred. If men can afford thus to boost themselves up or stand and let their friends boost them up for weeks to fill offices that others could just as well fill, what may we expect of the boys, children of such men? If they can outbuy their big fathers, what may be the character of their boys a score of years hence?

FEBRUARY 6TH, was Bishop Campbell's 72d birthday anniversary. We give our readers a brief, imperfect sketch of his useful life. In many cases, extra numbers will be furnished those selling the RECORDER, as well as some others trusting that they will do so. May we depend upon your kindness, brethren?

Bishop Campbell is at present chairman of the Connectional Board of Publication and of Education.

ON our second page are frequently found notices of many of the prominent magazines of the day, numbering at least twenty-five, including the Harpers, Century, Brooklyn, Bivouac, Scribner's, Cassell's, the Women's, Missionary Review, M. E. Quarterly, A. M. E. Quarterly and others for adults. We notice St. Nicholas, the Wide Awake, Our Folks, Pansy and several others for children. It will be a good thing for our brethren to have a good magazine come to their homes; especially where there are children.

OUR FRIENDS will appreciate the fact that the CHRISTIAN RECORDER is small and the Church very large; therefore it is utterly impossible to insert all the resolutions passed on the life of Bishop Cain. There are probably three thousand separate societies in the connection To give them anything like a fair showing we should have this sent to the RECORDER for the next six months. We shall publish some papers on the subject Shall we be told that it is because they come from this or that section of the country—from D. C. and A. M. E. We trust not. We need not mention poetry received, entirely unworthy of publication, nor the enormous of resolutions.

IT MAY be that Democratic Americans are quite as honest as Republican Americans, but it is noticeable that when the Democratic party wishes to secure a very strong man in doubtful communities, it is very likely to go to the Republican side to find him. True, as they say, this catches the "Independents." But, if Republicans are so bad as the "Independents" claim, that they have to leave them, the Democrats being so bad that they lack leaders, hardly seem to offer any safe haven for these "Independents;" yet, as a rule, they go to the Democrats.

The Democrats of Philadelphia have been a long while seeking a leader for the mayoralty from among the Republicans and have finally found one in Mr. Koin. Had this party been so much better than the Republican party, as "Independents" claim, how is it that they can not furnish one spotless leader in a city so large as this, a leader that "Independents" can follow? In a party without competent leaders, how are the "Independents" to reach a better political country than the one they have left?

THE NEW YORK Christian Advocate, at its own appointed time has spoken out on the Chattanooga school subject. It has spoken at length and in such way as to leave little ground for criticism. The Advocate seems to say that colored people and the M. E. Church ought to have sense enough to not apply for admission to such schools as the one under consideration, but if, being senseless enough, they do apply, they must be admitted though the white attendants be driven away by the act. The essence of Bern College, the center of Kentucky benevolence, is evidence that the two races may be educated together. This is the result, not so much of Northern support as of Southern grit. Had John G. Lee considered it a violence of lack of sense in colored men to apply, Berea would not exist as it does, a school attended by about or o-third as many whites as blacks. It would seem that the M. E. Church, which in Northern support could afford to be as indifferent to the Berean subscriptions in similar matters. But the Advocate, as we have said, talks well, moreover, than the Southwestern. But withal, the local board of trustees refuse to dismiss Professor Giddings, the one who does not choose to shake hands with negroes, simply because they are negroes. Will the school remain under the auspices of the Freedmen's Aid Association?

WOLFINISM.

The infinitely wise, powerful and good God has "ordained" prayer. In the statements of the days and works of creation there is nothing said of worship in any form. There is the majesty of the fall and consequent banishment of man. The first mentioned instance of prayer is found in the twentieth chapter of Genesis, 7, where God says to Abimelech, while rebuking the wife of Abram, telling him that Abram is "a prophet and will pray for" him. This declaration leads us to infer that, like all other fundamental elements of worship, to pray was not taught manhood, but was a spontaneous outcome of his nature, a procedure from intuition, not dednction. The purpose of prayer is much discussed by materialists and skeptics of several forms. The materialist, declaring that the existence of everything depends upon matter, including in this term the principles by which matter is conserved, caused to act, etc., denying the existence of "angels" and "spirits," pronounces prayer useless, because not addressed to a living intelligence. The fatalist, believing that all things transpire in accordance with fixed laws, can see no utility in prayer, because, though an intelligent Being supervises the universe, yet he does so only to enjoy its perfection of state and harmony of movement submissive to his unalterable laws. The better class of fatalists, however, believe that prayer is acceptable to the praying one, in that it has a beneficent influence upon him while near to God, by his own will, he communing, having his heart softened by penitence, strengthened by faith and dignified by contact. This idea supposes that God is not affected by this sort of prayer any more than he is by the gorgeous beauties in nature, both in state and setting.

Jority of Christians, however, whether considered from a theoretical or practical standpoint, do believe that God is pleased in hearing prayer, not only because it is the regular sequence of natural, human powers, but also because it is in accordance with certain laws for the regulation of the spirit world. That there is in the Divine legal economy a "provision for prayer," that just as God sees the qualities of matter to effect certain changes in material consistency, composition and form, so he may use the native tendency of man to pray as a causal element from which certain benefits to the race shall result. This is altogether plausible; for all the faculties and powers of man may be understood as having relation to correspondent and beneficial ends. Prayer being a tendency of man, why not reason that it has an end in the divine economy? Not what may we pray expecting to receive? There is no doubt that men pray for themselves, according to commandment and according to reason. The very thought of prayer is a thought of our first. But man is social by nature. He loves; love is, in a sense, characterized by selfishness. It is the similarity in kind, in some sense or other, that enables love. Where there is no similarity there is no love, by man. Sympathy finds a fellow man is want; he is prayed for. Can it be that love, acting with intense interest in behalf of a kindred soul, shall not by right be heard by a mutual friend? There are few who do not believe that Christians may be heard in prayer for Christians but some doubt whether they may be heard in behalf of non-Christians. It is to be remarked that the first mention of prayer in the Bible is a case in behalf of a man who was not, in all probability, a man of God. Gen. 20, 7. Christ prayed for sinners. May not we also? Then it is sometimes questioned whether pro-Christian prayers are acceptable with God. The same brother intimates that the Southern Recorder is supplanting the CHRISTIAN RECORDER just on this account; that the CHRISTIAN RECORDER does not publish from these given points. We have the warning every now and then that the Southern Recorder is doing this. Did you ever compare the two papers to see whether your assertion on this subject is correct? The Southern Recorder cannot supplant the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. First, Bishop Turner would not have it so, nor ever allow it to do so; the CHRISTIAN RECORDER is more his then the Southern Recorder. Secondly, the former is official and the latter personal. Third, the communications in the latter do not come from nearly as many points as those in the former. This talk will accomplish nothing; so brethren may not receive us for not publishing letters on this subject; though from the West. The subscription in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER is not expected for any payment for the privilege of inserting articles in the RECORDER. This would require a paper at least twenty-five times as large as the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. Another mistake is that the RECORDER must, by virtue of its being the organ of the Church, afford a place for settling personal quarrels. This the RECORDER denies. There may be thousands of articles from all sections of the country unpublished, because, according to our judgment, they should not or could not be, under the circumstances. We should have a bad looking paper were we to publish all disputes. This our critic correspondents acknowledge, but fail to see that those whose articles they would allow to go unpublished regard them as worthy as their own. There are many whose articles go unpublished (often for want of space) who send articles later that never fail to go in. Will you allow us to do the best we can, brethren?

One of his early appointments in this conference district was Lafayette, Ind. This was in 1852. The twenty-first session of the annual conference of the Indiana District was convened in Indianapolis, Ind., September 10, 1859. The last resolution offered at this conference session was offered by R. H. Cain. It was a resolution of thanks for hospitable support. He was ordained a deacon in the conference by Rev. Brenton Dodge, Jan. 26, 1853. He was ordained elder in the same conference by Rev. Thomas A. Morris, Sept. 6, 1857. He was ordained a bishop in the same conference by Bishop Wm. P. Quinn and Bishop D. W. Payne, September 6, 1864. Bishop Cain is the conference senior of the Indiana Conference. A very creditable report was presented and adopted, at this conference Brother Cain asked permission to attend college for two years, in order to better accomplish himself for his work, which request was granted, and in connection with this conference was discontinued, as he was afterward transferred to the pastoral charge of Bridge Street Church, Dayton, O. He was by Bishop D A Payne, where he remained until 1863, in which year he was sent to the South Caroline Conference by Bishop A. W. Wayman and appointed to the pastoral charge of Emanuel Church, Charleston, S. C.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE

BY THE MANAGER.

The gathering of this grand old conference took place in the historic and historic Charleston to-day. More than the usual number of names are missing on the roll of members, and thus we are forcibly mistaken in the supposition that Mason Conference, which was the largest numerically of the conferences, has been divided. Bellamy and Robertson are the presiding elders, while Bishops Nichols, Haynes, Heard, Sterrett, Bamboo, Biscele and Flegler are chiefs among the clergy. Father Weaver and Father Jones are the patriarchs. More than nine thousand members are reported in the city alone. Rev. W. J. Gaines, D.D., is in attendance, as also Drs. W. D. John Cornell University has also been represented and Dr Johnson is simply superb. Rev. Wm. Finley Matthews, a daughter of Bishop Campbell is expected to arrive by the next train to assist through the reminder of the session. Bishop Campbell is looked for as "We are well provided for, have plenty of room and we expect to be buried." So the brethren are counting on about three days' work and five days rest and a good time

LITERARY CONVENTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 1, 1887.

Officers and Members of the Connectional Literary, Historic and Educational Association of the A. M. E. Church:

For several years we have consulted calling an annual convention, for the reason that it was rather a new enterprise. Then the Bishops in council were empowered to act in the absence of the convention, which they have generally done, thereby allowing more time for the establishment of auxiliary locations, and, at the same time, saving traveling expenses, which, in many instances, was an important consideration. We have been frequently chided for not assembling the connectional convention; but to us it appeared the better part of wisdom to allow the small organizations existing in all parts of the nation. Now, as that time has arrived and the important business demands the attention of the said convention, we do hereby call the convention to meet in the A. M. E. Church, located at Nashville, Tenn., March 23d, 1887, at one o'clock P. M. Delegates to said convention shall consist of all the connectional officers, one delegate elected from each literary society throughout the land and every presiding elder who has complied with the provisions of the law touching his duties pertaining to the institution. Presiding elders are therefore not elected, but are members by merit. We recommend that the said delegates be elect delegates by ballot. The following are the connectional officers: President, Bishop H. M. Turner; Vice-Presidents, Bishop D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D.; A. W. Wayman, D.D., LL.D.; Campbell, D.D., LL.D.; J. A. Shorter, C. T. D. D. Brown, D.D., D.O.L., B. H. Cain, D.D., R. S. Disney.

Episcopal District Presidents: First District, Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.; Second District, Rev. W. H. Sampson, D.D.; Third District, Prof. S. T. Mitchell, A.M.; Fourth District, Rev. J. C. Embry, M.D.; Fifth District, T. R. Caldwell, D.V.S.; Sixth District, Rev. J. H. Salters, D.D.; Seventh District, Rev. M. E. Bryant, A.M.; Eighth District, Prof. James Foster; Ninth District, Rev. J. J. Moore.

Recording Secretary, Rev. Richard Harper, B.D., Louisville, Ky.

Corresponding Secretary, Rev. J. T. Jenifer, D.D., Boston, Mass.

Treasurer, Lewis Winters, Esq., Nashville, Tenn.

Historiographer, Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., Wilberforce, Ohio.

Board of Managers: First District, Rev. William H. Thomas; Second District, W. J. Alstead; Third District, Rev. Thos. A. Thompson D.D.; Fourth District, Rev. J. C. Embry; Fifth District, W. H. B. Beller, D.D.; Sixth District, Rev. L. R. Rhbole; Seventh District, T. G. Steward; Eighth District, Rev. W. H. Wastern; Ninth District, Rev. A. J. Green, A.M.

Executive Committee: Rev. J. H. A. Johnson, D.D., Rev. J. W. Beckett, D.D., Rev. J. M. Brown, D.D., Rev. Upshaw, Rev. J. M. Cargile, Rev. James T. Morris.

We anticipate the most literary gathering that ever assembled in our connectional interest. While the delegates may all not necessarily be members of the church, we expect all of who can to write and bring an essay upon some religious subject, looking to the interest of the society or the advancement of the race. We will not name the subjects, as we suppose we have taken the prizes in their respective conferences on hearing or read their essays to the convention to be examined by the connectional prizes. While Rev. T. G. Caldwell, Nashville, Tenn., is assisted by Revs. Bedford Green, Nathan Mitchem, Dr. A. Thomas, etc., will provide places for the delegates, we hope each delegate will come prepared to take care of himself if necessary. Those expecting to be present would do well to drop card or letter above named a postal card. Literary visitors who are not members will receive a cordial welcome.

A Word to the Wise.

Every winter and spring inflammation of the Lungs, induced by neglected Colds and Coughs, causes the death of thousands who might have been saved by the timely use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. We are afflicted with a severe Cough, which deprived me of my regular sleep. After trying various remedies, without benefit, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and used it according to directions. I am happy to say that this medicine saved me.—Robert Holliday, Linn, Mo.

I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for several years, to be one of nature's Cabinets only known remedies for Coughs, Colds and Throat affections, and have always found it a speedy and effectual relief. I recommend it to all troubled with these ailments.—Samuel Bennett, Principal Hartford School, Lowell, Mass.

I cannot say too much in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have used it in my family many years, and always with perfect satisfaction. It never fails.—Mrs. F. F. Mathes, New Groton, N. J.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice since 1856, and have always found it reliable for the cure of Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung Diseases. —S. Haynes, M. D., Barnum, N. Y.

I can never without Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. It cures every one of Colds and Coughs more speedily than any other remedy.—Mrs. C. L. —, Bridgton, Me.

PHILADELPHIA, FEB. 17, 1887

MR. A. G. CARY has launched the Atlanta "Weekly News." Atlanta must have an immense amount of negro newspaper brain.

THE CONGRESS of the United States has recently talked largely as if it thought the country might make as good fight against England over a few fish as formerly over a little tea. It is late to attend to the matter, but it may be in time for a serious insult.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST SUN OF Zion and many other denominational papers have shown great courtesy in publishing so lengthy notices of the life and character of our lamented Bishop. The colored secular press as well delights to do honor to the man whose life was given in devotion to his race.

IT WOULD be well for the Church to study in the character of Richard Allen the following facts especially; piety; submissiveness to government and respect for law; originality of thought, independence of spirit yet deep humility toward God; perseverance of purpose, courage and good sound common sense connected with leadership.

AH, GOOD Bishop Cain sow read the encouraging letter from our missionary in Africa! But can he not do so? Had we been able to send those missionaries over a year ago when our Bishop first heard of the Lady Huntingdon Mission we might have had more real African Methodists to-day, but there are 200,000,000 left for us to bless yet. We have need to work, not to repine.

"The Birds of Aristophanes" is the title of a scholarly, classical paper by Prof. W. S. Scarborough, A. B., LL.D., of Wilberforce University. Classical students will be delighted in studying this work. Prof. Scarborough read the substance of the book in a paper presented to the American Philological Association at Cornell University, last summer. Price, 30 cents. Address Prof. W. S. Scarborough, Wilberforce, Ohio.

THE SOUTHERN RECORDER'S correspondent must have referred to some other Dr. Lee. It will be so at times. Not long since a worthy contemporary mixed the name of the editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER with that of Robert E. Lee, e Jackson, Miss., church scorecstone, etc. Now the editor of the Southern Recorder says this editor has a big head, massive brain, strong will and all that. Wonderful! i. e., if the correspondent to the Southern Recorder did not refer to some other Dr. Lee.

WE ISSUE extra numbers of the RECORDER this week. They will come to many of our brethren in larger numbers these usual. Brethren, please circulate them and return the money to the Manager. The life sketch of Bishop Allen is alone worth every American's attention. Sell those forwarded and secure new subscribers. We shall publish a sketch of Bishop Payne next week and increase the number then, also. We send the RECORDER to many non-subscribers this week, trusting that they will favor us with their subscription.

PROFESSOR CARLSTON, the non-negro hand shaker, explains in last week's Christian Advocate. The explanation shows him to be a man entirely too narrow to be the educator of any mind, except that of an evil spirit. His laughing nose and contemptible demeanor toward the colored race renders him not only unfit for a teacher, but unworthy of a place in a Christian body of people. Hearts may break, souls go to destruction, if black contained, while he sustains his race dignity, his race purity—dignity and purity a thousand times steeped in all the sins of the schedule.

THERE is some ambiguity in the sketch of Bishop Allen ne first page, respecting the building of the churches. The facts are, that the first church building, the African Church, was on Fifth street, now St. Thomas, above Spruce street, Philadelphia, Episcopal Church. It was for the basement of this church that Richard Allen lifted the first shovel of dirt. He remained there, building the site of Bethel on Sixth street in his own right mean while, till St. Thomas was completed and paid for. It was for this church that he sold Absalom Jones collected money together. The location of the body, after the church was built, to go with the Church of England, left the stalwart Methodist Allen with his Sixth street lot and blacksmith shop, a few adherents and God, to build up Bethel Society as they had done St. Thomas'.

SEVEN HUNDRED members are said to have left our Church in Columbia, Pa., we should say, led by an unwise, ambitious man and encouraged by other bad men. All this is indicative of strength in the man, but only for evil ends. By the decision of the courts the property still remains in the A. M. E. Church, but souls are worth much more than property. With the present efficient pastor, however, we trust Columbia will again take her place among our most thrifty and loyal churches.

The heroism of Pastor Walls and the professional acumen and strength of Dr. D. Augustus Straker, as advocate for the Church, are surpassed only by their loyalty to the cause of African Methodism. Mr. Straker has for many years shown himself a correct, strong thinker and a firm friend to our Church. His argument before the courts in this Columbia case was masterly and unanswerable. The hope is that those who have left, whether they number 700 or fewer, may be replaced by as many more highly loyal African Methodists. Besides this it is hoped that African Methodism will awake herself to South Carolina and

LITERARY CONVENTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 1, 1887.

Officers and Members of the Centennial Literary, Historic and Educational Association of the A. M. E. Church:

For several years we have omitted calling an annual convention, for the reason that it was rather a new enterprise. Then the Bishops in council were empowered to act in the absence of the convention, which they have generally done, thereby allowing more time for the establishment of sub-associations, and, at the same time, saving traveling expenses, which, in some instances, was an important consideration. We have been frequently chided for not assembling the connectional convention; but to us it appeared the better part of wisdom to wait until organizations existed in all parts of the country. Now, as that time has arrived and important business demands the attention of the said convention, we do hereby call the convention to meet in St. Paul A. M. E. Church, located at Nashville, Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, at one o'clock P. M. Delegates to said convention shall consist of all the connectional officers, one delegate elected from each said literary society throughout the land and every presiding elder who has complied with the provisions of the law touching his duties toward the association. Presiding elders are therefore not elected, but are members by merit. We suppose it need be understood that the delegates elect delegates by ballot. The following are the connectional officers: President, Bishop B. W. Arnett, D.D., LL.D.; Ideals, Bishop D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D.; Sec. of Wayside, Rt. Rev. C. P. Campbell, D.D., LL.D.; A. M. Stanford, D.D.; Historian, Rev. B. T. Tanner, D.D., LL.D.; Sec. of Ideals, Bishop D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D.; Sec. of Wayside, Rt. Rev. C. P. Campbell, D.D., LL.D.; A. M. Stanford, D.D.; Historian, Rev. B. T. Tanner, D.D., LL.D.; Sec. of Departments, Rev. M. B. Bryant, A.M.; Eighth District, Prof. James Dorsett; Ninth District, Rev. J. H. Jones.

Secretary, Rev. Richard Harper, D.D., Louisville, Ky.

Corresponding Secretary, Rev. J. T. Jeoffer, D.D., Boston, Mass.

Treasurer, Lewis Winters, Esq., Nashville, Tenn.

Historiographer, Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., Wilberforce, O.

Board of Managers: First District, Rev. William H. Thomas; Second District, W. G. Alexander; Third District, Rev. Thos. A. Thompson, D.D.; Fourth District, Rev. J. C. Owens; Fifth District, W. H. H. Butler, D.D.; Sixth District, Rev. Benjamin F. Lee, D.D.; Seventh District, T. G. Denham; Eighth District, Rev. W. H. Weathers; Ninth District, Rev. A. M. Green; Asst. Sec.

Executive Committee: Rev. J. H. A. Bonner, D.D., Pa. Rev. J. Richard D. D., John P. Turner, M.D., A. W. Unthank, Esq., J. M. Cargile, Rev. James T. Morris.

We anticipate the most literary gathering that ever assembled in the connectional interest. While the members may all not necessarily be members or the church, we shall expect all who can to write and deliver a paper upon some subject, either looking to the history of the society or the advancement of the race. We shall not name the subjects, each ministers as we have taken the pains in the general conferences can brung or send their essays to the Recorder to be examined by the connectional press. While Rt. Rev. C. P. Caldwell, pastor of St. Paul, assisted by Rev. Rodford Greene, Rev. Ethan Mitchem, Dr. A. Thornly, etc., will provide places for the delegates, we hope each delegate will come prepared to pay the expenses of his literary. Those expecting to be present would do well to drop one of the papers above named a postal card, and the visitors who are not members will receive a cordial welcome.

B. M. TURNER,
President.

A manufacturer of cheese in Prussia was endeavoring to improve his product, and to this end mixed the fresh cheese with about 5 per cent of mashed potatoes. The ripe cheese, however, looked suspicious; upon analysis the adulteration was discovered, and the author of the new idea fined $12.

In some schools in New England pupils are encouraged to take whatever studies they may have, from day to day, to their teacher, who, at the end of the month, deposits all individual averages of 50 cents or over in a savings bank for the young owners, who are thus encouraged to save and habits of thrift.

A law in West Virginia prohibits the placing of the name of any person who has committed a felony on the ballot to be sens on the jury list. The Richmond Dispatch intimates that citizens who want to escape all jury service then find a ready means of succeeding, by merely requesting the Governor to select his name.

PHILADELPHIA, FEB. 24, 1887

PROF. H. T. Johnson's miniature book entitled "How to Get On," is out and on the stand of the newsdealers of the city, and for sale by our Business Manager at 25 cents per copy. Succeeding numbers to be published bi-monthly. Order at once.

TEN OR TWELVE years ago, at one of the great national camp-meetings at Urbana, Ohio, a minister, Caucasian, in the midst of a speaking meeting, where each speaker made an especial request for prayer, said, "Brethren, pray that I may not become ambitious to be a delegate to the next General Conference."

OF COURSE it was plain that we meant South Carolina and not Pennsylvania in our reference last week to the Columbia trouble. We are informed by a reliable witness right from the field that we lost many less than 700 members. That is just what it appears to us at first glance. The C. M. E. Church, South, published in Columbia, as we gave it, published it. The C. M. E. Church being the only one joined by most of those who left us, and of especial (black) interest to the M. E. Church, South, the paper seemed rather pleased, we inferred.

THE STATE of Kansas has arranged for her women to vote for city official hereafter. New York is thinking of doing the same. The greatest progress in women's rights against seeming irresistible odds, like the progress of the anti-slavery cause, offers encouragement to those who are battling against the strong tide with little. Little by little stroke by stroke the work has been done in both those cases; stroke by stroke it will be done in this. The work of modifying appetite for drink and tendering the emoluments of saloons and saloon-features is the chief work before us now. Added to this is the conversion of those strong men who argue that any interference with the sale and use of intoxicating drinks is interfering with rights of private citizens. When men become abnormal as to intellect respecting some things we deprive them of what, under ordinary circumstances, would be rights; why not do respecting the use of intoxicants? They who become the slaves of intemperance are in an abnormal state of mind and must be protected for the good of their community.

O, BUT the Cashier-Chattanooga muddle is growing wonderfully. The New York Independent and the New York Christian Advocate are engaged in a wordy battle. The Advocate talks about truth and decency. Reading its article under caption "Independent of Truth and Decency," we recalled immediately the unjust and untrue statements that occurred in the Advocate's editorial correspondence concerning "a Bishop" at Aiken, South Carolina. We thought of the Advocate's promise to either prove its statements true or take them back. We could not remember having seen either performed. This, however, gave us no pleasure. It is a misfortune that two so able papers as the concerned in the present wordy fight act in any wise naughtily towards each other; if either of them has done so with reference to the lesser lights, it is now stated that the Methodist Book Concern of the Chattanooga University propose to buy the property of the Freedmen's Aid outright, when they can run their anti-negro mill for all it is worth. The Freedmen's Aid Unionites, including three colored gentlemen, will meet before this reaches our readers; what will be the outcome? Every good man will pray for the settlement of the case in favor of humanity, irrespective of race. This time because the Methodist Episcopal Church has done a great work for humanity under just this consideration. It is said that Bishop Walden, and Chairman Hartzell, Freedmen's Aid, is likely to decide against selling the negro. His stand since his consecration seems to have been in favor of letting the M. E. Church, South, have the field among the white people in the South. This may account for his probably being in sympathy with Cauliknison. The day is coming when all this lam and lie supporters will be tried by a better race of men and consigned to everlasting shame, as among the blindest and narrowest lam and men of these times. If God is in man, if God is in the Church as to be one, those who oppose the consummation of this grand end may justly be considered as the enemies of God.

THE YOUNG MAN'S INSTITUTE of New York recently refused to submit to membership Mr. Wilshire Payne, simply on the ground that he is a colored man. He was, while in connection with the average American white man's acts when dealing with the American colored man, is no less an act meriting the reprobression of all good people. The Institute was established by Y. M. C. A., which makes the case the more agravating. How true are the words of Jesus, "Many some saying, Lo, here is Christ, or there." Which way to God is it to be loyal to one's self and true, but the answer comes in great confusion, "Lo, here and lo, there" is lines that bisect one another promiscuously.

Reporters interviewed Rev. Dr. Derrick and Prof McCoats Stewart, both of whom expressed their indignation in its language. The Church and other Christian bodies are opposed to lead in all measures looking to the elevation of mankind; taking all risks as to results asking no queriers other than the moral elevation of the human race. Doubtless this moral elevation is going to be costly; but in money sense, has also in the moral powers. That's, our moral natures will be outraged and our moral pride insulted often before the whole work is completed. Here robes may have to drag in the mire and mud occasionally. This is cross bearing. How many are prepared for it? White men open the gates that lead to destruction to colored men very graciously. If they do not give them entrance by the gate entered by themselves, they prepare other gates for them determined that they shall not be debarred. As Christian subjects of a Christian country, we colored people are trying to continue to knock at the doors to avenues leading most directly to the throne of intellectual and moral perfection. Having fought for our freedom from civil slavery, we shall fight for our deliverance from mental and moral slavery. We are prepared to make a long fight and a strong fight. White Christians are not fully prepared to receive us. being nothing on the social question. We ask every thing on the Christian question, knowing that this question, when fully developed, will make mighty modifications in social nonsense and more especially in social sin.

BISHOP PAYNE'S BIRTHDAY.

Bishop Payne is President of the Sunday School Union. His literary work consists of a book of poems "Semi-centenary of African Methodism," "History of Church of Wilberforce University," "A Treatise on Domestic Education," "Memoire of Men and Things," and "The History of the African Methodist Church." The last two are in manuscript, but will probably be published in the coming spring, by Bishop Payne was one of the three Bishops made delegates from our Church to the Methodist Ecumenical Conference in 1881; was president of said conference one day. Few men of the colored race are more widely known than he. His life from very early manhood has been devoted entirely to the work of enlightening the race. No colored man now living will bear with him a better record of usefulness and gratitude from a greater number than Daniel Alexander Payne. He will need no monument to perpetuate his memory for the character of his work has been such, closely associating intellectual culture and religious growth with moral development, that he will perpetuate his precious memory through ages. To say he is seventy-six years old. His youth is renewed like the eagle's.

THE COLORED VOTERS BOLTED.

In the borough election in Darby, Pa., last week, the colored voters, numbering from forty to fifty, voted almost solid against the Republican ticket, assigning as the reason for so doing that men proposed at the Republican caucus for school director sed councilman, respectively, were ignored or discarded by the "scratch." This borough, of about 4,000 inhabitants, is adjacent to Philadelphia, southward. It is Republican ordinarily, but with republicans demanding the prohibition of sale of strong drink colored men retaliating for this slight by going together in a body and the wilfulness of a few democrats, a "Citizen's" ticket won the day. It is likely to be the wet day when these fanaticisms give the colored voters any better showing than did the straight republican ticket, indicating three colored gentlemen, all meet before this reaches our readers; what will be the outcome? Every good man will pray for the settlement of the case in favor of humanity, irrespective of race. This time because the Methodist Episcopal Church has done a great work for humanity under just this consideration. It is said that Bishop Walden, and Chairman Hartzell, Freedmen's Aid, is likely to decide against selling the negro. His stand since his consecration seems to have been in favor of letting the M. E. Church, South, have the field among the white people in the South. This may account for his probably being in sympathy with Caulkinison. The day is coming when

THE MINISTER IN COMMUNITY.

The commission and the mission of the ministry alike render him subject to the community. His commission authorizes him to go to the world, communities. His mission is to every people, communities. The demance of human nature and the maintenance of the outward church presuppose the ministry's dwelling in society. The Methodist itinerancy compels ministers to live among their people and act with them. It places upon the minister nor only the responsibility of propagating Christian life, but also that of directing and aiding in the temporal or material affairs of the church and encouraging social improvements as well. These facts require of him peculiar fitness for his position in society. They suggest that he should not to regardless of the customs and conduct of the people about him; their methods, their measure, their intellectual standing and their general notions on moral questions, the tone of their press and the sentiment of their markets. In the community the minister cannot afford to be a recluse nor an idler. His claim to the title and rank of a gentleman will depend much upon his not neglecting the duty of making the people his greatest study next to the Bible itself.

In all public enterprises the minister, if he occupy his proper place in the community, is possessed of an influence superior to any other class of men of his financial status. This fact is recognized by men generally. The advantages given ministers on railroads, in public halls, in conmerce, etc., are based much more upon the practical worth of the minister to those establishments than upon any sympathy with the clergy. The church is composed of men and ministers as they are found in the Methodist Church. It is useless to infer that the minister, upon whom so great responsibility rests, is likely to be any less interested in the local church than are the laymen.

The argument that the minister's knowing that he is to remain in a given locality a limited time renders him the less interested is a mistake. The seeming argument is nowised by the fact that the average minister thinks as much about the interest of the Church in three years as he does the average laymen, including children and women, in four times three years. When laymen conceive the notion that the ministry should be divorced from the materiality of the Church they are just as far from a correct standing as if they had declared a dissolution of the laity and spiritual things. The entire affairs of the Church militant so mix the spiritual and the corporeal that they cannot well be divorced. The Church militant is the visible Church and State, but does involve their interdependence sod the superior place of the church.

If a new church is needed the minister coming in to succeed a certain deceased is it when the two or three hundred persons who have been attending that place all their lives and have become so familiar with its every part that they are quite settled that it is about as best they can get, if not as good as they want, cannot see the necessity. There is many an old building standing, disfiguring its community, because of the superior advantages the laymen hold under inferior pecuniary powers that would have been displaced long ago by a greader and more becoming edifice if the minister had been allowed a larger place in material affairs. It is the ministry's place to look after the social and true, who goes to the people. It is the minister who, despite the most iron-clad corporate articles, must stir up the enthusiasm of the masses, within and without the society in the interest of a new building. It is the minister who must lead in organizing the masses for success.

Where the ministers is debarred from it, or nearly all, connection with material parts of the society, property has not been safer nor progress greater than where they have had the fullest participancy in these affairs. It is sometime argued that the entire separation of the two classes of duties gives the minister relief. It relieves him of certain duties, but it hardens him with three for every one of which he is relieved. There is no inconvenience in a people's being incorporated, but, on the contrary, there are many advantages in large societies; but the exclusion of the pastor from corporate rights is more embarrassing to the people than to the pastor, who is virtually one of the people. It will be a good thing for the African Methodist Church to allow the wisdom of the pastor to exercise itself fully in all parts of local churches in conjunction with the people. All we say in this direction should be so construed as to not be taken as a license or suggestion to create quarrels in churches which have not the relations as they should be, but as an indicator to new churches and older ones, feeling disposed to liberalize their charter.

THE CATHOLICS AND THE COLORED AMERICANS.

There is no greater movement being made in this continent than that by the Roman Catholic Church for establishing the American colored people. They have organized machinery that must accomplish a great revolution in the religion of this class of citizens. Their newspapers, their schools, their missionaries, their black priests, prepared for special work among the colored people, with the best of methods and millions back of the methods, are going in to be brought to bear upon the masses of our people with irresistible force. While Protestants are contralising in the large cities, Catholics will organize among the hundreds of thousands on the plantations. While Protestants are spending much force in warring among themselves Catholics are solid. While Protestants are theorising at the big end of the negro problem, Catholics will work at the small end of the problem. While Protestants are in some way attempting to raise the colored people to the conception of a grand scheme of morals, the Catholics will initiate them into the glittering tinsel of their forms, hold them by the cords of pastience, kindness and by mystic religious superstitions. There is a bad sleep in the eyes of Protestantism in this subject. There is a bright vigilance in the eyes of Catholics. The boldness of Roman Catholic zealots is on the one hand powerful, but the lastnessing ruthlely on the other is equal to it.

The African Methodist Church has much to consider in this crisis. There are four other organizations essentially prepar'd to scenre the following of the greater number of American colored Christians as the African Methodist Episcopal Church. There are few others as well prepared respecting ecclesiastical polity; few relative to history. What used what alone, then, is required to enable this Church to move on through this land a mighty medium for bringing men to Christ. The present session of the conference in Charleston made a good impression. The Conference at Orangeburg, next week, it is concluded to return to Charleston next year and hold its session at Mt. Zion Church, Rev. Richard H. Cain, D. D., pastor.

We have been returned for the third time. Our membership, reported two and thirty-two members, reported three Dollar Money and 3,000 for the purposes during the year. The Dollar Money was $2,104; this is an increase of nearly $1,000. We are composed of two conferences, the Georgia and Allen Conference, which divided the colored people are in a fair condition to receive Romanism rapidly. The impractical and ungodly methods of the majority of white churches towards the colored people have helped to learn said people so easy prey for the Church of Rome.

Obituary.

LEWIS BOAMAN SEYMOUR.

Lewis Roman Seymour was born in Philadelphia, Pa., in the year 1812. His parents were of French descent. His father was born in Hennigo, Hayti. His parents were Catholics and he (Lewis) was baptized in that faith and was educated in the same. Of their church. He left Catholic Church in the early boyhood where his parents lived, he was allowed to visit the church at inter vals, but he was not forced to attend. He was also allowed to go to Sunday schools, we must also maintain that most of the Sunday schools of the day were dull and stimulant protestde can hardly be discarded. Our literal physical condition required a stimulant to be used with the necessity of seeking pardon for the sins of the unregenerate heart, but the simplicity of the gospel preached by the humble men of God, Christ, and did not cease until he received the witness of the Holy Spirit. He was married to Miss Ann Jones, of Philadelphia, by Bishop Allen October 1, 1826. He served as a Sunday school superintendent of Sabbath school, leader of the choir and steward. He was also a member of the Board of Olive Cemetery, which office he was holding at the time of his death.

FROM LABOR TO REWARD.

Sister Mary Maxwell fell asleep in Jesus February 8th, 1887. She was 86 years, 9 months and 8 days old. She had been a member of the A. M. E. Church more than fifty five years. She was a widow for 30 years. Her children survive her. All are connected with the A. M. E. Church. Brother Rev. T. W. Maxwell, of the Ohio Conference. She was a Christian woman, gentleness and decision of character. Indeed, a mother to Israel. She seldom prayed without mentioning God's blessing on her children; she was a successful Christian, an efficient wife, a loving mother and friend to all. Her last words were, "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits." Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases. When absorbed into the system of the body, and is the only source of the human body, is loving and kind to all. Indeed, the bearing and deportment of our beloved sister was a most modest, devised and true Christian woman and an earnest Bible student. She was a friend to all and about any other book. She would read the Bible, Methodist Hymn Book and Discipline, and never questioned the validity of the sacred truths of that blessed book. She was a loving wife, a loving and good mother; chaste, sociable and companionable in all things. She has labored a promonition of her death. She was conscious of her departure many days of her existence on earth was full of directness and command about telling her where she was to be buried and would meet her in heaven. So frequently she would say to those who were her friends objected to the feature of her conversation. She spent the last days of her life with friends. When Elder J. D. Barbeside left for Washington, D. C., she was apparently as good health as ever during their meeting. Imagine the farewell words and grief, when, after spending the Sabbath and about 1 o'clock, on Monday morning, she was heard saying, "Come, your wife is no more." We could scarcely believe it was true. We had spent the last day with her. She passed peacefully over the dark river. Her mind was at rest and her husband was willing her a home and preparing a little parcel to send to her. She was grateful for her loving four nights in death's cold, icy arms, she up to the throne of God, to be with the blessed city that cease her first name, Florence.

"There sit goes to the grave, but we will not deplore thee,
Though sorrows and darkness encompass the tomb;
The Saviour has passed through its portals before thee,
And the lamp of his life is thy guide through the gloom."

"Yes, the Christian course is run,
Rested in the glorious strife,
Fought the fight, the work is done,
Death is swallowed up of life."

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21st, 1887.

Write for what you want. We send samples or goods as you wish.

Among the new black goods for spring are more of the silk and wools—silk warp, wool filling —that you liked so well. The Henrietta and Clairette and Convent cloth were revelations. They are here still, better if possible than ever. But such makers as Priestley are not content to rest.

That's why we have the Silk Warp Mourning Cloth, heavy and light, four grades of each. Fitted by their cloth-like effect for untrimmed costumes to be worn in deep mourning with crape bonnet and veil.

And the Silk Warp Camel's Hair Mourning Cloth (to be known as Alys), presenting the desired camel's-hair surface and touch, and adapted to light mourning or black costumes worn with colors.

Two fabrics that you'll hear more of. The unseen silk warp gives elasticity to the folds and takes away the seeming burden of weight which some ladies object to in cloth dresses.

The rest are the new tans, the new grays and blacks. The embroideries come in that exquisite Paris twist which we introduced just before Christmas.

HORSFORD'S AC

LITERARY CONVENTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 1, 1887.

Officers and Members of the Connectional Literary, Historical and Educational Association of the A. M. E. Church:

For several years we have omitted calling an annual convention for the reason that it was rather a new enterprise. Then the Bishops in council were empowered to act in the absence of the convention, which they have generally done, thereby allowing more time for the establishment of sub-associations, and, at the same time, saving traveling expenses, which, in many instances, was an important consideration. We have been frequently chided for not assembling the connectional convention; but to us it appeared the better part of wisdom to wait until organizations existed in all parts of the nation. Now, as that time has arrived and the portant business demands the attention of the said convention, we do hereby call the convention to meet in St. Paul A. M. E. Church, located at Nashville, Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, at one o'clock P. M. Delegates to the said convention shall consist of all the said convention officers, one delegate elected from each literary society throughout the land and every presiding elder who has complied with the provisions of the law touching his duties toward the association. Presiding elders are therefore not elected, but are members ex officio. We recommend that the associations elect delegates by the May Quarterly, saving us the connectional officers: President, Bishop H. M. Turner, D.D., LL.D.; Vice-Presidents, Bishops D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D., and Daniel Weyman, D.D., J. P. Campbell, D.D., and Richard H. Cain, D.D., T. M. D. Ward, D.D., J. M. Brown, D.D., D.C.L., R. H. Cain, D.D., R. S. Disney.

Episcopal District Presidents: First District, Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.; Second District, Rev. W. H. Hunter, D.D.; Third District, Rev. Theo. Gibbs, A.M.; Fourth District, Rev. C. S. Smith, M.D.; Fifth District, Rev. W. D. Chappelle, M.D.; Sixth District, Rev. E. W. Lampton, D.D.; Seventh District, Rev. M. E. Bryant, A.M.; Eighth District, Prof. James Porter; Ninth District, Rev. J. H. Hamilton.

Recording Secretary, Rev. Richard Harper, B.D., Lowville, N. Y.

Corresponding Secretary, Rev. J. T. Shaffer, D.D., Bridgeport, Conn.

Historiographer, Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., Wilberforce, Ohio.

Board of Managers: First District, Rev. William H. Thomas; Second District, Wm. H. Hunter; Third District, Rev. Theo. A. Thomas; Fourth District, Rev. J. C. Owens; Fifth District, Rev. H. Slatter, D.D.; Sixth District, Rev. L. R. Nichols; Seventh District, T. G. Steward; Eighth District, Rev. W. H. Wanthers; Ninth District, Rev. A. W. Brown, A.M.

Executive Committee: Rev. J. H. A. Johnson, D.D., Rev. J. W. Beckett, B.D., Rev. J. M. Brown, D.D., Rev. J. Upshaw, Rev. J. M. Cargile, Rev. James T. Jones.

We anticipate the most literary gathering that ever assembled in our connectional interest. While the members may all not necessarily be members with the association, we expect all who can to write and bring an essay upon some subject, either looking to the interest of the society or elevating the race. We will not name the subjects. Some brethren have already taken the prizes in their respective conferences, and can bring an essay and say to the convention to be examined for the association prize. Rev. White, Rev. T. B. Caldwell, pastor of St. Paul, assisted by Revs. Bedford Green, Hamilton Michael, Dr. J. Connelly, Wood, will provide places for the delegates. We hope each delegate will come prepared to take care of himself if necessary. Those expecting to be present would do well to drop one of the pastors above a postal card. Literary visitors who are not members will receive a cordial welcome.

H. M. TURNER, President.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 1st, 1887.

Whereas several communications have been sent to me, asking a variety of questions about the Literary Convention to be held at Nashville, Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, I propose to reply as briefly as I can to be understood:

1. Yes, all of the connectional officers named in the call must be present, unless they are sick.

2. Yes, all of the Presiding Elders are members of the convention, by virtue of their office.

3. Yes, Nashville can take care of five hundred or a thousand if they chose to come, and we are preparing to make the occasion the grandest in the history of the race.

4. No, membership to the convention is not limited to membership of our Church. They may be members of other churches or no church at all, but must be members of our connectional literary association.

5. I don't know whether the convention will confer on honorary titles or degrees or not. I have much rather have What it is if it does? Men who merit titles ought to have them, and the fact for those who have no titles to be bounding those who have. I hope the convention will provide for conferring some kind of titles or degrees.

6. Yes, but I have left the programme with Dr. Arnett to arrange, which he will do and the convention will give its own orders as to any change or modification it may chose to make. This will be the legislative body of our connectional association.

7. That very thing is provided for. Gen. T. Morris Chester will be there to write down every word uttered as fast as they fall from the lips.

8. No, there was no intention to ignore the Twin Episcopal District, but in the name of the conventional officers of the association, I most respectfully invite Hev. J. A. Johnson, Mississippi; Rev. J. G. Bunyon, Amberstburg, Ont.; Rev. C. W. Dorsey, Hamilton, Bermuda; Rev. Charles H. Shaw, Trinidad, W. I.; Rev. H. H. Miller, St. Thomas, Danish W. I.; Rev. J. W. Crosby, Jamaica, W. I., and such others as may come as delegates from their respective associations.

9. I also asked who will be at the convention. My answer is, the brain of our church; not all, but a preponderous portion.

H. M. TURNER, President.

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 3, 1887.

THE LITERARY convention in Nashville, March 23, should be well attended.

PASTORS are already arranging for Easter Sunday. Dr. Townsend is making the little Record do all it can.

BISHOP BROWN has ordered that the New York Conference meet in Brooklyn instead of Williamsburg. See conference list on fourth page.

BISHOP CAMPBELL returns from the South feeling as well as he has done for twenty years. This is saying much for a man in his fourth score.

BROTHER Sturges, of the New York Conference, has recently passed through the sore ordeal of parting with his faithful wife, to meet no more on this side the Jordan. A sad affliction.

THE RESURRECTION of life in Southern France and Italy last week by earthquake is said to have reached 2,000 persons. Probably when the truth is known the number will be found twice that size.

OUR READERS would do well to remember that, however far they are from Philadelphia, they can order from Mr. John Wanamaker, with perfect safety, any goods whatever. They will do well to read his column carefully and avail themselves of the advantages therein offered.

THE SERMONS of Mr. Talmage must be exceedingly interesting to the colored newspaper readers, seeing that very many of those papers publish them regularly. Probably not many of the readers have an exchange list; so do not have more than one such sermon to enjoy weekly.

ACCORDING to the Star of Zion, the North Carolina legislature has voted $8,000 annually, we infer, to colored normal schools in the State. This is cheering news. Much credit is due the bold stand taken by the Colored Teachers' Association and to Professor Price, Goins and Rev. R. H. W. Leake for this victory.

SOME of our good contemporaries having published that the A. M. E Church has ten Bishops, on edited a prominent A. M. E. minister quotes the blunder as a whole. Our greatest number was from November till December, 1884. We had ten then. Bishop Dickerson's death left us nine; Bishop Cain's death left us but eight. The probability is that if those were all in their prime they would advise the Church to not elect more in 1888.

THE EXAMINATORS at Washington into the Washington county, Texas, outrage of last fall, develop the existence of the same old spirit there that existed twenty years ago. Will this curse never become civilized? The slow growth of morals is by no means flattering to our pretentions as a leading country, nor is it at all encouraging to Christianity by the present methods and according to present understanding. The Church seems too extensively confined to the south, instead of transformed to the glorious image of Christ Jesus by the renewal of the spirit.

REPRESENTATIVES of the A. M. E. Zion Church in Philadelphia have purchase l the old Union Church property, built and owned by a society of the A. M. E. Church till three years ago, when they moved twelve squares west, where they now worship in the next ball and commodious building described in another column before. We are glad our good Zion brethren have gotten the property and are going to maintain a society of colored folks in that part of the city. There is little improbability that our new connection might have kept the property. Had Bishop Cain out Talbot stick soon after coming to the work would likely here done so.

THE WILY editor of the Chicago Conservator compliments the RECORDER on the enterprise of publishing the sketches of our Bishops and takes the opportunity to brush us up a little for not stating in the sketch of our departed Bishop the place of his birth. Unfortunately for us, we feel so many of our great men's lives beginning in a State, no mention made of town or county; and in a year, no mention being made of month and day.

We intend to publish sketches of several African Methodist laymen and some African Methodist laymen if they will allow us so to do. Among the former we should like to include our good friend Clark. We believe our people should be instructed concerning the men and women who have performed much of that which makes the unwritten American history extremely interesting. We now ask Brother Clark to forward his sketch.

MR. T. D. SCOTT writes to the Southwestern Christian Advocate concerning a statement in that paper, to the effect that "the graduates of Wilberforce are instructed to act against mixed schools," under the heading "There Is No Truth In It." The Advocate prefaces this caption making it read, "Are you sure 'there is no truth in it?'" and says, "A statement was made to us by Mr. John A. Hall, of Troy, Miami county, Ohio. Mr. Hall is a man worth $20,000, a prominent business man; his word is above par with everybody—white and black." We are sure it's Brother Advocate! To be sure he is the ambition of most mortals. Mr. Hall is not in condition to know much about Wilberforce. Mr. Scott may be quite sure; though he may not be worth $20,000, he is worth a much confidence as Mr. Hall and $20,000. O! did not the Southwestern premise some months ago to give some of the Christian history of Wilberforce University? Is this part thereof? The history of some schools is doubtless quite interesting just now to the Southwestern's readers.

THE ELY-ARNETT bill having passed the Ohio legislature, removes from that State the last vestige of distinction between white and man on account of color only. Ohio merits the good feelings of all men for this step toward civilization. It gives to all citizens equal chances. It is remarkable how any State could constantly can expect any class to equal other classes if all that class were responsible and reliable citizenship, while prevented from enjoying all the advantages afforded to the best citizens. There is nothing on the question of equality to discuss here. There is at least but one side to the question. There is an opportunity offered Ohio now to be as fair in the recognition of excellence in her public school teachers as she has been just in removing all offensive and foolish reference to color from her statutes. So long as any law is based upon the color of a man it is unjust. The wonder is how Christian States endure the burlesque of the existence of such laws. Brother Arnett, as a legislator, has stamped his name upon the Ohio statutes to stay. Many will fail to regard his action with favor who can but regard it as just.

THE WORK of the colored American is in his own behalf. He has to run while others sleep. A thousand doors of unselfishness and strength are flying open wide for him. He must use them and not sit down on the step of a door that refuses to open to him. Let him use all the advantages afforded in the halls whose doors swing on golden hinges before he. Praise his time in attempts to relieve old rusty hinges of their friction. The book world is open to him; the fresh air is open to him; the fountains of water are open to him; the markets are open to him; in many cases lectures are open to him, and such cases are open to him; the fields of moral excellence and religious purity are open to him; these afford wonderful appliances for ascending the steep ways of life. Besides these, the whole broad, deep realm of nature, both in silence and in speech, is open to him; the field of invention is open to him. By using these all conjointly here we go. By using these colored men may win.

Idleness, which underlies much existing vice among other classes, also gets its work in among us. The openings to degradation and vice, where millions of other races lie slaughtered, somber thousands of our people. Shall we not awake and fly from the deas of vice—from the destroyer, immoral habits and sinful practises that have proven to them to the dust? Shall we not, for the sake of our boys and girls, who otherwise will have a life more like that of our fathers than like ours, begin at once a reformation in the race that will present me to the world in such conquering excellence that we shall not have to beg for entrance upon the highest walks of life, but will be diligently urged by those walking there to join them that they may enjoy our excellence?

If there is not a wonderful modification of the colored American and the white American in the next half century there will be a sad lot for here; especially for colored men. We need now courage, courage, courage cent to virtue, but ever to the displeasement of virtue.

AFRICA AND AFRICAN METHODISM.

Evidently almost all the extensive movements tending toward and operating in Africa, look upon its material value rather than its moral. Its minerals, its precious stones, its valuable woods, its rich soil, its vast area as an addition to already existing great governments—these are the attractions that operate most effectually in organizing, surveying and exploring expeditions. To gain the vantage ground which Africa offers European and Europo-Asiatic nations for military and commercial passage, defense and tenantry, is at the bottom of the most of their schemes. The great object is to white man Africa, rather than Christianize Africa. True, there are prominent missionary operations going on there, but they all attach themselves to human government more or less. Their literature, their religious notices, their very life and character are made up very largely of the spirit of the people who, though religiously moved to suffer for the excellency of Christ to the black man among men, are imbued with the foolish notion of the negro's irrecoverable inferiority. There are hundreds of exceptions, thank God, but this seems to be the rule.

The most hopeful movement operating in the interest of Africa's senile seems to be the Bishop Taylor movement, under the auspices of the M. E. Church. Thus far this is an experiment. It is, under God, in the hands and heart of an old white man. When he shall drop the mantle it may be troublesome to find a man possessing the spirit and excellence in God to take up the black American's great opportunity it to have a hand in this Christianizing of Africa. We cannot take the gold to them, but we can take that which is of more value than gold.

Our large religious bodies have hundreds of men and women who are not weak, shiftless, dependent, of poor judgment, impractical, ignorant and immoral, whose places might be filled by more worthy and better races lie slaughtered, somber thousands of our people. Shall we not awake and fly from the deas of vice—from the destroyer, immoral habits and sinful practises that have proven to them to the dust? Shall we not, for the sake of our boys and girls, who otherwise will have a life more like that of our fathers than like ours, begin at once a reformation in the race that will present me to the world in such conquering excellence that we shall not have to beg for entrance upon the highest walks of life, but will be diligently urged by those walking there to join them that they may enjoy our excellence?

should die for their sins it is equally just that they should die at the hands of the law. The pulpit should teach the subject of life as Jesus teaches it; no longer as an eye for an eye, without due process of law.

The press owes it to the times, to blood stained, that the devils of murder instead of being arranged to be dealt out as sweet morsels to the sentimental readers, be handled much as other unclean things are handled, in such way as to show all their horror and shame. To read the press' statement relative to the murder above referred to, one is at once brought into contact with composition arrayed in the most sensational style. The wonder is that great masses issue such papers and that great masses read them, word for word, to the end, and wish there was more of it. There can be little doubt that newspapers are doing much good, but this sensational coloring is doing much harm. The sensational strewing murderers' pathway with leaves and roses is also helping to multiply their number. Spinning out trials and writing them up in an "attractive" way, commuting sentences and pardoning are doubtless aiding. The sentiment that goes all to pieces over the hanging of female murderers does its work well. A woman may be guilty a vile fellow to the bad, making it questionable whether if the two is leader, but if she murders him, we commence to cry out, "O, she's a woman." The teacher may do much in getting a great deal of moral philosophy in his work. Moral philosophy of the best kind may be taught in other schools effectually very early. Parents may do much in giving right style by spending their nights at home with them as much as possible, keeping their children at home training them at night. The unwholesomeness with which parents and ministers, not to say others, call children out into the darkness and lateness of night to attend societies, entertainments and even religious meetings, will bear questioning. The absence of fathers from home doing work in societies is not without its effect.

The frontispiece of the March Harper's is one of Abbey's naive pictures, illustrating a Sunday phase of the good old days of our grandmothers. It is called "The Day of Rest." A TALL CEDAR OF LEBANON FALLEN.

BY REV. J. T. BAKER.

A great and tall cedar in Lebanon has fallen. I am compelled to call a moment to drop a tear of sorrow and insert a memorial notice of Bishop J. M. Cain, a son of God and a lover of his people, a Christian statesman and one of the most important pillars of our Church.

I could say a great deal about his wonderfully useful and brave life in South Carolina, but on July 1, 1885, I read a letter from this heroic leader saying, "Dear Baker, I am going to Columbia as chairman of a committee to go to South Carolina and bring the records of the Southern church. We have a Conference in Columbia the early years of this century. Charles Dudley Warner has complimented his style of [illegible] as the South by his paper entitled "The South Revisited," in which he gives the credit of his conversion to the recent Sunday school lesson. Dr. Sherman's "The Harper Party," in which he has a chapter entitled "The Educational progress of that section," is delightful reading. He also sketches the good old times suggested by "Uncle Remus" and "The Day of Rest," and chats pleasantly about Dudley Warner's "Their Pilgrimage." Dr. Sherman's style is very attractive" way, commuting sentences and pardoning are doubtless aiding. The sentiment that goes all to pieces over the hanging of female murderers does its work well. THE BERGEN CONCERT SUCCESS

INSTITUTE FOR COLORED YOUTH,
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23d, 1887.

MR. G. J. BERGEN:

Dear Sir—The concert for the benefit of the School for Mechanical and Industrial Arts was a most eminently successful affair. All the friends of this school responded encouragingly thereby. Not only did we realize a handsome sum of five hundred dollars, but there has been a wide-spread awakening of interest from which even better results may be expected in the future.

Heretofore you have brought to public appreciation our musical talent. Now you have added to the undertaking of an exhibition of our scholastic attainments. Same music will be the sound of the future. Same music will be the sound of the future. Accept the hearty and cordial thanks of the Institute and the Board and bear them to the gentlemen associated with you, also to the other children, and to the ladies of the work shop, as well as in the school-room.

Yours, very respectfully,

LITERARY CONVENTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 1, 1887.

Officers and Members of the Congressional Literary, Historic and Educational Association of the A. M. E. Church:

For several years we have omitted calling an annual convention, for the reason that it was rather a new enterprise. Then the Bishops [illegible] were empowered to act in the absence of the convention, which they have generally done, thereby allowing more time for the establishment of sub-associations, and, at the same time, saving unavailing expense, which, in some instances, was an important consideration.

We have been frequently chided for not assembling the connectional convention; but to us it appeared the better part of wisdom to wait until organizations existed in all parts of the country. Now, as that time has arrived and important business demands the attention of the said convention, we do hereby call the convention to meet in St. Paul A. M. E. Church, located at Nashville, Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, at one o'clock P. M. Delegates to said convention shall consist of all the connectional officers, one delegate elected from each literary society throughout the land and other presiding elder who has not been appointed with the above named officers, and a lay delegate from each Conference, also a lay delegate from each sub-association, after having acted in vacancies of the above named officers. The following are the connectional officers: President, Bishop D. A. Payne, D.D.; Bishops J. A. Payne, D.D.; Bishop Campbell, D.D.LL.D.; J. A. Shorter; T. M. D. Ward, D.D.; J. M. Brown, D.D., D.O.L., R. H. Cain, D.D., B. T. Tanner, D.D.

Episcopal District Presidents: First District, Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.; Second District, Rev. B. W. Hunter, D.D.; Third District, Prof. J. H. Thrasher, A.M.; Fourth District, Prof. C. S. Smith, M.D.; Fifth District, Rev. C. Caldwell, D.V.M.; Sixth District, Rev. M. B. Salmon, D.D.; Seventh District, Rev. M. E. Bryant, A.M.; Eighth District, Prof. James C. Porter; Ninth District, Rev. J. H. Jones.

Recording Secretary, Rev. Richard Harper, B.D., Greenville, S. C.

Corresponding Secretary, Rev. J. T. Shadd, Nashville, Tenn.

Treasurer, Lewis Winters, Esq., Nashville, Tenn.

Historiographer, Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., Wilberforce, Ohio.

Board of Managers: First District, Rev. William H. Thomas; Second District, W. G. Stewart; Third District, Rev. Thos. A. Thompson, D.D.; Fourth District, J. G. Owens; Fifth District, W. H. Beckett; Sixth District, Rev. L. B. Nichols; Seventh District, T. Gaines; Eighth District, Rev. W. H. Weathers; Ninth District, Rev. A. W. Green, A.M.

Executive Committee: Rev. J. H. A. Johnson, D.D., Rev. J. W. Beckett, B.D., John C. Dancy, A.M., Rev. Jos. Upshaw, Rev. J. M. Cargile, Rev. James C. Jones.

We anticipate the most literary gathering and business assembled in our connectional interest. While the membership may all not necessarily be members of the literary societies, yet those who can to write and bring an essay upon some subject, or topic, relative to the interest of the society or the advancement of the race. We will not name the subjects. Each minister may be taken the prizes in their respective conferences, and the successful ones can say to the convention to be examined by the committee appointed. While Rev. T. B. Caldwell, pastor of St. Paul, is assisted by Revs. Bedford Green, Nathan Mitchem, Dr. A. Priority, etc., we will provide places for the delegates, as we have said that we will come prepared to take care of himself if necessary. Those expecting to be present would do well to drop one of the pastors above named a postal card. Literary visitors who are expected will receive a cordial welcome.

H. M. TURNER, President.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 1st, 1887.

Whereas several communications have been sent to us, asking a variety of questions about the Convention to be held at Nashville Tenn., March 23rd, 1887. I propose to reply as briefly as I can to be understood.

1. Yes, all of the connectional colors named in the call must be present, unless they are sick.

2. Yes, all of the Presiding Elders are members of the convention, by virtue of their office.

3. Yes, Nashville can take care of five hundred or a thousand if they chose to come, and are preparing to make the occasion the greatest in the history of the race.

4. No, membership to the convention is not limited to membership of our Church. They may be members of either churches or no church, but they must be members of our connectional literary association.

5. I don't know whether the convention will confer any honorary titles or degree or not, I have enough myself. What of it? It does not make men who mere titles ought to have them, nor does it make men who have no titles to be honoring who have them. I think the convention will provide for conferring some kind of titles or degrees.

6. Yes, but I have left the premises with Dr. Arnett to arrange, which he will do, yet the convention will give its own orders as to any change or modification it may chose to make. This will be the legislative body of our connectional association.

7. That very thing is provided for. Gen. T. Morris Chester will be the one to write down every word uttered as fast as they fall from the lips.

8. No, there was no intention to ignore the Fourth Episcopal District, and in the name of the connectional officers of the association, I most respectfully invite Rev. J. A. Johnson, Presiding Elder, Rev. J. O'Bryonyo, Ambassadorial, Orl.; Rev. C. W. Dorsey, Hamilton, Bermuda, Rev. Charles H. Shean, Trinidad, W. I.; Rev. H. P. Miller, St. Thomas, Danish W. I.; Rev. J. W. Clark, Chaplain of the army and such others as may come as delegates from their respective associations.

9. I am sadness who will be at the convention. My answer is, the brains of our church; not all, but a preponderous portion.

H. M. TURNER, President.

All delegates coming to the Literary Convention in connection with Nashville, Tenn., March 23, 1887, will please inform Rev. T. B. Caldwell, 732 South Cherry St., in order that arrangements may be made for their accommodation.

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 10, 1887.

HAVE A HAND IN IT.

Every member in the Church should count it an opportunity to honor himself to give a dime on Easter Day for the evangelization of Africa. All should take a hand in it.

HOW MUCH will you give for the African work on Easter Day?

MANY missionary mites make much money for the redemption of Africa on Easter Day.

WE THINK Prof. F. S. Delany, A. B., will continue his excellent "Pleasant Tales for the Young."

EASTER is April 10th; not long. If each minister will give his attention to the $10,000 for Africa, we shall we success.

Rev. and Mrs. Frederick, our brother and sister, with their dear boy, are swabbing patiently to bear from our Easter doing.

IT IS injurious to our cause, as it is in any cause, to go direct as in this generation that we most of oecemity recede from our standing in the sext.

THE MOST of our Church squabbles are over small things. Each side argues that if it were the other side it would act wnate words and time over so small a matter.

BISHOP WARD, at the Preachers' Meeting, Philadelphia, a few weeks ago, said he knew something about the duty of each minister to raise $1 for or from each member for general purposes.

FROM what we have heard from missionary headquarters, we are led to the belief that Easter Day of 1887 will mark a advanced step by the African M. E. Church on the subject of missions.

JUST as we go to press, the sad news of the death of one of the greatest men of the century, Henry Ward Beecher, reaches us; also the death of Presiding Elder George Heuter, of North Carolina.

OUR BISHOPS seem to be not only to the fullest sympathy, but the fullest practicable helpfulness with the Secretary of Missions in his efforts to raise $100,000. Bishop Ward makes it one of the principle topics in his work.

ONE OF THE grave offenses of the Hebrews was their numbering the people. Too much numbering in our Church is about as sinful as was the Hebrews' act. It thrills, but does not make stable and strong. We need more solidifying, better numbering—not more—and a sanctifying of ourselves.

PROF. H. T. JOHNSON will issue part second of his popular work in a few days. Part first sold rapidly. The introductive, by Prof. Scarborough, is easily worth the price of the pamphlet, 15 cents. Part second promises to be equally as valuable, containing about 30 pages. Send orders to this house.

THE Rev W. H. Morris, of Paducah, catches on to the Manager's new plan of securing subscribers very readily and sends in the names of thirty-one contributors at once. This is enterprise. It is an enterprise that pays the pastor well in the aid he gets from the superior enlightenment of his people; pays the people well and the book concern well. Three or four hundred preachers like Brother Morris in this respect will bring our business up to its proper standing.

IF APOSTOLIC success depended upon apostolic succession, there would be a larger number than we actually find of successful apostles. It is worth much more to any body of Christians to establish immediate connection with Christ than to establish the one-link connection through what is popularly known as apostolic succession. The defense of the claim to apostolic succession in now-costly, more uncertain, as well as of less worth, than is the defense of our relationship with God through his dear Son.

HOW IS IT that the Arnett jubilee was held outside of the honorable gentleman's county? Doesn't old Greene like that kind of representative fruit? The papers of the country do not scout to jubilees. Well, the work is done, and thoroughly done; friends in the old abolition county might as well take it graciously. The school oils will affect them about as little as in any town in the State of similar size, in all public-bility; for, like Philadelphia, they have the fortune to have so many colored families in one part of the city that they can easily retain a very fair separate-mixed school system.

BOTH KANSAS and Pennsylvania are dealing with the ecclesiastical reference to color still sticking to their legislative backs, but the old Hoosier State is still solid. She does not yet dare to set herself in the attitude of Africa. She still holds on to the lucious relic of her power to turn her mighty engines against colored men when in slavery. Poor fiend! How can it be illegal for any body to do anything, simply and only because of the color of his skin or his descent? Are morals distinguished by anything like the physical idea of color? Can we ever reach a proper state of morals under such wicked laws?

"THE ARNETT JUBILEE."

In Springfield, Ohio, February 1st, a large number of people assembled to express their pleasure over the success of the golden-jubilee destruction in Ohio by the legislative repeal of the black laws, falsely so called. The bill having been introduced in the Senate by Senator Elwood in the House by Representative Arnett, these gentlemen were lions of the evening, notwithstanding the presence of other such distinguished gentlemen as Rev. G. W. Zeigler, ex-speaker Werree J. Keifer, James Bedford, Senator Pringle, Capt. Asa Bushnell, W. S. Newberry, General Rawlins, Prof. W. S. Scarborough, Mayor Goodwin, Rev. J. Poiedester, C. M. Nichols, Rev. W. H. Warren, editr. H. C. Smith, D. Wilborn, Jr., H. Howe and Rev. W. R. Rems, who was made chairman. Rev. James Poindexter offered the opening prayer, after which Geeorge Keifer made one of his characteristic strong speeches in favor of exact and even legal advantages to all citizens as requisite to all performing the duties of citizenship. After a short but worthy speech by Senator Ely, Representative Arnett made a running speech, carrying the audience to the enthusiastic pitch. The venerable James Poindexter made a noble appeal for and defense of the colored teacher. His words were to those of the profession golden grains, but also the contrast between night and right ones or appeared more distinctly than it will on this subject in Ohio next fall. The school teachers known as colored will not be needed. Of course a few will be appointed as those are in Philadelphia, teaching only colored children. The very fewest will be allowed opportunities equal to the best in the race for position. Ninety-nine per cent. must go. The night is still here and we look forward the South or Southwest or toward some other vonsition now. So it will be for a quarter century at least. Brother Poindexter says, "there is no reason if colored teachers can teach colored children, why they cannot teach white children." True, but does he not know well what nothing else depends upon reason so little as de-race prejudice? Does he not know the writing of the schools in his own city every colored teacher was informed that he need not apply! What fiction is only the logical sequence. Girlhood protected means virtuous women, virtuous womanhood means a destruction vicious unrest. The abolitionist to true womanliness, caused by associating the sexes in manufacturing places and free schools, under proper regulations, is incalculable. Societies and churches would confer lasting good upon the race by ordering this essay by the hundred copies. Price, ten cents per dosen; 50 cents per hundred. Prof. Pillanthropist, P. O. box 2534, New York.

WHAT I HAVE HEARD.

BY REV. ISAAC G. GRANT.

Monday morning, February 7th, I boarded the train at Vance's on the Eutaw Railroad, 7.35, and at 11.15 a. m. I was in Charleston, the seat of the South Carolina Annual Conference. At Emanuel Church I met many of my quondam friends and colleagues in the ministry. Of what a throng of hands to shake! Rev. H. H. Williams, John C. McKnight, E. Randolph, James A. Bray, the newly appointed presiding elder—also M. B. Salters, one who enjoyed the use and will the when I was seeking Jesus in old Bethel Church, and who is, I heard, a candidate for the Bishopric, and so on and so on to many South Carolinians; 'tis all tell me. M. B. Salter, like many, does not come from the political rostrum to the sacred.

On Tuesday night Dr. B. T. Tanner lectured, theme: "Bishop Allen and his Afrie!" His delivery was fine, was filled to its utmost capacity. I drank from the gushing stream. From the lecture I am strengthened. It is not Greek, Latin, Hebrew, Saxon, Anglo-Saxon, or Christian, but strong, unwavering faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Love God and humanity, serve God and man, with heart and knowledge of the English language, and you will with common sense, and the name can say as Napoleon, "There is no Alps!" His disciple, who pushed the battle up to the gates of Berlin, who captured the city, and led back to Rome in a multitude of melancholy vanquished, hosts of Carthaginians bound in chains, and who, by another discipline, pushed the battle of African Methodism to the gates of death, and her banner floats today, bearing the inscription, "Victory has died our Father; man our brother." His eyes look it at, obtaining help from God, her preachers, class-leaders and stewards, some in heaven, some here, are many." Dr. Tanner is a power, not like some, for doing evil, but good. He is a nonlibeler. He is a peace-maker, catholious, because he is blessed with unscientific. He is not like some classics, of some non classics—not one of those who will meet a brother of long acquaintance and either have no time to stop or lest to bow. The doctor is in my conference-n, as well as the South Carolina Conference, spoken of in the highest terms. I heard two white men on King street talking about the doctor's lecture. One said, "I was there and it is a certain fact he is an educated man;" and the other said, "I would like to have been there;" and I said that speak well.

On Wednesday night I went to Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church. Bishop Campbell presched to a large crowd. His text was "Run, speak to this young man." Those who do not like noise not shouting must not be where the Bishop preaches, for before he gets through not only people, but the very stones will cry out. A letter cried out, glory, glory, We have such Holy Ghost preachers at our conference, and if such were stopped Methodism would die. Some people shout visibly, others shout in other things from the Bishop's discourse. He said all men on this side of fifty are young men—pointing to Dr. Tanner. The Bishop is seventy-two, but the years he moved around Wednesday night if seated as if he was the side of fifty. Again, he said, where there is no knowledge of law there is no sin, and where there is no sin there is no punishment. Referring to idiots and infants, really the Bishop was, as he always is, grand.

I enjoyed a pleasant time with my people and brethren in the city by the sea, the place where I first saw the light. A few words more and I will close. To the brethren, stay where you are and as I won't say go, for it is presumable we will go, but all of us will stay though some have been again placed in the ranks, stay. I know by experience it is hard to be moved, but by so doing success anywhere. Don't be like Jeoshurun, who waxed fat and kicked, as some did in your conference and mine. Be loyal.

Though from unyielding stedership removed To ministers in charge,
Prove to your Church your strongest love
And to the world at large.

God bless you, brethren. Amen.
Orangeburg, S. C.

PHILADELPHIA CONFERENCE ITEMS.

Rev. Amos Wilson expects to report the Norristown Church to the May annual conference in good shape.

Rev. Brodie has begun to do strong work for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER in Wilmington, Del. He is working with a people who will stick fast to him in all right leading.

The health of Rev. C. E. Herbert has been far from good the past two years. He and the Chester people are talking of building a new church. They have now $600 in hand for that purpose, and financial status is excellent. They have paid $100 on the mortgage debt. The minister who will go there this spring will find it easy to build. Brother's health of the pastor warranted his working, there would have been a great a revival as last year.

Rev. J. H. Buckner, pastor of the Second Church, Chester, is in poor health and is conducting a glorious revival. Several conversions to date. Things in charge is growing. The Rev. Buckner and Mrs. Buckner are very popular with the people.

Rev. J. W. Norris, Smyrna, Del., has doubled his membership this conference year.

The change in Wesley A. M. E. Church, since moving into the new building, has been very marked. The congregation grows steadily. Rev. Thompson works for success and wins it.

Rev. S. G. Jackson, Bridgeton, has improved the state of the church. He conducted affecting memorial services in memory of Bishop Cain, February 6th.

A letter from Rev. L. O. Chambers, West Chester, Pa., states that they are in process a glorious religious revival there. Brother Chambers is a faithful pastor, who teaches the truth in right-connections.

Rev. W. H. Bryant has conducted revival services at Media, Pa., several weeks. Sister Baker, evangelist of Philadelphia Conference, has rendered him great assistance. There have been glorious times and some of the youngest have professed Christianity.

Rev. T. Gould was called to Gouldtown, N. J., on Wednesday, February 23, to attend the funeral of Sister Rebecca Gould, wife of Aaron Gould.

Rev. C. T. Shafer has been somewhat indisposed physically for several days.

Rev. C. C. Felts and the Frankford people had a time of it when they met last in their Allen celebration, a baby was born.

No answer, only Nan pounded a little harder and softer.

What a pretty picture she made as she flitted to and fro in the little kitchen, with dimpled arms bare to the elbows, the afternoon sun shining on the golden figure in its blue calico gown and checked apron, playing hide and seek among the curly curls, and showing to Tom's admiring gaze the shining eyes and cheeks rosy with the heat of cooking, while the odors of spices and nutmeg, and all sorts of delicious goodies, filled the little kitchen, equalling the perfumes of "Araby the Blest."

Tom sat in silence, looking at her and thoroughly enjoying himself, as he always did when Nan would permit his presence in her sanctum. As the sun shines brightest after a storm so Nan was at "took a good spell," as Tom said, after a quarrel. For, reader, she was not their first quarrel by any means, for Nan was the idol of the family that Tom and Nan could not be together five minutes without falling out. No matter when they went or what they did, they could not agree. If they went to church they were sure to come home not speaking. For Tom and Nan sang in the choir, and if there is a better place to have a falling out than a church choir will the reader please write and point it out? What Tom and Nan suffered from numberless opportunities made by the choir, has not been told. But it was in the kitchen, Nan's own particular kingdom, that her power to succeed was the greatest.

Though from unyielding stedership removed
To ministers in charge,
Prove to your Church your strongest love
And to the world at large.

God bless you, brethren. Amen.

PHILADELPHIA CONFERENCE ITEMS.

Rev. Amos Wilson expects to report the Norristown Church to the May annual conference in good shape.

Rev. Brodie has begun to do strong work for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER in Wilmington, Del. He is working with a people who will stick fast to him in all right leading.

The health of Rev. C. E. Herbert has been far from good the past two years. He and the Chester people are talking of building a new church. They have now $600 in hand for that purpose, and financial status is excellent. They have paid $100 on the mortgage debt. The minister who will go there this spring will find it easy to build. If the health of the pastor warranted his working, there would have been a great a revival as last year.

Rev. J. H. Buckner, pastor of the Second Church, Chester, is in poor health and is conducting a glorious revival. Several conversions to date. Things in charge is growing. The Rev. Buckner and Mrs. Buckner are very popular with the people.

Rev. J. W. Norris, Smyrna, Del., has doubled his membership this conference year.

The change in Wesley A. M. E. Church, since moving into the new building, has been very marked. The congregation grows steadily. Rev. Thompson works for success and wins it.

Rev. S. G. Jackson, Bridgeton, has improved the state of the church. He conducted affecting memorial services in memory of Bishop Cain, February 6th.

A letter from Rev. L. O. Chambers, West Chester, Pa., states that they are in process a glorious religious revival there. Brother Chambers is a faithful pastor, who teaches the truth in right-connections.

Rev. W. H. Bryant has conducted revival services at Media, Pa., several weeks. Sister Baker, evangelist of Philadelphia Conference, has rendered him great assistance. There have been glorious times and some of the youngest have professed Christianity.

Rev. T. Gould was called to Gouldtown, N. J., on Wednesday, February 23, to attend the funeral of Sister Rebecca Gould, wife of Aaron Gould.

NAN'S CHRISTMAS.

BY "RCE."

"If I were married to a woman—" "Did you ever reflect that's a terrible subject to talk about the only thing you could be mar ried to?"

"If I were married to a woman," impressively, "who left water standing in the wash basin, I would get a divorce the next minute."

"And if I were married to a man who did not appreciate a woman's work any more than you do, I would get a divorce the next minute."

Nan's black eyes flashed, the color deepened in her cheeks, and there was a her proud little head a decided toss that set the short black curls flying and dancing all over it.

"Oh now very well, Tom Reynolds, that I had my hands in the water when Tad fell from the window, and I had to run to him, and I only took time to wash cause hack. I do think you are the most unconsiderate—"

Here her wrath and indignation choked her, and she paused for breath. Then, catching sight of Tom's folded hands and meek face, she laughed in spite of herself.

"There! after I vowed I would not speak to you again. All my good resolutions forgotten. Oh my birthday too, and only a week to Christmas. But I forgive you, Tom, this time."

"I am a beast," said Tom, humbly, for the thirtieth time, "but you are good and pardons. Let's shake hands, Nan, and make up."

"I'll forgive and shake hands," said Nan, coolly ignoring the other part of his proposition, though she still-dale colored rose in her cheeks.

"Here, you can send these raisins for me. I've promised Tad and Bess an elegant fruit cake for Christmas, if they don't have a single fight between now and then. And they'll have to have it Christmas."

"Poor little things! Their sanity sets them a good example. If they could have seen you last now! How you did have my! Look how is the kid?" Did he drink himself?"

"No bosess brokee," said Nan, who, forgetting her dignity in cellar, openleg and shotting the stove door, and briskly beating and pounding with a great wooden spoon some mysterious compound, the promise of future delight for the "kids."

"He is a little bruised, but I plastered him up with brown paper, and kissed him. Now, thank goodness, he is asleep and Bess has gone to 'dwame's.' Bless those children. I do think Tad is destined for something great, if he doesn't break his neck in the meantime. Surely such restlessness and mischievousness indicate great genius."

"Yes" said Tom, "I was just that kind of a child."

"I darn say, and you have n't outgrown it. Are you through seeding those raisins Tom?"

"I am not seeding them."

"Why, I asked you to. What do you mean, Tom?"

"They were already seeded, and I am unseeding them. Do you see, my dear?"

No answer, only Nan pounded a little harder and softer.

What a pretty picture she made as she flitted to and fro in the little kitchen, with dimpled arms bare to the elbows, the afternoon sun shining on the golden figure in its blue calico gown and checked apron, playing hide and seek among the curly curls, and showing to Tom's admiring gaze the shining eyes and cheeks rosy with the heat of cooking, while the odors of spices and nutmeg, and all sorts of delicious goodies, filled the little kitchen, equalling the perfumes of "Araby the Blest."

Tom sat in silence, looking at her and thoroughly enjoying himself, as he always did when Nan would permit his presence in her sanctum. As the sun shines brightest after a storm so Nan was at "took a good spell," as Tom said, after a quarrel. For, reader, she was not their first quarrel by any means, for Nan was the idol of the family that Tom and Nan could not be together five minutes without falling out. What Tom and Nan suffered from numberless opportunities made by the choir, has not been told. But it was in the kitchen, Nan's own particular kingdom, that her power to succeed was the greatest.

So the luckless Tom went on, unconscious of danger.

"I should think you and Miss Harner could have found a more appropriate subject for conversation than myself, after your long separation," said Nan, feeling ingly. "I will thank you not to disturb my devotion to Tad and Bess with her or your nonsense."

"Hello! what's the matter now? I forgot you were in the room. She is a little kind, but she's good-hearted. Don't be so touchy. The fellows all like her. Don't be a goose, Nan. I heard a splendid compliment passed on you to-day. Scudard has to-day's Press, and he says you ever saw, and Frank Saunders and that the lady's hair was not good enough for your eyes and hair; and all the fellows agreed with him."

"Tom Reynolds, how could you slime it? How could you stand and hear him talk so about me before all those men? I'll never speak to you again."

"Oh, you object to the publicity, do you? Well I had rather have Frank Saunders say such things about me than around; no one but you and him in the room to hear."

Poor Nan. Tom knew it all, then, was flying from gentry to cellar, opening and shutting the stove door, and briskly beating and pounding with a great wooden spoon some mysterious compound, the promise of future delight for the "kids."

"He is a little bruised, but I plastered him up with brown paper, and kissed him. Now, thank goodness, he is asleep and Bess has gone to 'dwame's.' Bless those children. I do think Tad is destined for something great, if he doesn't break his neck in the meantime. Surely such restlessness and mischievousness indicate great genius."

"I am not seeding them."

"Why, I asked you to. What do you mean, Tom?"

"They were already seeded, and I am unseeding them. Do you see, my dear?"

"If I hated a person I would not flirt with them so outrageously as you do with Frank, nor allow them to wear my ring. You may look out for some lovely days when I'm not around."

Nan gasped. She s flirt! Why, she would not know how to flirt if she wanted to. Although angry enough to bite her lips. She could not utter one. She fell as though she were choking. She stood clasping and unclasping her slender hands. And Brother John, opening the door at that moment, was struck with amazement.

"Why, Nannie!" why Nannie!"

But Nannie had found her voice; she spoke rapidly and passionately.

"Tom Reynolds, don't you never never speak to me again, unless I first speak to you."

And she was gone. Like a young whirlwind she rushed up stairs, nearly stopping until she reached her own room, when she threw her self down and threw herself, in a storm of sobs and tears, on the little white bed. How angry she was! Tom, Frank Saunders, Bella Smith, Frank Saunders. She would not wear his flowers if he sent them. She would not take part in that concert. She would not go to see any body; she and Ted and Bess would have their Christmas with brother John; all the rest might go to the devil. What did Tom mean about the ring? Where was her litte ring? Why, bless me, she had not worn it since she was a little nurse as ever, and would you sing a lullaby that she seemed so interested in you."

So the luckless Tom went on, unconscious of danger.

"I should think you and Miss Harner could have found a more appropriate subject for conversation than myself, after your long separation," said Nan, feeling ingly. "I will thank you not to disturb my devotion to Tad and Bess with her or your nonsense."

"Hello! what's the matter now? I forgot you were in the room. She is a little kind, but she's good-hearted. Don't be a goose, Nan. I heard a splendid compliment passed on you to-day. "Tom Reynolds, how could you slime it? How could you stand and hear him talk so about me before all those men? I'll never speak to you again."

Nan was angry now and she showed it plainly enough, and Tom was sorry.

"Oh, you object to the publicity, do you? Well I had rather have Frank Saunders say such things about me than around; no one but you and him in the room to hear."

Poor Nan. Tom knew it all, then, was flying from gentry to cellar, opening and shutting the stove door, and briskly beating and pounding with a great wooden spoon some mysterious compound, the promise of future delight for the "kids."

OUR WOMAN'S COLUMN.

Mrs. Lillie Prak, of Olallia, Ore., has killed seven bears this winter.

Lucy Larcom's spending the winter with Miss Ellen Carpenter, the artist.

Twenty-eight of the thirty-nine counties of Washington Territory have elected women as school superintendents.

Mrs. Frances E. W. Harper is engaged in temperance work in the West and is said to be accomplishing a wonderful work.

Up to december 14, 1886, there had been granted to women by Colleges and State letters patent for one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five inventions.

Mrs. Lucretia Mott was born two centuries and three millions of women-wage-workers in this country, who support themselves, and many of their husbands and families.

Mrs. Frances E. Willard's campaign has been formed in the Rue de Palestro, Paris, France, to dispense with the necessity of veils and bonnets. About fifty women have already inscribed their names.

Mrs. J. W. Smith, of Orange, N. J., is a famous tricyclist. During the past year she has rode 2,565 miles, most of which were with her husband on a tandem machine. She is the mother of three children.

Mrs. Frank Leslie is of Hugenot extraction, and was born in the French quarter of New Orleans. She speaks French, Spanish, Italian, German and English with equal ease.

According to Secretary Dickinson's report, fifty years ago two-fifths of the public schools in this country employed women; now about one-tenth are employed by men. Fifty years ago men were $25.44 per month, and of women $11.38; now men average $111.33 and women $42.97.

Sam Jones, in one of his sermons in Boston, said: "I have been preaching for twenty years when I first chanced to hear of a young evangelist named Sunday. I have said, 'Sister, let that man turn his face toward you, and the devil will see a cross shooting the praise of God and go out in the congregation after that man.' Sunday is a success."

The death of Bishop Cain is most seriously lamented by the Rev. Isaac Grant, picture out of the Budget of 1883, and framed in the Recorder this afternoon in March. I have been overlooking the historical work of the Methodist Church—the ones who have been predominant, who have gone to the front, and of all the men and women are yet to pens-sionately active. The thought came to me that it would be a good thing to copy the high place ones held by those gone up, and to add to the list those who are still and present history, equal to their predecessors? I have no blind admiration for old times. We are in the million for old things because they are old, but would add in all sincerity, if the best of men who organized and carried forth the Church—Francis Asbury and his work lives—have been surpassed in real patriotism or even churchmanship? Have they been surpassed in real steadily. By whom? Their coming successors in the Bishop Goodsell, Bishop Janes (Chelsea), and if possible save it from the Bishop Simpson, Bishop Andrew, Bishop Hedding, Bishop Asbury, Bishop Whatcoat, Bishop Coke, Bishop Bishop Bishop

LITERARY CONVENTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 1, 1887.

Officers and Members of the Connectional Literary, Historic and Missionary Association of the A. M. E. Church:

For several years we have omitted calling an annual convention, for the reason that it was rather a new enterprise. Then the Bishops in council years ago promised to act in the case of the convention, which they have generally done, thereby allowing more time for the establishment of subordinations, and, at the same time, saving traveling expenses, which, in some instances, was an important consideration. We have been specially chided for not assembling the connectional convention; but to us it appeared the better part of wisdom to wait until organizations existed in all parts of the nation. Now, as that time has arrived and important business demands the attention of the said convention, we do hereby call the convention to meet in St. Paul A. M. E. Church, located at Nashville, Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, at one o'clock p. m. Delegates to said convention will consist of all the connectional officers, one delegate elected from each literary society throughout the land and every presiding elder who has complied with the provisions of the law bonding his district towards the connection. Presiding elders are therefore not elected, but are members by merit. We recommend that the annual connectional delegates by ballot. The following are the connectional officers: Bishop H. M. Turner; Vice-President, Bishop D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D., A. W. Wayman, D.D., J. P. Campbell, D.D., L.L.D., J. A. Shorter, T. M. D. Ward, D.D., J. M. Brown, D.D., D.O.L., R. H. Cain, D.D., R. S. Disney.

Episcopal District Presidents: First District, Bishop D. A. Payne, D.D.; Second District, Rev. W. H. Hunter, D.D; Third District, Prof. S. T. Micabell, M.; Fourth District, Rev. C. S. Smith, M.D.; Fifth District, T. B. Caldwell, D.V.M.; Sixth District, Rev. J. C. Salters, D.D; Seventh District, Rev. M. B. Bryant, M.D.; Eighth District, Prof. James Porter; Ninth District, Rev. J. H. Jones.

Recording Secretary, Rev. Richard Harper, B.D., Louisville, Ky.

Corresponding Secretary, Rev. J. T. Jenifer, D.D., Boston, Mass.

Treasurer, Lewis Winters, Esq., Nashville, Tenn.

Historiographer, Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., Wilberforce, Ohio.

Board of Managers: First District, Rev. William H. Thomas; Second District, W. G. Alexander; Third District, Rev. Theo. A. Thompson, D.D.; Fourth District, Rev. J. C. Owens; Fifth District, W. H. B Butler, D.D.; Sixth District, Rev. L. S. Nichols; Seventh District, T. G. Denham; Eighth District, Rev. W. H. Weather; Ninth District, Rev. A. M. Green, A.M.

Executive Committee: Rev. J. H. A. Johnson, Bishop Shorter, Rev. J. Mitchell, B.D., John P. Turner, M.D., A. W. Upshaw, Rev. J. M. Cargile, Rev. James T. Morris.

We anticipate the most literary gathering and effective assembly in our connectional interest. While the members may all not be necessarily the members at the church, we shall expect all to be present to write and help to report upon some subject, either looking to the interest of the society or the advancement of the church. We will not name the subjects. Such ministers as have taken the prizes in the annual conferences can bring or send their essays to the convention to be examined by us for the connectional prizes. While Rev. T. B. Caldwell, pastor of St. Paul, assisted by Revs. Bedford Dorsey and Jas. Mitchem, Dr. A. Thornly, etc., will provide places for the delegates, we hope each delegate will come prepared to take care of himself if necessary. Those expecting to be present would do well to drop one of the pastors above and send a postal card. Local revisitors who are not members will receive a cordial welcome.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE CALL FOR THE LITERARY CONVENTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 1, 1887.

Whereas several communications have been sent to me, asking a variety of questions about the Literary Convention to be held at Nashville Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, I proceed to reply as briefly as I can to be understood.

1. Yes, all of the connectional officers named in the call must be present unless they are sick.

2. Yes, all of the Presiding Elders are members of the convention, by virtue of their office.

3. Yes, Nashville can take care of five hundred or a thousand if they chose to come, and are preparing to make the occasion the grandest in the history of the race.

4. No, membership to the convention is not limited to membership of our Church. They may be members of other Churches, or they may be, but must be members of our connectional literary association.

5. I don't know whether the convention will confer any honorary titles or degrees or not. I have always opposed it. What of it if it does? Men who merit these honors have been known to confer for those who have no titles to be bounding those who have. The convention will provide for conferring some kind of titles or degrees.

6. Yes, but I have left the programme with Dr. Arnett to arrange, which will do, yet in a general way we will give its own orders as to any change or modification it may chose to make. This will be the legislative body of our connectional association.

7. That very thing is provided for. Gen. T. Morris Chester will be there to write down every word uttered as fast as they fall from the line.

8. No, there was no intention to ignore the Tenth Episcopal District, and in the name of the conventional officers of the association, I most respectfully invite Rev. J. A. Johnson, Hamilton, Oct; Rev. J. O'Beasyon, Amherstburg, Ont.; Rev. U. W. Dorsey, Hamilton, Bermuda, Rev. Charles H. Shen, Trinidad, B. W. I.; Rev. H. F Miller, St. Thomas, Dutch W. I.; Rev. J. W. Crosby, Halifax N. S., and such others as may be delegates from their respective associations.

9. I am also asked who will be at the convention. Answer all the members of our church; not all, but a preponderous portion.

DR. JOHN GROSHE, Athens, Ga., says: "In dyspepsia, accompanied with prostration from mental overwork, I think it is a fine tonic."

Rev. Edmund Darrow, of Waterford, Conn., says the N. Y. World, was born in the seventh year of that century, on the seventh day of the month, on the seventh day of the week and the seventh hour of the day, and is and always has been a Seventh-Day Baptist.

The Best Remedy

For Dyspepsia is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Other medicines may give temporary relief; but Ayer's Sarsaparilla makes a positive and permanent cure, as thousands can testify all over the country.

"My stomach, liver, and kidneys were in a disordered condition for years," writes R. Wild, of Hutto, Texas, "and I never found any medicine to relieve me, until I began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than six bottles of this remedy cured me."

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of Holyoke, Mass., was for a long time a severe sufferer from dyspepsia, dyspepsia, in fact, in the usual sense. At last she began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and only three bottles restored her to perfect health.

"I have gone through terrible suffering from Dyspepsia and Indigestion," writes C. Gilmore, 140 Columbia st., Cambridgeport, Mass., "and can truly say Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me more

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 17, 1887.

THE Louisiana Conference, 16th inst., opens the spring list.

IT WAS subscribers, not contributors, for which we meant to thank our brothers at Padnah, Ky.

YOU MAY visit Philadelphia now, and be sure to call at the Recorder office. Street car fare is five cents all over the great city. We can conduct you over town. Of course you will bring along your subscription to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

THE SUITOR of the RECORDER inclined to Thornberry, Saturday evening, March 12, to a good audience, remaining over and preaching Sunday. Thornberry is about 20 miles out from this city, an open country settlement, where much improvement ought to be made by the strong, intelligent young people.

WE WERE asked the other day why we were publishing sketches of great men. We replied that we wished to inspire youth and educate the masses. He is a boy of little pluck who will not attempt to climb the great heights when shown the ladder by which the man already at the summit reached his present standing.

THE SEXTON of Bishop Shorter is, in the main, clipped from the "Bud-get." We cannot regard it as what we should like to give our readers concerning one of the men of our race, who has, by dint of good judgment, good morals and good application, reached a place in society where he has so great an influence for good.

After Missionary day is over next comes the sending forth to Haiti and, Ind., the home of Secretary Townsend. The rallying cry now is $10,000 for Africa. After April 10th the old war cry will be in place, "On to Richmond," that Dr. Townsend, with Bishop Campbell, may, early in May, move on to the West Indies and forward money and a helper or two on to Africa.

WHAT if it is a show advertisement—Barnum's explanation of his unwillingness to be prohibition candidate for president of the United States, even though sure of election? The moral is fine. He says he would not forego the pleasure of educating the world, especially the boys and girls, for the dazzling and brilliant office. For more than fifty years he has been America's great showman.

MR. HARDMAN was a friend to the oppressed: as such he was selected to colored Americans During the anti-slavery siege he brought a mighty influence to the aid of freedom. In the earlier stage of our freedom he rendered considerable service to the settlement of the new relation which threatened the three classes: the freed, the freers and the losers. A man of large heart, he never seemed to quite abandon the freedmen's cause, but did seem to become somewhat indifferent to it.

DON'T DO IT, brother—have a rally, quarterly meeting, jubilee, stewards' day, trustees' day or gleaning day on April 10th. That is the day fixed as such centuries before you entered your work; it is also Missionary day, so fixed by the General Conference three years ago. No other day will do for Easter day so well as the day the fathers settled upon; no other will do for Missionary day so well as the one the law commands you to observe and the one a large majority of your loyal brethren will observe.

FRIDAY, 18th inst., Bishop Campbell started out on a jaunt, to be absent till about May 1st, when he expects to visit the West Indies. He will in his Western tour spend some time in his district, especially so far as to include Southern Ohio and Southern Indiana, and some other sections. He will stop at Delaware, Urbana, Springfield, Dayton, Hamilton, possibly Cincinnati, in Ohio; and Richmond, Indianapolis, Terre Haute, Vincennes, Princeton, Bloomington, Jeffersonville, New Albany and other places in Indiana. The Recorder takes from the American pulpit its greatest preacher, secured by the pop-list, set the critical, opines. For nearly fifty years Mr. Beecher has held the position of pastor in this society. In the midst of his peculiar and appointed duties as pastor, he has been a vigorous writer, politician, lecturer and editor. In these vocations his pronounced characteristics and opinions, very often differing from those of the masses, have placed his life in a crucible seven times actual, but as that in which most men are tried. As a preacher he has ever been apostolic, original and independent, if not rash. This has brought many enemies against him. As a politician he has been bold, out-spoken and agressive. His views have been as strong as the strongest in the demand that the flag should be honored. The work done in England by Henry Ward Beecher in defense of the Union has been compared with the work done at home by U. S. Grant and W. T. Sherman. The country was called upon to exercise little less courage than the latter two. Its seemed to have the greatest government in the world to conquer in favor of the union, while they had only a few score millions States. Thank God, both conquered. Few Americans have held a more popular place on the lecture platform than has Mr. Beecher.

It is rather reading your valuable counsel—sent to me by Rev. Hadley, 30th December, 1886—I observed several reports of our Church work in various parts of the terra firma I interrogated, why do not the reports of our Mission Indian and the Guianese work be reported at those places which are called and established? It is because the missionaries are willing that the world should not be aware of what we are doing in the so-called enlightened parts of God's vineyard, where sin abounds? Is it that M. E. Church has amidst the greater and lesser Antilles, also British, French and Dutch-Guianese—places where I and Farrar on the same subject. The affair that brought this popular preacher before the public her, which has not yet desolved him fully vindicated, fell like a dull upon his "Life of Christ." It is not improbable that the great court will, in this hour of the people's bereavement, lift the pall and repopularize the work whose sun set before it reached its noon. The independence of Mr. Beecher's thought doubtless makes the work interesting. This independence made his sermons "take;" yet not this alone. The one element which, more than any other, made him the almost matchless speaker, was his superior knowledge of the popular thought and feeling and the proper methods of reaching and directing them.

Personal.

Hon. Geo. T. Downing was in our city last week.

Miss Mary Barbora, daughter of Henry Highland Garnet, has returned to America.

Rev. J. B. Hill and H. Brice will assist Rev. Bolton in his quarterly meeting Sunday.

Rev. L. A. Robinson, of St. Stephens, Savannah, has quite recovered from his recent illness.

Rev. J. H. Bryant will assist in conducting quarterly meeting services at West Town, March 27th.

—Rev. M. H. Freeman, of Liberia College, is on a visit to Liberia, a new field of labor in America, Pittsburgh.

—Rev. J. H. Bolton will hold quarterly meeting at Thompson's, 5th March 20th, and West Town March 27th.

—Rev. A. M. Thomas, of the Bridge Street charge, in Brooklyn, has been off his parishioners, has fully recovered his health.

—Rev. G. T. Waters will hold his quarterly meetings as follows: Mt. Holly, 19th April 3rd, and Moorestown, N. J., April 10th.

—Bishop Disney was gone to the West Indies, but took time the work in that field. His first point of desitination is British Guiana.

—Rev. L. M. Beckett, B. D., has had a very successful revival at Elmira, N. Y. He reports of his work as being in excellent condition.

—Rev. Prof. J. A. M. Johns is busily engaged in preparing for the press new work, "A Tribute to the Life and Work of Rev. W. H. Derrick, D. D."

—Rev. D. W. Bowen, of Del. See bone in Flushing, L. I., where he purposes removing after the forthcoming session of the New York Conference.

—T. McCants Stewart, Esq., is building up for himself a fine paying practice. He is associated with Judge Cox in one of the acting stewards of Bridge Street A. M. E. Church.

—Rev. J. H. Welsh, the new pastor of Mt. Zion Church, is a gentleman of mild, gentle manners and address, and we have every reason to believe that his administration will be highly successful at this important charge. The church needs a thorough overhauling and placed in such condition that the spiritual and temporal affairs may be conducted on a business basis as her resources, possibilities and capacities warrant. We welcome Mr. Welch in our midst and assure him that his efforts for improvement and progress will be supported by this paper.—Southern Leader.

Literature.

Another installment of Jefferson's essays that let in the light on the personal life of Mr. Jefferson and the condition of the people at that time.

The March number of the Century opens with a finely executed engraving of Edwin M Stanton, frontispiece. Mr. Gabble's "Grande Pointe," illustrated. The continuation of Abraham Lincoln, by John G Nicholay and John Hay, with ample illustrations, and "The Hundredth Man," by Frank R Stockton; "Coming-Out in California," by John R. G. Hassard; "The Clock of the Universe," by George McDonald; "Fault Hauling," by Dr. J. M. Buckley; "Memorande of the Civil War," with apt illustrations, make this number highly valuable. Under "Topics of the Times" are discussed "The Young Power of Ignorance," "The New North," "The Shop Council," and "Art in Our Colleges." Under "Open Letters" we have Lincoln's Assassination, Notes on Village Improvements, Young Men and the War Cloud, Poetic Outlook in America, Bird-Notes and unusually tasteful and entertaining.

St. Nicholas for March is a breezy number with a long list of short stories, very one of which is bound to please some body, and all of which ought to please everybody. It opens with a charming frontispiece illustration, by Birch, to E. S. Brook's serenth "History of Girl," "Jacqueline of Holland," and not one of her six predecessors has had a fetish girl in interest or baroism. Then follow the story of a story writer, "The Boyhood of Thomas Bailey Aldrich," by William H. Rideing, a'l one of Aldrich's finest poems, "The Peacock by the River," D. H. Tribon relates how a sailor lad slid down hill in Madeira, where they never have ice or snow; Alice Wellington Rollins tells about "Tommy interviews a Peacock Feather," in which the feather seems to have the weight of the argument. Some new light is thrown by William F. Carne on that much studied subject, the boyhood of Washington; while "Paul and Nicolai in Alaska" is a characteristic story of a romparative'y unknown part of the American Union. There is a folk "Dog Story" by Oliver Ellsworth Wood, a little bird story by Frank Bellew, and many other stories, including chapters of "Joan and Jamie" by Frances Courtenay Baylor, and "Mopsy's Boarding-house" by James Otis. Mrs. Wheeler Wilcox and John Vance Cheney contribute poems. Palmer Cox has another story of Brownies; and tucked in here and there are more than the usual quota of pictures and jingles.

OUR WEST INDIA MISSIONS.

BY REV. N. B. STEWARD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER:

Bro.—While

Now, there are a great many men who want to be Bishops, and are well equipped to take up your line of march when you, or do not know where. Do not come to the Bishop's door for recommendation or understanding that you are to be Bishop, but begin to pray to God for the people that you will receive a charge, at each point among the members of the Church, and the Lord will help them, in acquainting yourself fully with the condition of each charge and other, while doing all the possible good you can. You should preach, talk, sing and pray for the people and you will get such souls as them spiritually and increase their interest in behalf of this Church. Go to each point on Friday, so that you will have some time to spend before Sunday in acquainting with the members and the minister. You will go to a big time on Sunday, and then on Monday to the forests—at the bumble points—where material is to be manufactured. Many conveyer (Franklin) replied, what is the use of a child? It may become a man.

LITERARY CONVENTION.

Officers and Members of the Confederate Literary, Historic and Educational Association of the A. M. E. Church:

For several years we have omitted calling an annual convention, for the reason that it was rather a new enterprise. Then the Bishops in council were empowered to act in the absence of the convention, which they have generally done, thereby allowing more time for the establishment of sub-associations, and, at the same time, saving traveling expenses, which, in some instances, was an important consideration; and have been frequently chided for not summoning the connectional convention; but be it remembered the highest wisdom is wait until organizations extend in all parts of the nation. Now, as that time has arrived and literarian luminaries demand the attention of the said convention, we do hereby call the convention in meet in St. Paul A. M. E. Church, located at Nashville, Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, at one o'clock P. M. Delegates to said convention shall consist of all the connectional officers, one delegate elected from each literary society in the district the last year, every presiding elder who has complied with the provisions of the law prescribing his duties toward the association. Each of the foregoing are hereby declared elected, but are members by merit. We recommend that the associations elect their best talent for delegates, as they are the connectional officers: President, Bishop D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D.; Vice-Presidents, Bishop J. A. We anticipate the most literary gathering that ever assembled in our connectional history. While the most learners may all not necessarily be members of the church, we shall expect all who can to write and bring an essay upon some subject, each looking to the interest of the society or the advancement of the race. We will not name the subjects, but will suggest we have taken the prizes in their respective conferences can bring or send their essays to the convention to be examined for the connectional prize, which will be Rev. T. B. Caldwell, pastor of St. Paul, assisted by Revs. Bedford Green, Nathan Mitchem, Dr. A. Thornily, etc., will provide places for the delegates, we hope each delegate will come prepared to take care of himself if necessary. Are there any expecting to be present? Would do well to drop one of the pastors above named a postal card. Literary visitors who are not members will receive a cordial welcome.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE CALL FOR THE LITERARY CONVENTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 1st, 1887.

Whereas several communications have been sent to me, asking a variety of questions about the Literary Convention to be held at Nashville Tenn., March 23rd, 1887, I propose to reply as briefly as I can to be understood.

1. Yes, all of the connectional officers named in the call must be present, unless they are sick.

2. Yes, all of the Presiding Elders are members of the convention, by virtue of their office.

3. Yes, Nashville can take care of five hundred or a thousand if they chose to come, and are preparing to make the occasion the grandest in the history of the race.

4. No, membership to the convention is not limited to membership of our Church. They may be members of other churches or no church, but they must be members of our connectional literary association.

5. I don't know whether the conventions will confer any honorary titles or degrees or not. I have none, and care not. What of it if it does? Men who merit titles ought to have them, not the unmerit for those who have no titles to be bounding those who have. I hope the convention will provide for conferring some kind of titles or degree.

6. Yes, but I have left the programme with Dr. Arnett to arrange, which he will do, yet the convention will give its own orders as to any change or modification it may chose to make. This will be the legislative body of our connectional association.

7. The very thing as provided for. Gen. T. Morris Chester will be there to write down every word uttered as fast as they fall from the lips.

8. No, there was no intention to ignore the Tenth Episcopal District, and in the name of the Connectional officers of the association, I most respectfully invite Rev. J. A. Johnson, Hamilton, Ont; Rev. J. O'Banyon, Amherstburg, Ont.; Rev. C. W. Dorsey, Hamilton, Bermuda, Rev. Charles H. Shaw, Trinidad, B. W. I.; Rev. J. H. Miller, St. Thomas, Danish W. I.; Rev. J. W. Crosby, Halifax N. S., and such others as may come of delegates from their respective associations.

9. I am also asked who will be at the convention. My answer is, the brains of our church; not all, but a preponderous portion.

H. M. TURNER,
President.

GOLD MINES

are very uncertain property; for every person mine a hundred exist that do not pay. But if you write to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, you will receive, free, full particulars about their business, and learn how some have made over $50 in a single day at it. You can live at home, and earn from $5 to $25 and upwards per day wherever you are located. Both sexes; all ages. Capital not required; you are started free. Send your address, and all will be proved to you.

Our county is bigger than China. We have 3,000 000 square miles, and China has only 2,000,000.

HOSKFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

Imitations and counterfeits have again appeared. Be sure that the word "Horsford's" is on the wrapper. None are genuine without it.

An excess of animal food and a partial closing of the pores of the skin, during the winter months, cause the system to become filled with impurities. These may be expelled from the blood purified and invigorated by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Price $1.

The slaughter of lobsters at Prince Edward Island is astounding. There were exported the past season 91,000 cases, mostly to Europe, which involved the killing of 36,000,000 lobsters.

The Young Ladies' Journal (London) says: "Edecia is one of the most delicate and agreeable of perfumes; it suggests the odour of many favorites. Lundborg's perfumes are tastefully put up in neat little boxes, and are suitable offerings to give to any lady."

A New York man says some time ago invested $10,000 in iron and coal veins in Alabama. Dissatisfied with what he saw, he sold out for $100. The veins, he says, he gave it to his wife, who is now drawing $20,000 a month on its dividends.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Manager's Notes.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, stopping the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name on a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full SIX months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. O. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

In All Complaints

Of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver, and Kidneys, Ayer's Pills are taken with excellent results. Being purely vegetable, they leave no ill effects, and may be safely administered to any one, old or young, in need of an aperient and cathartic. Physicians, all over the country, prescribe Ayer's Pills and recommend them as a safe Family Medicine.

"If people would use Ayer's Pills," says C. Gil. Hall, of Decorah, Fredonia, Ind., "as, of course, we you direct, very few would suffer from habitual constipation and biliousness, or derangement of the liver and bowels. Ayer's Pills are a standard article, having been used these pills above a quarter of a century and know of no better."

Herman Bringhoff, jewelry engraver, Cincinnati, O., writes: "Cod liver oil, reduced by my secondary habits of intemperance, almost destroyed me. Pills alone are speedy relief. Their constant use has since kept me all right."

"CONSUMPTION CURE"

would be a truthful name to give to Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the most effacious medicine yet discovered for arresting the early development of pulmonary disease. But "consumption cure" would not sufficiently indicate the scope of its influence and nefulness. In all the many diseases of the throat springing from derangement of the liver and blood the "Discovery" is a safe and sure specific. Of all druggists.

REPORTS OF GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it compounded of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is free from adulteration, and contains no lime, ammonia, alum, or other deleterious substance. E. C. LORD, Ph.D."

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. "H. A. MOTT, Ph.D"

"I have examined a package of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by myself in the market. I find it to be of high grade, and to contain the results claimed. HENRY MORTON, Ph.D., President of Stevens Institute of Technology."

"I have analyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder, the analytical results of which it is composed are pure and wholesome. S. DANA HAYES, State Assayer, Mass."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Centennial, the World's Fair, Paris, the Vienna Exposition, the Philadelphia Mint, the American Institute, New York, and at State Fairs throughout the country.

Royal Baking Powder is the only one of the cream of tartar powders that has ever received such unanimous endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists, and Boards of Health all over the world.

Note—The above diagram illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by the Government Analysis given above. For any article of food, a pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each was calculated—the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by the consumer is the same as every expert chemist employed by the Royal Baking Powder Company has practiced, and which experience that, while it reads a less penis per pound than many of the cheap powders sold in bulk, or in cans, affords the only full measure of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair minded person of its superiority.

"The above diagram shows none of the short comings to be of a higher degree of strength than other ingredients added below them. It is not to be taken as indicating that they have not value. Alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

Manager's Notes.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

sees a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. (Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will ask for us in this matter.)

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Wm. A. Scott, Mason of the M. E. Seminary, Silton, N. H., writes: "Ayer's Pills are doing a splendid work. Including myself, two writers bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and have now procured me that, as a powerful blood-purifier, it is superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla."

LESSON HELPS IN FOUR GRADES.

"DOST THE RELIGION OF THE LORD JESUS CHRIST INCLUDE THE IDEA OF AN INDIVIDUAL ON ACCOUNT BY COLOR?"

READ BY REV. J. W. BECKETT, B.D., AT THE PHILADELPHIA PREACHERS' MEETING, MARCH 21, 1887.

Every intelligent and conscientious being recognizes the fact that God is the creator of all things, and that man, according to Biblical authority, commenced his existence in the revelation of Adam. Knowledge of physiology, as well as the inspiration of Christianity, settles the question that all the races which inhabit the earth were originally derived from one pair, and that the whole of the world both made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth." The unity of the races admits of no doubt, and is based on low for all classes of men.

That God established the bounds and widespread prejudice existing on the part of white people against people of color, is a fact that every student of that contact in church and school and parlor with the colored man must be fully aware of, and those who think and act otherwise must be treated with scorn and disdain. Bishop Haven's Methodist, speaking in reference to the authorities in rejecting the two young men of color for the ministry, has pronounced me that, as a powerful blood-purifier, it is superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla."

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla gives better satisfaction than any other blood medicine I handle."—Geo. W. Whitman, Druggist, Albany, Indiana

SOWING AND REAPING.

BY REV. H. JONES.

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."—Gal. 6, 7.

The above is the language of those words were written by that calm, sober, conscientious and true Christian hero, Paul, while in the Jail Prisoner at Philippi. He had gone through Asia Minor preaching and establishing churches, converting sinners and teaching men the principles of Christianity both by night and by day. Now he is in Rome awaiting his execution, which took place about A. D. 64. It is feared that pulsating teachers had some behind him and had introduced false doctrines and caused many of the converts to abandon the faith and heap ideas upon them. Paul, in order to set them reproving them for spectacizing and defending himself against all heresy and schism. After enlarging upon his calling and ministry and the principles of the true gospel, which he had preached, he calls their attention to their sowing and reaping and the final harvest of the sowa, in the language of our text, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

My remarks this morning are not intended for any particular person or community or state, but for the mocking and deceiving Christian throughout the world, and if I had the world assembled in this house I would say the same to one as to another.

I. MOCKERY.—Our text teaches that God is not mocked. What is meant by mockery? It is not found in the service. Any form of worship which does not the glory of God, and which is yet done in his name and under the pretense, is mockery, and therefore, separately or combined, by bringing their gods to God's house, they are mocker of God's worship. Standing, as it does, upon the world's platform, and the signs of the times, it seems clear to me that the greatest sin of the age is pretended service. There are hundreds and thousands of men and women who are willing to claim God in their profession, but who, in their lives, are liars; sow a whisker drinking sod you will reap drunkenness and death. Sow a seed of rasp col-throats and murderers; sow a life of debauchery and you reap hell and damnation on the great day of reckoning.

These mockers and deceivers would not remain in the Church if good men were willing to claim their rights. They would fall by their own volition. You need not fight them out of the church, neither need they. Be not deceived God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man sooth that shall he also reap."

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 31, 1887.

THE MORRIS BROWN CHURCH, Philadelphia, will give a grand concert and exhibition April 28th.

MISSIONARY DAY, not missionary hour, Sunday a week. The whole day. The whole of each service; not the gleaners' collection.

MISS SARAH TANNER, daughter of the editor of the RECORDER, had the sad misfortune to break her arm last Friday. She bore the setting heroically.

LAST YEAR some of our exchanges charged it upon certain Ohio colored men that they were stealing off on their own hook a little law bill for the Wilberforces appropriation bill, but both are now laws.

IT WOULD enhance our missionary returns greatly to speak strongly of the necessity of pushing the Christian cause forward next Sunday, thus preparing the masses for their duty the Sunday following.

OUR WORK from next Sunday is Missionary Day. It will be Missionary Day throughout the entire connection; at least so far as the spirit of enterprise, Christian enthusiasm and denominational loyalty is large and active.

THE NEWS of Recorder Trotter's sickness is very sad. We have regarded his appointment with pleasure and hoped he might serve his race and his government altogether satisfactorily. His life has long since had a wide bearing in the country. It is not in the office magnifying the man, but the man magnifying the office.

THE MISSIONARY GEM contains the usual programmes, suggestions and Scripture selections. We think there is no doubt that the word Jesus in the first line of "Christ's Mission" should be Jesus. We observed it in its proper form last year. The Gem reaches the point at which it aims so far as appearance goes. We hope it will reach the financial point, $10,000.

WHAT is a good sermon? A hundred replies are given, the best of which is, that a good sermon is a gospel sermon. Then comes the inquiry, what is a gospel sermon? Many replies come to this query also. A gospel sermon is characterized expectantly by "the truth as it is in Christ Jesus." Upon this all agree, but this is not a great scope. No other truth is more extensive than that sacred truth.

ALREADY the Ohio colored teachers are coming about for something else to do. They should be brave, strong, correct and regular in prescribing themselves to their respective Boards for reappointment. Not all would fail. There is no doubt that by different possible arrangements some will be reemployed. If they are not, Ohio will cover her glory in casting out the blackwhite law, by casting out some excellent teaching force upon the very principle upon which those foolish laws had been maintained.

THE GENERAL BUSINESS MANAGER has determined to do a big business in April. The opportunity must be used by the ministry and laity. But he has made a great opportunity for them. Is it more than fair that the force should receive due recognition? It will pay conference back stewards to stock up largely. There are two hundred thousand hymn books needed in the Church. Ministers will fail in an important duty if they do not so advise and arrange that two thousand, one out of a hundred needed, be bought in April.

AS WE thought possible last week, so Wilberforce has gained the appropriation of $10,00 by the Ohio Legislature. Thanks to the legislature. Thanks to the people of Ohio for electing three colored representatives in one year—an unprecedented act among Northern States. Thanks to God for impressing the hearts of legislators and to President Mitchell for his importunate persistency in pushing his cause. North Carolina, Missouri and Ohio have made especial astragemata this year to aid colored youths to obtain higher education.

MANY of our best writers are cutting down their papers for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, but there are still some who are long-winded. The short writers will in the long run say the more. Don't send us sermons, please; especially those that are of more than ordinary character. Don't send us funeral sermons; because they made a good impression upon the audience when delivered; when our readers peruse the CHRISTIAN RECORDER their surroundings are very different from those of your auditors and you are far away. We have enough sermons on hand to last two years. The paper has a very different field from the pulpit. The two should be largely characterized by a complimentary and supplementary relationship, not a sameness. A well sounding sermon usually fails to make a well reading composition.

CONSTITUENCY.

You have the world with you, shi Hat what is the world? Why, it is the world! How often vain man chashes wi h self-congratulation because he has the approbation of a large constituency, but afterwards sinks into a state of despair because the world has forsaken him. Among the world's greatest misfortunes are examples of persons once in the highest chambers of human confidence and following. It is one of the greatest blunders of which men are capable that they follow this popular delusion to its fatal end. Only a very few men live great and die great in the general mind. There are combinations in large constituencies of morals, intellect and esoteric motives that can be acquired by few men. The rule is that one of said sub-combinations will eventually gain the mastery over the general constituency, the character thereby becoming the cardinal principle of the whole. The voice of the people is not nearly the voice of God. The support of the people is se nothing compared with God's support; the support of vessel now and reason. With a large constituency labors to conquer success by laws that appear to be right and to tend to success, God employs meth ds that have long since stood the test.

THE CONFERENCE WILL HARDLY DO IT.

The General Conference of the A. M. E. Church decided not to fix what the name of the Church against the Haytian Government is thoroughly investigated. Mr. Langston also declined the citizenship tendered him by Hayti, but compromised for $10,000. The Haytian Government has been at war with the Dominican Republic, and the former, in the course of war in the port, ordered there is reforce of the Church. A. M. E. Church are hoping hope in have any future success in Hayti while its master is property of negro, and they have it from reliable authority that the claim has been made by the Haytian Government that Missouri having not taken such precaution as to prevent colored citizens from bear some by having refused to be satisfied with the punishment of the murderers of Richard Cain, the Haytian Government offered to indict for his satisfaction.—New York Freeman.

Does the general Conference sit in judgment on the Haytian Government? Does it feel that the Rev. C. W. Mi-sell was very poorly paid for what his exposure to the unfortunate civil irregularities in Hayti cost him. The Freemen will not this great picture at once, which will be sold or mailed to any one, to any place, postpaid, on remitting one dollar to the publishers, T. B. "CAN ANY GOOD THING COME FROM NAZARETH?"

BY REV. DANIEL P. BROWN.

The ancient prejudice which dictated the above question, and which is expressive of incorrect conclusions, calls attention to a low logic since recognised by thinking men. Such sentiments as these has much influence in determining character.

Logic is an inside to the usual order of things to behold virtue and in character or a thing from the standpoint of ignorance. Any man would be surprised to find a Bryant, a Webster or a Lincoln coming from the savagery of Africa. Ignorance and vice beget barbarism. If a child is reared by ignorant, carnesse, depraved parents and, being its youth is isolated from good influence, it is but natural to expect to find it low and vicious when matured. It is proper and reas on ask concerning a man: what is his origin, what his parentage? Why? Only from such individual possess hereditary qualities, but also the soil in which they have been sown and nourished exerts a powerful influence upon the character. Such sentiments as these has much influence in determining character.

The immortal affirmation "All men are born free and equal" is frequently but affectedly repeated. Many of the most intelligent and degraded Irishmen, Dutch man or American are, "Oh, in fact is not all born free and equal?" Meaning is blind to the wide difference between literal and figurative truth. There is a sense in which all men are equal, and there is a sense in which they are not. There is a sense in which all men are equal, and there is a sense in which they are not. Men differ in quality and worth as notably as one star differs from another in glory (1 Cor. 15:41). Such was the case of God through Christ, we all stand as individual according to human rules; but of character by outward manifestations. Then comes the natural tendency to make appearance the test and accept such combinations as evidence of the virtue it counterfeits. In time the real virtue or an actual nonentrait is lost sight of and society, by the fat of custom, makes appearance legal tender.

The passion of wealth is an indication of energy and thrift upon the part of the possessor, just as good birth, etc., are indications of good qualities; but these tests are not infallible by any means. Environment and outward combinations are only indices, but society tones sight of what they should represent and gradually accepts indices as substance. This is established a partiality toward wealth, race and rank, and a prejudice against poverty, obscurity or meanness of birth. No one can say against the usages of society with any hope of success. For the noblest principles and tests advocated by society there is but one superior authority, and that is the Christian standard. It is wise, sained and right that society utilize about form themselves from personal acts of an affinity.

Virtue and vice are improper associates, as are ignorance and knowledge, vulgarity and culture, meanness and nobility, crudeness and refinement. What a world it would occasionally be if such associations were impossible. We want one who has been reared in a log cabin to stand at a hand. A new era in African Methodism is gradually dawning. Great and momentous questions are presenting themselves. They cannot safely be met by the mere affiliation of the ignorant and expedites; they should be studied and solved by able men, who are filled with the spirit of African Methodism More than ever before does not qualify a delegate; he must be a thoroughgoing, heart and soul African Methodist. He must be a churchman and not a silhouette. The sprinkling of vigorous young men of ability would not be amiss. Age, education, reflective age is indispensable. Many more questions will be presented upon which imperious youth will waste days of breath, but experience and wis dom must guide.

The central and greatest question is the education of the ministry. The average older question is prominent through bitterness more than real signification. Conference statistics uniformly have not so great increase or falling off of church membership traceable to the education of the presiding elder system. The most noticeable feature is the large number of impoverished and educated men, who were made presiding elders, and a number of crippled and melancholy pastors who opposed the system. The churches and people are about the same as ever.

Our duty toward Africa is a question at once grave and momentous, and its solution calls for men of broad ideas, great hearts, intrepid spirits and good, hard sense. No visionary should grapple with this question, no enthusiast should approach it. Give it over to men of great minds and large hearts and good common sense. The centralization of interests at your post; don't be in a hurry to leave your old charge for a new one. Remember Trotter still holds the office and gives general satisfaction to all having business with him. He did not come to go.

BIBLE LAND MAP.—George May Powell, of Philadelphia, has issued just such a map as we have long been desiring. It illustrates the International Lessons for the first half of 1887. The size is four feet long by three feet wide. It is printed in three colors, and on paper so thin and flexible that it can be both folded and rolled, and its weight is only ten ounces. The territory covered extends from Egypt, on the southwest, to Mt Ararat and Cilicia Campion, on the northeast. The cities mentioned and references named in the lessons are shown by heavy bold letters and lines so as plainly be seen across a large school room. Distances are shown by means of red circular lines 200 miles apart. In addition to the map being printed in bright colors, its distinctness is enhanced by a large line engraving of Mt Ararat. Price, exclusive of the map, two dollars each. Address George May Powell, 1520 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

GREEN B. RAUM,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington D. C., Sept. 24, 1886.

Dear Sir:—If by don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the use of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his case is worth to the world, thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.
